Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Gerald Soukup, of Watchung avenue, this city. Mr. and Mrs. Soukup were the attendants. The ceremony was followed by a reception which lasted until midnight. Mr. and Mrs. Grunlesen will make their home in the Bronx, New York, as the bridegroom is in the employ of the O. G. Gude Advertising Co.

"FOOT COMFORT WEEK" AT VAN ARSDALE'S STORE

June 18th to 23rd has been designated as "Foot Comfort Week" and will be observed by all the shoe merchants of the country who have Foot Comfort Departments in their stores.

It is to be devoted to making feet comfortable through the use of the modern scientific devices which meet up-to-date shoe dealers are now prepared to fit to individual needs. There are few causes of foot discomfort which cannot thus be easily and cheaply corrected.

Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, the well known author, scientist and foot authority, is sponsor for and originator of this movement, which has now gained nation-wide support. Dr. Scholl has spent a life-time in the study of the human foot and is the author of several authoritative works on the subject, besides being the inventor of a number of standard devices or appliances for the correction of all the usual foot troubles.

A few years ago, shoe stores sold footwear only. Now, they sell expert service as well. Thousands of shoe stores are now either conducted by a graduate practipedist or have a graduate practipedist in their employ to look after the foot defects of their clientele. he practipedist is no mere shoe clerk—he is a learned professional man who takes his calling seriously, and who does much to alleviate human distress.

At the store of M. C. Van Arsdale, at 927 East Front street, "Foot Comfort Week" is to be a big occasion, and they are anticipating a rush of business and the window display, especially prepared for this event, is one of more than usual interest.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., JUNE 15, 1917.

IS IT A CASE OF "DOG IN THE MANGER?"

In the primary election of three years ago, one of the most interesting contests was that centering about the regular Republican nomination for sheriff of Union county. Three men were in the field, George C. Otto, the present incumbent of the office; Councilman John H. Cose and Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur. Otto got the nomination, with Cose a close second. Political wiseacres who spoke their little piece after the smoke of battle had cleared away asserted that Cose would have won hands down if Wilbur had kept out. The Plainfield councilman had his petition out and signed long before the freeholder's name was even mentioned, but with the latter's entrance the vote in this city was destined for a split. Even at that, Cose was undeniably in the lead the night before the primaries and the old "ring-around-a-rosey" crowd at Elizabeth knew it. At the last moment they passed the word to a certain leader in a certain district very much under his control to throw his strength to Otto. That message decided the argument as to which one of the three was to get the coveted place on the regular G. O. P. ticket in November, a position equivalent to election.

Now comes the shrievalty campaign of 1917. Councilman Cose entered the field last week by circulating his petition and this week Freeholder Wilbur flung his hat in the ring. Before the 1914 scarred chapeau had ceased to wobble, three more regular Republican candidates bobbed up in as many parts of the county. Each new aspirant means the weakening of the vote in certain sections and if Plainfield had produced only one man instead of two everything would have been fine and dandy for victory coming to this city. Instead, the local voters will be more or less divided upon and the nomination will go somewhere else just as it did three years ago.

Plainfield is due to place on of her citizens in the shrievalty chair but it will not be done with opposition within her gates. Cose and Wilbur have qualifications that entitle them to consideration from their respective friends, yet each one is in the other's way. A majority favor Cose because he has labored long and faithfully for the party and was the first to declare his intentions each time. The latter fact should be weighed carefully in the face of contentions that Wilbur has just as much right as anyone else to seek the job. He certainly has but in coming to the front to exercise that right he makes it understood that the next sheriff will hail from Elizabeth, Cranford or Westfield. If the regular G. O. P.'s want to see a Plainfielder land the honor, as they say they do, why don't they show their hand now instead of waiting until the last minute to pull off a deal like that of three years ago? If there is anything in party control, why don't they work out a compromise? Instead they simply pat each man on the back, tell each he has a fine chance when the other is not around and afterward quietly place their bets on Meisel, Neal and Warner. That's the way they kow-tow to the county seat and pretend to wonder why Plainfield never gets a just share of recognition. Wilbur, it is whispered, took a joke "boom" seriously when he got busy the first time and if this is so the joke is getting to be an someone else.

Why not be serious and quit playing dog in the manger?

NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS AT HILLSIDE CEMETERY.

An out of town visitor looking Plainfield over for the first time a few days ago remarked to a friend after his tour of the city had been completed:

"Your town is very beautiful but there is one thing which stands out in contrast to the otherwise stately appearance of the general view. It is the entrance way to Hillside cemetery, which, to my mind, is anything but in keeping with a burying ground of such proportions. I have seen numerous cemeteries not far from here with gateways that are a credit and not a reproach. It certainly seems to me that this portal to your leading burial place should undergo a decided change."

The words of the stranger are in reality a continuation of numerous others of the same tone that have come from local people many times. The lack of a more appropriate gateway at Hillside has been evident for years and not only this, there has been much unfavorable comment on the condition of the driveways as well as the public thoroughfares leading to the premises. It is no hard matter to go anywhere in this State and find a cemetery far superior in the way of upkeep and general appearance. A decided change can be brought about by the substitution of pillars designed to harmonize with the surroundings instead of selected from a contractor's sketches without regard to the landscape, and the erection of the right kind of fencing and corners gives the observer a far different impression. Hillside cemetery contains the plots of the wealthiest families of Plainfield and many of its once distinguished citizens are buried on its grassy slopes. Many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent for mausoleums and monuments that are pointed out to visitors. It is understood that the Hillside Cemetery Association is by no means suffering from financial difficulty, that it has a very comfortable surplus in its treasury, and as an investment the association has been a very profitable one. If this is so the outlay of a comparatively small amount of money would work wonders in the cemetery that has taken the lead in this vicinity. It would only be doing justice to the people who have selected this place for family plots and by spending their own money to help the association. A new entrance way and better roadways could be secured without even touching the capital of the original incorporation, so it is said, so why allow the neglect to go on. The people of Plainfield have done their part, let the association do likewise.

A WORD TO AN UNKNOWN FRIEND.

The Record office is in receipt of an unsigned communication from a Plainfielder who believes that the editorial published in last week's issue of this paper under the caption "Advice to the Anonymous Letter Writer" was intended for him. We wish to assure him that such is not the fact. As a matter of information we would like to inform him that the communication he sent last week reached us after the editorial in question was written. The article was in reference to numerous other letters that had been sent to the Record and which had their venom but illy-concealed. These were what prompted the editorial which he believes was directed at himself personally. We feel as grived over the result as he does and if he will kindly make himself known the matter could be entirely cleared to his satisfaction.

From the tone of his language we believe that our unknown friend can readily understand that the wheat must be separated from the chaff in the "tips" that come to a newspaper. His suggestion has merit and if he will favor us with his name we would be glad to co-operate with him in getting additional facts. We welcome suggestions from our readers at any time, but it must be understood that we have to know our man. All the ideas leading up to editorial comment have not originated with us and some of the needed civic reforms brought about have come through people on the outside more conversant with the situation than ourselves. It is the province of a newspaper to speak for the citzens of its community and this we want to do in place of airing personal views. We take no credit for anything that had been accomplished by Record publicity, preferring to have it go to those public spirited men who did the actual work after their attention had been called to the deficiencies. Again we say that this paper always welcomes suggestions of the right sort and if our friend will reveal himself we may accomplish something for the benefit of the entire city. We do not want to publish his name and it is not necessary, but it would be best for all concerned if we made his acquaintance.

THE MEANEST KIND OF MEAN THIEF.

The unusual prevalence of gardens in all parts of the city has produced a new kind of mean thief. He is the species of undesirable who destroys five times as much stuff as he carries away, putting to naught many hours of hard labor on the part of the man who is trying to help his country in the face of a great crisis. Numerous cases of vegetable stealing have been reported during the past week and as the different products begin to mature opportunities for further depredations will become better. Small tracts of ground and building lots in outlying districts hav been tilled by ambitious citizens who are unable to have the gardens properly watched, giving the mean thief just the chance he wants to take what belongs to somebody else. One instance came to light a few days ago when a poor laborer in the East End of town discovered that some one had stolen a lot of his rhubarb ready for use and had destroyed several beds of growing vegetable.

The police are making a determined effort to catch not only this particular thief but all others who commit the same kind of an act. If apprehended they are certain to get the punishment they de*serve, as Judge DeMeza has issued warning from* the bench to this effect. The magistrate declares he will show no leniency in dealing out the full measure of the law for the despicable person who hampers the world wide movement to produce food as an offset to the Prussian menace. Any person having information about garden thieving will confer a favor on the police by letting them know of it. The sooner an example is made of a culprit the quicker the practice will be stopped.

HARD WORK AHEAD FOR EXEMPTION BOARDS.

Mayor Smalley, of North Plainfield, always alive to questions of the day, is one of the first men to advance the theory as to how one exemption board is going to hear all the cases of one county when the drafting proposition gets down to the point of selection. There were 590 men between the ages of twenty-one to thirty-one registered in the borough and double that number were recorded in Bound Brook and Somerville combined, not to mention the rest of Somerset. Applications for exemption aggregate about 50% of the entire registry and the one board of three men is supposed to handle the district. Allow ten minutes for the physical and other examinations made necessary by the appli*cants' stand, the exemptionists would have to work* day and night to pass the quota before the government is ready to take the recruits over. A further board is necessary and North Plainfield would welcome it.

Two Pythian Affairs

Previous to the ceremonies indoors, a parade will be held through the streets of Somerville in which hundreds of Pythias will participate. Beside the Somerville delegations there will be others from New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Neshanic, Flemington, Plainfield and other places. The Plainfield contingent will be composed of the members of both Perseverance and Unity lodges and will be headed by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps and the Uniformed Rank. The trip will be made by special trolley starting from in front of the Babcock building, at 7:15 sharp. The committee in charge, which is composed of George Keen, Harry Keen and David Allen, makes the request that all brothers intending to make the trip be at the Babcock building at 7 o'clock. From present indications Plainfield will send a representation of at least 100.

The memorial services next Sunday are to be in charge of Crescent Company, which has always performed this duty in the past. It is a part of the Uniformed Rank's obligation to decorate the graves of departed brothers and hold exercises once a year as a remembrance of those who were once active in the organization. Circumstances are, such this year that the custom has more significance than ever and the proceedings will be enlarged accordingly. Crescent Company will be assisted by Unity Company, of Elizabeth, and also by Perseverance and Unity Lodges, of this city. Captain Fred Douglas, of Crescent Company, will be in charge. The Pythian memorial service will be gone through at the North Plainfield, Evergreen and Hillside cemeteries with William Watson and Stephen Perrine acting as chaplains and J. E. Flanney as captain. At the conclusion of each service, a second service for departed members of the subordinate lodges will be conducted by Assemblyman William N. Runyon, who will make an appropriate address each time. Mr. Runyon is a member of Perseverance Lodge, in which he was a leading spirit for many years.

In connection with the visits to the cemeteries, the Pythians will parade through the streets headed by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps. After finishing in Plainfield, the paraders will proceed by special trolley to South Plains, where a final service will be held on the Parish House green. This will be in the nature of a patriotic demonstration. Returning from Scotch Plains the Pythians will enjoy a supper in Junior Hall on East Front street.

The details for the Sunday program are in charge of a committee composed of Samuel J. Robinson, chairman; David Allen, Nelson Wyley and Charles McGinley.

Public Schools Close

a program now being arranged will be rendered by the members of the class. There are 175 boys and girls in the class this year, about evenly divided between boys and girls. In the fall they will enter the freshman class at P. H. S.

The graduation of the North Plainfield grammar schools will be held Friday afternoon in the Harrison Avenue School. Rev. H. St. G. Burrill will make the commencement address.

Thursday morning will mark the last day of school and closing exercises will be held in all the schools, consisting of programs arranged by the students. Those at the city and borough High Schools wil be especially interesting. As is the custom, the graduating classes of the two institutions will be the guests of the occasion. The making of scholarship and athletic awards for proficiency in the classroom and on the field of sport will be made, principal among them being the presenting of loving cups by the local Yale and Wellesley clubs to the girl and boy of the graduating class of the two High Schools who have led their classmates in every branch of activity. The presentations will be made by members of the two clubs, and, as in years past, speculation is rife as to whom the honored ones will be that will receive the awards. The members of the borough High School baseball squad, winners of the city scholastic championship, will be given their medals, and the leadership pins and badges will also be given out. The names of the winners of the various scholarships will be announced and the cash prizes awarded. Superintendent of Schools Dr. Henry Maxson and Principal Lindsey Best, of Plainfield, and Superintendent of Schools D. Fred Aunast and Principal Albert Early, in the borough, will make farewell addresses, and school and class songs will mark the end of the exercises.

The commencement exercises of the senior class of P. H. S. will take place on Thursday night in the auditorium of the school. The principal speaker will be Dr. Charles Reynolds Brown, dean of the Yale Theology School, who is regarded one of this country's foremost educators. A feature of the graduation will be the presence of a number of the young men in the class who have been at Proh-Helm Farms, at Bernardsville, for the past month. They have been granted a furlough in order that they might attend the class day and commencement exercises.

The auditorium of the city High School will be the scene also of the commencement exercises of the senior class of the North Plainfield High School, which will be held next Friday night. The graduation address will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Charles Eaton, pastor of the New York Madison Avenue church, and a resident of Watchung.

On Wednesday afternoon the commencement exercises were held in the auditorium, at which time, the awarding of degrees to the graduates of the college and high school departments were made. The student body, faculty and Hon. George J. Gillespie, of New York, the speaker of the day, marched in a body to the auditorium from Gabriel Hall, while the Triumphal March was being played. Mr. Gillespie, who made the baccalaureate address, is president of the New York Catholic Charities Association and vice president of the Catholic summer school.

Yesterday afternoon the graduation exercises of the academy were held in the auditorium, and after a program had been rendered by the students the awarding of certificates was made by Rev. Charles H. Mackel, DD., LL. D., to the following graduates: Miss Elizabeth Agnes Alcher, of Easton, Pa.; Miss Mary Bernadette Bontzi, of Plainfield; Miss Charlotte May Cherry, of Highlands; Miss Mary Grata Higgins, of Elizabeth; Miss Eleanor Treacy, of Plainfield; Charles Artemas Kirk, of Bound Brook; William Berrett Oakes, *of New York city; Thomas Jo*seph Rattigan, of Bordentown, and Charles Anthony Reynolds, of Perth Amboy.

Owing to the illness of Rt. Rev. Bishop James A. McFaul, of Trenton, the conferring of degrees and diplomas was done by Rt. Rev. Mgr. Fox, of that place. The candidates were presented by Rev. Peter J. Hart, of North Plainfield. The following candidates received degrees or diplomas: Rose V. Birkel, South Bethlehem, Pa.; Julia E. Blake, Ocean City, N. J.; Mary P. McGrath, Phillipsburg, N. J.; Ann V. McManus, Asbury Park, N. J.; Catherine A. Shea, Great Neck, L. I.; Johanna E. Mulvaney, Perth Amby, N. J.; Helen L. Riordan, Newark, N. J.; Alice C. Allezin, Atlantic City, N. J.; Cecelia D. Burns, Garwood, N. J.; Elsie M. Deak, Plainfield, N. J.; Marion R. Schneider, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock five little children, who are students in the grammar school department, received their first communion in the chapel of the college. The altar was beautifully decorated with lilies and roses, and special hymns appropriate to the occasion were rendered by the sisters' choir and student body. The following were the first communicants: Francis Blatz, Joseph Serra, Manuel Lardizabile, Harold Green, Charlotte Cherry.

Top and Bottom Must Become One Piece

An outside burial receptacle may have the durability and strength of Gibraltar, yet be thoroughly impractical and worthless—if the seal which binds the top and bottom together is not 100% efficient. The Norwalk Cement Vault is sealed above ground—in plain sight of the family—by hand masonry—three inches thick and becomes instantly one solid piece of protecting masonry that grows stronger with the passing years. Thousands of Norwalk Vaults have been standing underground for years—protecting the remains of the dead not only from the disagreeable things under the ground—but from the tons of earth above. 10,000 Impressions of Soldiers' Feet Were Taken by Major Harold D. Corbusier Before He Invented

The Doughboy Shoe

Made by the Field Service Shoe Company, New York.

The invention of the Doughboy Shoe dates back to the Boxer troubles in China, when hundreds of impressions were taken of American soldiers' feet. But the inventor's research work was not confined to operations in China. It has taken in both hemispheres and wholly different conditions of marching and fighting in the Philippines, at Plattsburgh and in the recent mobilization o nthe Mexican border. The inventor has continued his investigations, the result of these years of scientific study and experiment is the Doughboy, which is the most perfect orthopedic last ever designed for army wear.

Capt. George S. Simonds, U. S. Army, Says:

I am wearing a pair of Doughboy Shoes and like them better than any other marching Shoes I have ever tried. I have given the subject of Army Shoes considerable thought and attention and I feel competent to say that the Doughboy Shoe embodies the most correct principles for marching footwear. I am particularly well pleased with the making of the uppers, both in material and design; also the protection furnished the toe.

For quality of leather, workmanship, comfort and Army requirements, I believe the "Doughboy" Shoe ably meets the situation.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) GEO. S. SIMONDS,
Captain of Infantry.

comed into the academic department of the school. Ten of the twelve members of the class received the certificates that mark the completion of the regular elementary course. The other two girls had not carried the full work of the class and were not candidates for certificates. The names of those who now enter the upper school are the Misses Margaret Horland, Margery Carlisle, Judith Claybrook, Marian Drake, Betty Fenner, Marie Hartridge, Katherine Jones, Gertrude Joy, Rebekah Lipscomb, Caroline Power, Anne Carey Thomas and Helen Thomas.

Wednesday night the editors of the School Annual presented with great success to an audience composed of the students and teachers and their families Anatole Frances' one-act play, "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife." The stage setting and the costumes, which were made by the actors, were based as far as possible on Granville Parker's production. Miss Dorothy Jewett acted as stage manger and achieved some surprisingly good results. The play was charmingly presented and the audience most enthusiastic. The program follows:

Scene: A large room in Judge Leonard Botal's House in Mediaeval Paris, on an October day.

Persons of the play:

Master Leonard Botel, Judge, D. McKenzie; Master Adam Fumee, lawyer, D. Jewett; Master Simon Colline, J. Watt; Master Jean Maugier, surgeon, H. Patterson; Master Serafin Dulaurier, apothecary, L. Fawcett; Giles Boicourtier, secretary, N. Doggett; a blind beggar, A. De Leeuw; Catherine, Botal's wife, Alice Joy; Alison, Botal's servant, Charlotte Hawes; Mademoiselle de la Garandiere, Ethelwyn Gamble; Madame de la Bruine, Kathleen Millay; the Chickweed Man, Miss Shaw.

The commencement festivities will be concluded this afternoon, when the annual business meeting of the Alumnae Association of the school will be held at Oakwood. The yearly business will be transacted, officers elected and the graduating class of 1917 welcomed into the organization. Afterward a social time will be enjoyed and tea served out on the lawn.

Amateurs Score Hit At South Plainfield

A pleasing rural comedy drama, "Shadows Before the Dawn," was successfully presented by the Sacred Heart Dramatic Club in Washington Hall, South Plainfield, Monday night. The proceeds were for the benefit of the Sacred Heart church in South Plainfield, and the affair drew a large audience which included many Plainfielders. A dance and refreshments were given in conclusion.

Each member of the cast in the play acquitted himself or herself in a most commendable manner. There was plenty of good comedy throughout and the audience was kept in a state of laughter most of the time. Paul Geary as "Deacon Dubbe" and Miss Marion Geary as "Rose Raleigh, a brave little school ma'am," gave excellent portrayals that stamped them as budding thespians. One of the best bits of comedy was given by Miss Winnie Saverd, who had the difficult character role of "Yennie Yensen, the hired girl from Sweden." Miss Saverd had a lot of good "lines" in her dialogues and her Swedish immitation was almost letter perfect.

The others in the cast of characters were as follows: Amos Coleman, a young lawyer, John Ball; Rawdon Crawley, a wolf in sheep's clothing, Eugene Reilly; Major McNutt, auctioneer and justice of the peace, Frank Phillips; Deuteronomy Jones, a country swain, John Hogan; Miss Philippena Popover, with both eyes on the Deacon, Lizzie Geary; Emile Dale, the richest girl in town, May Harlow; Trixie Coleman, full of mischief, Margaret Hamilton.

DR. ZEGLIO RECOVERING AFTER TROLLEY ACCIDENT.

Dr. P. J. Zeglio, who was badly injured last Sunday afternoon when his automobile collided with a trolley car on lower Park avenue, was reported by Muhlenberg Hospital today as still being in great pain but gradually betting better. The physician sustained four fractured ribs and numerous bruises about the entire body. He will probably be a patient at the institution for many weeks.

The accident occurred as Dr. Zeglio swung his machine around to turn back toward town and came in contact with the Arlington avenue car leaving the Hillside terminus at 3:15. The doctor was thrown against the side of the trolley with great force and for the time being was practically unconscious.

Y. W. C. A. SUMMER CAMP TO OPEN.

The formal opening of the summer camp of the local branch of the Y. W. C. A. will take place tomorrow, when a party will be held at the site selected on the west side of the first mountain. The use of a bungalow has been secured that will accommodate about sixteen girls at a time and every week-end there will be a party of young women enjoying themselves at the camp. A matron will be in charge at all times and preparations are being made for the holding of numerous social events at various times during the next few months.

Bosch Concern May Leave Here

The Bosch Magneto Company, with plants in Springfield, Mass., and this city, has practically decided to concentrate all its energies on the production of a limited number of standard types of magnetos for the immediate future. The local plant, which has been devoted to the production of electric lighting and starting apparatus, will be closed by the concern, but it is said the Government intends making use of it.

The change follows the resignation of President Otto Heins, and several other executives about a month ago, and the subsequent resignation of several factory executives and a number of mechanics. All these men are German subjects with property in Germany and severed their connection with the Bosch company in order not to abrogate their German holdings. Another factor has been the United States Government order forbidding alien enemies to approach nearer than ½ mile any government munition plant. While the Bosch company has not been producing munitions in the strict sense of the world, the entry of the United States into the war has placed magnetos in the class with munitions.

Executives of the Bosch company state that the decision to concentrate on a few types of standard model magnetos will not curtail production but will have the opposite effect. It is stated that already the good effects of such concentration have been felt.

Prior to the entry of the United States into the war, the Bosch company was supplying large quantities of magnetos for truck equipment on vehicles shipped abroad. Shortly thereafter, however, a clause was added to standard contracts forbidding the resale of Bosch equipment to belligerents, and this has somewhat reduced such business. It is believed, however, that this clause will not affect equipment sold to the Government.

Following the resignation of President Heins, former Secretary Carl Schurz was elected to the presidency and now heads the company. Heins has retired temporarily and is spending his time traveling. William De Voe has been elected secretary, and G. Jahn vice president and general manager. A. H. D. Altree assumes the duties of sales manager.

Bonnie Burn to Aid Children of County

Completion of the new children's building at the Bonnie Burn Sanatorium in Scotch Plains will place Union county high in the ranks of communities carrying on the fight against tuberculosis. With this building in operation, the sanatorium will be one of the best equipped in the State, and will offer facilities lacking even in some of the most progressive institutions in the country.

The plan for a children's building materialized after a long campaign for its erection by the board of managers and Dr. John E. Runnells, superintendent of the sanatorium. Dr. Runnells, a tuberculosis expert of high standing, came to the conclusion years ago that much of the phthisis in adult life resulted from infection in childhood, and throughout his career he has urged the necessity of combating the disease in children with a splendid chance for complete cure.

The addition to the sanatorium will enable Dr. Runnells to have under supervision many cases of children pre-disposed to the disease, for whom there are no accommodations at the present time. It is estimated that six months of treatment at the preventorium of this kind will cure a pre-disposed condition and save hundreds of lives.

The new building consists of two stories, with wards on both floors. Porches front the structure for sleeping purposes. Two schoolrooms have been provided for, so that the children will not lack instruction in other things while they are building up their bodies. One teacher will be appointed by the board of managers, and if necessary another instructor will be added.

Improvements for the adult patients will also be furnished by the new building. The basement will be converted into an assembly hall, with accommodations for motion pictures and other entertainments. Religious services will also be held in the basement, according to present plans.

It is not expected that the new building will be completed before October 1. Up to that time, however, it is thought that the children will keep in the open air and not require sanatorium treatment.

JERSEY'S NEW LAWS CURB HASTY WEDDINGS.

Runaway marriages will be discouraged by recently adopted amendments to the marriage laws of New Jersey. The State Department of Health yesterday called attention to the provision forbidding the marriage until seventy-two hours after the application for a license is made.

The license will not be issued until forty-eight hours after the application, and another twenty-four hours must elapse before the ceremony is performed.

FROH-HEIM MINSTRELS.

Twenty-nine P. H. S. boys are now located at Froh-Heim Farms, Bernardsville, for the summer. Aside from their work, one of the most important things they are planning for now is a minstrel show to be given on June 20.

Another Big Boom for South Plainfield

A further building boom for South Plainfield is promised through the announcement the past week that the Merchants' Building Corporation had purchased from Cora Meyer, of Brooklyn, the 226 acre tract of ground adjoining the Spicer Manufacturing plant and having in turn sold to the Spicer Company a plot of 20 acres. The latter deal is taken to mean that the Spicer concern intends enlarging its present factory facilities, which are now pushed to their capacity. The plant at present employs about 1,000 men and additional buildings would greatly increase this number. The village has been sorely taxed to provide homes for all the workmen seeking quarters, consequently confirmation that the company intends to permanently remain at South Plainfield will give confidence to speculators in residences.

It is the intention of the Merchants' Building Corporation to develop the Meyer tract by erecting a large number of moderate priced homes. They will be of the six or seven room type and are to be sold to buyers on easy terms. Samuel Swartz, president of the corporation, is authority for the statement that fifty of these structures are to be commenced at once. They will be completed in batches of six or seven at a time, the first ones being ready for occupancy during the coming summer. Charles F. Dark, president of the Spicer Company, is anxious to have as many of his workmen as is possible located in South Plainfield and is aiding the building corporation in every way. This industrial boom will mean a great deal to the village which has already enjoyed a tremendous growth since the big manufacturing company first moved over from Plainfield. The orders now on hand at the Spicer office will keep the full force working day and night for at least a year to come and further demands are being made upon the output every day.

VAN ARSDALE'S STORE SELLING DOUGHBOY'S SHOES

M. C. Van Arsdale, the East Front street shoe merchant, has secured the local agency for the "Doughboy" shoe, made from a last invented by Dr. Harold D. Corbusier, of this city, and declared by experts to be the "last word" in footwear for the out-door man. As major of the Medical Reserve Corps of the United States Army, Dr. Corbusier had an excellent opportunity in the Chinese campaign, the Philippine insurrection, on the Mexican border and at the Plattsburg camps to study the defects of the ordinary shoe when it is put to hard use, such as develops on forced marching of "Dough boys," the vernacular name for U. S. Infantry men. In consequence he designed the "Doughboy" shoe. The idea of the shoe is to cure the ills of wrongly shod feet, and to make it possible for delicate and untrained feet to become hardened.

The shoes are made of strong leather and wear like steel. The soles are flexible and give with every movement of the foot, yet are heavy enough for hobnails. The shoes fit like a glove, and are just as comfortable, and are durable under all conditions. They will stand the driest climates and are absolutely reliable in mud and water. When worn in water or mud the shoes should be frequently rubbed with oil. Mr. Van Arsdale has secured a limited supply of these shoes which are now on sale.

ELKS' FLAG DAY EXERCISES.

W. T. Phillips, past exalted ruler of New York Lodge, No. 1, B. P. O. E., now editor of the Elks' Antler, addressed an audience at the Plainfield High School last night on the occasion of Plainfield Lodge of Elks' public Flag Day exercises. Mr. Phillips' address was a patriotic effusion that was applauded frequently. Paroubek's orchestra furnished music and members of the lodge occupied their respective stations. Dr. Stephen A. Aldrich was chairman of the committee in charge.

FIRE INSURANCE RATE HEARING

About twenty interested citizens attended the public hearing on fire insurance rates conducted by the Common Council in the Council chambers Wednesday night. Two members of the insurance rate making bureau in charge of Alice Brown, expert for New Jersey, admitted that no report had been made to the bureau of the recent big improvements made in the Plainfield Fire Department which should entitle the city to be placed in Class B instead of Class C. Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed propounded most of the questions and it is probable some good result toward better fire insurance rates locally will be brought about.

DOCTOR TO WED.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Collins, of Academy place, Westfield, have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Grace Morgan Collins, to Dr. William W. Sisserson, also of that town. The ceremony will take place on Thursday, June 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Collins and will be performed by Rev. William I. Steans, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Westfield. Dr. Sisserson is visiting physician at Muhlenberg Hospital and has announced his intention to become a member of an American hospital corps.

GOLF ACTIVITIES.

Tomorrow afternoon at the Plainfield Country Club there will be play for the spring point and selected score cups. At Hydewood Class A team vs. Class B team, 18 holes, in the medal play handicap will be the feature.

Troop D Officers Ordered Into Camp

Following orders received from the office of Adjutant-General Barber this week, all the officers and non-commissioned officers of Troop D, Plainfield's cavalry unit, will report at Sea Girt, before noon tomorrow, where a camp of instruction will start and continue until June 30. Led by Captain Runkle, the entire corps of officers and "non-coms" will leave Camp Edge tomorrow morning, where, with the other officers and "non-coms" of the First Squadron, will receive intensive training in trench digging, barbed wire entanglement cutting, rifle practice, bayonet exercises and other practical war instruction so that when the general call for the mobilizing of the State's militia comes on July 25 the officers will already have learned the rudiments of modern warfare.

Major Marcus D. Stokes, the senior inspector-instructor of the United States Army with the New Jersey National Guard at present, will be the senior instructor and will be assisted by other regular army officers and officers of the State Guard detailed for the purpose. General Bird W. Spencer, of Passaic, inspector-general of rifle practice, will furnish targets, supplies and ammunition for the rifle range practice and firing problems will be studied.

Full equipment for regular war encampment and work must be provided for each officer and man. In addition, the order directs that infantry commanders issue to each non-commissioned officer from each company intrenching tools for two squads.

Citizens Are Asked to Help the Police

A vigorous attempt to arrest slackers is urged in a bulletin received yesterday from Adjutant General Barber by Sheriff Otto, a copy of which has been sent to the local police, asking all to redouble efforts in every direction to apprehend all who have failed or refused to register under the selective service act.

The bulletin says in part:

"As a statement from you in your community showing how the burden of those who have registered has been increased by the failure of the non-registrant would excite the interest of the public in the detection of the slacker. The public should be invited to scan the lists prescribed in paragraph 39 (lists of registered names posted) and should be urged to assist in bringing non-registrants to the attention of the police.

"Returns from registration districts should be compared with the estimates of the census bureau to ascertain the accuracy of your registration. In case of doubt as to age, the records of the election boards and other boards should be considered and data may be obtained from the bureau of the census.

"The purpose of this bulletin is to inaugurate at once a vigorous, aggressive and efficient enactment of the penal clauses of the selective service law against all who have failed or refused to register."

It is expected that the police of the various cities will work in conjunction with the department of justice to apprehend and punish all slackers. Immediately upon conviction, each non-registrant is to be registered.

Outside of the Pollack that was arrested last week and later released, no one has been apprehended in this city as yet.

JEWISH CHARITIES.

The third annual meeting of the United Hebrew Charity Organization of Plainfield was held in the auditorium of the Y. M. H. A. on Monday night. The officers elected follow: President, William Newcorn; vice president, Benjamin Kline; second vice president, Morris Abrams; third vice president, Jacob Sacher; treasurer, Hyman Adelberg, and secretary, Miss Elizabeth Rosenson. During the year $300 was collected and expended for charity among the Jews of the city. Sixty-eight people were taken care of.

HONORED W. G. BESLER.

Under the direction of the athletic association of the C. R. R. of N. J., a reception was held last night in the terminal building at Jersey City, at which William G. Besler, of this city, and president and general manager of the railroad, was the guest of honor. The affair was held in observance of Flag Day, and Mr. Besler was presented with a handsome National emblem and also a bound book in which were written the names of all those who helped purchase the flag. The presentation speech was made by District Superintendent C. H. Stein.

DR. ABBOTT TO GIVE SHAKESPEAREAN READINGS

For the benefit of the Arthur Home for the Blind at Summit, Dr. Edgar C. Abbott, of Boston, will give a series of three Shakespearean readings in this city, beginning Monday morning. He appeared here last year, at which time he also gave such a series for the benefit of the home.

At the first reading he will offer Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," followed on June 20 by "The Merchant of Venice," and on June 22 by "King Lear." The first gathering will be held in the art gallery of Mrs. S. S. Carvalho, on West Eighth street, the second at the home of Mrs. David H. Rowland, of West Seventh street, and the third at the home of Mrs. Carvalho again.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

MRS. NICHOLAS MAUGER.

Mrs. Isabella Mauger, wife of Nicholas Mauger, died Monday afternoon at her home, 705 West Seventh street, after a long and tedious illness. She underwent two serious surgical operations last fall in the hope of obtaining relief but without success. Her invalidism was such that she had been unable to leave her room during the past winter but she bore the ordeal with unusual fortitude.

Mrs. Mauger was born at Montrose, Scotland, sixty-seven years ago, but came to this country with her parents when a child. She was married in 1876 and from that time on until the family removed here eleven years ago, she had made her home in Orange.

Surviving Mrs. Mauger, beside her husband, are: Two sons, David N. Mauger, of Summit, and James A. Mauger, of Peking, China; two daughters, Mrs. Joseph A. Morrison, of Jamaica, N. Y., and Mrs. S. F. Johnson, of this city; also one sister and three brothers. The deceased was a member of the religious society of the Brethren and the funeral service at the home Wednesday afternoon was conducted by F. C. Jennings, of the borough, and George L. Aldrich, of Easton, Pa., members of the society. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

MRS. PETER FREIDAY.

Mrs. Louisa Freiday, a life long resident of Coontown, died at her home at that place Monday after a long illness. She was fifty-six years old and was the wife of Peter Freiday, one of the best known farmers in Warren township. Mrs. Freiday was a member of the Coontown church, where she was an active worker. Beside her husband she leaves two sons, George and Peter Freiday, and a daughter, Miss Anna Freiday; also her mother, Mrs. Morris Dealaman, all of Coontown, and a brother, William Dealaman, of Dunellen. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon in the Coontown church and burial was in the Coontown cemetery.

MRS. JAMES D. ANDERSON.

Mrs. Gertrude Mattis Anderson, wife of James D. Anderson, died Saturday night at her home on New street, after an illness of about three years. She was fifty-one years old and had lived in this vicinity for a long time, coming here from Dunellen. She was a native of Flemington, where most of her relatives resided.

While residing in Dunellen, Mrs. Anderson was a member of the Euterpean orchestra, organized by Mrs. Charles S. Day, then Miss Emma Nelson, of New Market, and composed entirely of women. Mrs. Anderson was a talented musician and appeared with the orchestra at numerous functions in Plainfield.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Anderson is survived by her father, Garret Mattis, of New street, and one sister, Mrs. Mary A. Becker, of Raritan. The funeral was held at the home at 412 New street, Tuesday afternoon, and was in charge of Rev. Dr. D. W. Skellenger. Many relatives and friends were in attendance and numerous beautiful floral tributes were extended by friends of the family. The interment was made in the New Cemetery at Somerville.

MRS. FREDERICK C. LOUNSBURY.

Mrs. Catherine Cornell Lounsbury, wife of Frederick C. Lounsbury, died last Saturday morning at her home on Plainfield avenue, following a stroke of paralysis suffered a few days previously. Mrs. Lounsbury had not been in very good health for three years and was unable to rally from the attack. The funeral was held at the late residence Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock and was in charge of Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. Lounsbury was born in New York in 1858, the daughter of Samuel S. and Cornelia C. Wandell. Her family resided in Brooklyn for a long time, and she came to Plainfield thirty years ago after her marriage to Mr. Lounsbury. She was possessed of many estimable traits that endeared her to all who knew her. She also had a strong Christian character and was an active worker for many years in the First Presbyterian church.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Lounsbury leaves four daughters and four sons. They are: The Misses Catherine, Ella, Cornelia and Margaret Lounsbury; Frederick, Jr., Jesse and Orlando, of this city, and Harold Lounsbury, now at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, as a member of the United States Army Aviation Corps.

REV. DR. JOSEPH C. BUCHANAN.

Rev. Dr. Joseph C. Buchanan, a resident of the borough for the past eleven years and prominent for half a century in the Baptist denomination or the State, died early Tuesday morning at the home of his son, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of 43 Duer street, North Plainfield. A paralytic stroke suffered by the clergyman on April 12 of this year was the culmination of failing health that had been in progress for a long time. Because of his advanced age Dr. Buchanan was unable to rally and his relatives had been expecting the end.

Dr. Buchanan was seventy-six years old, having been born at Ringoes, this State, on March 27, 1841. He entered Colgate University in the class of 1866 and completed the theological course with honors. After his ordination to the ministry he accepted the call from the congregation of the Scotch Plains Baptist church in 1867, remaining there for eleven years. He was greatly liked by the members of his flock and the membership was greatly increased through his efforts. The present commodious church on Park avenue was built during his pastorate, the edifice at that time being one of the most imposing houses of worship in this section. In 1878 Dr. Buchanan accepted a call to the Baptist church at Pemberton, South Jersey, where he again became the idol of his congregation, and although he was frequently importuned to enter other fields of endeavor he declined to go. He served the Pemberton church faithfully for twenty-eight years, resigning from active duty in 1904, to undertake less arduous duties. He came to Plainfield in 1906 but was always ready to aid religious endeavor whenever called upon. He was a familiar figure at Baptist gatherings and cultivated one of the widest acquaintances of any clergyman in New Jersey. From 1884 to 1894 he was secretary to the New Jersey State Baptist Convention and from 1889 to 1908 was trustee of Peddie Institute, in which he always maintained an active interest.

On September 18, 1866, Dr. Buchanan married Miss Hannah S. Rea, of Quakertown. To his faithful wife he always attributed much credit for his successful pastorates and accomplishments of the difficult tasks that so often beset one of his calling. The couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last September at the home of their son and the large gathering of guests had representatives from all parts of New Jersey. One of those present was William H. Bishop, a prominent business man of Pemberton, who was born on the same day as Dr. Buchanan and who came to Plainfield every year since 1906 to celebrate the natal event with him. The last birthday was the first the two intimates had missed being together in a long time and was due to the illness of both. Mr. Bishop attended the funeral service yesterday, as he is at present in fairly good health.

Besides his wife and son, Dr. Buchanan's only near surviving relative is his granddaughter, Miss Mary Buchanan. His late brother, James Buchanan, of Trenton, was Congressman for two terms and his late sister, Mrs. Hannah Pierson, was the mother of Mrs. Frank W. Bailey, of Duer street.

The funeral service for local friends was held at the late home on Duer street yesterday morning at 11 o'clock and was very largely attended. It was in charge of Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, assisted by Rev. E. C. Conover, of the Temple Baptist church, who succeeded Dr. Buchanan as pastor at Pemberton, and Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church. Included in the numerous beautiful floral tributes were many set pieces presented by organization to which Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan belongs. From the borough the body of the clergyman was taken to Cherryville, Hunterdon county, where a further service was held for old friends in that section. It took place in the Baptist church, where another large gathering was in evidence. Burial was in the Cherryville cemetery.

MRS. THEODORE J. PRUDEN.

Mrs. Louise V. Pruden, wife of Theodore J. Pruden, died Tuesday night at her home, on East Second street. She had been ill a long time. The funeral will be held at the residence this afternoon in charge of Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie and interment will be in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Mrs. Pruden was born in Augusta, Georgia, sixty-two years ago, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Winkle. She came to Plainfield with her parents when a child and after remaining a short time went to Newark, where she spent the greater part of her life. She returned to Plainfield in 1901 and was married to Mr. Pruden thirteen years ago. She was a member of the Crescent Avenue church and possessed a wide circle of friends.

Mrs. Pruden's nearest surviving relatives beside her husband are: One son, William H. Wooden, of Dunellen; one brother, Charles H. Van Winkle, of Brooklyn; and two sisters, the Misses Agnes and Stella Van Winkle, of Newark.

HOLD GUARDSMEN FOR GRAND JURY.

William Barnett, 21 years old, and Charles Olenson, 19 years old, both members of the National Guard, who are on duty in this city, have been committed to the county jail at Elizabeth on charges of carnal abuse, respectively, by Judge William De Dess. The men came to the jail in their uniforms. The original charges were heard in the local police court some time ago. Both men reside in Hoboken. They will await the action of the Grand Jury.

Special Arrangements for Buying Liberty Bonds

10 PER CENT. UPON APPLICATION — BALANCE IN CONVENIENT INSTALLMENTS

We want every Man, Woman and Child to subscribe to these bonds. It is not only your duty, but a privilege. They are an excellent investment, free from Income Tax, and will probably sell above par in the coming months. To those who are unable to pay for them according to the Government plan, we will ADVANCE THE MONEY AT AN UNUSUALLY LOW RATE OF INTEREST, to buy them.

You will pay us 10 per cent. down and the balance in weekly or monthly installments preferably monthly, and when you have paid the full amount, the bond, with interest due, will be yours. This is entirely separate and different from our usual loan and discount account, and we will not loan money in our regular business at such a low rate.

Two per centum on application;
Eighteen per centum on June 28, 1917;
Twenty per centum on July 30, 1917;
Thirty per centum on August 15, 1917;
Thirty per centum on August 30, 1917.

and we recommend for convenience that this be adopted, but there are those who, perhaps, are not in a position to pay this way, and we do not want anyone to feel that they will not take a bond because they can not afford it or pay for it promptly.

Subscriptions should be made at once, and we will handle the entire matter for you without charge, taking care of the bonds and doing all of the necessary work.

Record Class Graduated at Plainfield High School

Marking of the patriotic and inspiring a gathering of relatives and friends such as has never occurred before in Plainfield, the forty-seventh annual commencement exercises of the senior class of the Plainfield High School were held in the auditorium of the big structure last night. The principal address of the evening was made by Rev. Charles Brown, dean of the Yale Theological School, and regarded as one of the foremost educators of the country.

As the curtain rose at the beginning of the exercises it disclosed the members of the class, numbering 87 in all, seated in a huge crescent, one back above the other, on the stage. The entire auditorium was profusely decorated with palms and growing flowers, the young women of the class dressed entirely in white and the young men wore white pants and blue coats.

The program started with the playing of a march, "The Stars and Stripes" by Sousa, and was followed by the invocation by Rev. D. W. Bollenger, pastor of Hope chapel. Miss Fanny Mann, winner of salutatory honors, read the salutatorian address, which was followed by Rev. Charles R. Brown, who made an address, during the course of which he gave much sound advice to the graduates who are just leaving High School to enter on into life or continue their studies in higher fields.

The presentation of awards to the winners of various scholarship honors was made by Dr. B. Van D. Hedges, who made a few remarks of congratulation to each one as he gave the prizes. The valedictory essay and address was made by Percy Mathey Stelle, the winner of the highest honors in the class. Stelle's dissertation was on "The School and the Nation," during the course of which he explained what constituted a useful person and how the various subjects included in the High School curriculum tended to make it possible for students to obtain that roundness, fullness and broadness of character so essential in the climb to success.

ARTHUR KYLE WINS YALE CUP AND MISS ELSA PALMER WELLESLEY CUP

The final exercises of the year for the High School student body were held in the auditorium yesterday morning. The main features of the meeting centered around the presentation of the Yale and Wellesley cups, which are given annually by the two local college organizations to the girl and boy member of the senior class who has led in both athletics and scholarship. The Yale cup was presented to Arthur Kyle and the Wellesley cup to Miss Elsa Palmer. Kyle was a member of the football, baseball and basketball teams during his last year, captaining the two latter, and stood high in scholarship. Miss Palmer was a member of the girls' basketball team, was also prominent in the affairs of the class, and received several scholarship honors. Both were students in the general course and during the entire four years took an active part in the school life. Miss Palmer will enter Swarthmore College this fall, while Kyle will start in Yale.

In choosing their colleges the members of the class showed a wide diversity of taste, all the biggest colleges and many of the smaller ones securing one or more. Teaching seems to be the favorite with the young women, the Montclair and Newark Normal Schools getting many. Wartimes can be credited with being partly responsible for three graduates deciding to enter the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School. One girl member of the class has ambitions of becoming a barrister, while others choose music and other professions. The boys are going in for everything from soldiering to teaching.

The list of graduates, the courses they took and their future plans are included in the following: Florence Albaugh, general, home; Dorothy Angenbleik, commercial, business; Adelaide Banks, general, teaching, New Normal School; Minnie Bantle, commercial, business; Mary Bischoff, commercial, business; Adele Bockell, commercial, teaching, Newark Normal School; Alice Brown, classical, Howard College; Grace Brown, general, teaching, Montclair High School; Dorothy Butler, general, undecided; Eva Butt, commercial, business; Eleanor Case, classical, Wellesley; Juliet Chamberlain, general, boarding school; Mildred Clark, general, undecided; Rose Clark, general, undecided; Hazel Coddington, general, Simmons College; Marcella Coughlan, commercial, undecided; Mary Coulter, general, teaching, Montclair Normal School; Muriel Courser, general, nursing, Muhlenberg Hospital; Elsie Cullinan, commercial, business; Katherine Endress, general, business; Anna Freedman, commercial, undecided; Ruth Fuller, classical, teaching, Montclair

N. P. H. S. '17 Graduation Is Tonight

The senior class of the North Plainfield High School will hold its graduating exercises in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School tonight at 8:15. The invocation and benediction will be made by Rev. John Y. Brock, of the Trinity Reformed church. The principal address of the evening will be delivered by Rev. Charles A. Eaton, pastor of the New York Madison Avenue Baptist church and a resident of Watchung. Dr. J. H. Cooley, president of the Board of Education, will make the presentation of diplomas, and the Yale club, donated by the Yale Club of Plainfield to the member of the graduating class leading in scholarship and athletics, will be made.

The salutatory address will be delivered by John Doughty, the highest honor pupil of the class. Miss Margaret Smith, valedictorian of the class of 1917, will make the valedictory address. The graduation program will be as follows:

Invocation, Rev. John Y. Brock; salutatory address, "The United States, the Champion of Justice," John Doughty; chorus, "Recessional," High School glee club; essay, "Our Flag," Miss Dorothy Lee; selection, High School orchestra; valedictory essay, "The Hero of the Marne," Miss Mary Smith; awarding of diplomas, Dr. J. H. Cooley; chorus, (a) "Blow Ye Gentle Breezes," (b) "Song of the Armorer," High School glee club; address to graduates, Dr. Charles A. Eaton; awarding of the Yale cup, by a member of the Yale Club of Plainfield; chorus, "Ye Mariners of England"; *Yale club; flag salute and pledge of al*legiance, everybody; "Star Spangled Banner," everyone, and benediction, Rev. John Y. Brock.

The graduating class from the borough High School this year is the largest of the history of the institution, comprising altogether thirty-four members as follows: William Carson, Robert Daley, John Doughty, William Fass, Raymond Kirch, Vincent LaPorte, Victor Levitz, Kenneth Lowrie, Andrew McDonough, Robert Pasch, Irving Roddy, Edwin Schroeder, William Seidel, Alfred Wright, William Ahern, John Kuidoshis, Frances Avery, Mary Ayers, Marguerite Barkalew, Madeline Blair, Anna Blume, Catherine Britting, Marjorie Chandler, Marian Chandler, Mary Connegt, Catherine Gillespie, Hertha Hahr, Dorothy Lee, Bertha Martin, Helen Nyno, Margaret Smith, Mildred Smith, Lillian Spencer, Elsie Wyckoff.

Already a number of the members of the class have decided to continue their studies in higher institutions of learning. Those who have already picked the college they will attend are as follows: Catherine Gillespie, Dickenson College; William Seidel, University of Michigan; Alfred Willett, University of Wisconsin; John Kuidoshes, Jefferson Medical College; Andrew McDonough, Catholic University of America; William Ahern, Penn State; Irving Roddy, Lehigh University, and Victor Levitz, Jersey City Dental College.

The last assembly of the students of the High School was held in the auditorium of the Somerset Street School this morning, at which time D. Fred Aungst, supervising principal of schools, and Albert Early, principal of the High School, made a few farewell remarks. The members of the senior class were the guests of the occasion, and patriotic songs and recitations were rendered. The awarding of the prizes in the temperance essay contest were also made. Miss Mary Smith, valedictorian of the outgoing class, receiving first prize, and Miss Mary Buchanan being awarded second prize.

ALFRED J. B. CLEMENT.

Alfred J. B. Clement, of 94 Grove street, died yesterday afternoon at his home after a long illness, with complications. He was employed as a bookkeeper by the United States Steel Corporation and had resided here many years. Surviving him are his mother and the following brothers and sisters: Louis Clement, of West Front street; the Misses Clementine, Antoinette and Julia Clement and Gustav, all of Grove street. A private funeral service will be held at the late home on Grove street Monday morning at 10:60 o'clock, in charge of Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson and burial will be in the family plot in the cemetery at Manasquan.

HOME DEFENSE TO ATTEND SERVICE.

The Plainfield Home Defense League Commission has accepted an invitation for the League to attend services at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday evening, June 24th. All members of the League who are able to be present are therefore asked to report in uniform at police headquarters promptly at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening. From there they will march in a body to the church.

Kaiser Wilhelm has been blessed and cursed more than once in different parts of the world since August, 1914, when the world war started, and especially has he come in for the condemnation part since the United States made its entrance into the fracas, but it be were to become acquainted with the attitude of the Plainfield High School student body he would probably be more concerned than if he had lost a battle on the Somme. At least that is the opinion prevailing at the Ninth street institution.

In years gone by German has been one of the main studies at P. H. S., but before the opening of school next fall that department will have to be entirely reorganized to meet the new conditions, that of having but thirty-four students out of a total of possibly 700 who are to include the language in the curriculum for 1917-18. At the start of this year there were approximately 150 students in the German department, but when asked to make out a tentative schedule for next year they either supplemented French or Spanish.

Playgrounds to Open On July 5

Although the city's Recreation Committee has had its work cut short because the Common Council feels it cannot afford the money necessary for it to carry on its activities, the Playground Commission is already making plans for the summer work, now that the public schools have closed. George Wriston, a member of the Plainfield High School faculty, will have general supervision over the playgrounds again this year, but will have a slightly changed corps of assistants. At present he contemplates opening the playgrounds on July 5 and Parker Field shortly after.

The four city playgrounds, including those at the Bryant, St. Mary's, Irving and Franklin Schools, will open with but few changes and those of a minor nature. A supervisor will be in charge of each and the playgrounds will be open to the youngsters every day.

As to Parker Field, Mr. Wriston is not quite certain what he will do. Because the boys between fourteen and sixteen years of age will be of great assistance on farms and in other ways this summer, he does not think it a good plan to have the field as great a lure to the youngsters as a place to while away the summer hours. As it is, it is improbable that there will be a baseball league organized, although the boys may have the use of the diamond. The tennis courts and swings are now being *used and will remain open all sum*mer.

To Make Appeal For War Victims

A mass meeting for the benefit of the Syrians and Armenians will be held in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School next Tuesday night, it will be under the auspices of the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief and every cent contributed will go for relief.

The meeting will be presided over by George W. McCutcheon and among the speakers who will be present are Dr. Frederick G. Coan, a man who has seen much of the suffering in the East during his stay there, and Dr. Frederick H. Lynch, editor of "The Christian at Work."

MISS VAN EMBURGH GIVES UNIQUE PATRIOTIC PARTY

Miss Marjorie King Van Emburgh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Van Emburgh, of East Second street, entertained fifteen of her schoolmates in the Hartridge School at her home Monday afternoon in a unique and patriotic party. The affair began with a luncheon shortly after 1 o'clock. The dining room was decorated in Red, White and Blue and a large "Uncel Sam" hat occupied the centre of the table. Red, white and blue ribbons were strung from it and when followed up produced a pretty favor hidden in the hat. The idea originated from Miss Van Emburgh and proved very pleasing.

During the afternoon games, dancing and music were enjoyed until 5:30, at which time patriotic songs were sung in conclusion. The young hostess was assisted by her mother in receiving.

Contractors Pushing New Street Work

Work on the permanent paving of certain Plainfield streets as contracted for by the Common Council a few months ago has commenced in earnest during the past week and rapid progress is now being made. So many complaints have reached City *Engineer Gavett about the deplor*able condition of the most important thoroughfares that he is co-operating with the contractors in having the new work done first where it is most needed. Park avenue, between Fourth street and Ninth street, is one of the stretches included in the permanent work but as it cannot be cared for until late in the summer temporary repairs are being made to overcome the faulty conditions existing. These comprise loosening up the old macadam and re-laying it with an even surface.

The Newark Paving Company, which is to do practically all of the new brick work, is now putting East Fifth street in readiness for the paving by building new concrete curbs and leveling off. Watchung avenue, from the present trolley stand to East Fifth street, is the next to be gotten ready, as the entire stretch from East Fourth street around to Richmond street is to be double-tracked for the Union and Netherwood trolley lines. The Public Service Corporation is now hauling materials to begin the double tracking during the coming week. This is to be one of the biggest improvements of all the new work, as it will not only give the public better trolley facilities but will also make a splendid continuous automobile route directly into the city from South avenue.

After Watchung avenue and East Fifth street have been disposed of, the Newark Paving Company will get busy on East Second street, between Park avenue and Watchung avenue, which is also to be relayed with brick. The work at this point will be somewhat slow as provision must be made to keep the thoroughfare open at one end for the accomodation of the fire apparatus at headquarters. This will be done by using the middle of the fire house as a center, first working to it from Watchung avenue and having all stone and brick in Park avenue. When the new work is completed, the other half from Park avenue will be torn up and all alarms will be answered via Watchung avenue. The force of men will be doubled on the East Second street block to hurry the job along, this being agreed upon between the contractors and the street committee. From Second street the Newark company will probably pro*ceed to West Front street,* laying brick from Madison avenue to Liberty street, after which the other portions of the contract will be taken in point of convenience.

J. P. Bentley, who has all of the concrete work and a single block of bricking to do, has had his men busy on West Seventh street for the past three weeks. Most of this time was taken up with preliminaries, but the actual paving is now well under way and the block from Grant avenue to Darrow avenue has been finished. The street was left in bad shape after the installation of the big storm sewer, consequently Mr. Bentley will continue working on Seventh street to Park avenue. After that he will build the two blocks of concrete on Park avenue, between Seventh and Ninth streets. The one block of brick he is to do is Madison avenue, between Front and Second streets. Mr. Bentley, who is a brother-in-law of County Registrar Frank H. Smith, is a resident of Elizabeth, but is a member of Plainfield Lodge of Elks. He has a wide circle of friends who give assurance that every bit of this contract will be completed in a most satisfactory manner. He was a member of the firm which built the fine structure of permanent paving on South avenue from Richmond street to Terrill road.

In connection with the new street work, the Common Council is having a new sanitary sewer built in West Second street, from Central avenue to Park avenue. It was found by the city engineer that the present line was barely adequate to care for the section of the day and in the course of a few years would be insufficient. It was deemed best to put in an extra one before the street was permanently paved and the one now in process of construction along side the old pipes is calculated to meet all requirements for at least twenty-five years. Ralph Reilly, of Bogota, has the contract and has a force of 100 men now at work. Mr. Reilly's contract also includes an additional sanitary sewer in Madison avenue from Front to Second street, ordered by the Common Council as a precaution against tearing up the new brick.

LITTLE GIRL BADLY BURNED.

Loretto Tucker, colored, eleven years old, was received at Muhlen*berg Hospital* late last night suffering from painful burns about the entire body. The child was about to go to bed when her clothing became ignited from a candle. Her condition this morning was critical. The girl lives with her parents at 218 West Third street.

Plan Whirlwind Windup For Red Cross Campaign

With a total of $25,000 contributed up to the present time and plans already made for conducting a whirlwind campaign tomorrow and Sunday, Chairman Wilbur H. Rogers and the remainder of the Red Cross Campaign Committee this morning expressed the belief that Plainfield would contribute the $50,000 expected of it in the country-wide movement to secure $100,000,000 for the American Red Cross. Judge William Newcorn announced today the details of the campaign mapped out for the last two days which includes short programs tomorrow in the theatres and a big mass meeting in the Plainfield High School on Sunday night.

The management of the Proctor Theatre and Plainfield Airdome have agreed to contribute twenty-five per cent. of their receipts toward the fund and members of the Women's Auxiliary will be stationed at the entrances to receive contributions. The program arranged with publicity committee will take place at Proctor's at 8:00, at the Lyric at 8:30, and at the Airdome at 9:00. It will start with a short appeal to be made by Judge William Newcorn, and afterward Miss Marie Bois will sing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and Mrs. Maxwell Perkins will recite "The Spirit of the Red Cross." A member of the Home Defense League in uniform and a member of the Auxiliary in the garb of Red Cross nurse will be stationed at the entrance to each pleasure house to get contributions.

Tomorrow afternoon the members of the business men's committee will complete their canvass of the city and business district, collecting the subscription cards and soliciting donations.

The final effort of the Red Cross Committee will come on Sunday night, when a mass meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School. The churches have cancelled their evening services in favor of it. Countess Teturezynowiez, known as "The Polish Countess," will be the principal speaker of the meeting. Being a resident of a country that has known all sorts of suffering, she is well qualified to speak about the work of the Red Cross. Margaret Lawton, the actress, is *another who has cheerfully con*sented to be present for the occasion, and Dr. Chadwick, a well known Brooklyn minister, will do so if possible. The meeting will be presided over by George W. McCutcheon.

Co. K Has First Serious Mishap

(Special Correspondence)

"Somewhere in New Jersey," June 21.—Another week of guard duty has passed and finds most of the members of Company K in fine shape, although the accident that befell Ernest Drake has put a damper on the boys' spirits. He is in the Monmouth Memorial Hospital and seems to have an even chance for recovery. Drake was struck by an express train early Monday morning when doing duty on one of the railroad bridges located in the section patrolled by Company K. If his life is saved our truck, which was made possible through the generosity and patriotism of the folks back home, will be partly responsible, as, thanks to it, we were able to get him to the hospital in a hurry. His soldiering days, however, will be over even if he recovers, as the doctors found it necessary to take one leg off at the knee. He also suffered numerous cuts and bruises.

There was another bad accident in our section Monday night. A truck owned by the New York Telephone Company was struck at one of the railroad crossings and completely demolished. A number of the signal corps men that are stationed near were riding in it and of them are now in the Long Branch Hospital. With the exception of one, who has a fractured skull, they are not badly injured, although all are bruised and cut. It seems miraculous that they were not all killed.

A rather strange feature of the case was brought out when it was learned that the engineer of the train was a brother of the man in the engine cab of the train that struck poor Drake. Our truck again came in handy, as it was sent post haste to the scene with the sanitary detachment.

Several changes have taken place in the company since June 13, when a number of appointments were made. Alexander C. Campbell and Frederick H. Bowe have been elevated to corporals, as have George W. Osborne, Harry N. Maine and Joseph Kelderling. Linwood Hutchinson has been appointed mechanic and Harold F. Beekman second cook, while new appointed first class privates include Lewis D. Brown, Percy H. Clark, George L. Morrison, John Perrine and Elmer Windsor.

Quash Indictment in Martin Tangle

Judge Connolly yesterday filed conclusions in which he sustained a motion by Attorney Frank J. Burns to quash an indictment found against Patrick J. Martin, of the city, for the "embezzlement of partnership funds." The case was a novel one, and the conclusions were eagerly awaited by lawyers throughout the county.

Martin was indicted for driving $5500 of the funds of the Martin-Tovell Express Company, doing business here, in which he was partner. His attorney claimed that it was impossible for a partner to embezzle funds from the concern on the ground that a man cannot steal from himself.

Belated Lodge Man Spots Distant Fire

Long distance discovery of a fire was made early Wednesday morning by Frank Neal, of West Front street, who, from the top floor of the Babcock building saw flames break through the roof of a barn on Plainfield avenue belonging to Julius Donato and leased by J. Steinman. Mr. Neal had been attending a late lodge session and was just about to start down stairs when he saw the sky become brilliantly illuminated and taking a second look realized the glaze was somewhere in the West End. He hurriedly telephoned fire headquarters and had just delivered his message when box 51 began striking on the house tappers at 1:13. Mr. Neal's call, however, had roused up the men and gave them a considerable start over the regular alarm.

The barn and its contents were practically destroyed at a loss of about $1,000, covered by insurance. Three horses belonging to Steinman were gotten out in safety. But a fourth inhaled so much flame as had to be shot. The cause of the fire is unknown.

At 6 o'clock Wednesday evening the department was called out for a second barn fire. The building belonged to W. D. Thicksun and was located in the rear of 412 Central avenue. Damage was about $500 and an additional $100 on the garage of C. W. Spicer located nearby. The cause of this fire is also unknown.

Truth About the Bosch Factory

Ever since the entry of this country into the war, various rumors affecting the Bosch Magneto Company have been in circulation, a number of them finding expression in print. It has been stated, for example, that the factories of the company were about to be closed down, that the company has been taken over by the Government, etc.

In order to put an end to all such idle and wholly unfounded reports, the following brief statement of the actual facts has been made by the company:

The proclamation by President Wilson on April 6th, in its regulations for alien enemies, caused a certain amount of perturbation and possibly misapprehension in the minds of such of the company's employees as are German subjects, and a number of these resigned, but the mechanical staff was very little disturbed.

The resignations coming en bloc naturally caused considerable inconvenience, as the superintending and clerical force was much affected, and for a time it appeared as though the company might be temporarily compelled to suspend operations until a readjustment and replacement of the staff was made. Fortunately, the strenuous efforts of the remaining executives averted this undesired suspension, and the company is now swinging along in full stride.

This consummation was considerably helped by the decision to concentrate the productive facilities on the leading types of their ignition apparatus which are in heavy demand, and to postpone for a brief period only the production of the numerous specialized types suited for by various special industries.

All of these have been produced in the Bosch Works at Springfield, Mass., while the Plainfield (N. J.) Works have been manufacturing, starting and lighting apparatus.

It has been stated in print and otherwise that the Plainfield works are to close down at once. This is not true, for the production of starting apparatus will be suspended for the present, the company's orders and further prospective business indicate the necessity of continuing the Plainfield works as an auxiliary in production to the manufactory at Springfield, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoskins, of Dover, were local visitors yesterday.

Nuggets of Church News

HEAVENLY REST.

The annual summer festival of the Church of the Heavenly Rest will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening on the lawns surrounding the edifice. Every organization in the church has united to work for the success of the affair and it promises to be the biggest event ever held under the auspices of the church. A program of events that will occupy the entire afternoon and evening has been arranged. In the afternoon there will be a baseball game between the married and single men and afterward there will be a Punch and Judy show. The women of the church will have cake, candy, vegetable and refreshment tables, and there will be a fortune teller and other features to add to the fun. The grounds will be lighted by incandescent lamps and the Dutch Arms Band will render a musical program.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL.

Rev. Howard E. Clarke will have charge of the services in the First Congregational church on Sunday. The topic of his sermon will be "The Light of the Dark World," although he will devote part of the service to making a plea for the success of the Red Cross campaign now being conducted.

PARK AVE. BAPTIST.

The pulpit committee has announced the list of supplies that will have charge of the services during the summer months until September. By that time it is expected that a permanent pastor will have been selected. Tomorrow Rev. Wilbur F. Alton, of Brooklyn, will preach and the others, who will be in charge on various Sundays follows: July 1, Rev. J. W. Richardson, Belfast, Me.; July 8, Rev. Charles E. Schweikert, Paterson; July 15, Rev. E. I. Case, Plainfield; July 22, Rev. F. St. John Fitch, Plainfield; July 29, Rev. Dr. Walter J. Swatfield, Boston, Mass.; August 5, Rev. A. E. Finn, Rochester, Pa.; August 12, Rev. C. F. Breaker, Burlington, Vt.; August 19, Rev. Llewellyn Brown, Brantford, Ont.; August 26, Rev. Kenneth MacArthur, Suffield, Conn.

ALL SOUL'S.

The regular morning service on Sunday will be in charge of Rev. John Blatziy, the pastor, who will preach on "The Divine Process."

TEMPLE BAPTIST.

Under the auspices of the trustees of the church, a lawn social and meeting was held on the grounds of the Temple Baptist church last night. Members of all the various church organizations were in attendance, and after a short musical program had been enjoyed refreshments were served.

Rev. E. O. Conova will be in charge of the services at the Temple Baptist church on Sunday. In the morning he will preach on "The Assistor" and in the evening "The Quitter."

Beginning with Sunday and continuing until August the evening services on Sunday will be held at 7:00 instead of 7:45 and when the weather is favorable will be held on the lawn.

HOLY CROSS.

Rev. H. St. G. Burrill will be in charge of the services in the Holy Cross church on Sunday, they being at the following hours: 7:30, Holy Communion; 11:00, Holy Communion and sermon, and 7:45, evening prayer and short address.

FIRST M. E.

The morning service at the First M. E. church on Sunday will be devoted entirely to helping the Red Cross campaign. Dr. Charles E. Anderson will talk on that subject during his sermon and afterward a collection will be taken to be put in Plainfield's fund. The evening service will be discontinued in favor of a union service in the Plainfield High School.

TRINITY REFORMED.

Rev. John Y. Brook will be in charge of the morning service in the Trinity Reformed church Sunday. There will be no evening service, it having been discontinued in favor of the union service.

GRACE M. E.

Rev. Charles E. Gillespie will preach at the morning service on Sunday. There will be no evening service.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

Members of the Plainfield Home Defense League will attend the evening service at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday night, when Rev. Charles E. Herring will preach a patriotic sermon appropriate to the occasion.

Three Times Rejected, "Hub" Reynolds Plans New Move to Become a Soldier

Whatever else may be said about Herbert Reynolds, better known to his hundred of acquaintances in the city and borough as "Hub," nobody can deny that his five feet of stature is not chuck full of patriotism and absolutely devoid of the temperament that makes a "slacker" shirk his duty. After serving a year and eight months as a private in Company K, "Hub's" ambition to see real service in a French trench received a severe setback when the Federal examining officer said he was shy a few pounds in weight. The regular army regulations call for 100 pounds and the zealous young boroughite tipped the scales at ninety-eight even though he "weighed in" directly after eating the biggest meal of his career.

Returning home disappointed but determined, "Hub" put himself through a process of fattening to secure the coveted forty pounds. After a few days he was tickled to death to find that he had one pound more than the government demanded and he hied himself to Elizabeth for a second examination. He passed through the inspection in fine shape and was on the point of being accepted when an over-scrupulous officer discovered that he was one-sixteenth of an inch below five feet from the sole of his pedal extremities to the crown of his head. There is a story current that another Company K man who was just the least bit below height submitted to a terrific wallop on the "bean" to meet the required measurement. The bump that followed the crack on the head got the man through. Reynolds mentioned this incident as a solution of his own short-coming but the regular army man was afraid to take a chance, explaining that the applicant's skull might give way under the sudden descent of a Springfield's butt end. For the second time "Hub" returned home with a heavy heart, although his spirit was not crushed.

Still determined to make Uncle Sam accept his services, the former militia man presented himself after a few days to the Newark recruiting office for the Medical Corps, believing that the examiners in this department would not be so exact. He figured out that a man physically fit but measuring fifty-nine and fifteen-sixteenths inches could dole out medicines or carry a stretcher just as good as a man standing exactly five feet high. The recruiting officer thought so too and "Hub" was passed on to Fort Slocum, for final reckoning. There he again submitted last Monday to another physical scrutiny and the medical men were about to pass him when they found that he had dropped back to ninety-eight pounds in weight. "Hub" maintained that his anxiety to get him through the service had robbed him of the three pounds he was carrying as excess baggage and if he was only let in he would get it back within twenty-four hours. The Fort Slocum men were obdurate, however, and for the third time he came home to think it over.

Acting on the advice of friends, Reynolds left for Point Pleasant Tuesday, where he is positive there is six or seven pounds of good weight lurking in the offing especially for his benefit. When he adds it to his diminutive "spirit of 1776" frame he is going to make a fourth and even a fifth try to become one of the American contingents going to Europe." His next attempt will be the aviation corps and if he fails in that he has been given to understand that the naval officers who direct the affairs of the submarines will wink at a shy pound or two or missing sixteenth of an inch. If he still fails to be accepted his last resource is the draft and he can be counted as one Plainfielder who has absolutely no dread of the selective draft.

"Hub" is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Reynolds, of Watchung avenue, the borough. He was employed for eight years in the office of the Daily Press but more recently has been working in the Spicer plant of South Plainfield. His disappointment at not making the regular army is all the more keen because his side partner, Clarence Smalley, of Codington avenue, also refused by the government officials, got through at Fort Slocum after the third try. Smalley enlisted in the Medical Corps in company with Reynolds and was kept at Fort Slocum after several slight deficiencies had been corrected.

WILL SOMEONE DONATE A TYPEWRITER TO COMPANY K?

Has some patriotic, generous minded Plainfield citizen a typewriter in workable condition that they wish to donate to Company K? Learning this week that a machine was greatly needed, the Record has decided to make an effort to secure one and is making an appeal in the same manner it did for the automobile truck.

Since the money for the motor truck was secured and the truck turned over to the company it has been of great value and this week was probably the means of saving the life of an injured member of the company. A typewriter could be of as much use in making out reports and for other work. Any person having a machine they wish to donate may communicate with the Record office.

FLAGS STOLEN.

The local police have been on the track of a new kind of thief during the past week, one who either is extremely patriotic or else is just the opposite. Mrs. S. S. Carvallo, of West Eighth street, reported the theft to headquarters after she had discovered that someone had taken a stand of American, English, French and Belgian flags from the porch of her home.

Troop D Men at Sea Girt Hard at Work

At the end of their first week in camp at Sea Girt, the officers and "mommas" of Troop D have fallen into the training routine and are now busy learning the finer points of war as taught by U. S. Army men. The men in camp from all the National Guard organizations in the State number nearly 600 and will continue their course of intensive training until June 30.

Major Marcus Stokes, senior inspector instructor assigned to this State for instruction work, is in command of the camp and is being assisted by Major Walter L. Reed and Captain Charles B. Elliot, both regular army men.

Troop D's officers were the only ones of the cavalry organizations to arrive in camp on time last Saturday and for that reason were given the best camp site, Major Hobart Brown, commanding the First Squadron New Jersey Cavalry, has been placed in command of the cavalry division of the camp. The men have early realized the responsibility of their task when they are placed in command of so many men when the war actively starts for the army and have fallen to learn their lessons in great shape.

Saturday night the men listened to a talk by Governor Edge, whom they wildly cheered, and later one by Mayor Stokes on camp sanitation. The real work began on Monday and all week there has been one continuous round of work on the rifle range and drill ground. In the evening lectures are in order, when the fine points of warfare are described.

ATHLETIC MEET FOR HOME DEFENSERS

Plans for the holding of a big athletic meet at Wayside Park, Dunellen, on the Fourth of July are being made by the Home Defense League of Middlesex borough, and all of the Defense Leagues in towns along the C. R. R. of N. J. from Westfield to Somerville have been asked to participate. Silver loving cups will be given to the winners of first and second places.

The events, open to all amateurs, are scheduled as follows: 100-yard dash, handicap, trial heats, 2 p. m.; final, 8:30 p. m. 440-yard run, handicap, trial heat, 2:30 p. m.; final, 9 p. m.; 880-yard run, handicap, trials 3 p. m.; final 9:15 p. m. Mile run, one heat, 9 p. m. Running broad jump, scratch, 2:30 p. m. Rifle contest, starts 12 m., closes 11:30 p. m. Quoit tournament, starts 2 p. m., closes 8:45 p. m.

Boro Grammar School Closing

The graduation exercises of the North Plainfield Grammar Schools will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the auditorium of the Harrison Avenue school. About fifty-two fifty-two children who have completed the course of study preparatory to entering High School will be given diplomas. Rev. H. St. G. Burrill, pastor of the Church of the Holy Cross, will make the principal address to the pupils, and the invocation will be given by Rev. Charles E. Gillespie, pastor of the Grace M. E. church.

The program that will be rendered will be as follows: Orchestra, March Operette, Rosey; graduates' march and chorus, "Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa; invocation, Rev. C. S. Gillespie; school chorus, "Morning Invitation," Veazie; recitation, "The Battle Hymn to Democracy," Van Zile, Minnie Martin; orchestra; "Under the Leaves," Thome; Valse Divine, Rosey; we fight that liberty, justice and democracy shall be safe in the great family of nations; listen, the call to arms; declamation excerpts from President Wilson's war message, Louis Miller; school chorus, "The Call to Arms," Veazie; Cheers; Cheers for Our Heroes, Loud; address to graduates, Rev. H. St. G. Burrill; orchestra, "Dream," Brouett; presentation of diplomas, F. O. Dunning; flag salute and pledge of allegiance, everybody; "I pledge allegiance to my Flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all;" school chorus, "The Star Spangled Banner;" benediction, Rev. C. S. Gillespie.

The eighth grade graduates are:

John Bamberger, Frances Berger, Frances Bird, Clarence Bonfoey, Marion Brown, John Campbell, Francis Cannon, George Chandler, Andre Coban, Ralph Conover, Grace Cornwell, William Diem, Florence Douglas, Roswell Ewart, David Flammer, Mildred Fiitz, Lillian H. Garrett, Judith Gennovario, Walter Harper, Paul Helriegel, Alma Herrmann, Adelaide Hull, Frank Jackson, Marie Jennings, Anna Johnson, Edith Kirchner, Harry LeCours, Norman Lowrie, Nora McDonough, Ida Maracasano, Minnie Martin, Rose Martin, John Mason, Charles Mayer, Gertrude Melick, Sealy Mosher, Elizabeth Miller, Louis Miller, Carmino Reina, Wells Rose, Gefra Scasserra, George Schemp, Evelyn Schemp, Dorothy Sklarew, Irving Terry, Ettis Thus, Elida ownley, Albert Van Denburgh, Harold Woolley, George Worth, Grace Wyckoff, Theodore Zeller.

Edward Mosher, a member of the city fire department, has returned to his duties after a ten days' vacation spent at various points of interest.

Letter of Former Plainfielder Gives Idea of Recruit Life at Fort Slocum

A very good idea of what a new recruit in Uncle Sam's service has to go through before he begins his field work is given in a letter to Albert Bryniarski, of Duer street, from M. D. Newman, until his enlistment several months ago a resident of this city. Mr. Newman was employed in the drug department at the Front street store of the United Cigars Company when it was first opened. Later he went with the International Motor Company and returned to his old home in Elizabeth after his proffered services to the Government had been accepted. Mr. Newman is now in the medical department of the regular Army, and writes from Fort Wadsworth, in part as follows:

"Since I have left Plainfield, I certainly mastered some worldly experience. Whether for better or for worse, I believe my experiences were tured, were for the good of my own welfare. My present venture is to wards helping out Uncle Sam, and at the same time beneficial to my health and desire to travel.

"I am perfectly satisfied that I volunteered for the medical department as it is a non-combatant branch of service. We are all given military training, involving, viz: Marching around the fort, saluting the flag, physical exercises, and other minor military tactics.

"While at Fort Slocum, I put in one week at the dispensary. The amount of prescriptions compounded are small in comparison to retail drug store compounding, as the work is chiefly administering medicaments to the sick "rookies" for minor ailments.

"The recruits who have no professional services to tender to the medical department devote their services to clerical work or light outside work about the fort. We shoulder no guns or carry about us any weapons; we are purely non-combatants.

"Fort Wadsworth is located at Staten Island, New York. The scenery here is very picturesque, and the balmy breezes from the sea are very soothing to the nerves. It is real quiet here in comparison to Fort Slocum. You see, Fort Slocum is the main recruiting station for the eastern States, where they enroll from 7,000 to 8,000 men at one limitation. When they reach close to 8,000 recruits they divide them up into twenty men and every twenty men are formed a squad. Last week a few thousand were shipped out to the various forts. Some went to Fort Totten, N. Y.; Fort Hamilton, N. Y.; Fort Terry, New London, Connecticut; Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont; Fort Washington, Maryland; Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and some to Fort Wadsworth, N. Y.

"I am satisfied, at the present time, that I am at Fort Wadsworth. It is near to Coney Island and South Beach. Futhermore, it gives me the chance to go to Elizabeth and visit my home.

"I presume that after we boys are here a few weeks, we will be sent away to Honolulu, Panama or perhaps, France. However, the government will do the choosing and not we.

"In our tent we have ten men—we have jolly times, singing, reciting, musical talent and above all, we live the open air life which was naturally intended for us all. While I am writing this letter I am lying on the top of the fort which is so beautifully decorated with the verdant lawn, and adjacent islands and water front. I set one word on the paper with the vision of one eye while I glance at the boats passing by with the other eye. Where I am situated I can plainly see the Statue of Liberty and the skyscrapers of New York city."

One of the largest agricultural propositions using boy labor in the United States at the present time is located at Camp Holly, a large plot of tillable ground situated on lower Park avenue, where for the past month and over Boy Scouts from this city and Elizabeth have been working a 100-acre farm. The land and funds to till it with were generously donated by local citizens, while the direct supervision of the running of the place is under the direction of two graduates of the agricultural department of Rutgers College. In doing their part to relieve the threatened food shortage the boys have not altogether forgotten to get in some recreational hours each day and go by a regular schedule. Visitors are welcome on Saturday afternoons and holidays, and the many who have made trips out there are enthusiastic over the results being obtained.

The project was first gotten under way by the local agricultural commission, which has headquarters at Park avenue and Second street, last April, when the land was plowed and harrowed by tractor power, a big "tank" being furnished by the Government for the purpose. Later it was turned over to the Boy Scouts. At the present time there are twenty boys there but after the school closing many more will be added.

Practical farming, with the best up-to-date methods and without frills, is being done. The boys do all the work and as they are a husky, willing lot good progress is being made. Just for example, it was found necessary to apply lime to the land and in its most available form, burned lime. So two carloads of burned lime were secured and were hauled to the farm, slacked, sifted and spread by the boys. Working in lime is one of the most disagreeable of farm jobs, but the work was done by the boys without a murmur, which is the fine spirit characterizes every operation. A motor truck has been bought to do hauling and has already carted the lime and a carload of fertilizer, besides a large amount of supplies. It is driven by one of the boys. When one considers the quantities purchased, a better idea is gained of the size of the project.

The acreage is being largely devoted to root crops, corn, beans and other crops that can be stored, canned or dried against the shortage of food, which will probably be most felt during the winter months. Aside from these, however, a large garden has been planted to supply the boys' mess and steps taken to insure plenty of watermelons and muskmelons for farm consumption later in the season.

It is planned to shift the boys around as much as is consistent with good results on each operation, so that variety will lend interest to the work. Field explanations are supplemented by lectures after the work is done, so that by the end of the season the boys will have a pretty good first hand knowledge of farming.

Under the supervision of a camp leader, the whole force, with the exception of the officers, is living in tents. A house gives provision for headquarters, mess hall and reading room, with an open fireplace close by for use on rainy days. Camp Holly is run on a strict schedule: Up at 5, breakfast and clean up tents, to work at 6, dinner hour from 11:30 to 1, work again from 1 to 3:30, recreation and drill until 6, supper, and "lights out" at 9. The work-day is thus but eight hours long.

Life is pretty enjoyable at Camp Holly. There is a lake on the property, with boating, bathing and fishing, and a baseball diamond. There is some sort of an affair planned for every Saturday night—a dance or a straw ride—while Saturday afternoon is usually devoted to a ball game. On Memorial Day the boys entered the parade in town in their working clothes and received a great ovation as the "farmers." Later in the day they carried off several prizes at the scout rally.

Regular hours, the active out-door life and the true "grub" that the "chef" puts out are all doing their share to keep the fellows in fine shape. Visitors to Camp Holly are welcome on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. At the camp they will find a lot of serious work done, and and every fellow patriotically doing his best to help his nation in these troubled times.

Kentucky Depot Demolished by Cyclone Within Thirty Feet of Plainfielder

Bearing a dozen or more cuts and bruises to verify his stories of near-death in a recent big series of tornadoes which devastated the South and Middle West, Allen Fulmer, of South avenue, returned to Plainfield Monday after a three weeks' business trip intended to end on the Pacific coast. The Plainfielder "passed up" several small sized windstorms without any apprehension of further trouble, but when he reached Cynthiana, Ky., one of those kind of western cyclones Easterners would rather hear about than pass through, hit the town. Cynthiana had 1,200 inhabitants just before the big storm swooped down on the unsuspecting populace and when it finished cutting a half mile swath three persons were dead, 150 injured and dozens of homes scattered over a wide area. Mr. Fulmer was standing within thirty-feet of the Louisville and Nashville station when the building was ripped to pieces. Flying timbers seemed to be everywhere but fortunately he escaped with cuts on the head and bruises about the body, although almost rendered unconscious by coming in contact with an iron porch column. He was able to continue his journey after first aid treatment had been given him.

Mr. Fulmer continued on to Omaha, Neb., where storm predictions by government experts prompted him to complete his business hurriedly and return to the safer precincts of New Jersey. His move proved to be a wise one as further death-dealing cyclones played about Kansas and Nebraska for several days after he left. The series of violent storms has been the worst the Middle Western and Southern States have experienced in many years, the casualty list running into the hundreds. Mr. Fulmer says that the people in the affected districts have suffered a heavy money damage but they are cheerfully going about the task of rebuilding their homes and starting new crops. The Plainfielder is the head of the Newcomb Carburetor Sales Co., and will leave shortly to finish his interrupted trip to the Pacific coast.

BACK OF QUAKER TIRE.

The remarkable increase in the number of Quaker tires to be seen on all roads in the United States is due to a very large extent to the service which Quakers give to car owners. It is not generally known to auto owners that the manufacturers, the Quaker City Rubber Company of Philadelphia, have a world-wide reputation as manufacturers of mechanical rubber goods, whose product has been in demand in all parts of the world. More than five years ago, when the company began to make Quaker tires, the principle adopted and still in use today, despite the high cost of labor and raw material, is that every Quaker tire must carry the same guarantee of serviceability and durability that made world famous other Quaker products.

BUSY TIMES ON THE GREAT LAKES.

Navigation on the Great Lakes is now open, and the familiar sound of steamboat whistles is indeed a welcome one to many, for not only do the steamers afford relief from the freight congestion but also furnish a most comfortable mode of travel for passengers.

Officials of the C. & B. Lines which operate the Great Ship "See-and-Bee" and Steamers "City of Buffalo" and "City of Erie" daily between Cleveland and Buffalo, predict that this season will surpass all others in volume of passenger and freight traffic. Never has business started with such a rush which surely reflects the gen-

PERSONAL

John E. Nicol, secretary to Congressman John H. Capstick, has been spending the past few days at his home on Richmond street on a short vacation. He will return to his duties at Washington tomorrow.

Miss Elizabeth McGee, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McGee, of Willow avenue, the borough, underwent an operation for appendicitis at Muhlenberg Hospital Sunday afternoon. It was performed by Dr. G. W. Endicott and the little patient has since been doing nicely.

Miss Elsie Moore, a pupil nurse in the Yonkers, N. Y., general hospital, has returned to her duties after a few days' visit with her sister, Miss Amy L. Moore, of Park avenue.

Mrs. Arthur E. Smith and children, of West Seventh street, have gone to Manasquan to spend the summer.

H. Craig Smith, of Madison avenue, was made chief of staff of the National commandery, at the fifties annual encampment of the G. A. R. which concluded at Asbury Park last Saturday.

Miss Anna Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clark, of West Eighth street, and Howard Melick, son of Mrs. Dayton Melick, of Emerson avenue, were married at the home of the bride's parents last Friday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Allen, formerly pastor of the Baptist church, of South Plainfield, but now located at Hempstead, N. J. At the conclusion of a wedding trip to Atlantic City, Mr. and Mrs. Melick will reside at 326 Emerson avenue.

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Nora C. McDonough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. McDonough, of Randolph road, to John T. Coggins, of Nashua, N. H. The wedding date has not been set. Miss McDonough was graduated from Plainfield High School in 1912 and from Smith College in the class of 1916. Mr. Coggins was a member of the class of 1911 of Dartmouth and later prepared for the bar at Fordham Law School.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eglinton Montgomery, of New York, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Lynch Montgomery, to Rupert Wentworth Anderson, of "Nosredna," Watchung. Miss Montgomery made her debut three years ago and has been active in social and charitable work in New York, being a member of the Junior League.

John J. Borrup, of Central street, is able to be about again after three weeks' confinement to St. Peter's Hospital, New Brunswick, because of injuries received in an automobile accident. The Plainfielder is an expert in the employ of the Crane-Simplex Company, of New Brunswick, and while testing out a new car the machine turned over. Mr. Borrup received a fractured shoulder and a dislocated arm. It will be several weeks before he will be able to return to work.

Mrs. Irene Brodhead and family, of East Second street, who have been visiting in Washington the past week, will return tomorrow and next week will leave for Easton, Pa., where they will make their home in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Aumack, of Keyport, spent the past week with Mrs. Aumack's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Vest Pelt, of Grant avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Allen and John Burgess, of Somerset place, visited relatives at Doylestown, Pa., over last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Knox, of West Third street, are entertaining relatives from Amsterdam, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dilkes and Miss Dolores Dilkes, of Livingston, Staten Island, have been visiting Mrs. Dilkes' mother, Mrs. Charles Roesh, of Myrtle avenue.

Arthur W. Dunning, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Dunning, of Mountain avenue, and Miss Alberta T. English, daughter of Thomas E. English, of Ridgewood, were married in the Emanuel Baptist church at Ridgewood Tuesday night. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Charles O. Wright, assisted by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, of this city. A reception followed at the home of the bride's father, which was attended by many relatives and friends. The couple will make their home in North Plainfield.

Miss Martha Terry, of Mt. Pleasant, and Louis Bullman, of Crescent place, the borough, were married Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the new home of the couple, at 1814 Johnston avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. C. Cain, of Verona, formerly of Grace M. E. church, North Plainfield, and was witnessed only by a small party of relatives because of the recent death of the bride's brother, Daniel Terry, of Fanwood. The attendants were Miss Alice Terry, sister of the bride, and Joel Oliver, of this city.

Miss Margaret Shubert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Shubert, of Garwood, was married Sunday afternoon to George Servis, of Watchung avenue, this city. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. Wetholder, pastor of the Presbyterian chapel at Garwood. Miss Elsie Shubert, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Thomas Heron, of this city, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Servis will make their home in this city at the conclusion of a wedding trip. The former is employed in the composing room of the Courier-News.

Miss Idabel Conover, of Jackson avenue, the borough, was a guest at the wedding of Miss Gertrude Mae Jacobus and Christian Kroll, both of Montclair, which took place at the home of the bride's parents last Friday night. Previous to the ceremony Miss Conover rendered a solo, "O Promise Me."

Benjamin F. Hadley, of Franklin place, for many years editor and publisher of the Eastern Underwriter, the leading American insurance publication, has been appointed secretary of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, of Iowa. His headquarters will be at Des Moines and he will make his home in that city, leaving Plainfield today with his wife and children, Benjamin, Gladys and Clara, the last named graduate of the Plainfield High School class of 1917.

Henry Hansen, of East Seecond street, is a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital, following an operation for appendicitis performed last week. He is recovering nicely and will be able to return home in another week.

Chauncey F. Stout, circulation manager of the Courier-News, who has been seriously ill at his home on East Front street with an attack of typhoid fever, continues to show improvement. His illness has already extended over a period of seven weeks and he will be a long time in regaining his former strength.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fuller, of Cleveland avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Constance N. Fuller, to Torven S. Groot, of Woodland avenue, this city. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Charlotte E. Norris, teacher of the fifth grade in the Washington School, will leave in a few days for her home in New England and will not return in the fall. She will be married during the present summer to Frederick M. Gleason, of East Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. George Edwin Leighs, who were married last week by Rev. Dr. D. W. Shellenger, have returned from a wedding trip to Atlantic City and are temporarily residing at the home of Mr. Leighs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Leighs, of 722 West Fourth street. The bride was formerly Miss Hazel Leota Hutchcroft, daughter and Mr. and Mrs. William Hutchcroft, of Clinton avenue. At the ceremony, Miss Grace Ludgate acted as bridesmaid and Wendall Hutchcroft was best man. Mr. Leighs is employed at the Pond Tool Works and has been prominent in local baseball and basketball circles.

Walter Kennedy, of New street, a member of Company K, has returned home to undergo an operation for spinal trouble. His trouble developed a few days after he began coast duty with the local militiamen and it became necessary to place him in the Long Branch hospital, where he was a patient for a long time. The trouble resulted from an injury received in a football game.

Freeholder and Mrs. S. P. T. Wilbur, of Westervelt avenue, will leave shortly for Lake Hopatcong, where they will spend the summer at their cottage, "Elkwood," in Castle Rock Park.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. McCormick, of 1042 Sherman avenue, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Louisa McCormick, to Victor Thomas Attlee, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. F. Attlee, also of Sherman avenue. The wedding date has not been set.

John Duckworth, formerly of this city, but now of Brooklyn, has returned to the latter city after a visit with his sister, Mrs. Walter Emmons, of Leland avenue.

Mrs. Frank Hollenbeck, of Somerset street, who has been a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital, underwent an operation there Tuesday. She is reported to be doing well.

Big Program Planned For Firemen's Ball

Chairman Harry Weirenga and the members of the committee arranging for the details of the Plainfield firemen's ball to be given at Columbus Hall, Friday night, June 29, have announced that a splendid program of entertainment will be given in connection with the dancing. A New York publishing house has promised to send one of its best singers of popular songs, and other solo numbers will be given by "Baby" Glaentzer, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Glaentzer, of West Front street. Little Miss Gleantzer is quite a professional artist, having appeared at Proctor's theatre in this city and Proctor's theatre, Elizabeth, on several occasions. She sings syncopated and sentimental numbers with equal readiness and never fails to receive several encores.

The sale of tickets for the ball is processing rapidly with the 500 mark already in sight. Five departments in Bound Brook; Somerville, Westfield, Elizabeth, Newark and New Brunswick have promised to send big delegations. Lagreen & Greene have been given a contract to decorate Columbus auditorium, a fact giving assurance of unusual attractiveness in this hall which has been extensively decorated on many previous occasions. Music is to be furnished by Kenneth Stewart's harmony orchestra of seven pieces. The entire proceeds from the ball are to be added to the fund of Local No. 7, Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association, made up of Plainfield firemen.

WHY NEARBY ROADS ARE IN BAD CONDITION

If you are the owner of an automobile you are undoubtedly aware of the fact that many of the principal thoroughfares in and about Plainfield are in a most deplorable condition. This applies particularly to lower Park avenue, lower Plainfield avenue, West Seventh street from Clinton avenue out, West Front street and certain portions of Watchung avenue. Deep ruts and holes almost as big as a buffalo wallow are to be found everywhere and motoring is ceasing to be a pleasure to say nothing of the damage occurring to machines. In the city proper work is now under way on various streets that are to be permanently paved but this will alleviate the trouble only in a very small part. The streets that have ordinary macadam will continue to be mad and if temporarily repaired will soon be back in the same miserable shape.

The cause of this breaking up of the roads is in a large measure due to the prevalence of heavy automobile trucks. These business vehicles have gradually gotten more common and have been increasing in weight and tunnage capacity until no standard macadam can withstand the heavy pressure. In some instances the combined weight of a truck and its load have been known to reach fifteen tons. It would only require two or three of these a day to pass over one particular thoroughfare before it would be a mass of ruts. Once get macadam loosened up and it is only a matter of a few weeks before the entire surface has to be done over. Park avenue and Plainfield avenue are glaring examples of this sort of destruction and it has gotten so now that it is even dangerous for a carriage to be driven over them at more than a walk. The Middlesex county authorities were petitioned some time ago to do something with Plainfield avenue from the boundary line at Wolf's hill out to South Plainfield but the committee had only $800 available for this work. The money gave out after two blocks had been put in fairly decent shape.

Unless something is done to limit the weight of the heavy motor trucks using the streets the various New Jersey counties will go into bankruptcy trying to keep up their road appropriations. Union, Middlesex, Hudson and Essex have been facing this fact for a long time and although many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in good road making there is very little to show for it. Unless a concrete thoroughfare is put down at a cost of about $20,000 per mile the road becomes a disgrace in a year or two. This is to be varified by a trip over the Middlesex county road from Metuchen to New Brunswick put down about eighteen months ago. It was a pleasure to drive over it last year but this year it seems to have gone to pieces almost the entire distance. A big truck with a chunk out of one of its tires is known to have gone over the road and every time the bad part of the wheel came around it gouged out a stone or two that opened the way for a hole. The suction of others machines loosened up the stones around each indentation and presently there was a bad spot every couple of feet. The "flat-wheel" proposition has occurred in Plainfield more than once and will continue to occur as long as something is not done to put a stop to it. Action now will mean a saving of ultimate thousands to the tax-payers who are beginning to feel the oppressive burden of road assessments. Limit the weight of trucks, the weight of their loads and stop any of them proceeding with a bad tire and a big portion of the expense will be saved beside giving pleasure vehicle owners a fair return for their money.

PLAINFIELD RESPONDING TO RED CROSS APPEAL.

Despite the numerous drains upon their resources, Plainfield people have been responding nobly to the Red Cross campaign appeal which has been in progress since Monday and is to end Sunday. With wounded soldiers in mind and the deplorable condition of war-stricken non-combatants in European countries, the citizens have given liberally and given cheerfully. A goal of $100,000,000 has been set for the country wide drive of the Red Cross army and reports indicate that it will be reached, even though billions were recently paid out of private pockets for Liberty Bonds. What the money is to be spent for is the great incentive, every penny contributed meaning just that much more comfort for an American boy torn by shrapnel or the suffering of women and children who have had no voice in the hostilities but who must bear their share of the world-wide devastation. Those of you who have not already contributed have two more days in which to show that you want to do your share in carrying this great burden that must be universally borne.

In reply to questions as to just how the vast amount of money raised has to be spent, General Secretary Henry P. Davidson said among other things: "Our first obligation is to render such services as comes within the province of the Red Cross to our soldiers and sailors at home and abroad. Consideration of the vastness of this undertaking alone as compared with any other situation ever known to us will impress one with the impossibility of forming a definite budget or specifying in particular the amounts of money required to care for our country men. After that our efforts will be to co-operate with our allies where the need of Red Cross aid is most apparent. In due course of time we shall make a report to Congress, so that the public may know the total amounts expended and how very small a percentage was found necessary for expenses."

In designating the money to be raised in the various districts, Plainfield's allottment is $50,000, a fair portion of it is already in hand and the committee has redoubled its efforts to have the grand total by next Sunday. This means lots of hard work but Chairman Rogers and his aids are not shirking their task. Prominent business men have allowed their private affairs to be placed in the discard while they canvassed from door to door. Others have been busy day and night planning methods of getting the appeal direct to the people and it is all bearing fruit. Special commendation is due Judge William Newcorn, who is chairman of the publicity committee, and through whom the merchants have placed advertisements in newspapers at their own expense. Taken all in all it is another evidence of the fact that when Plainfielders want to work for a good cause they can labor in harmony and with absolute self-denial until the object has been attained.

THE INJUSTICE OF COMPULSORY INSURANCE.

Sometime during the eleventh hour rush at the close of the last session of the New Jersey Legislature, a bill was jammed through which becomes a law on the fourth of July next and now that its full text is realized is beginning to meet with a whirlwind of justifiable criticism. This bill is an amendment to the employers' liability act of 1911 and practically places the entire business world of the State at the mercy of the insurance companies. It is found in Chapter 178 of the statutes and is entitled "an act concerning compulsory insurance of compensation payments arising under section 2 of the act entitled 'prescribing the liability of an employer to make compensation for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment established an elective schedule of compensation and regulating procedure determination.'"

Stripped of its legal phraseology this caption means that instead of being discretionary, liability insurance is now compulsory, forcing a man who employs persons in position far removed from hazardous to pay for protection from liability that is absolutely remote. The only exemptions are household servants, farm hands and municipal employes, although all three classes are more subject to injury than bookkeepers, stenographers, or office help, yet the new law demands that insurance be paid for them. There is one small loop-hole where disputed cases can be carried before the commissioner of banking and insurance, who can decide whether or not the employer is financially able to carry his own liability insurance. A fine of $50 is to be imposed for violations of the act.

Anyone with half an eye can see that this measure is an injustice to employers and a hamper to business. Where a man has someone working for him who stands the least chance of getting hurt in the performance of his duty ordinary business acumen would show the wisdom of insurance. Under the original act of 1911 ample protection has been afforded wherever it is needed but such a drastic compulsion as this amendment calls for is beyond all reason. The law is only now beginning to be realized and the protest that will arise before next winter will make the amendment short lived. It never had a place in the New Jersey statutes and should be taken off at the earliest opportunity. We do not doubt for one minute but that this will be done but in the mean time the liability insurance concerns, which shoved the measure through, will be cutting a million-dollar melon dragged from the long-suffering business men of the State.

MAYOR CALKINS' APPRECIATION OF LIBERTY LOAN WORKERS.

Mayor Calkins wishes to express his appreciation of the splendid work done by the Plainfield Liberty Loan Committee which he appointed two weeks ago, and which has conducted the short intensive campaign of the last week. The Mayor feels that great credit is due to this committee for Plainfield's showing. The organization, as planned by Mr. E. W. Bulkley, of Spencer, Trask & Co., and Mr. A. Willis West, was very efficient and business like, and there was no waste motion. Through subcommittees reaching all homes and business houses and factories, everybody was approached and asked to subscribe; and the banks co-operated by adopting for the committee a uniform plan, so that individual subscribers were taken care of wherever they made their subscriptions. The Mayor wishes to thank Judge Runyon, chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee, and Judge Newcorn, Messrs. Bulkley and West, vice chaiman and secretary, and the sub-committees for their great help, the Boy Scouts for their assistance, the local banks for their co-operation, and the many others who took hold and gave generously of their time. As usual, Plainfield rose to the occasion.

TO CORRECT AN ERROR.

In an editorial published in these columns last week it was stated that Councilman John H. Cose was the first candidate in the field this year for the Union county shrievalty nomination on the regular Republican ticket. We find that this is not so as Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur claims his petition was first circulated on May 12. In justice to Mr. Wilbur we print this declaration.

Bishop McFaul's Funeral

Many residents of this vicinity were present in St. Mary's Cathedral, Trenton, yesterday morning, when the funeral of the Right Reverend James A. McFaul, bishop of the Diocese of Trenton for twenty-three years, was held. Bishop O'Connor, of the Newark Diocese, celebrated the high mass of requiem, and priests from New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania took part in the service. In accordance with his wishes, Bishop McFaul was buried in the mausoleum which he had constructed some time ago on the lawn of Morris Hall, a Catholic institution overlooking the Lawrenceville road, near Lawrenceville. Rev. Father P. J. Hart, rector of St. Joseph's church, of North Plainfield, and an intimate friend of the bishop's, was one of the pall-bearers.

Bishop McFaul was sixty-seven years old and a native of Ireland but came to this country when a boy. He was educated in St. Vincent's College, Westmoreland, Pa.; St. Francis Xavier College, New York, and Seton Hall College, graduating from the latter institution in 1873. He is survived by a brother, James J. McFaul, of Kingston, and a sister, Mrs. Mary O'Connell, of Phillipsburg.

NOVEL MODE OF TRAVEL.

Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, but now on duty as chaplain of the Fourth Regiment, N. J. N. G., was recently presented with an automobile by the Jersey City clergymen for use in traveling over the wide area patroled by the regiment. The gift also included a portable organ and songbooks, enabling the chaplain to hold religious services for each detached unit of the command every week.

Prodium Process Makes Tires Last Longer

THE discovery of the Prodium Process is the greatest step forward in rubber manufacturing since the perfecting of vulcanization.

It has given to Republic Tires a tread of super-toughness that is wear resisting to a remarkable degree.

It wears down as evenly as a piece of tempered steel, and the rubber is so strong that a strip of it one and one-half inches square will suspend a weight of more than three tons.

More than 100,000 sets of Republic Prodium Process Tires have been sold to tire users.

We know now that the Prodium Process does make tires last longer and that millions of dollars will be saved to tire buyers.

As the result of an unprecedented demand from every part of the country, we are trebling our production of Republic Prodium Process Tires.

Grows Stronger As The Years Grow Longer

The Norwalk Vault literally lasts through ages. Moulded out of carefully prepared reinforced cement, seasoned and coated without and within, it will protect the most delicate casket from stain and blemish. Top and bottom are sealed together in plain sight and the vault becomes instantly one solid piece of protecting masonry that grows stronger with the passing years. Forever tight and dry the Norwalk is a comforting assurance against the wet, unsanitary, old fashioned grave. For further information see your undertaker.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

MRS. FREDERICK R. SMALLEY.

Mrs. Ida Smalley, wife of Frederick R. Smalley, died Wednesday night at her home on West Fifth street, after a short illness with peritonitis. She was fifty-one years old and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. Williams. Beside her husband, she leaves one brother, Will F. Williams, of Duer street, and two sisters, Miss Clara Williams, of this city, and Mrs. Irvin Niles, of Cleveland, Ohio. The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow afternoon and will be private. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

ADOLPH BRANDT.

Adolph Brandt, a well known landscape gardener, died Monday night at his home on Stanberry avenue, Scotch Plains. He had been in his customary health until within a few hours before his death. Mr. Brandt was fifty-eight years old and had lived in Scotch Plains since 1897. He had a wide acquaintance in this city. Surviving him are his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Louisa Pangborn, of Scotch Plains.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon in the funeral chapel of Cole & High, on West Second street, and was in charge of Rev. John Y. Brook. Burial was in the Scotch Plains cemetery.

WILLIAM FARRELL.

William Farrell, aged seventy-six years, died early last Saturday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel D. Shields, of Maple avenue, South Plainfield. Death was due to a hemorrhage which seized him during the night. The funeral was held Monday morning in Sacred Heart church, when a requiem mass was said by Rev. Father Baldwin, the rector. Burial was in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Elizabeth. Mr. Farrell was a native of Ireland and had lived in South Plainfield but six years. Previous to that time he was a resident of Elizabeth, where he was widely known through many years of service in the street department. Beside Mrs. Shields he is survived by one other daughter, Mrs. P. J. Collins, of Cranford; one son, William J. Farrell, of Metuchen; one sister, Mrs. Esther Kane, of Paterson, and a brother, John Farrell, of San Francisco.

MRS. JAMES HURLEY.

Mrs. Anna Hurley, wife of James Hurley, died Sunday night at her home on Belmont avenue after an illness extending over a long period. She was a native of Ireland but had made her home in North Plainfield for many years. She was a communicant of St. Joseph's church and had been active in all branches of its work up to the time her illness began. Mrs. Hurley had a very wide acquaintance in the city and borough and word of her death was received with keen regret. Beside her husband, she is survived by one son, James Hurley, Jr.

The funeral was held in St. Joseph's church Wednesday morning in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The requiem mass was said by Rev. Father P. J. Hart and burial was in St. Mary's cemetery. The floral tributes were very numerous, and came from friends in the borough and other places.

HENRY TEEPLE.

Henry Teeple, one of the oldest and best known residents of South Plainfield, died Saturday at his home in that place in his eighty-sixth year. The funeral was held in the South Plainfield Baptist church Tuesday afternoon and was attended by a large gathering. The service was conducted by Rev. Porter Townsend and burial was in the Samptown cemetery.

Judge Nash Reaches His 73rd Milestone

V. W. Nash, Sr., dean of Plainfield barristers and well known as a keen observer of athletics, is today celebrating his seventy-third birthday. Still enjoying the excellent health that has been his thus far through life, Mr. Nash is receiving the congratulations of his many friends on reaching another milestone in life.

Judge Nash is one of the best bowlers ever on an alley in this section and to this day can roll as high as 250 or 275. He holds the individual record for high score at the Elks' clubhouse and has long been anchor man on the local team in the Masonic Bowling League. He is also an enthusiast of lacrosse and was one of the charter members of the justly famous Crescent Wheelmen and took part in a number of races of national interest.

Recreation, however, has not been the only interesting point in Judge Nash's life. Born in Brooklyn and educated in the schools of that city he early took up the stone cutter's trade and followed that for several years. He later took a decided leaning toward the study of Blackstone and for thirty years he served as justice of the peace in Plainfield, trying a number of memorable cases.

By his marriage to Miss Margaret Crawford, of Brooklyn, who is still living, he has two sons who are both lawyers and athletes, and four daughters.

SPORTING EVENTS ON TOMORROW'S CARD.

Tomorrow's sport card in this city will be a varied one and will include the following attractions:

Baseball—St. Joseph's vs. Hope Chapel at West End Oval and First Baptist vs. Aeroplanes at Crescent Oval (City League). Bound Brook Y. M. A. vs. K. of C. at Somerville. Manville vs. Dunellen at Dunellen.

Tennis—Men's handicap singles at Plainfield Country Club. Open mixed doubles at Westfield Golf Club. Men's doubles at Grace M. E. Epworth League courts.

Golf—Spring Point and Selected Score cups play at Plainfield Country Club. President's cup play at Hydewood Golf Club.

GIVES SALARY INCREASE.

The salary of City Clerk John J. Carroll was advanced from $1,500 to $2,000 per annum by a vote of the Common Council Monday night. The increase of $500 was believed just and advisable inasmuch as the duties of the office have greatly expanded and Mr. Carroll is frequently compelled to devote many evenings to the work. Former City Clerk James T. MacMurray received $1,200 a year and the fees of the office, out of which he paid the office help.

GAVE TO Y. M. C. A.

At a luncheon held at the Bankers' Club, New York, last Friday, seventy-five New Jersey business men contributed $23,000 toward the $4,000,000 being raised by the Y. M. C. A. with which to carry on its war relief work. Nearly twenty-five Plainfield men were present and gave a total of $11,605 toward the fund.

B. of H. Notice on Marriage Licenses

A change in the marriage license law requires that at least three days must intervene between the date of the application for a license and the marriage. In order that those who are contemplating marriage may know the exact conditions under which a license may be granted, the following information is given:

Application should be made to the registrar of vital statistics at the office of the Board of Health and Bureau of Vital Statistics and not to the city clerk. The office is located in the City National Bank building, 104 East Front street.

Both the contracting parties must appear before the registrar, accompanied by a witness; the said witness to be of legal age and residing in the city of Plainfield.

The law requires the contracting parties to make application for a license at least 48 hours prior to the time the license can be issued and between 24 hours and three before the license is valid; it is then good for 30 days.

The license is obtained in the municipality in which the bride lives, provided she is a resident of the State. If she is a non-resident of the State and the groom lives in the State, then the license is obtained from the registrar of the municipality in which the groom resides. If both parties are non-residents of the State and are to be married in New Jersey, then the license is obtained in the place in which they are to be married and is good in that place only.

No license will be issued to any minor, unless the written consent of the parents has been sworn to on blank forms furnished by the registrar. Nor will any license be issued to anyone who at the time of application is visibly under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotics.

Inquiries for further information may be made by telephone at the Board of Health office—No. 646. Office hours: Business days, except Saturdays 8:30-5; Saturdays 8:30-12 m.

HIGH PRICES FORCE RESTAURANT CLOSING.

After conducting a restaurant on North avenue for the past eight years, Patrick Melvin will close the doors of his establishment tomorrow for good. He blames the cause to the rapidly soaring prices on all commodities and is of the opinion that more than one in the city will follow his example in a short time. Comparing prices today with those when he started in business he says they have more than doubled in many cases and it is no longer possible to prepare a dinner at a reasonable price.

FINED DEPEW.

Expressing the opinion that the youth had not been intentionally reckless, Judge Connolly, sitting in the Court of Quarter Sessions at Elizabeth last Friday, fined Roland Depew of East Orange, $600 on a charge of manslaughter. Depew was driving the automobile that ran down several girls on Springfield road, Scotch Plains, last winter and killing Hilda Hodgson, of that place. The fine was paid.

Council Votes Down New Excise Measure

By a vote of seven to four, the members of the Common Council at a meeting Monday night rejected Councilman Booth's resolution to limit local saloons to the sale of only light wines and beers containing not more than five per cent. alcohol, thus eliminating whiskey from the stock of beverages. Those in favor of the resolution were Messrs. Hylan, Booth, Condict and Loizeaux, while those against were Messrs. Bird, Graves, Cose, Martin, Sminck, Blatz and Babcock.

The introduction of the measure produced a debate between several of the members who had varying ideas as to the merits of the proposition. Most of the councilmen seemed to feel that it should not have been brought up at this time inasmuch as at a recent session it was voted to allow the citizens of Plainfield to express an opinion on the excise question next November. Provision for this is to be made on the county ballots and Councilman Graves, chairman of the license committee, declared the amendment proposed by Mr. Booth would tend to befog the issue. Other councilmen seemed to feel the same way with the result that the motion was lost.

New Buildings Soon On Mac Donald Property

The work of razing the MacDonald homestead at East Front street and Watchung avenue, recently purchased by Dr. Albert Pittis and his brother, Bertram Pittis, was commenced late last week and is now practically finished. All the materials have been stored in Dr. Pittis' lot almost directly across on East Front street and the erection of new buildings on the premises to be commenced at once. These will be one-story in height and will have stores facing on Watchung avenue as well as on East Front street. The details of the work have not been given out as yet.

The MacDonald property has a frontage of seventy-six feet, extending back on Watchung avenue to a depth of 120 feet. It is considered one of the finest business sites in this rapidly growing section, real estate men believing the corner to be destined for great things. It is understood that the purchase price paid by Dr. Pittis and his brother was $60,-000, based on land value alone. This makes a figure of $800 per front foot, a high water mark on East Front street.

FIELD HOSPITAL MEN TO FORT OGLETHORPE

A party of First Field Hospital corps members left Elizabeth this week for Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., where they will take a three months' course of medical and surgical study. First Lieutenants J. Kenneth Crandall and Palmer A. Groff are in charge of the detachment. Besides the lieutenants the following men are in the party: Sergeant of the First Class F. W. Schneider, Sergeants Herold L. Waddington and Orton R. Baldwin and Privates of the First Class Russell D. Brakely, Boyd Moreland, Harold Monohan, Charles Schultz, Stephen Beers and Leftoy Giddens, of the Surgeon General's staff. It is probable that other members of the corps will take a course at the Oglethorpe training school in the near future. Dr. H. D. Corbusier, of this city, was formerly commander of the corps and a number of local men are members.

ELKS' GIVE LAST DANCE OF THE PRESENT SEASON

The last dance of the present season was given by Plainfield Lodge of Elks in the lodge house last night and was attended by a record breaking gathering. It was a "shirt waist" affair and of a very informal nature. In every way it was one of the most successful the lodge has conducted in several years. The decorations were composed of national colors and a profusion of cut flowers. Stewart's orchestra provided the music.

The dance was arranged and in charge of a committee of which Frank Emmons was chairman and which included Hillaire Blatz, Herman King, Thomas A. Moore and Herbert L. Hetfield.

COLLEGE APPOINTMENT.

Miss Katharine F. Ball, who was teacher of mathematics in the Plainfield High School for sixteen years, has just been appointed vocational adviser to women in the University of Minnesota. During the last year Miss Ball took a course of study at Columbia University. Last June she obtained a leave of absence owing to ill health and had intended returning here in September.

TO EXAMINE GUARD OFFICERS.

In accordance with the provisions of the national defense act, all National Guard officers who have been commissioned since June 3, 1916 must undergo another examination before their commissions will be recognized by the Federal Government. The order will affect about eighty officers of the guard in this State. The work will begin at once, two or three officers being examined together.

In the units with headquarters in this city, Company E and Troop D the latter outfit will be the only one affected. Captain Rankin, Lieutenant Charles and several other officers will be examined, as will Major Hobart Brown.

School Mates Attend Young Boy's Funeral

The funeral of Charles Parker Hill, the fourteen-year-old son of J. Parker Hill, who died in the Perth Amboy hospital from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile, was held at the father's home at 429 West Front street Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First Methodist church, conducted the service in the presence of a large gathering, which included many schoolmates of the unfortunate boy. Among the floral tributes was a large piece from the employes of the Thompson garage, where the father of the deceased is foreman. Burial was in Hillside cemetery. The accident which caused Charles' death occurred on Amboy avenue, Perth Amboy, last Friday. The boy had been visiting his mother in Newark and accepted an invitation from a friend to take an automobile trip down shore. During a temporary stop he had attempted to cross the street and was struck by a car owned by Stanley W. Stern, of 261 Highland avenue, Newark. Mr. Stern did all possible to aid in getting the boy to the hospital but he remained unconscious from the time he was hurt until death came. His injuries were of an internal nature.

Charles was a student at the Plainfield High School and had passed all examinations entitling him to promotion. Beside his parents his only surviving relatives are two sisters.

Stanley Stern, the driver of the machine, was arrested by the Perth Amboy authorities and on Tuesday was held by Judge Peter F. Daly, of the Middlesex County Court, in $3,-000 bail on a charge of manslaughter. Mr. Hill, father of the boy, has retained Robert Newton Crane to represent him in the legal proceedings.

FIRST EXCURSION TO SHORE NEXT THURSDAY

The first Sunday-school excursion of the year from Plainfield to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove will be held next Thursday, the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, Grace P. E., St. Stephen's P. E., and Heavenly Rest churches combining for the event. The train on the downward trip will leave the North Avenue station at 8:15, also stopping at Grant and Clinton avenue and Netherwood stations. Returning from Asbury Park the train will leave at 6:40.

Another excursion will be held on July 12, when the Sunday-schools of the First Baptist, Park Avenue Baptist and Temple Baptist churches will go to the seashore for a day.

MISS MILDRED BARNES BRIDE OF C. W. NAGEL

In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, Miss Mildred Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Barnes, of North Plainfield, was married Saturday afternoon to Charles Wesley Nagel, of Jersey City. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Flynn, pastor of the Monroe Avenue Methodist church, where the bride has been an active worker for many years. Mrs. Elmer Boreham, of Castleton Corners, S. I., was matron of honor, and William H. Nagel, of Jersey City, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Miss Barnes wore a charming gown of crepe de chine and chiffon and carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Boreham's gown was of dove gray taffeta and Georgette crepe.

A reception which followed the ceremony included the serving of luncheon and a musical program. Solos were rendered by George Coyle and William N. Nagel, accompanied on the piano by George Gase. Mr. and Mrs. Nagel left late in the evening for Atlantic City, where they have been spending the past week. Before returning to Plainfield they will visit Baltimore and Washington. They will reside at 934 West Fifth street, where they will be at home after July 16. Mr. Nagel is employed at the International Motor Company's local plant.

SHOWER FOR MISS NORRIS.

Miss Charlotte Norris, of the Washington School teaching corps, whose marriage to P. J. Gibbons, of Orange, is to take place the coming summer, was given a surprise shower at the home of Mrs. Charles P. Titsworth, of Madison avenue, Monday afternoon. The guests were the members of Mrs. Wardner's class in the Seventh-day Adventist Sabbath school, to which Miss Norris belongs. Articles of linen were the gifts to Miss Norris, each donor reading a quip jingle in connection with the presentation. Refreshments were served in conclusion. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Titsworth and Miss Lucy Whitford.

DRAMATIC READINGS AS A BENEFIT.

Dr. Edgar C. Abbott, of Boston, gave a series of three Shakespearean readings in this city during the past week, for the benefit of the Arthur Home for the blind at Summit. All were largely attended and enjoyed.

The first reading was Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" and was given at the home of Mrs. S. S. Carvalho, of West Eighth street, on Monday morning. The second was "The Merchant of Venice" and was given at the home of Mrs. David H. Rowland, of West Seventh street. The third reading was given this morning at the home of Mrs. Carvalho and was from "King Lear." The proceeds of all three readings will be for the benefit of the Arthur Home.

PARK CLUB FOR PATRIOTIC MEETINGS.

At a recent meeting of the officials of the Park Club it was voted to donate the use of the club free to the National Special Aid Society and other patriotic organizations for meetings. The use of the club has also been extended to National Guardsmen or soldiers who are in the city.

A movement has been started among the women of the club for the holding of social gatherings every Saturday night, beginning with June 29. The forepart of the evening will be spent knitting or sewing for war relief work and later dancing will be enjoyed.

Camp Wawayanda to Open Next Thursday

For the seventeenth season Camp Wawayanda, the Y. M. C. A. project, will entertain its full quota of boys during the coming summer. The camp will officially open next Thursday and only that date sixteen boys from the local branch of the association will leave to spend the first part of the summer.

Charles R. Scott, the State secretary for boys and the founder of the camp, will be the camp director, and Edgar H. Elkis, a graduate of the Springfield Y. M. C. A. college, will be his assistant. The camp will have its usual staff of physician, advisory physician, office secretaries, life saving captain and chef, the latter being a Japanese from California.

The leaders of the Plainfield contingent at the camp will be Albert Early, principal of the North Plainfield High School; Lerone Giddes and Norman Bohl. Those who will go from Plainfield include the following: Harold Neilson, Parker Newell, Lewis Kimball, George Stevens, Wallace Wegley, Edward Boyle, Arthur Krause, Benjamin Satterfield, Lindsey Bohl, Robert Fuller, Harold Zeek, Harold Wilson and George Bixby.

Graduation For Pupils of St. Mary's School

All departments of St. Mary's school closed today for the summer vacations, and the pupils of the eighth grammar grade and commercial school are looking forward to the annual commencement exercises. These are to be in two parts, the class day affair scheduled for tonight and the formal graduation which will be in St. Mary's church Sunday night. Twenty-six pupils who have completed the commercial course are to receive diplomas and forty-four others who have finished the eighth grammar grade are to be awarded similar certificates. Miss Ella Walsh has been named as salutatorian and Miss Helen McCarthy is to be the valedictorian for the two departments, both having secured the honor through meritorious work.

The parents and friends of the pupils will assemble in St. Mary's church Sunday night, when Rev. Father B. M. Bogan will make the baccalaureate address to the graduates. The latter will occupy seats in the sanctuary. Honors for class work and the awarding of medals are to be made at this time, although the winning pupils' names have not yet been announced. The complete program for the church service is as follows:

Processional, "Faciliate;" awarding of honors; "Welcome Sweet Grace," choir; "Vene Creator;" sermon, Rev. Father B. M. Bogan; solo, "Ave Maria," Miss Mary Donnolly; benediction; recessional.

Class Day exercises for the eighth grade and commercial school will be held in St. Mary's school hall tonight beginning at 8 o'clock. Parents and friends have been invited to attend. According to his annual custom, Rev. Father B. M. Bogan will address the pupils and the following program will be given in addition:

The program: Chorus, "Old Glory," graduates; piano, "Angels' Harps," Catherine McCoe; chorus, "Life's Merry Morn," graduates; farewell to grammar grades, Thomas Kyle; duet, Edmund Kiely, Anthony Deady; class prophecy, Ella Walsh; piano, "Grande Polka De Concert," Harold Keenan; chorus, "Softly the Night Breeze is Sighing," graduates; piano, "Il Trovatore," Catherine Schaefer; solo, "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling," John Connors; class will, Martin Regan; piano, "Aberasque," Elizabeth O'Sullivan; valedictory, Helen McCarthy; awarding of honors; address, Rev. Bernard M. Bogan; chorus, "Good Night," graduates.

The complete list of graduates from both the eighth grade and commercial school is as follows:

Eighth grade—Angelo Diano, Edmund Kiely, Norman Lynch, Maurice Coffey, Anthony Deady, Elizabeth O'Sullivan, Thomas Kyle, Alfredine Doty, Catherine Harrington, Harold Keenan, Mary Palgso, Catherine Schaefer, Loretta McCauley, Madeline Brown, John Regan, Amy Schliedecker, Margaret McGauley, Edwin Phillips, Anna Brennan, Catherine McCue, Jennie Wilk, Mary Esther Cook, William Sullivan, Mary Coffey, Catherine Flatley, Mary Connolly, Joseph Story, Helen Murphy, Edward Schuck, Catherine Strappe, Jennie De Salvo, Margaret Green, Amelia Zinzabar, William Griffen, Thomas Cumisky, Charles Messler, George Gaskill, William Barry, Madeline Maguire and Joseph Fitzgerald.

Smalley to Have Many Opponents

Although Mayor William L. Smalley, of North Plainfield, was the first one to fling his hat in the political ring of Somerset county by announcing his candidacy for State Senator several weeks ago he will not be alone in the race, according to developments of the past few days. Former Judge Clarence E. Case, of Somerville, is also said to be a candidate for the office left vacant by the death last fall of Senator Smalley, of Bound Brook. He is a former judge of the Court of Common Pleas and also used to be secretary to U. S. Senator Frelinghuysen.

Others being mentioned as entrants into the race include former Assemblyman Ogden H. Hammond, of Bernardsville, and former Assemblyman William de La Roche Anderson, of Watchung. The decision of the latter to make a bid for a seat in the State Senate should result in a warm fight between he and Mayor Smalley. Both are residents of this end of the county and claim their following from the same district.

Edward Moraller, Jr., Aspires to the Movies

Edward Moraller, Jr., the six-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Moraller, of East Fifth street, is one of the candidates in Proctor's Theatre Moving Picture contest and from the manner in which he has set to work to secure votes he is destined to be a winner. Clad in a natty little uniform of the army standard, he has made a personal canvass which has already placed him in the front rank of aspirants. Edward is an enthusiastic moving picture fan and it is the ambition of his young life to see himself on the movie screen as a real, sure enough actor of the silent drama. A vote for the little fellow will help him realize his ambition and at the same time secure Edward's grateful appreciation.

Holiday Violations Not to be Tolerated

The city ordinances regarding the celebration of the Fourth of July as far as the setting off of fireworks will be strictly enforced by the police department this year. Chief Kiely has instructed his men to permit no violations and has given each one a copy of the ordinance as printed below:

1. No fireworks of any kind may be discharged on any street or in any public place. Fireworks may be discharged only on private property.

2. The only fireworks of any description which may be used or discharged on private property are (a) Roman candles not over 15 balls, (b) mines not over 15 inches in length, (c) triangles not over 12 inches, (d) colored fires, (e) firecrackers not over two and one-half inches in length and not over one-half inch in diameter, (f) torpedoes not over three-quarters of an inch in diameter, and (g) paper cap toy pistols exploding small paper caps only. Fireworks may not be discharged except between the hours of 6 a. m. and 12 o'clock midnight.

3. It is forbidden anywhere within the city limits, including private property, to fire or discharge any cannon, gun, revolver toy pistol or firearm of any description, even with blank charges, but this does not prohibit the use of small paper cap toy pistols exploding small paper caps only.

4. It is forbidden within the city limits, including private property, to set in motion any toy or other balloon containing burning material of any kind.

5. It is also forbidden to sell or expose for sale within the city limits, any cannon, toy pistol or fireworks of any description, except Roman candles, mines, firecrackers, torpedoes and paper cap pistols, mentioned in paragraph 2 above, which the law permits to be used and discharged on private property only.

6. Persons violating the ordinance are subject to the recording to the nature of the violation not exceeding one hundred dollars for each offense.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY.

Petman Robins, colored, who was arraigned in the city court yesterday morning, charged with stealing a sum of money and other articles from an East Seventh street boarding house, was taken to the county jail yesterday afternoon to await the action of the grand jury. Judge De Meza held him under $200 bail and he was unable to furnish bond.

GRANTED ABSOLUTE DIVORCE.

Charles O. Smith, of Liberty street, has received a final decree from the Court of Chancery in his petition for an absolute divorce from his wife, Anna Kirch Smith. The action was based on statutory grounds. Lawyers DeMeza and Crane represented the petitioner.

Jmdge Newcorn In County Race For Judgeship

In response to urgings on the part of his many friends, who realize his capabilities, former Judge William Newcorn announced Wednesday that he was a candidate for the appointment as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas to succeed Judge James J. Connolly, whose term expires in March , 1918. His entrance to the field has already received hearty endorsement and the probabilities are that when the time comes for Governor Edge to make the selection the Plainfield man will be the favorite. His record in this city and Union county, both as a practising lawyer and official, has been such that he is entitled to recognition that comes after long service for a political party and ability to meet the requirements of such an important office as the Common Pleas Court.

Judge Newcorn has been a resident of Plainfield for nearly thirty

No Celebration on July Fourth

Plainfield will experience next Wednesday one of the quietest Fourth of July celebrations in years. Up to the present time no plans have been announced looking toward a parade or other kind of patriotic celebration and residents will have to depend on baseball games in the main for entertainment. The fireworks display that had become an annual feature in Plainfield will be missing and from reports from local dealers selling fireworks it would seem that there is to be but little noise.

Games have been scheduled in the City League that call for each team to play two contests, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. In the early games the First Baptist and Hope Chapel teams will lineup against each other and the teams representing the Aeroplane Works and St. Joseph's will try conclusions. In the afternoon games the teams will be Grace Chapel and Hope Chapel Aeroplane teams and St. Joseph's and the First Baptists playing each other. The various independent teams about the city also have games scheduled for the holiday both for in and out of town.

The annual holiday cards will form the chief attraction at the local golf clubs. The match play rounds for the four-ball championship at the Plainfield Country Club will be a feature on the Fourth of July. The sweepstakes will be for the benefit of the hospitals, the golf committee to select which one. On the tennis courts play in the men's doubles will start at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The morning card at the Hydewood Golf Club will include the flag contest, medal play handicap of 18 holes. The flag is to be placed at spot where ball rests after playing number of strokes equal to par for eighteen holes plus player's handicap. There will be a prize for the winner. In the afternoon there will be a ball sweepstakes, 18-hole, medal play handicap. A driving contest for men will be held at 5 o'clock.

The postoffice, banks and business houses will all be closed.

Friends to Convene in City Next Week

The Young Friends' Association of Philadelphia will come to Plainfield next Friday for the purpose of attending a conference to be held in the Friends' meeting house on Watchung avenue. The conference will open Friday night with a reception and general introduction to be followed on Saturday morning with several lectures.

The program for the entire conference, which will last until July 16, will be as follows: July 8, 10:30, meeting for worship; 2:30, joint fellowship meeting of New York and Philadelphia friends; July 9, 10:30, group discussion, "Early Quaker Ideals Translated Into Modern Equivalents;" 7:45, subject to be announced; July 10, 10:30, group discussion, "Jesus as a Social Leader;" 7:45, lecture on James Whitcomb Riley, Rev. John Bailey; July 11, 10:30, group discussion, "The United States and Christian Democracy;" 7:45, address, "The Work of the Friends' Service Committee," Joseph Harold Watson; July 12, excursion to Lake Hopatcong; July 13, 10:30, group discussion, "International Peace;" 7:45, social gathering; July 14, 10:30, group discussion, "Internationalism;" 7:45, lecture, Elbert Russell, formerly professor at Johns-Hopkins University; July 15, 10:30, meeting for worship; 2:30, lecture to be announced; 7:45, fellowship meeting; July 16, 9:30, devotional meeting.

RECRUITING APPEAL BY MAYOR CALKINS.

This is Recruiting Week, by proclamation of the President; and the Governor has also urged that New Jersey promptly enroll her quota. What is desired is to bring the regular army up to full war strength by the recruiting of 70,000 men. Our young men who are subject to the draft, and fit physically, and who not only will not be exempted but will not ask to be, have really a better opportunity for advancement by enlisting now than if they wait to be called. Junior officers must be appointed in due course. Those who get the start in training get also the jump on others for promotion. The natural desire of every soldier to be advanced, and the patriotic demonstration to be of the utmost service to the country,—here are two good reasons combined why the able-bodied young men in our city who expect sooner or later to enter the army should do so at once.

In particular I would remind them that Company K of our own city needs recruits to bring it up to full strength, which is two hundred and fifty men. Captain Peterson has asked me to urge the men of the city who are going into the army to join their home company. Certainly this is a chance for Plainfield boys to get together and to know that when the time comes for them to fight in what has become veritably the cause of world freedom and Christian civilization, they will have to joy of feeling that they are supported and encouraged by men at their side who were their friends and neighbors at home before an outlaw government undertook to impose its brutal will upon unoffending nations.

Let us be able to say not only that the Country is awake but that Plainfield also is awake.

LEIGHTON CALKINS,
Mayor.

Plainfield, June 28, 1917.

Minstrels Tomorrow at Froh-Heim Farms

The boys at Froh-Heim Farms for the summer will present a minstrel show in the Froh-Heim auditorium at Far Hills tomorrow night. Of the sixty odd boys stationed there twenty-five are from this city and their parents and friends will make the trip to witness the performance.

The scene of the farm part will represent a sector "Somewhere in France" with the American soldiers and the different boys taking part will be dressed as soldiers and officers. The program will be as follows: Opening chorus, "We're Tenting Tonight," double quartet and entire company; "Smile, Smile, Smile," from "Her Soldier Boy," entire company; solo, "When the Sun Goes Down in Dixie," Wilson Field; song, "The Soldiers' Farewell," double quartet; solo, "With His Hands in His Pockets," Leslie Ware; ballet, "The Way to Your Heart," August Franke; solo, "Pray for the Lights to Go Out," Charles Lasher; song, "The Vesper Stars," double quartet; solo, "America, Here's My Boy," John Causbrook, and closing chorus, "The Star Scangled Banner," entire chorus.

Miss Lucy Clawson To Be A June Bride

Miss Lucy Nina Clawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clawson, of Dunellen avenue, Dunellen, will be married at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to William S. Morris, of Forster place, this city. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bridegroom's uncle, P. S. Forster, of Forster place, and will be performed by Rev. Cortlandt B. Mallery, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest. The couple will be unattended. Miss Elizabeth Forster, an aunt of the bridegroom, will play the wedding march, and only relatives of the two families will be in attendance.

Following a short reception at the conclusion of the ceremony, the couple will leave for a wedding trip lasting two weeks. On returning they will reside temporarily with the bridegroom's uncle but their permanence is being completed for them on Forster place. They will be at home to their friends there after October 1.

Mr. Morris is widely known in Plainfield through many years of employment at the Pond Tool Works, where he is assistant to his uncle in the management of the pattern-making department. His bride-to-be also has a wide acquaintance in Plainfield and is extremely popular in Dunellen, where she has resided many years. The young people are already in receipt of many beautiful gifts.

Workman Burned In Garage Blaze

The short circuiting of a drop-light wire caused a gasoline explosion at Martin's garage on Park avenue, shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, that resulted in a blaze doing more than $1,000 damage and which for a time threatened to destroy the entire building. William Fellman, a garage employe, was so badly burned about the head and hands he had to be treated at Miller's drug store, and twenty-five cars in the place were gotten out in the nick of time by volunteers who risked personal injury to effect the saving. A Kissel-Kar, owned by Herbert Weller, of 111 East Front street, was destroyed, but prompt work on the part of the firemen was all that prevented a spread of the flames.

Fellman was down under the Kissel-Kar in the repair room making an inspection when the explosion occurred. It is presumed a spark from the wire came in contact with gasoline fumes rising from a fuel tank. Sheets of flame filled the entire room as Fellman scrambled from beneath the blazing automobile with his hair singed off and his clothing burning in several places. Other employes of the garage rushed to his assistance or started in the work of rescuing the nearby cars, some of which were worth thousands of dollars. Passers by groped through the blinding smoke to lend assistance, pending the arrival of the firemen who were summoned from box 13. Several lines of hose were used nearly ten minutes before the blaze was quelled.

The damage to the building, which is owned by Miss Anna Boice, is placed at $250, while another $250 is placed on the contents excluding the car. This was valued by Mr. Weller at $600. The loss in each instance is covered by insurance.

All in Readiness For Firemen's Ball

With more than 500 tickets already sold and every detail of the arrangements properly disposed of, nothing stands in the way to make the first big ball of Local No. 7, Firemen's Mutual Benevolent association, a complete success in Columbus Hall tonight. Beside the scores of local couples who will attend there will be visiting delegations of firemen and friends from all the surrounding towns, among them Westfield, Plainfield, Bayonne, New Brunswick, Newark and Somerville. Mayor Calkins and the city officials have been invited as the special guests and will be received by William Jaeger, president of the F. M. B. A., and a receiving staff.

Lattrell & Greene have been busy all day putting up decorations that have completely transformed the big auditorium. The national colors have been used lavishly and the insignia of the association and firefighters in general have been placed in conspicuous spots, colored electric lights will add to the attractiveness of the scene. Music will be provided by Stewart's full orchestra and during intermissions between dances vaudeville numbers will entertain the crowd. One of the feature numbers will be the appearance of "Prudent" Pacliucci, of this city, and his vaudeville partner, little Miss Ruth Reasner, of New York. Both have been appearing professionally for several years and will give their reportoire of best songs and dances. "Baby" Ginentzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ginentzer, of West Front street, will be another artist, rendering popular songs.

All the proceeds from the dance are to be added to the fund of Local No. 7, which has the following officers: President, William Jaeger; vice president, Captain George Mehl; secretary, Edward Mosher, and treasurer, Harry Wierenga. The committee which has arranged and will have charge of the dance is composed of Harry Wierenga, chairman; Jens Claasseen, James McDonough, Wesley Dunn and Frank Ingraham.

Insurance Bureau to Make Survey

As a result of the question raised at the public meeting on the tentative budget held some time ago, the fire insurance rating bureau at Newark has been requested by the councilmanic fire committee to make a survey of the city to determine whether or not this city is entitled to a better rating of fire insurance. Several local taxpayers have said that municipalities having a volunteer fire department obtain lower fire insurance rates than does Plainfield and it is to find out the cause of such a thing that the request for the survey has been made.

One method of lowering the rate has been suggested by the installing of water sprinklers in the various buildings in the business section. This service will cost, the Plainfield Union-Water Company says, $200 a year. The matter will, however, be taken hold of by the Board of Trade.

J. Franklin Fort Helps Fix Lower Coal Prices

A maximum price of $3.50 a ton for domestic coal and a maximum price of $3 a ton for all other coal f. o. b. at the mines for all States east of the Mississippi River, will go into effect after July 1.

All Pennsylvania bituminous coal, which sells for $4.75 to $6.00 at the mines, is reduced to $3.00 for mine run and $3.50 for lump and egg, domestic sizes.

West Virginia bituminous, selling for $4.50 to $6.00 at mines, goes down to $3.00 and $3.50; Ohio bituminous, selling from $4.50 to $5.00, drops to $3.00 and $3.50; Alabama bituminous, selling from $5.50 to $5.75, reduced to $4.00, $3.50 and $3.00.

Maryland bituminous, selling from $5.75 to $6.00, reduced to $3.00 and $3.50; Virginia bituminous, selling from $4.50 to $5.00, reduced to $3.50 and $3.00; Kentucky bituminous, selling from $4.00 to $4.50, reduced to $3.00 and $3.50; Illinois and Indiana bituminous, selling from $3.50 to $4.00, reduced to $2.75 and $3.50.

These figures were reached last night at the conference of the operators at Washington, with Secretary Lane, J. Franklin Fort, former Governor, of the Federal Trade Commission, and Francis H. Peabody, chairman of the Coal Production Committee of the Council of National Defense.

In round numbers, this means a reduction of $5 a ton to the consumer from the famine prices paid last winter. Conservative estimates are that the public will pay from $5 to $8 a ton next winter.

It is understood the agreement carries a recommendation that jobbers who buy direct from the mines be limited to a profit of 26 cents a ton.

Allowing this margin to the jobber, it was said, the prices that will be quoted eventually by the dealer to the small buyer for home consumption will be a question in which public sentiment will have a loud voice.

To Start Red Cross Work In Earnest

A meeting of the executive committee of the Plainfield chapter of the American Red Cross, the first time since the organization meeting on Monday night, will be held this afternoon in the auditorium of the Hartridge School for the purpose of setting in motion the machinery of the organization so that the work of relief may be taken up immediately where it was left off by the individual organizations that have affiliated with the Red Cross. Within the next few days the final meetings of the organizations and societies that have given up their work in favor of the new will be held at which time they will disband and vote officially to become a part of the local chapter. A business meeting of the officers of the chapter is also planned for the near future to work out the financial and business end of the society.

It is expected that work will be started at this afternoon's meeting on the appointing of the numerous committees and sub-committees necessary to put the chapter on a working basis. The matter of securing a location for the opening of a permanent headquarters will also be taken up and a schedule of hours may also be formulated.

A meeting of the Prince of Wales Relief Committee has been called for this afternoon and will be held in the parish house of the Grace Episcopal church. The committee will close its business affairs and take final vote on the proposal to join the Red Cross. The local branch of the National Special Aid Society will hold a business meeting in the auditorium of the Hartridge School on Monday afternoon and sometime in the near future will close its headquarters on East Front street and then stand ready to embark on its new work with all the zest with which it entered into it as a separate body. Meetings of the Belgian Relief Society and Mercy Committee will be held next week at dates to be selected later. Final action on the matter of affiliation will then be taken.

Now that it is practically certain that all four societies will join in the Red Cross movement, it has become practically certain that the local chapter will start off with a membership approaching very nearly the 5,000 mark. The National Special Aid Society alone had a roll of approximately 1,500, while all the other organizations have large numbers on the active roll.

At the initial meeting held in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School on Monday night the picking of officers resulted in Charles W. McCutchen being chosen chairman; Mrs. Charles A. Reed, vice chairman; Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite, secretary; A. A. Tilney, treasurer; executive committee, Mrs. Frederick W. Goddard, Mrs. David H. Rowland and Mrs. Frank D. Warren. The principal addresses of the evening were made by Mrs. Belmont Tiffany and Alfred Tamblyn, both of New York, and both of whom have long been interested in Red Cross work. Mayor Leighton Calkins and Mayor William L. Smalley, of the city and borough, also made brief talks, during which they took occasion to thank the workers that took part in the recent Red Cross campaign.

Aero Plant Puts On Night Force

Increased orders coming through the Standard Aero Corporation for high speed war service flying machines reached such proportions the past few weeks that the company has found it necessary to add a night force to the working complement. This started last Monday night with more than 150 men and the number is to be doubled if suitable mechanics can be secured. This makes the entire force now employed in the Standard's two plants on North avenue more than 700 people, giving the factory the distinction of being one of the largest in the city in the point of personnel.

To cope with the needs of the different departments, the floor space of the plant has had to be greatly increased. Beginning a short time ago with less than fifty thousand square feet, the working area is now more than 200,000 square feet. This amount is still inadequate and more additions to both buildings ppto be constructed in the near future. The output of the company has been tremendously increased but the Standard machines are in so much demand that it is a difficult matter to catch the orders that are pouring in regularly.

Tests conducted at the Mineola training grounds have proven that the Standard aeroplane of the "Model J" type is vastly superior to anything of the kind manufactured in this country. They not only combine speed with stability but are also easily handled and are ready for any kind of service. As a result the government has followed its original orders of last fall with many more until now the contract figures run into many millions of dollars. The Standard plants will continue to be built in Plainfield, assuring this community of a most desirable industrial plant after the close of the war as the supply for the United States Aero Corps must be kept up to a high state of efficiency at all times.

While the majority of the workmen now at the plant are local residents, a large number of experts have been brought from Buffalo, Dayton, O., and other western cities. In the future Plainfield men are to be given the preference in the matter of positions, but where a certain vacancy cannot be properly filled out of town mechanics will be called upon. This means a large increase in the local population as many of the men bring their families with them.

Accident Case Will be Aired in Court

Recorder Fred Hand will have an automobile case to untangle in the recorder's court tomorrow morning, when Silas Winans, of Watchung, and N. Drake, of Irvington, appear as the principals in an accident that occurred yesterday morning at the corner of Watchung and Mountain Aves. Winans, who was accompanied by William Liebeck, was considerably injured in the accident. He received a sprained ankle and numerous cuts and bruises, while Liebeck was pinned underneath the machine and badly hurt. The exact extent of his injuries are not yet known, but it is expected that he suffered internally.

The versions of eye witnesses seem to vary, although it was the general opinion that Drake was at fault. It is alleged that the Irvington man was going at an excessive rate of speed. Winans' car was practically demolished, while the other machine was only slightly damaged and Drake and two negroes he had as passengers were unscathed.

Miss Adelle Phelps, of West Front street, has gone to Petersburg, Va., to visit her sister, Mrs. Barfield.

Army Man Weds Miss Van Wyck

One of the most brilliant weddings of the present season in New York took place in the St. Regis Hotel, that city, Tuesday night, when Miss Priscilla Van Wyck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip V. R. Van Wyck, of Summit, formerly of Plainfield, was made the wife of Capt. Wade Hampton Carpenter, of Anderson, S. C., now a member of the Coast Artillery. The ceremony was witnessed by 400 guests who gathered from all parts of the country. Rev. Dr. Oliver Hall, of the Church of the Paternity, was the officiating clergyman.

Miss Van Wyck wore a gown of white silk net with a long train of satin and rose point lace. Her bouquet was composed of white orchids and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Harry Wilson, as bridesmaid, who wore a costume of apricot colored net over satin of the same color, trimmed with seed pearls. She carried yellow roses and pansies.

Capt. George B. Comly, U. S. A., was best man. Capt. Robert N. Campbell, Lieut. F. J. Williams, Lieut. R. S. Barr and Lieut. A. J. Cogwill, all of the army, were the ushers.

After September 1 their home will be at Fort de Lesseps, Panama Canal Zone, where he has been stationed. The bridegroom has obtained a leave of six weeks, which he and his bride will devote to a tour by automobile through the Berkshires and the White Mountains. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Carpenter, of Anderson, S. C., and is a cousin of the late Senator Wade Hampton. Mrs. Carpenter was prominent in Plainfield's younger social set when the family resided at Stelle and Plainfield avenues, the property now being owned by R. H. Hood and known as "The Roses."

EXEMPTION BOARDS FOR THE COUNTY ANNOUNCED.

Appointments of boards of exemption from military service for Union county was announced at Washington today. The second division is composed of two Plainfielders and one Fanwood resident.

First division—Sheriff George C. Otto, Neil McLeod and Dr. James L. Vail.

Third division—Mayor Rufus Franklin, of Summit; Mayor H. W. Evans, of Westfield, and Dr. H. K. Dengler.

The same boards officiated during registration work. They were appointed by Sheriff Otto.

ARRANGING FOR BARN DANCE.

At a meeting of the members of St. Mary's Social Club Tuesday night, arrangements were made for a barn dance to be held in T. A. B. Hall on Tuesday night, July 10. The committee in charge, of which Miss Julia McCauley is chairman, is planning several unique features. Miss Cecauley is being assisted by Margaret Gill, Catherine McDonald, May Barry, Mary McDonald and Mary Regan.

SUPREME COURT SUSTAINS COUNCIL.

The Supreme Court in an opinion just rendered again holds that the ordinance passed by the Common Council on December 22, 1913, providing for the widening of Madison avenue, is valid, and has dismissed a writ of certiorari obtained by Fred Endress and William W. Mills to have the measure annulled. In a previous opinion, resulting from a previous suit, the high court gave the same ruling, but set aside the proceedings relating to the report of the commissioners named to determine the amount of benefits and damages to property-holders along Madison avenue.

LIGHTING DISTRICT'S MEETING.

The voters of Lighting District No. 7, of Piscataway Township, held their annual meeting a few days ago and elected the following officers: President, Lawrence Kerwin; secretary, Michael Kerwin; treasurer, William Stranahan. An appropriation of $500 was made for the coming year and a new light was ordered placed on Oak street, near the Dunellen line.

OFF TO CAMP.

Sixteen boys belonging to the Y. M. C. A. left yesterday for Camp Wawayanda to spent part of the summer. Albert T. Early, principal of the North Plainfield High School, was one of those in charge and will remain at the camp most of the summer.

MOTORCYCLE RUN.

Members of the local Motorcycle Club will take a trip on Sunday to the reservation between Milburn and Montclair and will there enjoy a picnic. Those going will gather in front of the old postoffice at 10:30 and will have their pictures taken before starting.

"FLORIDIANS" VISITING HERE.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Smalley, of Fort Pierce, Fla., are spending a six weeks' recreation trip with relatives of the city and borough. Mr. Smalley is still engaged in the raising of grape-fruit and oranges in Florida and asserts that the past season has been an excellent one. Both Mr. Smalley and his wife and also the members of his family who are at Fort Pierce are in excellent health and are now classed as "regular Floridians."

Nuggets of Church News

UNION SERVICE.

Sunday night will mark the start of the union services by the First M. E., First Baptist, First Presbyterian and Trinity Reformed churches that have come to be the annual summer custom. The first service will be held in the First Presbyterian church and Rev. John Y. Brock will be the preacher. The services will be held in each of the four churches alternately during the remainder of the summer.

FIRST M. E.

On Sunday at the morning service Rev. Charles E. Anderson will be in charge. There will be Holy Communion and the reception of new members.

The pastor will take his annual vacation during the month of August. Dr. Joy is chairman of the committee to secure supplies and will announce the visiting preachers next week.

TRINITY REFORMED.

Rev. Albertus T. Brock, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Newark, will be in charge of the morning service at the Trinity Reformed church on Sunday. He is a brother of Rev. John Y. Brock, the pastor. The church in the evening will join with the other churches in a union service.

HOLY CROSS.

Rev. H. St. G. Burrill will be in charge of the services at the Holy Cross church Sunday at the following hours: 7:30, Holy Communion; 11:00, Holy Communion and morning prayer; 7:45, evening service.

CRESCENT AVE. PRESBYTERIAN.

Holy Communion will be administered at the 10:30 service on Sunday morning. The afternoon service and Sunday-school session will be omitted. The mid-week service will be omitted owing to the holiday.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

The regular monthly meeting of the Pastor's Aid Society of the church is being held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. Leslie Bond, of Central avenue.

Rev. Charles E. Herring will preach at both the morning and evening services on Sunday.

CRESCENT AVE. CHURCH.

Next Wednesday being the Fourth of July there will be no prayer meeting in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. The meetings will be continued until the middle of the month, when they will be discontinued for the summer.

Rev. John Sheridan Zelie will be in charge of the services on Sunday. Dr. Zelie will continue in charge of the services until July 22, when he will leave for a month's vacation.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the morning service Sunday.

PARK AVE. BAPTIST.

Rev. J. W. Richardson, of Belfast, Maine, will conduct both the morning and evening services at the Park Avenue Baptist church on Sunday.

NETHERWOOD REFORMED.

The usual services will be held in the Netherwood Reformed church on Sunday, with Rev. Edward Ralston in charge.

Rev. George H. Shaw.

Dr. Shaw is the autor of an interesting story just published under the title of "Mr. Crabb's Revenge." Mr. Shaw was until last fall pastor of the Seventy-Day Baptist church, this city, and is now residing at Ashaway, Mass. He is also the author of several other successful books that have had excellent sales.

ALL SOUL'S.

The morning service on Sunday at the All Souls' Unitarian church will be at 10:45. A service for use in time of war, prepared by the American Unitarian Association, will be rendered. The subject of Rev. John Baltsly will be "The Conservation of Food."

Beginning with July 15 the services will be discontinued and the church closed until fall.

GRACE M. E.

Rev. Charles E. Gillespie will be in charge of the services in the Grace M. E. church on Sunday.

FIRST BAPTIST.

Dr. Philip B. Strong will preach at the morning and evening services in the First Baptist church on Sunday.

The annual excursion to the seashore for the Sunday-school will be held on July 12.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL.

Rev. Howard E. Clarke will be in charge of the services in the First Congregational church on Sunday. At the morning service he will take as the subject of his sermon, "The Bread of Life."

ST. STEPHEN'S.

Rev. Mr. Stansfield will again preach at the morning service on Sunday.

SPECIAL TOPIC SUNDAY.

All churches in this city as well as the county where foreign-born persons attend have just received from Neil McLeod, Jr., clerk in charge of naturalization at the county clerk's office, a copy of a circular sent to the county clerk's office by Richard K. Campbell, Commissioner of Naturalization, again calling attention to the custom established last year of having special sermons on "Good Citizenship" preached Sunday, July 1. This appeal is being sent throughout the entire Nation and a number of the local clergy will preach on that subject Sunday.

Why "Jack" Oswald Firmly Believes This World Is a Very Small Place

From now on "Jack" Oswald, the East Front street confectioner, is a thirty-third degree believer in the familiar saying that "this world is not such a big place after all." An incident occurred a few days ago which brought the fact home to him so forcibly that he defies anyone to show him to the contrary. This is the way it happened:

Mr. Oswald was in the reading room of the Elks' club Monday night when he was approached by a fellow member who was showing a friend through the beautiful building. The fellow member happened to recall that Mr. Oswald was born in Switzerland, although he came to this country when he was ten years old, and approached him with the remark that the visitor was a young Swiss who had been sent to America by his employers and was now connected with the company's New York house. The stranger was introduced simply as "Mr. Naegels."

"What part of Switzerland do you come from?" asked Mr. Oswald. The reply was "St. Gauls."

"St. Gauls?" queried the maker of confections, "why I am very well acquainted there. I suppose you know of Emil Boesh, the manufacturer of embroideries?"

It was the stranger's turn to become more than ordinarily interested then and he remarked:

"Emil Boesh is the man I work for and it was he who sent me to America to help in the management of his Fifth avenue store, in New York. He has been more than an employer because, despite the fact that there are 30,000 hands in his various embroidery making shops, he has taken a personal interest in me and has been aiding me in learning all branches of the business, but," he added, "how do you come to know Mr. Boesh?"

"He happens to be my first cousin," answered Mr. Oswald, and those of you who have had a similar experience in this tiny bit of a hemisphere can appreciate how the confectioner and the Swiss embroidery man got Mr. Naegels left for New York with a standing invitation to return to Plainfield and he will probably be a frequent visitor in the days to come.

"It certainly was a peculiar meeting," Mr. Oswald remarked in telling a group of friends about it, and after the way we two got together I wouldn't be surprised at meeting an old school mate in the jungles of Africa or getting introduced to an Eskimo who knew my father's cousin somewhere in Greenland. It certainly is a small, small world.

TO BUILD GARAGE AT BONNIE BURN.

The hospital committee of the Board of Freeholders this week received bids for an extension to the power house at the Bonnie Burn sanatorium in Scotch Plains. The extension will be used as a garage. The lowest bids totalled $4,194, and the improvement will be paid for out of the $87,000 tuberculosis bond issue, most of which went for the construction of a new children's building.

The low bidders on the various items are as follows: Mason work, H. Wilhelms' Sons, $3,018; carpenter work, M. Byrnes Building Company, $424; sheet metal work, Elizabeth Cornice Works, $342; electrical work, Ryder-Graves Company, $160; painting work, Woolston & Buckle, $165, and plumbing work, $55.

The architect will confer with County Attorney Blatz in order to have the contracts prepared as soon as possible.

SCOTCH PLAINS GRADUATION.

The annual graduation exercises of the Scotch Plains schools were held in the Scotch Plains Baptist church last night, when eighteen pupils received diplomas from Dr. F. W. Wescott, president of the Board of Education. The graduates rendered a program of musical and vocal numbers, and many relatives and friends attended.

High Scho Teams Lose Many Players

As is nearly always the case, both Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools have lost a number from their athletic teams through graduation this year. The Ninth street institution will probably be harder hit than the borough High School, the class of 1917 forming practically the entire team in some cases.

In football the Red and Blue will be without the services next fall of Berrian, Kyle, Geary, Fred Smith, Somlock and Hooper, while the basketball squad will take Kyle, Coudray, Swackhamer, Hooper and Case. Baseball will miss Kyle, Coudray, Hooper, Goldberg and Guttridge. Case and Carter will not be able to form the backbone of the tennis team. The girls' basketball team will be without the services of Elsa Palmer, Florence Alpaugh, Marion Lansdale, Dorothy Butler and Fannie Mann.

Over in the borough they will have to fill places on the girls' basketball team vacated by Lillian Spencer, Elsie Wyckoff and Marion Chandler. William Seidel, Alfred Willett, Andrew McDonough, William Ahern and Vincent LaPorte will be missed from the boys' basketball team, and Andrew McDonough, William Ahern and Vincent LaPorte from the baseball squad.

SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN TO MISS HARRINGTON

Fifty friends of Miss Marion Harrington, of West Fourth street, tendered her a surprise party Tuesday night, in honor of her twentieth birthday. The affair was arranged by Miss Theresa Murray and Miss Anna Harrington and was carried on in such a manner that Miss Harrington received not the slightest inkling in advance. She returned from a trip down town to find the guests assembled and all the readiness for the good time which followed. Although taken back, the "victim" quickly rallied and responded to the numerous well wishes for "many happy returns of the day."

Dancing was one of the most delightful features of the evening music for which was furnished by Edward Ambrose, of New York. There were also vocal solos contributed by Miss Helen McCauley, John McCarthy and Joseph Murray. Parlor games were enjoyed at frequent intervals and refreshments were served at midnight. Miss Harrington received numerous appropriate gifts which will serve as a reminder of the occasion for a long time to come. Beside the friends from Plainfield, the guests included others from Somerville, Elizabeth and Jersey City.

Jr. O. U. A. M. Offer Services to State

The Uniformed Rank of the Junior Order United American Mechanics in New Jersey, has renewed to Governor Edge the offer made to Governor Fielder, when the National Guard was sent to the Mexican border last year, to replace the militiamen when they go away for war duty, which is expected to be in the near future. The Governor in a letter of thanks to the order states that the offer is an "interesting suggestion."

There are organizations in this city, Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Bayonne, Paterson, Little Falls, Hawthorne, Elizabeth, Roselle, New Market, Trenton, Mt. Holly, Millville, Bridgeton, Camden, Riverside and several other places.

The uniformed rank consists of about 1,500 members at present and with very little instruction will be able to fill the place of the Guard in a very creditable shape. Company H, of this city, has about forty members and all are willing to serve.

CLERKS OF COUNTY HAVE EFFECTED ORGANIZATION.

The permanent organization of the various clerks of municipalities in Union county has been affected and plans already laid for taking hold of matters of mutual benefit to the members. The election of officers has resulted in County Clerk William B. Martin being chosen president; Charles Clark, vice president; John J. Carroll, of this city, secretary, and T. J. Kitts, treasurer. Meetings are held in the county courthouse the second Thursday of every month.

One of the first things to be taken up is the question of municipal finance. The new Pierce laws recently passed make numerous changes necessary and it is to have these fully explained that the question is to be taken up. Assemblyman Pierson may explain at one of the future sessions the particulars of the laws he was instrumental in having enacted.

REGISTRATION NAMES POSTED FOR REFERENCE.

A complete list of names and addresses of all men between 21 and 30 years of age who registered for military service in this city and borough June 5 last is now posted in the city hall of both places for the convenience of the public and to enable interested persons to determine who did and who did not obey the law by registering.

If a violator is discovered the person having knowledge of this act is requested to communicate the same to the police or federal authorities.

MERCER

A highly-developed four-cylinder motor that hurls its power to the rear wheels through a short, rigid crankshaft and sturdy transmission explains the extraordinary might and smoothness of Mercer performance. More cylinders and a longer crankshaft would be a burden. And the charm of Mercer grace and appointments has identified it closely with social distinction. Deliveries at once.

Red Cross Fund Over Subscribed

Although the campaign conducted in this city to obtain $50,000 for the Red Cross closed last Monday with an amount over that figure by a wide margin, contributions left at the Plainfield Trust Company within the past few days have added considerably to the total of $63,000 reported by Wilbur H. Rogers, general chairman of the committee, and it is expected that the final result will bring the fund up to nearly $65,000. In eclipsing the sums raised by Elizabeth and other nearby cities Plainfield has drawn forth favorable comment from the headquarters of the American Red Cross in Washington.

In a short statement issued to the local papers just after the campaign was officially closed, Mr. Rogers extended his thanks to all those who helped to make the drive a success, including the heads of the various committees, those who contributed the full page advertisements in the newspapers and most of all to those who gave their money. The women's division he especially commended for the raising of over $10,000 of the fund, and Mrs. Charles Reed, chairman of the women's division, in turn, thanked the telephone company for the generous use of its service.

"WORM'S EYE VIEW" LUNA'S NEW ATTRACTION

Luna, Coney Island's big amusement park, is the birthplace of novel features designed to interest and amuse a pleasure loving public. With each season there originates in this playground a variety of attractions, the culmination of ideas which, perhaps, have been dwelt upon for years before reaching a practical realization.

With the advent of the current season a list of novelties longer than has been seen in the park for several years, was placed on view. Since the season's opening day there have been frequent additions to the list. Of the latter one of the most promising, from a point of popularity, is "A Worm's Eye View," an illusion which received its initial presentation this week.

In "A Worm's Eye View" is represented a recorded dream of a retired Colonel. There is depicted the wanderings and vagaries of a subconscious mind during a noonday siesta when, in his youth, a girl entered the man's heart as the worm enters the apple. In his fantasy he sees the wine suppers and dances of his youth—the temptations and pitfalls one encounters through life, the rewards and punishments of virtue and indiscretion. He shudders with aversion at the crawling worm within the apple and tingles with admiration at the wonders of the dance of the fairies from the land of "what might have been."

The wily temptress leads him on with her blandishments and with his inverted view, "The Worm's Eye View," he beholds her charms from an unusual angle. But, ere he yields to her seductive pleadings, he sees in the dungeons of despair the harvest of iniquity from which he turns with loathing. Then, in the cycles of his dream, he beholds the guiding star of virtue and innocence beckoning him to follow on to the land of golden hopes, when he awakens; gazing upon the hills, flowers and emblem of his country.

CRUSADE STARTED AGAINST AUTOISTS.

Acting upon the suggestion of Mayor Leighton Calkins, Chief of Police Kiely has instructed his men to commence a crusade against autoists who persist in using their "cut-out" in violation of the city ordinance. Any offender caught in the police dragnet will be taken before City Judge DeMeza and fined.

The Mayor says, "On the part of many motorists, resident in this city, there seems to be a deliberate intention to enjoy whatever peculiar sensation is derived from the unnecessary practice." Especially during the past few months has the nuisance been prevalent and the Mayor is determined to put a stop to it.

MAY CREATE COURT OF SMALL CLAIMS.

A movement for the establishment of courts of small claims is gaining ground throughout the State. The plan has been indorsed by organized labor and the legal fraternity and a bill for the institution of such courts probably will be introduced at the next session of the Legislature. Practically every Plainfield lawyer is in favor of such a court.

Such a law would be practically the same as the present measure governing district courts, with the exception of title. It would limit cases to those involving $50 or less and would reduce the court charges, permitting a man having a small claim to take legal action without having to engage a lawyer or pay the existing court costs, which frequently amount to as much as his claim.

ANNUAL SAURER OUTING.

The fourth annual outing of the Saurer Mutual Benefit Society, which now has a membership of 500, will be held on the Fitzsimmon's farm, at Dunellen, on Saturday, August 4. A committee has already been appointed to arrange for the event and is planning for an athletic meet and other attractions. The International Motor Company band of thirty pieces will play throughout the day. Buses will furnish the transportation.

PERSONAL

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Anna Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Moore, of West Fifth street, to John O'Brien, of New York city. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Neighbour and Mrs. Lemuel Neighbour, and daughters, of Middle Valley, have returned home from a visit to Mr. and Mrs. William Wyman, of East Front street.

Miss Ruth Wolff, of Martine avenue, will leave tomorrow for Mt. Pocono, where she will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Holl and daughter, of the Dutch East Indies, are making a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. D. Vershuur, of Washington avenue, to whom they are related. The Holls have charge of the "Boedoeran" plantation in the East Indies and left eleven months ago for a visit with relatives in Holland. Owing to the war the journey each way was round about via the Cape of Good Hope. On leaving Plainfield they will stop at Niagara Falls and the Yellowstone Park before reaching San Francisco, from which port they will make a trans-Pacific passage to Honolulu, thence to Yokohama, China and Java.

Dr. P. J. Zeglio, who recently sustained two fractured ribs when his automobile collided with a trolley car on Arlington avenue, is improving steadily at Muhlenberg Hospital and will shortly be able to return home.

Dr. and Mrs. Aspinwall Judd, of New York city, have leased a residence on Denmark road, Netherwood, for the summer. Dr. Judd is one of Manhattan's foremost physicians.

Floyd Carroll, of West Third street, is enjoying a ten days' vacation from his duties at fire headquarters.

Miss Beatrice J. Pardy, who has been residing at 418 West Fifth street, has removed to 527 West Sixth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Bechtel, of Carlton avenue, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edythe Bechtel, to Hugh T. Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Goodwin, also of Carlton avenue. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Mrs. H. H. Brokaw, of Duer street, has been a recent visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. Kathcryn Opdycke, of Somerville.

Miss Grace Beeching, whose marriage to William Hand is to take place in the near future, was given a surprise shower a few nights ago by fifty of her friends. Music and games formed the principal features and solos by Mrs. Knight were greatly enjoyed. The affair was arranged by the Misses Jeanne DeMott and L. and T. Glaser.

Miss Dorothy Kimmel, of Brooklyn, and Maurice Zimmerman, of this city, were married at 6 o'clock Sunday night in the former city at the synagogue of the Congregation Crown Glory of Israel, Ashford street. The ceremony was witnessed by a large gathering of friends of the young couple. This was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kimmel, 857 Barbey street, Brooklyn. There were 300 guests present, those from Plainfield being Victor Miron and Benjamin Spritzer. Following a wedding trip to the Catskill Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman will make their home in this city. The former is employed as advertising manager for Tepper Brothers and has been an active worker in the Y. M. H. A. He has a wide local acquaintance, as has also his bride in Brooklyn, where she has been prominent socially.

Miss Ruth Sadler, who formerly resided on East Sixth street, this city, was married Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to Franz N. Ruprecht, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large gathering of guests, including Miss Florence Cooper, of Park avenue, an intimate friend of the bride. At the conclusion of a trip to the Adirondack Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Ruprecht will reside in Wilkes-Barre, the bridegroom holding a position with the Delaware and Hudson Railroad in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Van Winkle and John H. Van Winkle, Jr., of Duer street, have been spending the present week at the Aborton, Asbury Park.

Kenneth Guttridge, of South avenue, is among the latest recruits to the Plainfield contingent employed by the Guaranty Trust Company at its main New York office. He was graduated from the Plainfield High School last week and began his new duties Monday.

Clinton L. Mote, of the Standard Aero Corporation's executive staff, has been in Virginia the past week on business for the company.

Mrs. Nathan C. Pennington, of Liberty street, is confined to her home with a broken arm and dislocated shoulder received in an accident Saturday afternoon. She was about to descend the porch steps at her residence and making a miscalculation fell down the entire flight. She was picked up in a semi-conscious condition and was attended later by Dr. N. W. Currie. The injuries and shock may prove quite serious owing to Mrs. Pennington's advanced age of 76 years.

Samuel J. Tavernor, formerly of this city, but now of Ballston Spa, N. Y., is spending two weeks with friends in town.

Robert Mitchell, of Grant avenue, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation from duties with the Guaranty Trust Company, of New York.

John Hawkyard, of Rock avenue, who had both feet badly hurt four weeks' ago while working at the Ransome Concrete Machinery plant, is now able to be about on crutches, but it will be another month before he is able to return to work.

Nathan Titsworth, who recently disposed of his hotel business in New York, is spending a short time in town previous to entering a new field of endeavor.

Chauncey F. Stout, of East Front street, who recently had a severe relapse after an attack of typhoid fever, is once more improving, with excellent chances for speedy recovery.

Miss Mary Devaney, of North avenue, has returned home after a few days' visit with relatives at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Samuel Hochberger, of East Fifth street, will spend the coming summer at his cottage at Long Beach, Mass.

Miss Margaret Buttfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Buttfield, of Rockview Heights, was married Friday afternoon to Irving Thorburn Bartlett, of New York city. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. Dr. G. Hulst, of Montclair. Miss Ruth Stanley-Brown, of Kew Gardens, L. I., was maid of honor and the flower girl was Miss Margaret Mitchell, of New York, a cousin of the bridegroom. The best man was William Leicester Van Leer, of Philadelphia. Following a wedding trip the couple will probably make their home in this city.

Mrs. William Corbusier, mother of Dr. H. D. Corbusier, is steadily improving at her home on Crescent avenue, following a severe illness. Her condition was such for a time that Dr. Corbusier delayed his start for Port Ogelthorpe, Ga., for which place he left the forepart of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson and daughter, Miss Helen Johnson, of Spooner avenue, spent the past week-end with Mrs. Johnson's brother, Thomas Day, of Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver R. Pearson and family, of Manson place, enjoyed an automobile trip Sunday to the shore, where they visited their son, Oliver Pearson, a private in Company K.

Mrs. Eliza Menger, of West End avenue, has been seriously ill during the past few weeks through complications due to old age. Mrs. Menger is 95 years old.

Tom Chamberlain, of West Third street, spent Monday with friends at Flemington.

J. Sweazy Jones, of Grove street, has resigned his position as clerk at the Hotel Kensington and has been succeded by W. T. Morgan.

Thomas Roddy, of Arlington avenue, is still a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital, where he has been undergoing medical treatment for nearly two months.

Miss Anna Daley, of West Fifth street, left Monday for Cedarhurst, L. I., where she will remain for several weeks and will later go to Mt. Pocono, Pa., for the balance of the summer.

Rev. Father B. M. Bogan and Rev. Father Walter A. Hennessey, of St. Mary's church, returned today after a weeks' retreat at Seton Hall College.

Miss Anna E. Regan Bride of Harry Dunn

In the presence of only the immediate families of the young couple, the marriage of Miss Anna Elizabeth Regan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Regan, of Harrison avenue, the borough, and Harry Dunn, of South avenue, took place in St. Joseph's church Tuesday morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father P. J. Hart. Miss Esther Regan, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Harold P. Mead was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn left shortly after the ceremony for a trip to the Delaware Water Gap and the Pocono Mountains. On returning they will make their home in this city. Mr. Dunn is at present employed at the Standard Aero Works on North avenue, but was for several years connected with the composing room staff of the Courier-News. He is an active member of St. Mary's T. A. B. Society and St. Mary's Fife and Drum Corps. Mrs. Dunn has been a resident of the borough a long time and has been active in the work at St. Joseph's church.

CHEVROLET NABBED FOR SPEEDING.

Quick action on the part of Patrolman Menig, of Elizabeth, early Wednesday morning resulted in the capture of Gaston L. Chevrolet, of 818 Monroe avenue, after he had driven through Roselle Park at a high rate of speed in his auto. Unable to halt the speeder, the police of Roselle Park telephoned ahead, describing the boat-shaped auto which Chevrolet was driving, with the result that Menig placed him under arrest in Morris avenue.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, JUNE 29, 1917.

HOME DEFENSE LEAGUERS PROVING THEIR WORTH.

The Plainfield citizen of the "knocker" species who started out to make merry quips at the expense of the local Home Guard has come to the conclusion that he picked out the wrong butt for his jocoseness. Started at a time when nobody understood fully what would be required of it and consequently paved the way for humoresque suggestion, the organization has gotten to be almost indispensable. Mayor Calkins' call for volunteers brought men from every walk of life. They had no conception of what sort of duty they would be called upon to perform, they only knew that their services were required for the good of the community and they stood ready to give them. It meant a heap of self-denial and more than one arduous task but in all truthfulness it can be said that not a member of the Plainfield Home Guard has been found wanting.

Guard duty at the Netherwood water tower was only a beginning, a sort of kindergarten training school as it were. The members met the long hours of duty on cold or stormy nights without flinching. They left warm and comfortable homes to do their little trick without a murmur of discontent, although the "slacker" who is doing nothing snickered his sarcasm. From water tower duty the Home Defensers advanced to regulation military drill and are now fully proficient in all of the various marching movements used by the regular service. Night after night they have assembled on the old horse show grounds and doggedly stuck to the task of learning hallow square formation, riot drills and all that goes to make up the proclivities of a soldier. Even more than this, they have taken up police patrol duty, once every two or three weeks making the rounds of the city at night with the regular departmental officers. They are learning all about the police call box system, the running down of culprits, how to handle a struggling prisoner, where the city beats are and what they consist of, and the dozen or more other things that go to make up police routine. Practically every member of the guard is now competent to do a regular patrolman's duty on a pinch, a mighty big help to the municipal officers any time it should be needed. The men will not be "greenies" in handling pistols either. They have had weapons ever since the league was organized and each night two squads appear at the police headquarters for target practice. More than one has gotten so proficient that he can drive a proverbial nail at fifty paces.

Another feature now contemplated by the league's executives is the establishment of a school for non-commissioned officers. The latter are to be taught the regulation infantry drill in place of the unmounted cavalry drill which has been used heretofore. Once these non-commissioned officers acquire the full rudiments of the infantry manual they can in turn teach them to the other men. This means a splendid force of reserve men for regular military duty instead of a squad of raw recruits in case the necessity arises.

All the above is mentioned to show that the Home Guard is an organization worthy of every citizen's support and respect. Those who have contributed money to the cause can rest assured that it has gone for a good purpose and those who have discouraged the movement can take a back track. Plainfield Home Guarders are doing their little bit now but what they will do in the future will be a big bit. Preparedness has been the nation's watchword for fully a year and these Home Guarders are prepared. When the time comes every single individual of the organization will show that he is composed of the right stuff and that the wise acres who sat by the fireside and criticised unjustly made the biggest mistake of their lives. The Home Defense has come to stay.

SENATOR PIERCE AND THE COMMON PLEAS JUDGESHIP.

Senator Carlton B. Pierce's candidacy for the appointment to the Court of Common Pleas Judgeship will not receive any great support in Plainfield. The position is one that calls for a thorough knowledg of New Jersey law from a practical as well as technical standpoint and this the Cranford legislator does not possess. By this, we do not mean that he lacks legal knowledge but his practice as a lawyer has been in New York State, where there is a very noticeable difference in court methods. Mr. Pierce was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 1911 and became a counsellor only two years ago. This is altogether too short a time in preparing a man for a seat on the Union county bench, an office which demands every qualification for the wise and judicious handling of every manner of legal problem to say nothing of general conditions throughout the district that require intimacy for proper ruling.

There are plenty of practicing lawyers in Union county who have belonged to the New Jersey bar at least a score of years who are eligible for the appointment. They are men who have practiced locally since becoming attorneys and are eminently qualified to become James J. Connolly's successor. One of these is William Newcorn, a man of pronounced integrity and ability. He served his apprenticeship in State law-making as a member of the New Jersey Assembly for two years and for nearly six years dispensed justice in the Plainfield District Court, an office he quitted through a change of political administration and where he left an enviable record. Judge Newcorn is a contestant for the Common Pleas appointment and there are none who can say that he does not deserve it. His occupancy of the office would be a credit to the appointing executor and the citizens of Union county would be assured of receiving equitable adjustment of their legal affairs.

A CITY ELECTRICIAN BECOMING A NECESSITY.

The need of a city electrician, such as was advocated quite strongly about a year ago, has gotten to the point where an official of this kind is almost an absolute necessity. Not only are the demands made upon the out of town inspector in the employ of the Board of Underwriters so pressing that two days a week are inadequate for him to supervise local wiring but the fees from inspections will more than cover the salary to be paid. These matters are, at that, inconsequential when compared with the great danger accruing from electric wiring being placed in houses without every particle of it being carefully looked over, a matter that is impossible under the present system. The application by the contractor is filed with the Public Service Corporation and is permitted to go on pending the coming of the Board of Underwriter's representative. Frequently the job is completed and covered up by carpenters and masons before the inspectors get to town. If joints have not been properly soldered and taped or possibilities of arcs left at bends it is only a matter of time when one of those "mysterious fires," so often spoken of in the newspapers, will take place. If it comes in the night and the family is wrapped in slumber the result can better be imagined than described. Such cases as these have happened and will continue to happen wherever there is the defective piece of wiring hiding its sinister self behind inflammable materials.

If figures tell no falsehoods, the pecuniary side of a city electrician offers no objection. The Common Council is now paying $1,400 a year for the maintenance of the Gamewell fire alarm system and $200 is an average expenditure annually for materials. It pays $400 annually for the maintenance of the police call box system and an additional $200 for necessary supplies, making a total of $2,200. The money paid by contractors for applications and inspections, now averages $2,000 every twelve months and is increasing all the time. If a city electrician were appointed a competent man could be secured for $1,800. A lineman's services could be gotten for $1,200 or possibly a little less. This means a salary of $3,000, which is now in reality costing $3,800 when the care of the fire and police alarms and inspecting fees are considered. Moreover, the expenditure for materials could be greatly lessened as the city electrician could purchase supplies at the usual dealer's discount. The figures have been obtained from authoritative sources and are corroborated by statistics from Perth Amboy, where a city election has been doing good work for a number of years.

The best interest of the entire city would be served if the Common Council would devote a few hours' close attention to this matter and install a city electrician as soon as possible. Contractors doing skimpy work would be unable to have their dangerous workmanship hidden away and the honest jobber would not be held up for weeks at a time through the Underwriter's inspector being elsewhere detained. With a city electrician having regular office hours, applications could be made at any time and the inspector could follow them up by watching every bit of the work. One of the glaring faults of the present system is readily observed in the practice of allowing additional lights and wiring to be placed in a house without any permit being necessary. Additional work can be just as dangerous as new work and the arc of a small hall light found necessary after a tenant has just taken a house can start a fire as quick as the dining-room lights put in position before. Everything in the city of an electrical nature in contracting work could be supervised by an inspector and the chances of fires of "unknown origin" would be materially decreased. A city electrician is a necessity and the Council will make no mistake at appointing one at its earliest convenience.

NOBLE SELF-DENIAL OF THE NATIONAL SPECIAL AID.

Such a spirit as that which actuated the 1,500 members of the Plainfield Chapter National Special Aid Society to lay aside the individuality of their organization to affiliate themselves with the Red Cross elicits more than ordinary commendation. The Special Aid had perfected itself into a most thorough and helpful organization, strong in results as well as in numbers. The noble women giving up their time and money for the benefit of the nation were carrying out their own ideas as to what should constitute national aid in time of stress and to discard all personal plans for the benefit of the greater society was a sacrifice of no small amount. The members have now turned their attention to the formation of a local Red Cross Chapter with the same energy that marked the beginning of the National Special Aid and in a very short space of time the work will be going on as enthusiastically as ever, subject only to the rules and regulations of the National Red Cross Society.

In Montclair a Special Aid Chapter with a membership of 3,000 gave up its work to merge with the Red Cross and the Newark News made the following editorial reference to the change:

"It would not have been strange had such a splendidly equipped organization desired to continue its separate existence since it has so fully justified its right to exist, but when the suggestion came that amalgamation with the Red Cross would be desirable, the women responded, as promptly and as willingly as they had responded to the call to work. They took the position that the Red Cross having been sanctioned by the national government, should have the united co-operation of all citizens; that whole hearted, unhampered support is necessary in every undertaking of a national character called forth by the exigencies of the war, to the end that the greatest efficiency with the minimum of organization may be assured."

A MATTER OF DIFFERENCE BETWEEN COLD AND HEAT.

In giving a history of the MacDonald property at East Front street and Watchung avenue, from which the old homestead has just been removed, the Courier-News said Tuesday night: "In those days of a century ago there was probably plenty of ice in winter on what is now known as Tier's pond, within a stone's throw of this old residence, but apparently little use was made of the ice, for in the cellar under this house is a deep excavation, below the cellar bottom, and neatly walled up, with steps leading down to it, where probably the butter in stone crocks, and other perishable foods were kept."

All of which listens very good from a reminiscent standpoint but in reality is the result of a vivid imagination. It seems a shame to disillusionize the readers of the otherwise good story yet we feel in duty bound to let them know the excavation mentioned was dug by J. Fred MacDonald to lower his hot water boiler, thus permitting a proper depth for the return pipes.

* * * * *

From a bed of food-hint flowrets offered in the Courier-News by W. de La Roche Anderson, we pluck this posey: "I recommend the dehydration of vegetable products because having been personally so dehydrated myself in an attic one summer night I am thoroughly familiar with the dehydration." We always knew there was something wrong with the "Sage of Watchung" but never thought of blaming it on dehydration.

For the first time in many years the 8:30 morning express train has had its leaving time changed to 8:20. About the only difference it has brought about so far is to make the members of the "just a little late club" advance their daily rush ten minutes ahead.

WHAT'S BECOME OF THE GOOD OLD DAYS—

When they used to call them halls instead of auditoriums?

When the only real sports in town were the boys who hired a rig on Sunday from John Rosell or "Andy" Seguine and drove their best girls to Florida Grove?

When Scotch Plains was the "Paris of New Jersey" and the only safe and sane way of getting there was by Tom Newman's stage?

When the Boulevard crowd and the boys from Evona who, attending the Washington School, had a battle five days a week on the old circus lot at Fourth street and Plainfield avenue?

When a Plainfield politician's standing in the community was measured by his popularity in the volunteer fire department?

Bakers Endorse Bread Curtailing

More than 200 bakers from the greater New York district, among whom were Robert Barnard, Ernest Zeek and L. Kornfield, of this city, assembled in the Grand Central Palace, New York, Monday night, to discuss the Government's injunction regarding the non-return of bread unsold by retail dealers. The authorities at Washington have decreed that beginning with July 10 every loaf of bread taken from a bake shop is not to be returned under any circumstances, this plan being adopted as a precaution against a possible oversupply of bread that might go to waste. In this way it is believed that the output in Plainfield alone can be cut down to 2,000 loaves daily, while throughout the country the figures would be such as to almost deny belief.

The bakers at Monday's gathering unanimously ratified the Government's order and afterward passed a resolution of co-operation. The sense of the latter move was to the effect that the country's wheat supply could be greatly conserved by the wholesale bakers and Federal authorities working in harmony, not only for the non-return of bread but for other things that will develop in the future. The non-return order is only one of many that are to be issued from Washington as the food shortage increases. As a matter of fact, the restriction on the taking back of loaves ordered by retail dealers is really a saving to the wholesalers, as small shop keepers frequently order twice as much bread as they have a chance of selling. All that is taken back the next day is practically a loss to the manufacturer as the stale bread, aside from a few odd loaves, is sold in barrel lots for chicken feed, at a very small price.

Monday night's meeting was addressed by representatives from Ward's, Shultz's and other big wholesale baking houses. Other meetings are to be held at regular intervals in order that the bakers might keep in touch with the food commission's latest plans and perhaps by mutual discussion decide upon new ways and means for meeting exigencies that have arisen through the declaration of war. The decision on the non-return of bread was a follow-up on the action of the National Bakers' Convention, which first received instructions from the Government and gave full endorsement of the plan.

Plainfield Woman in State Defense Move

Mrs. Charles W. Stockton, of Ridgewood, former president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, was elected chairman of the New Jersey Division of the Woman's Committee of the National Council of Defense at a meeting held for organization Tuesday afternoon in Newark. Heads of State organizations for women throughout the State were present to assist in the formulation of plans for effective work. Mrs. H. Otto Wittpenn, of Jersey City, was made honorary vice chairman; Mrs. E. Yarde Breese, of this city, was chosen secretary, and Mrs. Seymour Cromwell, of Bernardsville, treasurer. Others selected to serve with Mrs. Stockton, as vice chairmen, were Mrs. James F. Fielder, Mrs. Edward F. Pelckert, of this city; Brs. John J. White, of Atlantic City; Mrs. Ira A. Kip, Jr., of South Orange; Mrs. Richard C. Jenkinson and Mrs. John R. Schermerhorn.

A. A. King Removes To His New Building

A. A. King, the automobile painter who has been located on Somerset street, has removed to his new building, at 12-16 Grove street, just off West Front street, where he is now prepared to carry on his business on a large scale than ever. He has a floor space of fifty by seventy-five feet and equipped with every facility for the rapid and thorough repainting of machines. Mr. King also manufactures tops and slip covers. Since locating in Plainfield, Mr. King's business grew steadily through the proper caring for customers until the cramped quarters demanded the new building which he has just had erected.

A part of the lower floor of the structure is to be occupied by Wilbert T. Bintliff and Charles Kane, who have been located at 333 West Front street. Mr. Bintliff is an expert on all kinds of magneto work, and Mr. Kane is an expert in battery work. They are the local agents for Exide Batteries and are prepared to take care of all automobile needs in this direction.

SATURDAY CLOSING.

Starting with tomorrow, a number of the local merchants that belong to the Business Men's Association will close their stores on Saturdays at 12:30 for the day. The same plan will be followed until September.

GARAGES BOOMING.

Building permits for the last few months have declined to practically nothing as far as Plainfield is concerned. Building Inspector Doane has not issued a permit for anything except garages in weeks and present indications seem to point to a continuance of the slow times.

Favors County Home for Wayward Girls

Establishment of a home in Union county where erring girls can be committed, educated and reformed, is being urged by Probation Officer Charles W. Irvin, who lives on Woodland avenue, this city. The project would not require a large expenditure, he says, and the county is certain to reap a big benefit from it.

As an example to show the soundness of his views, Major Irwin points to the case of Helen Usher, who was detained in the county jail as a material witness against two alleged "white slavers." There is still an opportunity to reform the girl, he says, but the women with whom she would be associated in the jail would hardly help in improving her morals.

Fortunately, the girl's father possessed the means to furnish bail and have her sent to the House of the Good Shepherd, where she is now being held pending the trial of the "white slavers," but, the probation officer points out, in very few instances are girls implicated in that kind of a case able to furnish security to insure their appearance as a witness for the State.

A large number of girls now at liberty throughout the county should be apprehended and placed in a home of this kind, Major Irwin declared. They could be taken into custody while there was plenty of opportunity to reform them, he said, and the police authorities would be saved considerable trouble in later years.

Major Irwin still has under consideration his plan to put wayward boys on a "probation ship," in charge of naval officers. He intended to take up the question again this summer, but the entrance of the United States in the war halted his plans. Major Irwin launched the movement when Woodrow Wilson was governor, discussing the question with him at that time.

Summer School Will Open Next Monday

Plainfield's summer school will open Monday morning in the Whittier School, at the corner of Fifth street and Madison avenue, with an enrollment that promises to be near the 200 mark. As in former years, the summer session will be in charge of Mrs. N. S. Wardner and will be for those pupils of the city schools who have failed in the fifth, sixth, seventh or eighth grades during the term just passed. The session will run for six weeks and a fee of $3 for the course will be charged.

Registration has been going on for the past two days and will continue until Monday, thus making it impossible to ascertain ahead of time how many will take the course or how many teachers will be needed. The studies to be taken up will include English, grammar, history and other standard subjects.

Unique Method of Announcing Engagement

The following interesting article, taken from the columns of the Philadelphia Press, relates to Herbert Arthur Stanley Brown, son of Mrs. E. A. Ahern, of North avenue, who is well known to Plainfielders, although now a resident of Philadelphia:

"One of the prettiest and most popular girls of Tioga, Miss Emma Ada Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Campbell, of 1727 West Erie avenue, announced her engagement on Saturday in a very novel way. She gave a tea in honor of Mrs. Arthur E. Brown, of Waltham, Mass. In the center of the table was a large old-fashioned nosegay formed of smaller nosegays, favors for the guests. In each of these, with one exception, was hidden a card, on which were the two names:

"'Emma Ada Campbell
"'Herbert Alfred Stanley Brown

"The nosegay that lacked the card held a gold ring to signify that the receiver would be the next of the group of girls to follow the example of the hostess. It was a delightful change from an ordinary announcement and caused no little excitement among the guests, who were Miss Virginia Kist, Miss Lillie Salmons, Miss Virginia Hume, Miss Edna Marian Lindner, Miss Miriam Hume, Miss Wilhelmina Newlands, Miss Florence Nuttall, Mrs. Percy Price, Miss Kathryn Haubert, Miss Ada Snively, Mrs. Robert Orr Graham, Miss Edith C. Clarke, Mrs. William Ferguson Clarke, Mrs. Charles Hopkinson, Miss Elsie Ulrich, Mrs. Henry F. Schultze, Mrs. Edward Gaun, Miss Elizabeth Nelling and Mrs. Kate Boutelle Maher. Mr. Brown, who is now a resident of Philadelphia, was formerly of Wilkesbarre. Miss Virginia Hume received the gold ring, so every one is guessing."

MR. CUTTING'S NEW POSITION.

Elmer D. Cutting, of Central avenue, who has held a responsible position for several years with the Maryland Casualty Company at the New York office, has been appointed local agent for the Standard Oil Company. His office will be located at the West Front street plant of the concern. Mr. Cutting is possessed of a wide business knowledge and his many friends are certain that he will greatly develop the Standard's output in the Plainfield district.

Robin Hamilton Weds Tomorrow Afternoon

Miss Edythe C. Telfer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frances G. Telfer, of East Orange, formerly of East Second street, this city, and Robin S. Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hamilton, of Verdon street, the borough, will be married in St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Father P. J. Hart and will be witnessed by a small gathering of relatives and friends. Miss Helfer will be attended by her sister, Miss Helen E. Telfer, as bridesmaid, and Lester Hamilton, brother of the bridegroom, will be best man.

A short reception will be given at the home of Mr. Hamilton's parents after the ceremony and later the young couple will leave for Lake Hopatcong, where they will spend their honeymoon. Both are well-known locally, especially the bridegroom, who has been prominent in football circles in recent years. He holds a responsible position in New York.

Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph is greatly improved from his recent critical illnesswith pneumonia.

MRS. FRANCES E. BELL.

Mrs. Frances E. Bell, widow of John Jay Bell, and a native of this city, died Wednesday at the Homestead, Fanwood, following a long illness. Her home was in Brooklyn but it had been her custom for a long time to spend the summer in Fanwood.

Mrs. Bell was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Bolce, of Plainfield, and was born here eighty-three years ago. She removed to Brooklyn after her marriage to Mr. Bell. Mrs. Bell is survived by one daughter, Mrs. A. W. Worley, Jr., of Brooklyn; and three sisters, Mrs. J. B. Coward, Mrs. R. H. Cook and Mrs. George S. Underhill, all of Plainfield.

MISS McNULTY A BRIDE.

Miss Della McNulty, of East Sixth street, and James Toolan, of North Plainfield, were married in St. Mary's church, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Henry J. Mahoney, and was witnessed by a small gathering of friends. The attendants were Miss Catherine McNulty and John McNulty, sister and brother of the bride. A reception was held later at the couple's new home on Sumner avenue.

Judge Newcorn in Race

years. He was in business on West Front street for a brief period and devoted his spare time at the start to the study of law. All his examinations were passed with such merit that he was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 1897 with all honors. He was made a counsellor a short time after he began legal practice. His clientele has enlarged continually until at the present time he is one of the leading figures in New Jersey courts.

In 1901 the people of this district honored Judge Newcorn with the office of assemblyman, to which he was elected by a most flattering majority over his opponents. He made a splendid record during his term, which was endorsed by a second election in 1902. In 1905 he was appointed Judge of the newly established Plainfield district court and when the Legislature convened the following winter he was re-appointed for a full term of five years, presiding until 1912, at which time a change in the State administration brought a successor. The latter was the late Judge Walter L. Hetfield, who died last April.

Judge Newcorn has always been a staunch Republican. For nearly twenty-five years he has been a zealous worker for the party and frequently he was called upon to surmount political difficulties that made others hesitate. At the retirement of County Registrar Frank H. Smith as chairman of the Union County Republican Committee two years ago, Judge Newcorn was appointed to the position. The splendid G. O. P. vote in this district last November is an evidence of what the Plainfield man could do in the face of great odds. The division of the party through the Progressive split of 1912 meant yeoman service on the part of the regular Republicans' guiding hand and Union county but Judge Newcorn "delivered the goods."

It is understood that Senator Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford, is an aspirant for the Common Pleas office and former District Court Judge Addison Swift, of Elizabeth, would also like to be Judge Connolly's successor. The campaign of Mr. Pierce was launched this week but the Elizabeth man has not come out strong as yet.

The Fourth of July

is here—or will be within a few days, and will bear a new significance for us this year. After many years of peace and prosperity, we have been compelled, in self-defense, to enter a war—a war which is every bit as much a war for independence as was that struggle whose end brought into being the United States of America. Our cause is a just one, and victory must inevitably be with us.

DRESSES

Splendidly worth-while; these frocks are about the best ever offered at such astonishingly low prices. The fabrics are:

Shantung Pongee Gingham Crepe-de-Chine Georgette Voile Linen

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

EDWIN STEVENS DE GRAW.

Edwin Stevens De Graw, a one-time well known resident of this city, who left about thirty years ago to become a department manager for the Holman Bible House in Philadelphia, died in that city Tuesday morning, aged seventy-five years. Death was due to hemorrhages which came after a long period of illness from complications. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of his sister and only near relative, Mrs. Alfred D. Cook, of East Seventh street. It was attended by many of his old time friends in Plainfield and many others from New York, Philadelphia and other places. Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring officiated. Burial was in Hillside cemetery, where the deceased's brother, Charles De Graw, was interred last March.

Mr. De Graw was born in New Brunswick, June 13, 1842, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus De Graw. The family moved to Plainfield when Edwin was a young man and he remained here until accepting a position in Philadelphia. He became widely known in the latter place through various activities, one of which was the Presbyterian church in Philadelphia, of which Dr. Miller is pastor. He was a man of genial disposition and always kept the friends that he readily made. Although he had been away from Plainfield many years, he always spent his vacations here beside visiting at regular intervals. Mrs. Cook is now the only surviving member of the De Graw family, which at one time was one of the most prominent in the city.

JOHN H. HONEYMAN.

Word was received in Plainfield the forepart of the week of the death at Knoxville, Tenn., of John H. Honeyman, a former well known local resident and for many years a dry goods merchant on East Front street. He was in his seventy-second year and had been in the South since 1888, at which time he left Plainfield to enter the marble industry in Tennessee. The funeral was held in Knoxville Sunday afternoon and burial was in that city.

Mr. Honeyman was born at Peapack, this State, but spent his early life in Plainfield. His dry goods business was located in the basement of the old First National Bank building before the present structure was built as it now stands. The store was one of the best known in Plainfield and the stand was afterward occupied by other firms, one of which was Van Emburgh & Son. When he left this city, Mr. Honeyman had a very extensive acquaintance which was soon duplicated in Knoxville. In the latter place he was held in high esteem and was considered a judicious business man. He frequently returned to Plainfield to greet former friends, a custom which prevented his being forgotten by all except intimates.

Mr. Honeyman is survived by one daughter, Miss Edith Honeyman, and a son, Ellie Honeyman, of Philomath, Oregon, also two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse, of North Plainfield, and Mrs. Barbara Dunham, of Bound Brook. Another sister, Mrs. D. C. Adams, wife of Dr. Adams, of Grove street, died two years ago.

MRS. SOPHIA WITTMAN.

Mrs. Sophia Wittman, widow of Joseph Wittman, died Friday night at her home at 275 Duer street, the borough. She was eighty-two years old and a native of Mt. Bethel, where she lived nearly all her life.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the late home on Duer street and was in charge of Rev. George Bowers, of Mt. Bethel. Interment was in the Mt. Bethel cemetery.

SAMUEL BLOCK.

Samuel Block, aged 82 years, died Saturday afternoon at his home on Orchard place, following a long illness. He was a native of Russia, but had lived in this country since a young man. After emigrating from his native land he first located in New York, where for a long time he was engaged in the shoe business in Greenwich Village. He afterward removed to Plainfield.

Mr. Block is survived by his wife, three daughters and one son, Mrs. H. Hollander, of New Brunswick; Mrs. Morris Abrams, of the borough; Mrs. H. Cowan, of New York, and M. B. Block, of this city; also a sister in Palestine and a brother in Bayonne. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of Rabbi Davidson and burial was in the family plot at the Gateville cemetery.

MARGARET RITTER.

Miss Margaret Ritter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ritter, of Somerset street, died recently in St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, after a short illness. She was twenty-five years old and was well known locally. The funeral was held in Newark Saturday afternoon, followed by interment in the Lutheran cemetery on Long Island.

MRS. ELIZABETH FLORY.

Mrs. Elizabeth Flory, a resident of Bangor, Pa., and widely known in this vicinity through frequent visits with her daughter, Mrs. Joseph C. Martin, of Duer street, died Monday at West New Brighton, S. I., where she had been visiting another daughter. She was sixty-one years old and beside Mrs. Martin leaves the following daughters: Mrs. G. W. Vroom, of West New Brighton; Mrs. Roy Kaus, of Marshallfield, Wis., and Mrs. Charles Speer, of Bangor, Pa. The funeral and interment took place at Bangor Wednesday.

Surprise Shower At Boro Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McIvers, of Codington avenue, was the scene of a merry gathering Monday night, when a surprise shower was tendered Mrs. McIvers' brother, Lawrence F. Barrett, Jr., and his bride-to-be, Miss Alice E. Harriot, of Mamaroneck, N. Y. There were forty present in all, mostly from the city and borough, while others came from Cresson, Pa., New York city and Mamaroneck. Neither Mr. Barrett or his fiancee were given the slightest hints about the affair in advance and were gotten to the residence by a ruse. The surprise was complete in every way, but both young people were equal to the occasion and joined in the program of music, games and dancing. Refreshments were served in conclusion. The articles contributed by the guests were of a miscellaneous nature and will give the young people a big start on furnishing their home.

The wedding of Miss Harriot and Mr. Barrett will take place at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harriot, of Mamaroneck. It will be performed by Rev. Alpheus M. Smockton, of Mamaroneck, and will be witnessed only by relatives of the two families and a few intimate friends. Miss Harriot will be attended by Miss Clarabelle Simpson, of Mamaroneck, and Albert Fritz, of North Plainfield, will be best man. At the conclusion of a wedding trip, the destination of which has not been made known, the couple will reside on Mountain avenue, the borough.

Mr. Barrett is the son of Lawrence F. Barrett, of New York, and has a wide local acquaintance. He is a member of the North Plainfield fire department and is possessed of considerable musical and minstrel talent, which has been put to good use in coaching local shows. His bride-to-be is very popular in Mamaroneck, where she has been prominent socially for several years.

Miss Mary Kennedy Becomes June Bride

One of the prettiest of June weddings took place Wednesday at 6 o'clock at St. Mary's church, when Miss Mary F. Kennedy, of this city, became the bride of John B. Woods, of Littleton, N. H. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Mahoney.

The bride was attended by Miss Catherine A. Powers as bridesmaid, and Mr. Wood's best man was John Denny. The bride was very prettily gowned in a suit of king blue taffeta, and wore a large white picture hat, and carried a beautiful bouquet of white bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore a suit of copenhagen blue, and a black picture hat, and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. The bride's gift to Miss Powers was a solid gold bracelet bearing her initials. The groom's gift to Mr. Denny was a gold amethyst stick-pin.

After a wedding supper, at which only the immediate friends were present, the happy young couple left on a honeymoon to Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, and upon their return to this city, they will reside on East Seventh street. Both Mr. and Mrs. Woods have a host of friends in this city, and are active in several local organizations. Mr. Woods occupies an important position with the Standard Aero Corporation of this city.

CAMP ENDEAVOR SOCIAL.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, will hold a social and entertainment in the church parlors on the night of July 9 for the benefit of Camp Endeavor located on the mountain in back of Scotch Plains. The Elizabeth and Plainfield societies are planning for the opening of the camp within the next few weeks.

"JOE" PICKERING A VISITOR.

Joseph Pickering, for several years connected with the house staff at the Elks' club, spent the forepart of the week in town with friends. Mr. Pickering is now located at Westerly, R. I., where he is engaged in the hotel business, having succeeded to a well established place through the death of his brother.

CITY AFTER DOG OWNER DELINQUENTS.

One would think that Plainfield had had a rainstorm of canines of various breeds and sizes during the past few days from the large number of dog owners that have flocked into police court and beseiged City Clerk Carroll for the past week. All licenses are supposed to be taken out before May 1 and several days ago the city decided it had given residents grace enough and started rounding them up. Over a hundred owners appeared in court this week to be severely warned by Judge De-Meza and as a result City Clerk Carroll has issued licenses aggregating over $500 so far this week. The next step against the remaining delinquents will be a fine in the city court.

LOWERED RECORD.

Max Marston's record of 72 for the links of the Plainfield Country Club was broken on Saturday when Gardiner White negotiated the course in 71. Going out he recorded 36 and on the return posted 35.

Early Forecastings From Political Centers

The passing of each week remaining between now and the fall election brings a more lively discussion of political prospects from Elizabeth. Gossip around the county seat during the past few days seems to indicate that it is taken as certain that Judge Runyon will be a candidate for senator this year. It is also just as firmly believed that Carlton B. Pierce, the present incumbent, will try to return again even though he has incurred the displeasure of the G. O. P.'s. Judge Runyon has not yet announced his candidacy, but is expected to do so shortly.

Mr. Pierce who will try to fill the local man's seat in the assembly is not known yet, although there are a number of Plainfielders who would not refuse the nomination. The local Democratic and Republican clubs will get in action within the next few weeks and the announcement of several candidates can then be expected.

For the first time in a quarter of a century Union county may have a new surrogate after the fall election if reports emerging from Elizabeth can be reckoned with. It is said that after holding the position for the past twenty-five years, George T. Parrot is about ready to retire to private life. It is regarded as unlikely that anyone from this end of the county will try for the office, and as yet George C. Otto, the present sheriff of the county, is the only one said to be after the job.

It is now practically certain that there will be five aspirants for Sheriff Otto's berth at the election, including two from this end of the county. They are Under-Sheriff Warner, Peter Meisel, John Nell, John Cose and Samuel P. T. Wilbur. The entrance of two Plainfielders into the field practically makes it certain that one of the other three will be the winner.

Seven members of the Common Council complete their terms of office this year, including Charles S. Sminck, from the First ward; L. M. Booth, from the Second ward; Thomas Hylan, from the Third ward, and Charles C. Graves, from the Fourth ward. The three councilmen at large, John Cowan, Juan Babcock and Elias Bird, will also complete their terms. It is far too early to predict whether or not all will run for re-election again. In several cases it is said that other candidates are being groomed, making some opposition at the polls a certainty. City Treasurer Arthur G. Crone's term of office also expires this fall, but there appears to be no one to oppose him for re-election.

The one interesting feature of the coming election will be the liquor license issue. The ballot will be marked and the voters will be able to express their opinions. Candidates for councilmanic honors will have a less trying stand than those of former years, because when asked to express their views on the liquor question they will be able to say that they will be governed by the vote of the people.

FANWOOD READY TO CELEBRATE THE FOURTH.

Fanwood borough will celebrate Fourth of July next Wednesday in a manner such as has never occurred in the little suburb before. The festivities will start in the afternoon, continuing late into the evening, and will be held for the most part on the lawns surrounding the railroad station.

The program of events will start off with an exhibition drill by the Home Guard and afterward the members will be presented with the uniforms purchased following the recent tag day. In the evening there will be a big fireworks display, followed by an ice cream festival.

MISS CASE A GRADUATE.

Miss Dorothy Dart Case, of Park avenue, this city, was among the 142 young women graduated from the Montclair Normal School last Monday. The class was the largest in the history of the institution, and most of the graduates have already secured positions for the coming school term. The diplomas were conferred upon the graduates by Melvin A. Brewer, president of the New Jersey State Board of Education.

For Local Men

Excellence in examinations and general fitness have brought promotion to two young men who enlisted in Plainfield in the First New York Reserve Engineers now stationed at Fort Totten, L. I. They are David Clarin, formerly a member of the civil engineering firm of Dunham Clarin, and William MaGuire, who was a foreman for the P. F. Feeney Co., on the City Hall job. After their acceptance into the corps, both were assigned to Company F. The promotion which has just come makes Clarin junior engineer, while MaGuire is now a sergeant. Another local man in the same company is Frank Webster, of Westervelt avenue, who returned to duty this week after a few days' furlough.

Both Clarin and MaGuire have a practical knowledge of engineering work, a fact which makes them of great value to the service. On being sent to Fort Totton the two devoted many hours to study and the promotion came as a result of practical and technical ability in field engineering. The First Reserve New York engineers is considered one of the most competent units in the Federal service and is among the contingents slated for early transportation to France. It seems probable that Dr. Chalmers L. Crist, of Park avenue, who was recently commissioned as lieutenant in the dental department of the Medical Corps, may go abroad with these same engineers. He co-operated with a number of men in getting the latter enlisted and his first examinations were conducted by the First Reserve officers. A old dentist is to be included in the roster and indications point to Dr. Crist being the man, thus giving Plainfield a splendid representation in the first engineering divisions to reach the war zone.

Forty-Six New Men for Co. K

Eleven men passed the doctor's examination at the recruiting headquarters of Company K on West Front street, this week, bringing the total number of recruits up to forty-six. Lieutenant Phillips, who is in charge of the station, is doing everything in his power to raise the local militia company's personnel up to the required war strength of 250 and has the office open early and late. He is being assisted by Sergeant Miller and Privates Milliken, Osmun, Brown and Johnson.

Those who have joined Company K since the station was opened are as follows: Joseph Bennet, Chester Randall, Herbert P. Olsen, Harriel Olsson, Leon Touchon, Warren Vroom, William Ferguson, George Keating, John B. Patterson, James Rhodes, Julius Bernocker, Harry Barton, Carlos Costales, Charles Van Benschoten, Morris Bussel, Samuel Millwater, Herman Johnson, Albert Martin, John Hanagan, Joseph Didodo, Arthur Holmes, James Murphy, John Chabok, John Eustice, Andrew Bonizzi, Cornelius Martin, Carl Neilson, Joseph Mirrable, Arthur Seals, Andrew Varone, Ignoe Gurski, Edward Albert, Carl Henderson, John Travner, Rudolph Pamula, Michael Becka, Andrew Philips, Steve Balog, Jacob Overland, Louis Merrill, Paul Pietro, Julius Reista, Edward Sherry, William T. Walling, Joseph Brehen and Dominic Scero.

Lieutenant Phillips has many men to recruit yet before he has the company to war strength. Those who join enlist only for the duration of the war and will be kept here only until Company K is ordered to a training camp. Between now and then the recruits will drill in this city. The uniforms arrived this week and were distributed.

CONTRACTORS BUILDING JERSEY CANTONMENT.

A preliminary cantonment is rising on the site of the army training camp at Wrightstown. It will provide quarters for an advance army, not of fighters, but of workers, whose services are in great demand by contractors and sub-contractors who will build the great army barracks. The long, shed-like structures of the workmen's camp are being erected in a meadow west of the railroad, where the line intersects the Wrightstown end of the camp site. Some of the more modern barns on the farms in the camp zone are being remodeled for temporary barracks for the labor army.

Hundreds of workmen are coming here daily, but are finding that Wrightstown can offer no more accommodations in the line of board and lodging. Many of these men are compelled to return to nearby cities every evening by train, while in other cases contractors are bringing in their employes by the auto-load every morning and taking them home each night.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is rushing the work of double-tracking its line from the Trenton division to the camp site, and mountains of ties and steel rails are already distributed along the present single-track road for the use of the construction engineers who will direct this operation.

Presented to Co. K By Dr. Mathewson

Dr. C. B. Mathewson, of this city, has just made a gift to Company K of a gold medal to be contested for each year. The winner of the medal each year will be regarded as the champion shot of the unit and may keep it as long as he can defend it, but whether or not it will be found possible to have a competition shoot this year to decide who shall be the first holder of the prize is not yet known. The medal is now on exhibition in Schwed Brothers' window and will be kept by Captain Peterson until a shoot can be arranged.

The medal was designed by Dr. Mathewson and consists of a gold service cartridge in miniature with silver bullet from which is suspended a laurel wreath encircling the monogram K, 2 R., so perfectly blended that it has the appearance of a single letter; yet each of the three letters stand out clear and distinct. From the wreath is in turn suspended a miniature long range or what is known as a C. target, on each end of which appears the letters U. S. G. N. J. Diagonally across the target appears the handle of a marker disking a shot which is a five or a bull's eye. The disk of the marker contains a diamond, making the whole distinctly attractive. The word "Champion" is engraved on the cartridge, showing that the holder of the medal is the champion shot of his organization.

To Recruit Co. K. To War Strength

Company K has got to have 131 men before it is up to war strength now that orders have been issued to raise each unit up to 250 men. There are eighty-five regular members of the company now in service and thirty-four recruits and efforts are now being made by Lieutenant Philips, who is in charge of the local recruiting station, to secure the additional men.

Under the new order each regiment will be comprised of approximately 3,000 men with one company from each battalion as a machine gun unit. Whether or not entirely new units will be formed for that part of the service or whether companies now in existence will be turned into machine gun units is not yet known. There will be four commissioned officers in each company, the machine gun units excepted, having five.

Militia Notes

Captain Peterson has made application for the release of all the remaining married men in the company on the strength of the dependency clause. First Sergeant Apgar will be the only one not affected, because he is in line for a commission.

Troop D will resume its weekly drills next week in earnest. They were discontinued while the officers and "non-coms" were spending their time at Sea Girt.

The prospect of the troop being called out for service, the latter part of the month has caused a large number to flock to the headquarters on Putnam avenue for enlistment. There is now a waiting list of nearly seventy-five.

The generous gift of a piano has made life really bearable for the forty odd recruits of Company K, who are being quartered in the old postoffice building. With the aid of some other antidated music maker they have a real harmonious time.

Under the instructions of Bugler Frank Osmun and Privates Brown, Milliken and Miller the recruits spend five hours each day drilling. They now know the simpler manuals and when the order comes to join the company they will be in fine shape.

ONLY WILFUL SLACKERS TO BE HELD IS ORDER.

Sheriff Otto yesterday received formal notice from the adjutant general's office in Trenton to the effect that only wilful slackers should be held by the authorities.

The sheriff is instructed to give an opportunity to register to all men arrested for evading the provisions of the draft act of June 5.

BARBER CHOSEN.

Adjutant General Charles W. Barber was unanimously elected to succeed Brigadier General Edwin W. Hine as commander of the First Brigade, New Jersey National Guard, at a meeting of the field officers of the brigade, in Newark, Tuesday. General Barber undertakes his new post with a record of twenty-seven years' military experience in the degular army and the National Guard.

COUNTY SALARY INCREASES.

Increases for practically all the employes in the county registrar's office are provided for in an order signed Tuesday afternoon by Judge Connolly. The increases range from $300 to $60 a year. The new schedule will take effect tomorrow.

Close Tomorrow

(Special Correspondent.)

Sea Girt, June 28.—After two weeks of intensive training under the eye of competent regular army men, the 600 commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the New Jersey National Guard will break camp tomorrow morning and return to their commands to wait for the mobilization call on July 25.

During their stay here the men have acquired considerable of the art of modern warfare and it will be their task to in turn instruct their commands before they are called out. Starting in the morning at 5:45 the men during their stay in camp have been put through a continual round of work until 11:00 at night. The list of calls may give a slight idea of what we have been doing here. They are as follows: First call, 5:45; revelle, 5:55; assembly, 6:00; police immediately after; mess, 6:30; sick call, 7:00; drill call, 7:30; assembly 7:30; mess, 12:00; drill call, 1:20; assembly, 1:30; recall, 4:30; first call, 5:40; assembly, 5:30; retreat, 6:00; mess immediately after; school call, 7:00; call to quarters, 10:45, and taps, 11:00.

The Plainfielders who have received the course of instruction here at Camp Edge and will leave for home tomorrow include: Captain Runkle, First Lieutenant Charles, Second Lieutenant Goddard, First Sergeant J. L. Fleming, Sergeants VanDeventer, Alberts, Sickler, Cook, Rush and Collins, and Corporals Caufield, Browne, Logan, Grosshauser, Stevenson, Cady and Gallagher.

Former Resident in Army Y.M.C.A.

For the first time since he left this city for the great Southwest last August, word was received this week about R. C. McDonald, a former resident. The Laredo Times (Texas) sent the Record a copy of its issue of June 14, in which Rene Sliz, a New Yorker, who has served in the European war and is now in the U. S. Army, praises Mr. McDonald's work in the army Y. M. C. A.

Sliz has had a chance to see the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. work in Europe and thinks it is a great work. In talking of the work among the U. S. Army units along the Mexican border, Mr. Sliz has this to say about Mr. McDonald:

"I have only been in Laredo a short time, but must pay tribute to the wonderful energy of R. C. McDonald and Roy R. Fisher, both of whom have mastered the art of making friends by their continuous good humor, and their interest in every man they know. "How do they do it?" the cartoonist would ask—well they do it, do it well and are the most popular men around the Laredo military camp. I also want to say a word of praise for Mrs. McDonald, who sings and plays the piano every night at the Army Y. M. C. A., and all the boys are proud of both Mr. and Mrs. McDonald."

Mr. McDonald left the West Side Y. M. C. A., New York, to take up work among the soldiers last August and at first was in the Big Bend country of Texas, that part of the Southwest where a man's gun is the law, working with the 6th Cavalry and 34th Infantry. He was so successful in his work as secretary of the Big Bend Y. M. C. A. travel outfit that he was later placed in charge of the Laredo district and is now directing the work among the soldiers in that district.

WAR VICTIM NEPHEW OF PANWOOD WOMAN.

Paul Osborne, twenty-three years old, of Montclair, attached to section twenty-eight of the American Field Service stationed near Moronvilliers, Champagne, died Tuesday in a base hospital just behind the front from wounds sustained on Saturday when bursting shell fragments wrecked the ambulance he was driving and struck him on the head and body.

Young Osborne was a student at Dartmouth, going to France when the college closed a few weeks ago. He had been at the front exactly a week when he was wounded. There will be a military funeral, probably today, and it is expected that a military medal will be awarded and buried with him.

Paul Osborne is the son of Albert S. Osborne, the well-known New York handwriting expert. His brother is also serving in France. He is also a nephew of Mrs. E. C. Pierce, of Fanwood.

DENTIST JOINS SERVICE.

Dr. R. S. Stevens, one of this city's foremost dentists, has successfully passed his examinations for entrance into the U. S. Medical Reserve Corps and is now waiting to be called to service. Dr. Stevens took his examinations last week and received word that he had passed them and expects to receive his commission from Washington any day. He is the second local physician to enter the service, Dr. Chalmers Crist having already been called for duty.

Two Qualify at Fort Meyer; Others There

Among the first ones picked at Fort Meyer to receive commissions in the army were John W. Hussey and Robert H. Cox, both of this city, who successfully qualified this week. Other Plainfielders have nearly completed their course of training. The letter after each name denotes the company they belong to and the letter C with a number before it denotes the troop of cavalry. Those included in the list follow:

James H. Ackerman, 1; Alexander Baltzy, 1; Edward E. Burrill, 2; Donald Fullerton, 1B; Lipman M. Gerber, 2B; Albert N. LaPorte, 1; Sidney McKay, 5; Gordon Moy, 6; John C. Mickle, 7; George Randolph, 9; Harvey Rothberg, 8; Murray Rushmore, 2B; Peyton Schenck, 9; Guy Snyder, 9; Edward Stevenson, 1B; Ludlow VanDeventer, 10.

EXHIBIT AND MUSICAL FO RED CROSS FUND.

An exhibition of colored prints loaned for the occasion by Thomas Mumford, of West Seventh street, will be on exhibit tomorrow afternoon and evening at the studio of Miss Maude Van Boskerck, at Truell Court, the proceeds of the affairs to be added to the Red Cross fund. The prints for the most part are the work of S. Arlent Edwards and are considered of the best.

A musical program will also be rendered by a group of talented artists, including Mrs. Elizabeth St. Ives Coddington, of New York, and Hubert Linscott, of the Lisle opera, France. S. Frederick Smith will be the accompanist.

The Test of An Undertaker

Like doctors, lawyers, and other professional men, the undertaker has a reputation to maintain. The up-to-date funeral director nowadays attends conventions, studies his trade publications and keeps abreast of the improvements of the times.

Just as an experiment, sometime, ask any live, up-to-date undertaker about the Norwalk Vault. A leader won't wait to be asked; he will tell you at the first opportunity a dozen reasons why the Norwalk has been accepted throughout the country as the very foundation of the modern, sanitary burial. For information see your undertaker.

Many to Attend Hearing at Trenton Concerning Park Ave.

At a meeting of the officials and representative business men and residents of the city held in the Council chambers last night plans were laid for the sending of a large delegation to Trenton next Thursday to be present at a hearing to be held in the State House at 2:30 before the New Jersey State Highway Commission on the condition of Park avenue from the city limits to Metuchen. The hearing was arranged for following a trip to Trenton by Judge Hiram Steele, a resident of lower Park avenue several days ago. All those going will meet in front of the city hall at 11 o'clock Thursday morning and will arrive at the capitol in time to have lunch before the time set for the hearing.

The meeting last night was presided over by Mayor Leighton Calkins and its purpose was explained by Judge Steele. John W. Herbert, chairman of the highway commission, who has interested himself in the appeal of Judge Steele and others who have endured the thoroughfare for a long time and asked that a representative delegation be gotten together to be present at the hearing and explain Plainfield's attitude toward the matter. That said the Judge, was the sole object of calling the meeting.

In order to make sure that everyone who wished to make the trip may become acquainted with the main features, David Smalley was chosen as one to get in touch with the various ones, finding out how many cars would go and making arrangements for having each one full. John R. Stevens has been asked to secure a committee to represent the Plainfield Country Club, and Mayor Calkins promised to personally invite the various doctors who are forced to use Park avenue. Among those who have agreed to make the trip are: Champlain Riley, Rufus Delafield, David Smalley, Judge Steele, Mayor Calkins, Thomas H. Hyland, chairman of the street committee; Mayor William L. Smalley, of North Plainfield; Judge William Newcorn, Morris C. Van Arsdale, S. S. Carvalho, Louis K. Hyde, John Stevens and W. S. Tyler. Members of the Board of Trade, Merchants' Association and other bodies have yet to be approached.

Everyone going is asked to meet in front of the City Building at 11 o'clock, when room in automobiles will be made for all. At Trenton a luncheon will be had before going to the State House.

The hearing will be attended by residents of portions of Middlesex county affected by the wretched condition of the road. The local city officials will explain to the commission just what is planned for Park avenue within the city limits and afterward the exact condition of the road from there to Metuchen will be shown. Upon the ability of the delegation to show just how badly repairs of a permanent rather than of a temporary nature are needed will rest the outcome of the hearing.

The plan for the placing of Park avenue in a passable condition as already suggested to the Highway Commission has been to entirely reconstruct it with funds which were to have been used in rebuilding Plainfield avenue. For several reasons the improvements on the latter thoroughfare cannot be made this year and it has been suggested that Park avenue reap the benefit instead of allowing the money to divert back to the State. Middlesex county is allowed $110,000 this year by the State for roads and it is said that that amount is insufficient to put all the county's roads in shape.

Seventh Day Baptists to Gather Here

At a meeting held Sunday night members of the congregation of the Seventh-Day Baptist church furthered plans for the annual national convention of Seventh-Day Baptist churches, which will be held in this city from August 21 to 26. Nineteen committees composed of over one hundred members of the local church are working out the details of the affair, which is calculated to draw between 300 and 400 people here from all parts of the United States. The national convention was last held in this city twenty-two years ago and since then has been held in practically every large city of the country.

Plans for the convention are in charge of a general committee headed by Frank J. Hubbard, and meetings of various committees are to be held every few days between now and the time of the conference in order that every minor detail may be completed. The general committee is composed of the chairmen of the sub-committees and they have chosen numerous assistants. The various chairmen are as follows: Publicity, Mrs. Henry Maxson and Mrs. J. E. Kimball; finance, Mr. Rogers; commissionary, C. Frank Chaplain; hospitality, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hubbard; welcoming, Rev. and Mrs. Edwin Shaw; official host, Dr. Henry Maxson; poster and printing, L. P. Burch; telephone, Asa F. Randolph; postoffice, Miss Mildred Greene; dining tables, Dr. M. L. Stalwaker; waiters, Mrs. Charles P. Titsworth; children's playgrounds, Miss Evalois St. John; checking room, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ellis; picnic committee, Miss Mildren Davis; music, Charles P. Titsworth; flower and decorating: tables, Roy E. Titsworth; all, floors of Whitford; rest room, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis, and ushers, George M. Clarke.

The convention for the most part will be held in the Plainfield High School, although the Seventh-Day Baptist church will be utilized frequently. The sessions each day will start with an early morning prayer meeting followed by breakfast in the gymnasium of the High School. Committee meetings will start at 9 o'clock. The open conference will commence at 10 o'clock. There will be afternoon sessions at 2 o'clock and evening meetings at 7 o'clock. One day will be taken up with the election of officers, another with the affairs of the tract society, another with missions, and still another with executions.

The housing of so many delegates will be one of the biggest problems to be solved. Every member of the congregation, however, have offered their help and will take care of as many as possible. For the amusement of the youngsters who will come with their parents a playground will be found for their use, and on one day a big picnic will be held.

The conference will be one of the largest ever held in the city and plans for it have been under way for many months. The list of speakers and other similar details will be arranged for by a committee from the national association and as yet no word of the plans planned for in that line has reached the city.

Death Follows Fall on Stairs

Mrs. Sarah C. Pennington, wife of Nathan C. Pennington, of Liberty street, died at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon as the result of injuries she received in a fall two weeks ago. She had been in poor health for several months and was taking a walk about the house after confinement to her room when she tripped at the head of a stairway. Falling to the bottom of the steps she received a broken shoulder and a severe shock. The latter aggravated her weakened condition and hastened the end.

Mrs. Pennington was born at Mt. Bethel seventy-six years ago, her maiden name being Sarah Codington. She was married to Mr. Pennington, who was a Plainfielder, in 1863, and outside of the first two years had made her home in this city ever since. The couple have resided on Liberty street, near Fourth, since 1865, a record that is equalled by few local families. Mrs. Pennington was a profound Christian woman and possessed many estimable traits that endeared her to family and friends. She was a home woman in every sense of the word and in her immediate neighborhood her advice and counsel were frequently sought. She was a member of the First Baptist church and in her younger days was active in its affairs.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Pennington is survived by two sons and two daughters. One of the latter is Mrs. D. M. Taylor, of Portland, Oregon, who was telegraphed for early in the week and is now on her way to Plainfield. She is expected to arrive here Saturday night or Sunday morning. The other daughter is Miss Edith Pennington, who resides at the parental home, and the sons are Wilbert Pennington, of Liberty street, and Joel Pennington, of Grant avenue. Mrs. Pennington is also survived by one sister, Mrs. John Smith, of Stonington, the borough, and one brother, Otto Coddington, of Mason City, Ill.

The funeral will be held at the late home on Liberty street Monday afternoon at 2:30 and burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

To Dedicate Red Cross Home Sunday

Headquarters for the Red Cross Chapter of Plainfield and North Plainfield will be officially opened Sunday afternoon, when brief dedication services are held at the beautiful residence on Watchung avenue formerly occupied by Mrs. Stephen Ginna and offered without reserve to the chapter by Mrs. Daniel Ginna. Officials of the Red Cross, Troop D and others will be present to assist. The services, starting promptly at 5 o'clock, will open with Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, rector of Grace Episcopal church, leading prayer. A flag raising will form an important part of the exercises, the national emblem to be drawn to the top of its staff by Captain Daniel Runkle, of Troop D, to be followed by the Red Cross flag, which will be hoisted by Charles W. McCutchen, president of the chapter. Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, pastor of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will offer the closing prayer.

The Ginna residence was offered to the Red Cross on Monday of this week and since then the few changes necessary to make the magnificent structure meet its new requirements have been made. Active work will commence next week. The appointing of committees was made earlier in the week at a meeting of the officers and executive board of the chapter. Final meetings of the National special Aid Society, Prince of Wales Committee, Belgian Relief Society and Mercy Committee have also been held and the members of each of the organizations are now ready to enter upon the new work.

The various committees and the chairmen who have been asked to serve on them are as follows:

Membership committee, Mrs. C. B. Lawrence, Jr., service league; registration, Miss Dorothy Fleming; motor service, Mrs. Austin Andrews; publicity, information and printing, S. Laurell Lounsbery; finance, A. A. Tilley; headquarters, Mrs. Frederick W. Goddard; co-operation and extension, Mrs. Harold Parker; supply and service, Mrs. Rufus Delafield; education, Mrs. Boardman Tyler; military aids, Dr. Frank C. Ard; canteen service, Miss Jessie Munger; news and country nursing, the Visiting Nurses' Association; Civilian relief, the Citizen's Committee of Junior Red Cross, Miss Lillie Moore; Belgian relief, Mrs. Frederick W. Wallace; Armenian and Syrian relief, Howard Williams; entertainment, Mrs. Walter L. Hughes.

Each of the chairmen will choose his own committee, although assistant chairmen may be appointed by the executive committee. Thus Mrs. Frank D. Warren will act as assistant chairman to Mrs. Goddard at headquarters. Mrs. Goddard will further be assisted by an advisory board on which Mrs. Rufus Delafield, Mrs. Daniel Ginna, Miss Hartridge, Mrs. Rufus P. Lincoln, Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, Mrs. Percy H. Stewart and Mrs. John P. Stevens have been asked to serve, and by a house committee headed by Mrs. George Mercer, as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Charles and Mrs. Chauncey Williams.

The Chapter has been instructed by the Atlantic Division that the surgical dressings and hospital supplies must be placed under the management of someone who holds a Red Cross diploma, and is qualified and authorized to give Red Cross instruction to teachers, and for the post, Mrs. Howard McWilliams has been chosen, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Foulks. The sewing will be in charge of Mrs. Frederick W. Yates, and the supply in charge of Mrs. Arthur L. Otterson.

The committee in charge of headquarters feels that it is to be congratulated on having secured the services of Miss Mabel Pierson, as executive secretary.

On the supply and service, including buying, packing and distributing, Mrs. Charles R. Banks has been asked to serve as assistant chairman to Mrs. Delafield.

Under the education committee will be classes in First Aid, the elementary hygiene and in dietetics.

Under military units will be base hospitals, convalescent hospitals and ambulance service.

The committee on civilian relief will be responsible for rendering aid to the families of soldiers and sailors, for the rehabilitation of discharged soldiers and sailors and for co-operation with institutions in times of disaster.

Community canning work has already been thoroughly explained in these columns. It is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite and co-operates with the food commission.

With great liberality the Red Cross Central Council has agreed according to Mr. Stafford, that the yearly quota of $1,000 for the Chapter named committee may be included in the Red Cross.

Death Comes Suddenly to Frederick C. Lounsbury

Suffering an attack of heart failure as he was feeding several pet Angora goats in the rear of his home on Plainfield avenue, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Frederick C. Lounsbury, a prominent resident of the city for thirty years, fell lifeless to the ground. His form was discovered a few moments later by an employe of the Lenox factory nearby, of which Mr. Lounsbury was the head. Dr. Ellis Hedges was summoned but he found that death had ensued almost as soon as the attack came.

Mr. Lounsbury had not been in the best of health for a number of years although he had been able to attend to business. At times he suffered greatly from nervous trouble but nothing serious was thought of it. He was about the house as usual yesterday morning and transacted a considerable amount of work at the factory before going to the house for lunch. He made no complaint of any special illness before going into the garden and his family was totally unprepared for the shock. The sudden demise comes under doubly sad circumstances as Mr. Lounsbury passed away on June 9 last.

Frederick C. Lounsbury was born in Brooklyn sixty-five years ago. He entered the paper and stationery business in New York after completing his education and at one time was the head of the Hastings Card & Paper Co., one of the best known concerns of the kind in the country. He retired from this in about 1895 to devote his entire time to the Crescent Embossing Company, which he had previously started in this city. He erected on the corner of West Second street on property adjoining his residential place at Plainfield avenue and West Second street, which he purchased from the Smiley estate about thirty years ago. The Crescent Embossing Company experienced financial difficulties which forced reorganization and has since recently been known as the Lenox Press, Inc. At the time of his death Mr. Lounsbury was president of the concern.

Soon after coming to Plainfield Mr. Lounsbury took an active interest in civic affairs and at one time was a candidate for mayor on an independent ticket. In the late '90's he was elected a member of the Board of Education, in which he served faithfully for several terms. He gave a great deal of his time to the improvement of the school system and he was always one of Dr. Henry M. Maxson's most ardent co-workers in building up the present splendid curriculum. During his last term Mr. Lounsbury served as secretary of the Board of Education and it was deeply regretted by President Probasco, now deceased, when he refused to accept another nomination as school trustee.

Mr. Lounsbury was a member of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., and Queen City Lodge, I. O. O. F. His religious affiliation was with the First Presbyterian church, where members of his family have been faithful workers for many years. He was a man of friendly disposition and always tried to maintain the acquaintances to be made in either business or social life.

The deceased is survived by four daughters and four sons, two of whom were away at the time of his death. One son, Harold Lounsbury, who is at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, as a member of the United States aviation corps. The other is Miss Ella Lounsbury, who left at the close of school last week to spend the summer in Lower Monmouth county. One of those who survive is the Misses Catherine, Cornelia and Margaret Lounsbury, Frederick C., Jr., Jesse L., and Orrisado Lounsbury, all of whom reside in this city.

The funeral will be held at the late home on Plainfield avenue Monday afternoon and will be in charge of Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church. The date has been set over in order to allow time for the return of Harold Lounsbury from Fort Sam Houston, a telegram having been sent to him within an hour after the father's death occurred. It is believed he will reach Plainfield Monday morning. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery beside the body of Mrs. Lounsbury, who was only recently laid to rest.

Playgrounds of City Opened Up

The four playgrounds in this city for the summer yesterday morning with a large attendance at all four grounds. George Wriston, a member of the P. H. S. faculty, is again to be in charge of the playground activities and has announced that they will be open each day from 9 to 12 and 2 to 5.

The playground at the Franklin school will be in charge this season as Louise Franke, of Bound Brook, and those in charge at the three centers are as follows: Park School, Miss Reta Kline, of this city; St. Mary's School, Miss Harriet E. Moe; Irving School, Miss Helen Mair, of North Plainfield. Wriston will have direct charge of Parker Field and general supervisory over the other playgrounds. Beside the swings, sandboxes and other attractions that are now in use, there will shortly start in basketball, ring and the like. At Parker Field the athletic field will be open and, as will the swings and tennis courts.

There are four of the latter and they have been repaired and put in the best of condition.

Exemption Board Ready for Work

Organized and sworn in at Elizabeth Monday afternoon, the board which has charge of deciding upon exemptions for the city, Fanwood, Scotch Plains and Mountainside will be ready tomorrow, together with the other two boards in the county, to commence its work of sending out those who are entitled to remain at home. Although actual work may not start for several weeks yet, orders emerging from Washington directed that every board be ready by July 7. Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, of this city, is to be chairman of the board for this district, and the other members will be Dr. F. W. Wescott, physician, and Charles W. Runyon, clerk.

During the week the exemption boards have been at work marking each registration card with a number in red ink to correspond with another on a typewritter sheet in order to prevent any attempt at the juggling of the cards. This is all to be completed by tomorrow and then all that will be necessary before the board begins its hearings will be the receiving of final instructions from Trenton.

Mrs. Sardinia Miles Dies in New York State

Mrs. Sardinia J. Miles, a resident of this city for many years, died Tuesday night at Grahamsville, N. Y., after a brief illness. She left for the latter place a few weeks ago with the idea of spending the summer with relatives and friends. She was born in Plainfield and lived here all her life with the exception of six years at Grahamsville, returning from there two years ago.

Mrs. Miles was seventy-one years old and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Coon, at one time well known residents of Plainfield. She was a member of the First Baptist church and a devout Christian woman. She is survived by three daughters and one son. These are: Mrs. George L. Chandler, Mrs. M. Stone, and Charles A. Miles, residing locally, and Miss Edith Miles, of Trenton. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. B. J. Shreve, of Grove street. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Chandler, 151 Westervelt avenue, the borough, and will be in charge of Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church. Burial will be in Cyprus Hills' cemetery, L. I.

GASOLINE—MATCH—!

Isadore Steinman, of 216 Plainfield avenue, was not sure Fourth of July that he had sufficient gasoline in his car to take a ride. In investigating he used a lighted match. In the explosion that followed Steinman's beard and hands were severely burned and his eyesight threatened. First taken to the office of Dr. Albert Pitt, Steinman was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where it was said today he may have his eyesight saved.

Friends' Conference Opens Here Tonight

A large party of Friends will reach Plainfield this afternoon on a pilgrimage and tonight will attend the opening session of a conference which will open in the Friends' meeting-house, at Watchung avenue and East Third street, and continue until July 16. While in Plainfield they will make their headquarters at Truell Court. The committee in charge of the conference includes Joseph H. Watson, Howard C. Forsythe, Miss Ella Bicknell, Mrs. Hutchenson and Joel Harper.

The conference will open tonight at 7:45, with a reception and general introduction. Tomorrow morning there will be a group discussion on "Mystical Religion," followed by a discussion tomorrow night on "The Divine Command." J. Barnard Walton and Anna L. Curtis, two of the Philadelphia delegates, will lead the meeting. Afternoon and evening sessions have been planned for every day next week, the conference to close a week from Monday with a devotional service.

AN ATTRACTIVE DELIVERY RIG.

One of the finest automobile delivery rigs yet seen in the city has been added to the equipment of Oswald's confectionery store, on East Front street. The machine is a Ford runabout painted a dark green and bearing the word display, "Oswald's Confectionery," in neat gold letters. The color scheme was Mr. Oswald's own and has added to his reputation as an expert in harmonizing.

West Front Street Is to Be Rebuilt

It was learned yesterday that the New Jersey State Highway Commission in searching the State to find what main arteries of travel should be permanently reconstructed has decided on that section of West Front street in the city line in Middlesex county. The hue and cry raised by Plainfield people over the condition of that thoroughfare has been nearly as hearty as the condemnation of lower Park avenue. Just how much will be expended on the rebuilding of West Front street or just when the work will start is not at present known, but that fact may be brought out at the Park avenue hearing next Thursday.

Robert Dilts to Wed Miss Mabel Wyckoff

Miss Mabel Wyckoff, of Howard street, the borough, and Walter Dilts, also of the borough, will be married at 8:30 Sunday night. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, at his home on Madison avenue. Miss Marie Jones, of North avenue, and Robert Abbie, of this city, formerly of North Carolina, are to be the attendants. The only others to be present are Miss Lillian Ahern and James Cummins, also of this city.

Following the ceremony the couple will go to Atlantic City on a honeymoon trip, returning in about a week. They will make their home in the borough. Mr. Dilts is employed at the Spicer plant in South Plainfield and is well known locally. Mrs. Wyckoff is also well known and carries the well wishes of all her friends. She has recently been employed at Ahern's restaurant on North avenue.

Two Small Fires on the Fourth of July

Fire Headquarters answered two alarms Wednesday of night fires caused by Fourth of July celebraters. The damage was small in both cases.

The first alarm came by telephone at 1:49 in the afternoon and was for a blaze in the roof of the house at 306 East Fourth street. Someone threw a bunch of fire crackers which lodged in the gutter and started the blaze. Chemicals were used to put out the flames which had gained considerable headway when the department arrived. The loss is placed at $20 covered by insurance. Two families occupy the house, those of Robert Marks and Smith Walker.

The second alarm was verbal and was delivered at No. 11 house by a messenger at 9:45 Wednesday night. It was stated that the awnings at Krewson's pool room on West Front street were ablaze and Captain Vail and his men responded with hand extinguishers. The damage was less than five dollars. A spark from fireworks is given as the origin of the fire.

Negro Slayer in County Jail

Following the fatal shooting of Sylvanus Johnson, colored, of Plainfield avenue, at Liberty and Fourth streets last Saturday night, Grant Miller, also colored, of 552 South avenue, confessed slayer, is held at the county jail without bail awaiting the action of the October term of the Grand Jury. Elizabeth Johnson, over whom the quarrel is said to have started, is also in the county jail held as a material witness, while Frank Hooper, another witness, is out under bail. It is understood Miller's plea will be one of self-defense.

The shooting occurred shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night in the presence of a large crowd of passers-by and was the outcome of an argument that had been going on between the two men for sometime. It started in the afternoon while the two men were in a restaurant on Liberty street operated by J. M. Anderson, colored, where the Johnson woman was employed. It continued in the evening after Miller had gone home and he returned with a revolver. It is alleged that Johnson started the shooting affray first by pulling a revolver which failed to work. Miller whipped out his weapon and fired several times, shooting his opponent through the heart.

After the murder Miller had little time in which to attempt an escape, as Patrolman Ferdinand Baader, who had heard the argument from a distance, ran up and disarmed him. Bader and the police department have been complimented on all sides since the affair happened for the efficient manner in which they handled it.

Miller, together with the Johnson woman and Hooper, a clerk employed by Anderson, who is said to have witnessed the shooting, were arraigned before Judge Hetfield, of Dover, Monday morning, and bail for Hooper was forthcoming Monday afternoon.

THOUSANDS AT FANWOOD HOLIDAY CELEBRATION.

Plainfield experienced one of the quietest Fourth of Julys on Wednesday in its history. People from this city, Westfield and other places in this section of the State gathered at Fanwood in the evening to the number of several thousand to witness the celebration of the people of that borough. The Dutch Arms Band, of this city, furnished the music during the program, the Home Guard gave an exhibition drill and several hundred dollars' worth of fireworks were shot off.

The affair was arraigned under the auspices of the Fanwood Civic Association and was held on the grounds surrounding the C. R. R. of N. J. station.

Italian Held on Stabbing Charge

Charged with committing an atrocious assault with an attempt to kill on Edward Murphy, of 971 Arlington avenue, Merino Casserio, an Italian, of 1338 Lake street, was arraigned before Judge William G. DeMeza in the city court yesterday morning and held under bail of $1,000 for a hearing on July 19. The stabbing took place late Tuesday afternoon at the corner of Park avenue and Second street.

Murphy had completed the day's work and was standing talking with several fellow workmen from the Public Service, when Casserio approached him from behind and plunged a knife in his back. Murphy's companions grabbed the Italian and were handing him roughly when Officer Birmingham came up and made the arrest. It is said that the affray grew out of trouble the two had had several years ago. Murphy was taken to Dr. Pittis' office and had his wound dressed. He will recover but it will be sometime before he can appear against his assailant.

Housewives to Form New League Tonight

A meeting of the presidents of heads of every women's organization in the city will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Public Library, corner Park avenue and Ninth street, for the purpose of organizing through them a league of housewives for the conservation of food such as is suggested by Herbert Hoover. Following a conference with Mayor Smalley, in which the borough executives agreed to the plan, Mayor Calkins has extended the movement so that it will include North Plainfield as well as the city. At tonight's meeting he will explain just what it is proposed to do and then place the work in the hands of an executive committee.

The movement will be separate from any other at present under way and is entirely for the purpose of decreasing the amount of waste. The organization will be known as the Women's Service League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, and each member will be given a window card showing she has joined the movement for food conservation.

ELKS ON SUMMER SCHEDULE.

Plainfield Lodge of Elks has entered upon its summer schedule of business sessions. Meetings are now to be held only the second Wednesday of each month until October, when the regular winter schedule will be resumed.

Message to the Shoppers of Plainfield

We cannot all enlist—We cannot all farm—We cannot all take an active part in the Nation's present program of preparedness. But, everybody can do "his bit" toward the conservation of the Nation's prosperity by adopting this wise slogan:

"SPEND FREELY—BUT BUY SENSIBLY"

There must be no panic—no hoarding of money, food or goods—no slow-up in the wheels of industry, if the Nation is to present an undivided front these troublous times—but

"BUSINESS AS USUAL"

If merchants and consumers adopt the plan of sensible buying, buying what is needed, practicing sensible economy, but not parsimony—that is the best co-operation we "Stay at Homes" can give to the boys at the front!

Mismanagement of Beck Estate Claimed

Following the filing in the surrogate's court, of New York, Saturday, of a petition by Mrs. Elizabeth Beck of Germantown, Pa., a sister-in-law of Mrs. Aurelia Runk, of this city, the trustees of the estate of Frederick Beck have been directed by the surrogate to show cause in his court on July 17 why they should not comply with the petitioner's wishes. In her complaint, the petitioner stated that being the widow of George H. Beck she was entitled to the income of one-tenth of the estate of the deceased. The estate is valued at over a million dollars.

The petitioner requests that the trustees be required to set apart a fund for her under clause five of the will; sell, if necessary, such portion of the real estate as may be necessary for that purpose; that they be required to file an account of their proceedings; that their accounts may be judicially settled; that in their accounting the trustees be surcharged in such amounts as may have been lost to the estate by their mismanagement, that the petitioner may be awarded her income from the date of the death of the testator, "less such sums as may have been paid on account of the income.

Mrs. Runk, of this city; Mrs. Dora C. Rausfield and Mrs. Frederica V. Schaefer, of New York, daughters, were each left a five interest in one-fifth of the residue, after which it was to go to their children, and in default to surviving brothers and sisters.

Many Claims Made Against Big Estate

Creditors of Harry G. Runkle, of this city, holding assignments of varying interests in the estate of upward of $1,000,000 that is to come to him under the will of William Runkle, who died in Orange January 31, 1914, have appeared in force before Vice Chancellor Lane to establish their claims to the satisfaction of William E. Smith, executor of the Runkle estate.

The bill of complaint, pursuant to which the hearing was held, tells that while the interest of the complainant (Runkle) is in excess of the amounts assigned, Mr. Smith will not make any payments until some court of competent jurisdiction has established the rights of complainant and assignees.

The assignments are listed in the bill in the following order: Fidelity Trust Company, $100,000; Logan Trust Company, Philadelphia, $75,000; Union and New Haven Trust Co., $65,000; William A. Marburg, $25,000; Gotham National Bank, New York, $30,000; Second National Bank, Hoboken, $5,000; S. Charles Sugarman, $2,500 and $2,500; Rural Securities Company, $60,000; Albert A. Wilcox, $4,900; First National Bank, of this city, $1,000; George W. Sutton, as trustee, $2,000; DeWitt C. Irving, $1,000; Herbert Buxton, $20,000; George W. Sutton, as trustee, $1,555, $3,000 and $5,000. All the assignments carry interest.

MOTORCYCLE RUN.

Members of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club will participate in an endurance run to Easton, Pa., and return on Sunday. Prizes in the form of motorcycle accessories that have been donated by local merchants will be awarded those finishing with the best scores. A small fee will be charged and entries for the event may be left with either Leo Zeisel or George Simon. Other runs are being arranged for by the club and will be announced later.

PHYSICIANS RESPOND.

One physician at Muhlenberg Hospital has responded to the Government's plea for surgeons and two others have just located with units. Dr. George D. Gracey, of Park avenue, has joined the Medical Reserve Corps of the regular army and has reported for service, while Drs. Kalrns and Corwin will leave sometime within the next fortnight with the unit being organized at Flower Hospital, New York.

Local Boys Start Coast Patrol Duty Early Next Week

Warren Ackerman, son of Martin Ackerman, of Crescent avenue, left last week to report at a New England port for duty as ensign in the "wee" flotilla of the U. S. Navy. The remainder of the crew that will man the little patrol boat reported for duty several weeks ago and have already become accustomed to the work. The craft is now practically completed and will take the water sometime during the coming week and will then go at once into instant service along the New England coast.

The $21,000 that was necessary before the boat could be purchased was raised by Ackerman, Regina Rowland, another local boy, and Isaac Worth Zabriskie, a seventeen-year-old youth of New York. Rowland is to be second in command and Zabriskie will be coxswain. The three took different fields—Ackerman in Pittsburg, Rowland in Plainfield and Zabriskie in New York—and the necessary money was forthcoming in a few weeks. Then it was that a Newark shipbuilder got the contract for a "submarine chaser;" 6-cylinder, 250 horse power; sixty foot over all and ten foot beam; painted gray and with sleeping quarters for fourteen. A Lewis machine gun is mounted forward and a Colt three-pounder aft.

The boat goes into commission next week and has already been assigned to the second district, which takes in the New England coast from New London to Chatham.

New Secretary For the Local Y. M. C. A.

After trying for over a year to secure William H. Baxley, at present secretary of the Cumberland, Md., Y. M. C. A., the board of directors of the local Y. M. C. A. announced this week that he had at last decided to accept their offer and take charge of the secretarial work of the local association. He expects to arrive in this city about the middle of September and will immediately take up his new work.

Mr. Baxley has been secretary of the Cumberland branch of the association for several years and during that time has accomplished a great deal for the good of the organization. His desire to change has been occasioned by a series of misfortunes from illness and death in his family. In a new field and with new work engrossing his attention he hopes to forget.

FRANKLIN COUNCIL INSTALLS.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Junior O. U. A. M., installed the following officers in the new quarters of the council on East Front street last night: Councilor, Gabriel Oisson; vice councilor, John H. Lewis; financial secretary, Ephraim Compton; treasurer, C. Ernest Conover; recording secretary, F. Hartpence; assistant recording secretary, W. Hugh Hartpence; conductor, John A. Kinney; inside sentinel, George Walsh; outside sentinel, Howard R. Owen; trustee for three years, C. F. Sheatz; trustee for unexpired term, Walter Hoffman; representatives to State council, William J. Hartpence, Ephraim Compton and John A. Kinney, Jr.; representative to New Jersey Benefit Association, William J. Hartpence. The council is preparing for a big class initiation to take place the latter part of the month, when at least fifty candidates will be introduced to the mysteries of the order.

TROOP D'S ROSTER.

An unintentional error in the roster of Troop D, published in last week's Record, gives the opinion that there has been a change in officers. The first lieutenant should have been J. M. Charles instead of J. L. Fleming. The rank of first sergeant was left out altogether, that position being held by Mr. Fleming.

Clubhouse For P. S. C. Employes

After contractors have completed work on the remodeling of a two-story brick structure located at the Public Service Corporation's plant at Second street and Madison avenue, the employes of the concern in this city will have a structure designed especially for their comfort. In doing to the expense of fitting up such a place the Public Service is following out the idea adopted by other large concerns of providing gathering places for their employes. Later it is possible even more changes will be made to the building.

The task of remitting the building into a clubhouse has been turned over to William Smith, who will do the mason and carpentry work, and George Tobin, who will install all the plumbing. The entire work will represent an outlay of about $2,100 and will include the fitting up of a large washroom, with shower baths and other conveniences. There will also be a lunchroom for the men and a social room.

The new improvement will affect many men employed by the Public Service and it is intended to be a place where they may spend their time if they have a few minutes before going on duty, for the linemen, who are apt to be called out at any time of night, and for those who do not go home for every meal.

Plans Filed for Pond Office Building; Changes to Force Structure; Other Notes

Although building in Plainfield is showing signs of slackening to a great degree, the month of June proved to be the most active of any so far this year. One feature of the month that caused the total financial outlay of construction all over the city to soar nearly to the $200,000 mark was the filing of plans by the Niles-Bement-Pond Tool Company for the concern's new office building that will cost $135,000.

The structure, which is to be two stories high, will be constructed at the corner of South Second street and Prescott place, facing on the former thoroughfare. It will be of brick construction and 125x80 in size, with all modern improvements generally found in a building of the kind. When finished the executive and general offices of the concern will be moved there. Harris Richards, of 5 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, drew the plans for the structure, and Henry E. Baton, of the same city, is named in the permit as the contractor.

Another of the important building changes made public by the filing of a permit are those contemplated by the A. E. Force Company, at present located at 124 West Front street, to be made on the Powlison & Jones building on East Front street. The improvements will cost in the neighborhood of $10,500. They will include a new store front of modern design to cost $2,000, an extension on to the rear of the main structure to cost $5,000, and the installing of an elevator and shaft at $3,500. George Fraber, of Manson place, drew the plans for the changes, but as yet the contracts have not been awarded.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane presented his report of building in Plainfield during the first six months of 1917 at the meeting of the Common Council last Monday night. There were a total of 202 permits issued during that time for a representative outlay of $403,391. This amount, while below that of last year, is regarded by Inspector Doane as an excellent one considering the unsettled times.

Plans for the construction of one of the largest and most costly houses to be erected in Plainfield in some time have been filed with the inspector's office by Francis Frost, of Madison avenue. The house is to cost $29,200 and will be erected at 1620 Prospect avenue, near Rahway road. It will be entirely of brick, two and a half stories high and contain every modern improvement. It will have a frontage of 10' 10" and depth of 24' 4". William Pangborn's Son is named as the mason contractor and Michael Rimmer as the carpenter.

Dr. Peter J. Zeglio was granted a permit to demolish the dwelling at the corner of Seventh street and Park avenue to make room for a modern structure. Other permits were as follows:

Daniel Courain, 729 West Fourth street, garage to cost $100. To be of frame construction, 10x16 and constructed by himself.

Industrial Homes Company, 315-319 Berlen street, two modern two-and-a-half story dwellings to cost $3,900 each. Of frame construction and 22x26. Contractors, Cone-Zarnisky.

D. B. More, Belleview avenue, modern house at above address to be of frame construction, two and a half stories in height, 28x30, and cost $4,800. Contractor, Charles Drake.

Eric Malmagvest, 359 Sumner avenue, frame garage to cost $ Builder, himself.

Edward Laing, 151 West Second street, extending onto rear of present building, 30x58, of frame construction and to cost $3,900. Contractor, Charles Drake.

D. C. Colesworthy, 1107 East Front street, frame garage, 18x20, to cost $150. Builder, himself.

Alfred Bentz, 1002 Putnam avenue, frame garage, 20x28, to cost $200. Builder, himself.

Dr. Albert Pittis, East Front street and Watchung avenue, one story brick building, 45x100, to cost $8,000. Contractor, Capt. William Smith.

Dr. Albert Pittis, 131-133 East Front street, addition onto rear of structure to be of frame construction and cost $100. Contractor, William Smith.

Charles S. Cook, 144 Cresco avenue, for frame dwelling at 2 First place to cost $5,400, two and a half stories in height and 22x30. Mason, F. H. Gise, and carpenter, S. H. Burdick.

Nonpareil Club, 721 St. Mary's avenue, frame extension onto rear of present structure, 10x16, to cost $600.

J. C. Hanson, 251 Jackson avenue, frame garage, 20x20, to cost $300. Contractor, J. N. Wyman & Son.

Have You Ever Had Trouble With a Door?

Almost everyone knows the annoyance of a door that sticks one day and won't latch the next—a door that shrinks or swells with every change of the weather.

You may have had this experience so frequently that you think all doors must "act up." But there's one wood that makes doors—and sash as well—that doesn't do "stunts."

White Pine sash and doors give perfect service because White Pine does not warp or twist, shrink or swell. Once in place it stays where you put it, even when exposed to severest climatic conditions.

Always insist on White Pine sash and doors. They will save you from continual trouble, annoyance and expense.

If you are building a new house also insist on White Pine for window frames and casings, and door frames and casings.

We have an assortment of woods always on hand and always recommend the one wood best suited to your needs.

Talks of California and Her People.

Walter F. Hamilton, Jr., of Verdon street, the borough, who is rapidly coming to the fore in the theatrical profession, returned to Plainfield this week direct from Los Angeles, Cal., where his show, "The Masked Model," closed June 16. He was a member of this company for twelve weeks, and in that time made a direct run across the continent from Pittsburgh, Pa., visiting many of the principal cities west of the Mississippi River. Among these were St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Reno, Butte, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Most of the stops were for a week, but the stand in San Francisco was for three weeks and it gave the Plainfielder a chance to study the California metropolis.

Speaking of his trip to a Record reporter yesterday, Mr. Hamilton declared it was the best that he has had so far and he is fully convinced that the people who declare Southern California is the "garden spot of the world," speak the truth. The uninitiated Easterner is forcibly struck by the wonderful profusion of flowers, especially the poppies, which grow in great fields the same as daisies do in New Jersey. Every householder has his own yard filled with roses and the odor of orange blossoms in certain sections is noticeable for miles. Mr. Hamilton said he was particularly impressed with the difference in the cost of living between the Atlantic coast and the Pacific coast. The latter has far the best of it in prices, in some cases being as much as 200 per cent. below those charged in the East. Almost every variety of vegetable is to be had at San Francisco or Los Angeles at figures that were common in this city before the war began but which are now only pleasant memories to the father of a family who has to stretch his pay more and more each week. Fruit is also very cheap, the best of oranges selling for a cent a piece, and luscious California cherries go begging at two pounds for five cents.

Speaking of the war situation, Mr. Hamilton said the people of the Middle West are greatly opposed to sending American soldiers to Europe, but on the Pacific coast the majority feel that something must be done to aid the allied nations in Northern France. California people are decidedly apprehensive about the Japanese question, those best informed pointing out that if Holland enters the conflict on the German side, Japan will hold the key to the world's situation, in self-defense the Mikado will have to confiscate Java and the entire Dutch East Indies to prevent England from further securing herself in that territory. The people of the Nippon Peninsula have made such wonderful strides in Pacific commerce since 1914 that they now dominate the trade from United States and Canadian ports on the west coast and are reaching out in other directions. What this means to the American people is far better understood by Californians than by the average resident of New York and New Jersey. The matter is the all absorbing topic of conversation in the California seaport towns since England's recent declaration that the United States should cease trading with Holland if she continues her exports to Germany. If this is done a more graver situation, the Californians argue, will face the United States than at any time since the European nations began warring in 1914.

Mr. Hamilton started out last season with the "Watch Your Step" musical comedy and resigned from the company after a twenty-six weeks' tour. He then joined "The Masked Model," which was scheduled for an all summer run but which terminated abruptly after twelve weeks. Mr. Hamilton will spend the next six weeks in moving picture work, with Plainfield as his headquarters, until the regular theatrical season begins the latter part of August.

WHO IS WALTER PENNY?

Word was received at police headquarters yesterday that Walter Penny, who gave his address as 508 Watchung avenue, this city, was at the Brooklyn Children's Society. No one by such a name could be located at that address.

AUTO ACCIDENT.

An automobile driven by Winfield Terry, of Mountain avenue, and a Main Line trolley car came together yesterday morning on West Front street, near Compton avenue. The rear of Terry's auto was injured to some extent.

RESUMES DRILLS.

After having been discontinued while the officers and "non-coms" were in training at Sea Girt, Troop D resumed its drills at the horse show grounds last night and will continue them regularly until July 25, the date set for the mobilization of the New Jersey National Guard. All of the men are in the best of shape, and when the troop leaves it will probably be up to war strength.

NEW PATROLMEN.

Carl Hanson and H. F. Henry were added to the Plainfield police force this week as new patrolmen.

MERCER

A highly-developed four-cylinder motor that hurls its power to the rear wheels through a short, rigid crankshaft and sturdy transmission explains the extraordinary might and smoothness of Mercer performance. More cylinders and a longer crankshaft would be a burden. And the charm of Mercer grace and appointments has identified it closely with social distinction. Deliveries at once.

Woman 'Flagman' Does Work Well

Although the war is young so far as America is concerned women already are beginning to replace men in what have been regarded as purely masculine vocations.

In this respect the United States is having the same experience as Great Britain and the Continental nations. It is predicted that in a short time women will be found in all sorts of unexpected places.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, facing a heavy drain on its masculine operating force, recently began an investigation of the vocations in which it might replace men with women. Among these vocations was that of flagman at grade crossings and it began to train women for the work.

Miss Daisy Elizabeth Ward showed such aptitude that she was put to work a week ago and is the first female "flagman" in the United States. She guards a crossing at Newfield, this State, and guards it well. The post is an important one as Newfield lies in the midst of a rich farming section and the roads are filled with vehicles and pedestrians all day long.

In her first week Miss Ward was called on to work fifteen hours a day and said she enjoyed it well. Train crews and others who passed her station said the appearance of a woman guard made a big improvement. Young farmers were suspected of using the road which leads across the tracks much more freely than in the old days when a grouchy male guarded the crossing.

Contracts for Local Bridges Are Awarded

Arthur E. Smith, of Plainfield, was awarded the contract for the building of a new reinforced concrete span in Grand street, Rahway, by the freeholder's bridge committee yesterday morning. His bid was $18,944. That and other contracts will be covered in a bond issue, which was considered yesterday afternoon by the Board of Freeholders.

In accordance with the Pierson law, details of expenditures under bond issues must be available before municipal or county bodies can issue bonds.

The other bidders on this bridge were: Logan Construction Company, $20,800; Sutton & Ernst, $19,691; F. W. Stevens Company, $20,392.

Sutton & Ernst were the successful bidders on the reinforced steel and concrete bridge which is to be erected on Stelle avenue. Their estimate was $3,525. Arthur E. Smith bid $3,875, and Matthews & Averill, $3,561.

VACATION TIME IS HERE.

Schools have closed for the summer, and now the small boy can pursue, without restraint, his quest for pleasure. But it is not he alone who has been eagerly awaiting the summer season, for we grown-ups are also planning on relaxing from our every day labors.

The summer vacation should also provide a change from the every-day scenes, and already thousands of vacationists have wended their way to the Great Lakes and, particularly, to Lake Erie where are to be found the finest and largest steamers plying the inland waters of the world.

The largest and most magnificent of these steamers, the Great Ship "See-and-Bee," is now running daily between Cleveland and Buffalo, and her immense popularity is attested by the large volume of passenger traffic carried. This trip not only appeals to the vacationist but also to the weary commercial traveler who, by boarding the steamer at Cleveland or Buffalo at 9:00 p. m., may break the monotony of his all rail journey, enjoy a refreshing night's sleep and reach destination at 7:30 the following morning, in plenty of time and with the inclination to start the day's struggles early.

WOMEN'S CONGRESS ARRANGED FOR JULY.

The New Jersey Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations announce a conference of two days, July 19 and 20, to be held in the Ocean City High School in cooperation with the State Summer School. Also a one-day conference with summer schools in Collingswood, Phillipsburg, Newton and Freeold, July 27.

It is the earnest desire of the Congress officers that as many members of associations and clubs attend these conferences as possible, as this co-operation affords a valuable opportunity to come closely in touch with the education system of the State and to observe the improved methods of instruction. For the conference of one day delegates are requested to take box luncheons. Delegates will go as representatives of the local organizations.

MILLTOWN MAN KILLED AT NEW BRUNSWICK.

Stephen Martin, employed at the Michelin Tire Company office plant at Milltown, N. J., was found dead early Wednesday in the street at Remsen avenue and Landy street, New Brunswick. He apparently had been murdered. Martin was a single man. There is no apparent motive for the crime.

The body was soaked by the rain when discovered. It must have lain in the street for a considerable time before being found. He had little money about him. The murder was apparently not the work of a robber. Martin resided at No. 6 New street, New Brunswick.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mead, who were married in May, are visiting Mr. Mead's mother, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, of East Front street. Mr. and Mrs. Mead will leave in August for China, where the former will resume his work as a missionary.

Miss Josephine M. Collucci, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Collucci, of North avenue, and Dominick A. Capparelli, of this city, were married in St. Mary's church last Sunday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Walter Hennessey and was witnessed by a large gathering of relatives and friends. Mrs. Josephine Parrette was matron of honor and Anthony Parrette was best man. Molly Collucci and Antoinette Cambrola acted as flower girls. A reception followed at the home of Pasquale Capparelli, father of the groom. Capparelli is employed at the Spicer plant and has a wide acquaintance. His bride is also well known, specially in the East End of the city.

Arthur Erber, a member of the local fire department attached to No. 3 fire house, will commence his ten days' vacation next Sunday. He will spend the forepart of it at Red Bank and the remainder in short automobile trips about the State in his new "E. M. F."

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Marvin, who have been visiting Mr. Marvin's brother, L. H. Marvin, of West Sixth street, have returned to their home in Rochester, N. Y.

Assemblyman and Mrs. William N. Runyon, of East Ninth street, returned home Tuesday after several days' stay at Ocean Grove. While away Mr. Runyon delivered a patriotic address Sunday night in the Ocean City Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Richard A. Claybrook and daughter, of Grant avenue, left a few days ago to spend several weeks with relatives at Kinsale, Va.

Mrs. M. A. Furman, of Craig place, and her daughter, Mrs. V. W. Nash, Jr., of Martine avenue, spent the forepart of the week with Mrs. Furman's granddaughter, Mrs. William C. Begg, of Paterson.

Harry B. James, who has been assistant manager at the local Kresge's store on West Front street, has been transferred to the company's store at Kingston, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCue, of West Fourth street, are entertaining the latter's sister, Mrs. Edward Waterson, and children, of New Rochelle, N. Y. They will probably remain all summer.

A "CLEAN UP" NEEDED FOR CONGESTED STREETS.

Traffic conditions in the business district of the city, especially on Saturday afternoon or night, have come to the point where merchants are making a vigorous protest. The police are doing all they can but must be helped out by the police board with new regulations, that when properly enforced, may result in the "clean up" that is so greatly desired. The bone of contention, of course, is the prevalence of automobiles. Their owners appropriate the curb line in front of any store that happens to suit their fancy and when a patron of the place comes along with his machine it is impossible for him to get near enough to the sidewalk to alight. Not infrequently a customer has to make his stop a block or two away. One business man is authority for the statement that a Bound Brook resident has been coming to his store regularly Saturday nights for nearly a year and has never yet been able to get anywhere near the front door. The suburbanite has had to leave his machine somewhere around the corner and leave it unwatched while he did his shopping.

There are two classes of automobilists who are responsible for the congestion. One of these is the sight-seer who comes to town merely for the purpose of watching the "passing show," or, as the users of slang put it, to "rubber neck." This type of undesirable comes early in the evening and after picking out a convenient position settles himself down for an evening's entertainment. It matters not to him how much the merchant in front of whose place he has taken his stand wants him elsewhere. He refuses to budge because that is no law that enables a policeman to move him on. Another class helping to bring about the congestion is the theatre-goer who comes down town in his car. He, also, selects the position along the curb that looks good to him and appropriates it. While enjoying the vaudeville and moving pictures he has no thought of the people who come to town to trade and are compelled to carry heavy bundles a long distance because of their inability to get near the store they patronize. The curb offenses include getting inside the prohibited zone of a fire hydrant and to enforce this law the services of one patrolman would be necessary alone.

Park avenue, between Front and Second streets, offers a more serious state of affairs because of its narrowness. Not only are the regular patrons kept away from their favorite trading place but dire consequence are threatened if an alarm of fire should be sounded. The apparatus from Headquarters or No. 1 house would find it impossible to make their way through this block, even at reduced speed. With both sides of the curb lined up with vehicles, two ordinary machines could not pass abreast and the big motor engines would get caught in a bad pocket. Even the hook and ladder would be held up as the wide swing it has to make to round a corner would be blocked by stalled autos.

A discussion of this subject naturally leads to the question as to what can be done. The merchants themselves have suggested a solution. Their idea is to have certain portions of Front street left open. Signs could be displayed telling the auto driver what he could or could not do and where violations are committed bring about the arrest of the offender. This is done in other cities and has been found to work satisfactorily. More than this, the limit for a machine to stand in a certain place could be fixed for a specified time such as is done in many of New York's important thoroughfares. Relative to Park avenue, it has been suggested that one side only be allowed for parking, thus giving sufficient room for other machines to pass in opposite directions. The police board can make these regulations and the police department will only be too glad to enforce them. At the same time once the idea is conveyed to the motorists the majority of them will willingly aid in the "cleanup." The Common Council as a whole could do its share in removing a portion of the trouble by making the Public Service Corporation adopt a new system for the Front and Somerset streets' terminal point. The lining up of cars waiting to get around the corner causes a congestion of automobiles every fifteen minutes and aggravates the situation already acute. A "get together" on the part of the proper officials will do wonders in this imposition on the merchants which is fast becoming a serious detriment of business and a open invitation to accident.

PATROLMAN BAEDER MEETS THE ACID TEST.

A famous Northern general who frequently snatched victory out of seeming defeat during several Civil War engagements once made the remark: "You never can tell what sort of stuff a man is made of until you bring him face to face with a situation demanding courage, quick action and cool-headedness." Such a situation as this was unexpectedly presented to Patrolman Ferdinand Baeder in the shooting affair on Liberty street Saturday night and he came across with all three requisites to prove that he was made of the right stuff. When Grant Miller fired the murderous bullet that sent Sylvanius Johnson to his death, no one nearby knew what caused the attack or what the infuriated slayer might do next. A smoking revolver in the hands of a temporarily crazed man is a thing to be avoided, but the probable chances of the weapon being turned against his own breast was no deterrent to Patrolman Baeder. In a few seconds after the shots had been fired he lunged at Miller and accepting every chance, knocked the pistol from his hand and made him prisoner almost before he knew it. After manacling his captive, Baeder placed him in the custody of an ex-officer appearing on the scene and hurried to a call box to inform Headquarters of what had happened. His brief statement of the circumstances brought the patrol-wagon, the ambulance, Captain Flynn, Lieutenant Higgins and Patrolmen Kelly and Walsh to the Liberty street corner almost before the informing officer had returned there himself. The effectiveness of the department's "preparedness" for rapid work was displayed immediately.

By midnight Miller had given his statement to Chief Kiely, the material witnesses were held at Headquarters and the body of Johnson was in the morgue with his relatives in Newark acquainted with the news almost before the people of the neighborhood of Fourth and Liberty streets were cognizant of what had happened. Baeder proved a credit to himself and to the force he represents in meeting the test standardized by the Northern general who had many opportunities to watch men called upon for heroism.

Plainfield has not had so many homicide cases in its criminal calendar but what the police department can be commended for the manner in which it handled the present affair. From Chief Kiely down the ranking ladder to the youngest patrolman, the machinery of the law worked perfectly in preparing the case for the Grand Jury. If it had been necessary the matter could have gone to trial the next morning.

The fact that Miller may prove a self-defense plea and that at the time the blood of Johnson was placed upon his hands he had no intention of committing any further act did not enter into the circumstances at the time it all happened. It narrows down to the proposition that the police had to catch a murderer with a gun in his hands and collect all material for a trial and they did it. They cannot be complimented too highly.

THE INEQUALITY OF PERSONAL TAX.

Newspapers in cities nearby Plainfield are taking up the perennial agitation about the haphazard manner in which assessments are made on personal property. It is a subject which has frequently arisen in this city and will continue to do so as long as no system is maintained in deriving public revenue from this source. As a rule, the working man with $500 worth of furniture in his home is assessed for that amount but his rich neighbor a few blocks up the street, owning costly pictures, statuary and rugs, escapes with a ridiculous valuation. No determined attempt is made to get at the real worth of the objects of art, the matter being left entirely to an assessor who knows little or nothing about their cost. As a rule the figures of the year before are the only guidance, a basic idea that would lead to many complications if connoisseurs were called to appraise the decorations of a mansion so lightly passed over. In consequence, the poor man pays an absolute full share of the city's expenses while the aristocrat who enjoys the same protection and generally is the first to protest about higher taxes gets by with anything but an equitable portion. Many times the rich man's assessment is absolutely the same as that of the head of a family who possesses a little cottage with only the bare necessities to furnish a few rooms within.

Comptroller Collins, of Elizabeth, is one of the officials who insists that personal property of all kinds should be investigated and assessed and taxed according to its worth. In addressing the local board of assessors before commencing their rounds this year he said:

"What we want is equality in taxation. We don't want the least humble or the most exalted citizen to pay more than his just part of taxes. Equalize and let everyone pay according to his holdings and it will lighten the tax burden. It may tread on the toes of some at first, but when theye realize the benefits they will support you."

The public will heartily support such a proposition as a measure of justice. The essential thing in levying assessments and laying taxes is fair play and all should be given fair play. None will grumble if they have just treatment. Each one should be made to bear a fair share of the burden, and assessments should not be laid heavily upon some while others escape.

There is a way to apprehend the wealthy personal tax dodger and if it were done in this city a few times it would result in a betterment of conditions. This is the use of the blank provided by law for the benefit of the property owner when he disputes the assessor's valuation of household effects. He must give his own valuation in writing under his signature and when it does not conform with the views of the tax board an expert can be sent for an appraisal. The figures are then compared and if the owner has given a false statement he can be held for perjury in addition to having his assessment placed where it belongs. There is no instance on record locally of this having been done but it might be well to make a start and there is no time like the present.

DR. SLOSSON'S "DON'TS" FOR TALKATIVE PATRIOTS.

Well meaning but sometimes misguided Americans who have the habit of saying the wrong thing at the right time and the right thing at the wrong time were evidently considered by Dr. Slosson, professor of history in Columbia College, when he prepared a list of "don'ts" for patriots. They are aptly expressed and if followed out will save a lot of useless argument such as frequently leads to something more serious than talk. Few citizens of America would intentionally be guilty of disloyalty either in word or deed. But just as there are traitors among our people, so there are traitorous tongues, and it is imperative that we guard against anything that savors of disloyalty. The "Don'ts" are as follows:

Don't say, "My country right or wrong." We aren't wrong.

Don't call national necessity and international justice by any name as vague as "national honor."

Don't say Wall street or "British gold" or the "Northcliffe press" made this war. You don't have to bribe a nation to make it resent the murder of its citizens.

Don't call every pro-ally "pro-British." Great Britain is only one of a dozen or so of the Allies.

Don't say that both sides think they are fighting a defensive war. A man may honestly think that two and six are eleven, but it doesn't make them so.

Don't call universal training "Prussian militarism." It is no more Prussian than it is Swiss, French, British, Argentine, Japanese, or Australian.

Don't say we owe aid to France on account of Lafayette. We didn't help France in 1870 and we were right not to do so. We only owe aid to any nation when it is fighting (as at present) in a righteous quarrel.

Don't say that "It doesn't make any difference to the workingman what country governs him." On the contrary, it makes more difference to him than to any one else, because the rich man can spend his time in travel or buy his way into the privileged class if he finds political conditions oppressive.

Let a few more contractors tear up Plainfield's streets without putting them back in halfway decent shape in anticipation of permanent paving and the automobile stranger in town will have to apply for a pilot to see him safely on his way.

Councilman Hylan's request for an appropriation of $167 to buy additional locks for the new City Hall has led to a lot of speculation. The consensus of opinion is that they will be used to keep Fred Bird from delving into the record closets and finding out why the municipal building is costing nearer $200,000 than the original $100,000 appropriated for the purpose.

WHAT'S BECOME OF THE GOOD OLD DAYS—

When "Tee Kay" Keller gave Plainfield the Crescents, the greatest baseball team the town has ever had and which created rivalry between this place and Somerville, which sent down the West Ends with $10,000 worth of real money for betting?

When "Wall" Vail carried the vote of the town in his vest pocket and had the habit of telling the big boys at Elizabeth what offices they could have after Plainfield had its pick?

When the biggest event of the local theatrical season was the coming of Minnie Lester and her silver concert band or the Wait Comedy Company with "The Banker's Daughter" scheduled for Monday night?

Your Strongest Ally—A Good Bank

This institution has over thirty Officers and Clerks directing and executing his activities. The rank and file of its depositors now numbers over 10,000, or nearly one-half of the entire population of Plainfield. Its achievement may be measured by the following comparative statement of deposits, the date selected being that of the last "call" from the State Banking Department:

June 20, 1908.....$1,945,794
June 20, 1910.....$2,835,168
June 28, 1912.....$4,033,870
June 20, 1914.....$5,016,870
June 20, 1916.....$6,485,494
June 20, 1917.....$8,074,273

THE PLAINFIELD TRUST COMPANY

Y. M. H. A. Plans Outdoor Affair

A mid-summer carnival and dance is being arranged by the Young Men's Hebrew Association to be given on the grounds of its recently purchased building at 432 West Front street, formerly Leal's School. It will take place on Tuesday night, July 31, and the committee, of which Alex Goodman is chairman, is being assisted by members of the Young Women's Hebrew Association. Tents will be erected to house the various attractions and numerous electric lights and Japanese lanterns will add to the gayety of the scene. One of the big features of the carnival will be the awarding of two choice building lots, located in Plainfield, which have been donated by Samuel Schwartz. Music for the dancing will be furnished by Marks' Jazz Band.

The Y. M. H. A. found that the former Leal's School was adapted to its purposes and took title to the property some time ago. Numerous improvements are to be made which include the enlarging of the auditorium to make it one of the finest in the city. Hardwood floors will be laid and every modern facility appertaining to a clubhouse will be installed. The proceeds from the affair on July 31 will be added to the fund for the building improvements.

Special Aid Wound Up Work Last Night

When the key was turned last night in the door of the little store on East Front street that has served as the headquarters for the National Special Aid Society during the past six months it marked the end of one of the biggest pieces of service on the part of Plainfield women that was ever accomplished. The organization which, in the year of its existence, had gained a membership of nearly 1,500 of every race and creed, officially disbanded last Monday afternoon, when the officers resigned and the last bit of business cleared up, but in order to complete a few remaining surgical kits or bandages the headquarters was opened on Tuesday night and last night.

On several occasions the society drew forth words of praise from Washington. Thousands of bandages of all kinds have been completed and turned over to various causes and in many another way great good has been accomplished. Mrs. Frederick W. Goddard, who headed the organization, thanks each one and urged that they continue their work for the Red Cross chapter in just as ardent a manner as before.

Jersey's Home Rule Law for Cities Now in Effect

The Home Rule Law, designed to give to municipalities of New Jersey the fullest powers possible over their internal affairs, became operative yesterday. It was the bill fathered by Assemblyman Runyon, of this city, and others.

Women are eligible for any position under the new law. Boards for buying municipal supplies may be created, deductions may be made when contracts exceed the time allotted, salaries may be fixed by ordinance and by referendum, fee systems may be changed to salaries, ordinances may be passed to prevent vice, immorality and drunkenness; regulations are provided for building, vending, firearms, use of soft coal, distribution of sample medicines, fire escapes, transportation vehicles, hotels, restaurants, churches, public health matters, etc.

Causes of removal from Police and Fire Departments are defined; special police may be provided; unnecessary public buildings may be sold; public utilities may be leased and operated; public markets, wharves, docks, abattoirs and depots for coal, wood and ice may be purchased; public baths may be established and places of public entertainment may be regulated to prevent fire and panic.

POLICEMEN AND FIREMEN GRANTED PAY INCREASE.

Following the recommendation of Mayor Calkins and members of the police and fire boards, the Common Council at its meeting Monday night authorized the advancing of a number of members of the police and fire departments to higher grades and automatically to higher wages. The changes came six months before they were scheduled but the increased cost of living hastened the movement. More advances in rank will be made on August 1 and at other times in the near future. The Mayor in asking the Council to sanction the move explained that the mounting cost of living had come to be a serious problem with the men in the two departments of low grades.

Firemen: George D. Leland, Floyd Carroll, Roy McDonough, T. B. Randolph, E. Mosher, advanced from class "d" to "c," and J. Guinee, class "e" to class "d;" all said advancements to date as and from the first day of July, 1917. The Council confirmed all of the advancements.

William N. Goddard Killed at the Front

William Neale Goddard, formerly with the sales force of the American Steel and Wire Company, 30 Church street, New York, was instantly killed on the night of June 13 by shell explosion when rescuing wounded "somewhere in France."

Mr. Goddard went to England at the beginning of the war and enlisted as a private and rapidly rose to the rank of captain of the 21st Battalion, Lancashire Fusiliers.

He was well known in church musical circles of Manhattan and New Jersey as a singer and organist.

His wife, formerly Miss Charlotte E. Harvey, of East Orange, who has been a Red Cross nurse in England since the beginning of the war, intends to continue her service until the end of the war, when she will return to America.

Fire Recorder Will Obviate Arguments

The possibility of disputes about the time an alarm, either by box or telephone, is received at Fire Headquarters, such as developed a year ago through the Council proceedings brought about by John I. Lyle's charges, has been entirely removed by a new attachment added to the Plainfield system. The mechanism is one of the Gamewell Company's latest improved recorders and has just been put in place at Fire Headquarters by Ryder & Graves, the local electrical firm which maintains the alarm system. It has been given several thorough tests and has been found absolutely correct in each instance.

The recorder contains a punching arrangement which marks on a tape the exact time the alarm is given over the circuit, the number of the box if one is pulled, or the pushing of the tappers of the word comes by telephone, together with the date in full. The importance of these seemingly trifling points has three times been demonstrated within a few years. The first time came when a locomotive spark set fire to the rear of the Depew building at Park and North avenues. A claim for damages was filed against the railroad and as the officials of the latter knew the precise moment a train passed the North avenue station it had to be shown the approximate time the alarm of fire was sent to Headquarters. It so happened that the information was at hand, the pencilled record at Headquarters tallying with the railroad's marking. The claim was in this case were paid. Sometime afterward another claim was filed by a resident of Depot Park for [illegible] ed by a locomotive spark but they were refused on the ground that no train had passed the station within ten minutes either way of the given time for the telephone alarm. The Lyle case is familiar to Plainfielders as during the proceedings before the Common Council there was quite a discrepancy between the statement of one of the witnesses as to the time the alarm of fire was telephoned to Headquarters and the time of receiving. The only near authentic record from a neutral standpoint was the operator's check at the telephone exchange and the fire department's time was practically confirmed.

It was during the Lyle hearing that the need of an accurate recorder became manifest and the fire board afterward placed an order for one. Ryder & Graves put the mechanism in position without the aid of blue prints and have been highly commended for the manner in which it was done. The firm has just placed a new alarm box in position, No. 73. It is located on West Seventh street, 500 feet west of Monroe avenue. Another box has been ordered and will shortly be placed in position in the East End of town.

BILLS FOR GREAT AIR FLEET READY.

Chairman Dent, of the House Military Affairs Committee, last night announced he would introduce in the House today the Administration bills to authorize construction of a great American air fleet. Two measures have been prepared by the War Department, one carrying $639,000,000 and the other dealing with personnel and organization.

PLAINFIELDER IN NAVY GIVEN COMMISSION.

Promotions of warrant officers to commissioned ranks and grades in the line and staff of the navy, in accordance with the increase in the strength of the service, authorized by Congress, brings advancement to Gerald Diiff, of this city. He was formerly chief boatswain and has been in the Navy a long time. In all 496 petty officers have been raised to commissions, the largest number ever commissioned at one time.

BONNIE BURN REPORT.

On June 1 there were 183 patients in the Bonnie Burn Sanatorium, eighty-three being men and fifty women. Superintendent John F. Runnels reported to the board of managers yesterday. Thirty-seven patients were admitted during the month, seventeen being men and twenty women. The largest number of patients present during the month was 147; the smallest, 132.

Friday Fishing Club Begins Twelfth Season

The Friday Fishing Club, at present composed of Percy A. McVoy, Clarence Thorn, James R. Blair and Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., left today for Princess Bay to inaugurate their twelfth season of weekly angling parties. The club was organized in 1906 with five members who continued to frequent the waters about Staten Island until the present year without the loss of any of the five. The break came last fall with the death of Frank C. Langhorne, who was one of the most enthusiastic salt-water fishermen in this section. The membership in the organization was limited to five and the vacancy caused by Mr. Langhorne's death is to be filled by a vote taken today. Among the candidates for election are Amos Andrews, Frank Emmons and J. A. Staats, all of whom have the necessary qualifications.

The Friday Club has had the same captain as pilot and guide and the same sail-boat, "Codfish Carrie," for the entire eleven years of its existence. The members have all gotten to be experts in landing weakfish, blues, porgies and the other members of the finny tribe that infest the waters of Raritan Bay and the Kills. Each year the club has a banquet in the winter and once each summer each member has the privilege of inviting a friend on one of the trips.

TWO NEW B. OF H. MEMBERS.

The July meeting of the Board of Health was held Tuesday night in the Board of Health rooms. Two new members took their places as members, Dr. W. H. Murray to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Harold Corbusier, and Fred D. Winn to fill that that I. L. McVoy. The regular health report of Officer Chandler showed the city to be fairly free from disease or other sickness.

CONTINUE RELIEF WORK.

The making of bandages, surgical dressings and the like is to continue on Friday afternoons at the Hartridge School. Students, their friends and parents are invited to attend, and articles made will be turned over to the Red Cross.

ARRAIGNED IN ELIZABETH.

Carrie Curley, aged twenty-one years, who gave her address as Norwood avenue, this city, was arraigned in the Elizabeth city court Wednesday morning, together with Ralph Prince, of 546 Broadway, that city, on charges preferred by the latter's wife. Both were held under bonds of $500 to await the action of the Grand Jury. Testimony in the case showed that Prince, who was married three years ago and has a nineteen month old child, had brought the Curley woman to his home and demanded that his wife share the dwelling with her.

SPORT PROGRAM FOR SATURDAY.

The sport program in the city for tomorrow is as follows:

Baseball—First Baptist vs. St. Joseph's, Hyde Oval; and Aeroplanes vs. Hope Chapel, West End Oval (City League). Pans vs. Fanwood A. C. at Hope Common. American Motors of Plainfield vs. Y. M. A. at Bound Brook.

Golf—Selected Score cup play at Plainfield Country Club. Class A vs. Class B team matches, 18 holes, medal play handicap, at Hydewood Golf Club.

Tennis—Men's doubles at Plainfield Country Club.

FILE ORDER DECLARING VITAPHONE BANKRUPT.

A copy of a United States District Court adjudication declaring the Vitaphone Company of this city bankupt, was filed Monday in the county registrar's office. The action was taken by Lloyd Sharp, et als., of this city.

POLICE TO PROTECT UNOCCUPIED HOUSES.

Owing to the exodus of those leaving for summer resorts, Chief Kiely is using every effort to protect the unoccupied dwellings and has given patrolmen instructions to guard closely those dwellings. The Chief is especially anxious that all residents of the city who intend closing their homes for the summer season notify him of this fact, so that an ounce of prevention may be found to be worth many pounds of cure in balking visits from burglars or sneak thieves.

UNITY LODGE'S INSTALLATION.

At its regular meeting last evening, Unity Lodge, No. 102, Knights of Pythias, installed the following recently elected officers: Master of work, Henry Gudebus; chancellor commander; Frank Chase; vice chancellor, George Boden; prelate, Jacob Stierer; master-at-arms, Henry Trottner; inside guard, Anthony Ambrosse; outside guard, James Cassidy; master of exchequer, Samuel Humpston. The installation ceremonies were conducted by District Deputy Schenck, of Neshanic.

ELIZABETH T. A. B.'S OBSERVING ANNIVERSARY.

Patriotic exercises will mark the end of the Elizabeth T. A. B. S. fiftieth anniversary, when on Saturday afternoon at the clubhouse a flag will be raised.

The principal address of the day will be delivered by Assistant Prosecutor Martin P. O'Connor. Former Freeholder Dennis P. Hennessy, and Rt. Rev. Monsignor Charles H. Mackel, D. D., pastor of St. Patrick's church, will also speak. Michael O'Leary will act as master of ceremonies. James Leary, the oldest member of the organization, will raise the banner.

Saturday is an especially appropriate day for the exercises, as it was on July 7, 1867, that the T. A. B. S. was organized. Members of the local society, which recently celebrated its forty-fifth anniversary, will attend.

Firemen's Ball Will Take Place Annually

So great was the success attending the reception and fiasco of Local No. 7, Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association in Columbus Auditorium, last Friday night, that the members of the organization have decided to make it an annual affair. The response on the part of the public was so liberal and everyone of the 660 people attending had such a royal time that the firemen believe that a social gathering of this kind is greatly desired. The treasury of the local will be increased about $500, this being the sum realized over and above expenses.

Too much credit cannot be given the committee responsible for most of the good work. This was composed of Harry Wiesaga, chairman; Jens Claassen, James McDonough, Frank Ingraham and Wesley Dunn. All five labored early and late to leave no detail lacking. A beautiful pair of miniature gold F. M. B. A. badges, made up as cuff buttons and offered by Chief Jennings as a prize for the firemen selling the most tickets to the dance was won by Jens Claassen. He disposed of 266 of the pasteboards calling for admission, while his nearest competitor, Frank Ingraham, sold 183. The buttons were presented during the evening by Councilman John H. Cone, who is chairman of the Fire Board.

The scene at the auditorium during the height of the gathering put oldtimers in mind of the firemen's ball other years, the annual gathering that always drew a capacity crowd to Laing's Hall. Previous to the installation of the paid department in 1892 the volunteer force commanded a great following and whatever the members undertook was a complete success. The paid men have never had the opportunity until now to attempt what the old "vamps" accomplished regularly, principally because the fire-fighters nowadays are confined absolutely to their work. Last week's affair began with some misgivings but before the tickets had been on sale two days there was nothing to it but a big finish. More than a thousand tickets were sold in advance, many people who could not attend purchasing them because they knew the money was going to a good cause.

The music provided by Kenneth Stuart's orchestra caused more than one favorable comment to be passed by those in a position to know what the real dance "stuff" should be like. Laggren & Green outdid themselves in decorating and Charles L. Stanley fixed up the stage with banks of palms and potted plants. He also supplied individual carnations for the invited guests. Those included Mayor Calkins, members of the Common Council and out-of-town firemen. They were served at midnight with an appetizing luncheon prepared by Mrs. Johnson, who did the catering.

The entertainment program included selections by the Jerbiue quartet, of Dunellen; popular songs by "Baby" Gisentzer, and songs and dances by "those two little rascals," Ruth Reasser and "Buddy" Pagliucia. All were encored enthusiastically. A number not down on the program was the announcements by Frank Manchester, a member of the orchestra. They were put across in Frank's inimitable style and never failed to get a laugh.

ALIENS NOT TO BLAME FOR LACK OF PERMITS.

United States Marshal Bolleschweiler, of Newark, who, with his staff of deputies, is now investigating applications of alien enemies who wish to live, work in or pass through the forbidden war zones, yesterday announced for the benefit of employers of aliens, as well as for the aliens, that, in a majority of instances where permits have not yet been produced by employes, no blame should be attached to the employe. In all about 30,000 applications were filed in the marshals' offices throughout the State, and each one requires a certain amount of inquiry and time. It has been a physical impossibility for the limited staff to cover the territory or complete their inquiries up to this time.

Aliens have visited the marshal's office with the information that unless they can produce a war permit they will be discharged. This attitude on the part of employers is in line with what was told the marshal before the applications were all filed. At that time, he was told that manufacturers were ready to discharge aliens who had appeared at the marshal's office to obtain permits.

RIFLE RANGES FOR CIVILIAN CLUBS.

Opportunity for civilian rifle clubs to fire on the State's range at Sea Girt are offered through the office of Adjutant General Barber for a period beginning today and running through July 21, inclusive. Provision for the practice is made in special order No. 214, stipulating that shooting must be under the government's rules and regulations for the range, that clubs must arrange in advance for dates, and all practice be supervised by Brigadier General Bird W. Spencer, inspector general of rifle practice.

For the information of rifle clubs, General Spencer has issued a circular. He advises that in making applications for dates clubs state whether the shooting will be for club competition, National Rifle Association qualification course, or individual practice. He also asks that clubs state whether they desire the services of range officers, instructors, scorers or markers.

Early applications will be given precedence in assigning dates. All firing is to be at 200 yards and no shooting will be allowed Sundays.

DUNELLEN WOMAN INJURED BY AUTO.

Harry Halpern, of 247 Ferry street, Newark, while driving up Broad street, Westfield, Wednesday afternoon, hit Mrs. William Rankin, of 355 North avenue, Dunellen, who was crossing the street in front of the Westfield Trust Company. Mrs. Rankin was taken into a pharmacy and was attended by Dr. G. S. Laing and Dr. Charles T. Decker, who found that she had a broken left leg and an injured right one. She was taken to her home in the police car.

Mr. Halpern was released, the police holding that it was not his fault that the woman was hit.

FOUR ALLEGED SLAYERS IN COUNTY JAIL.

Gaetano Di Stefano, charged with the murder of Calogero Margaglione in the Peterstown section, June 17, and who fled to New York, following the shooting, was brought back from that city yesterday morning by County Detective John A. Galatian. Mr. Galatian went to Albany Tuesday to arrange with Governor Whitman for his extradition.

Di Stefano is now in jail. He may be arraigned Saturday when Justice James J. Bergen comes to Elizabeth to hear motions.

Including Miller, of this city, there are four alleged slayers in the county jail. This is the largest number ever confined there.

TEACHERS IN CITY SCHOOLS ENGAGED FOR NEXT YEAR.

Among changes in the teaching corps of the public schools announced yesterday by the Board of Education are the following: In place of Miss Katherine F. Ball, who leaves the high school to become vocational adviser for women in the University of Minnesota, Miss Evelyn Foster, graduate of the University of Minnesota; in place of Miss Ruth Wean, assistant physical director, resigned to be married, Miss Marion Snyder, graduate of the high school and of the Savage School of Physical Education; Miss Sarah E. Coyle, who spent last year in study at Vineland, to take a class in the Whittier School; Miss Jane Van Arsdale, formerly of the North Plainfield High School, to teach a seventh grade in the Evergreen School; in place of Miss Charlotte E. Norris, who resigned from the Washington School to be married, Miss Edna Hendrickson, a graduate of the Bloomsburg Normal School; in place of Miss Ruth D. Sadler, supervisor, who resigned to be married, Miss Gladys M. Tournier, a graduate of the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts and of Pratt Institute.

SENTENCE PLAINFIELDER.

Ernest Pelligren, of this city, will be arraigned before Judge Connolly in Elizabeth this afternoon for sentence on a charge of larceny. One of the local cases disposed of last Friday was that of John and Frank Topolinski. Both were charged with stealing cigarettes from a Garwood store, but after the judge found that they did it during a celebration over John being released from jail on another charge he suspended sentence.

NO SWIMMING.

For the first time since the new addition at the Plainfield High School was completed several years ago, the swimming pool in the Ninth street institution will not be open to the public during the present summer. The reason for deciding not to allow the residents of the city the privilege of using it has not been made public by the school authorities, although it is understood the already heavy expense of the school system is partly responsible.

START PAVING.

Work was started this week on the laying of the brick pavement on East Second street, between Park and Watchung avenues. It is expected that it will be completed in another week or ten days.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The association building has been practically closed to the general public during the past week, because of the making of repairs.

The last meeting of the Camp Fire League was held in the building on East Front street last night, at which time the ten members who will attend the Silver Bay conference the latter part of the month received their final instructions.

Mrs. Frederick Mead, of East Front street, has offered the members of the association the use of the swimming pool on her estate at "Sunnyside" each Monday afternoon. Competent instructors will be on hand to give instruction.

Mrs. George Babcock, of West Eighth street, has extended the use of her tennis courts to the association on Monday and Friday afternoons. A tournament is now in the course of progress.

A prayer meeting will be held at the association building next Monday night.

The initial opening of the week-end camp of the association for the other side of the first mountain will be marked tomorrow afternoon by a party to which the members of the association are invited. There are already eight young women who have registered to form part of the first group to stay from tomorrow until Monday and plans for a general social time have been completed.

The circulation of library books has been temporarily discontinued. Notice of the opening of the library again will be made in the near future.

MORRISTOWN POLO PLAYER INJURED.

Capt. C. G. Henry, director of the State census, was perhaps mortally injured Wednesday in a polo match at the Wolfpany River Club at Morristown. An operation was performed yesterday morning.

Capt. Henry suffered a fracture of the skull. He is a member of the brokerage firm of Salomon & Co., 25 Broad street, New York.

Capt. Henry is at the Memorial Hospital in Morristown, where he was taken Wednesday directly after the accident. He had not recovered consciousness late this afternoon. Mrs. Henry is near his bedside.

NO CAMP FOR SCOUTS.

Because many of the boys are engaged in farming or some other occupation, the summer camp of the Plainfield Boy Scouts on Terrill road will not be open this year except at intervals. Week-end parties will be held from time to time, but the commission thought it was better to encourage the boys to help in the production than to have them spend the time in camp.

DR. EGGLO HOME.

Dr. P. J. Eggio, who has been at Muhlenberg Hospital for several weeks following an accident on Park avenue, when his automobile collided with an Arlington avenue car, was discharged from the institution this week. The physician suffered two broken ribs and numerous bruises. He will soon be able to be about as usual.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

JAMES HENDRY DOIG.

James Hendry Doig, a well known resident of the West End, died Sunday afternoon at his home, 220 Morris street, following a long illness from a pulmonary complaint. He had been ailing several years and during the past few months had failed steadily.

Mr. Doig was a native of Johnstone Renfrewshire, Scotland, where he was born twenty-seven years ago. He came to Plainfield with his parents in 1906 and since then had become widely acquainted. He became a member of Hope Chapel, where he interested himself in the work of the young men's departments, beside taking an active part in all its athletics. He was especially proficient in basketball and baseball. He was employed for a time after he left A. M. Grimm Co., as clerk in the Front street store but was compelled to give this up on account of failing health. His death came as a distinct shock to his many friends especially as he was at that period when he had everything to live for. The sympathy of the community is extended to his young wife and his parents and other relatives.

Beside his wife, who was Miss Clark, of this city, the deceased is survived by two children, Grace Wodma Doig and James Nathaniel Doig; also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Doig, one brother, Alexander Doig; two sisters, Miss Elizabeth G. Doig and Miss Margaret D. Doig, and a cousin, Miss Elizabeth G. MacMillan, all of Morris street.

The funeral was held at the late home Tuesday afternoon and was attended by a gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. W. Skellenger, pastor of Hope chapel, was the officiating clergyman. During the service Mrs. Thomas Tower sang two hymns "Heaven Is My Home" and "O Jesus, Thou Hast Promised." There were numerous floral tributes from friends of the young man and of the family and also from Clan Mackenzie, O. S. E., and Craigielea Lodge, Daughters of Scotia. Burial was in Hillside cemetery, the following young men, who had been intimately associated with Mr. Doig, acting as pall-bearers: William Ross, Harry Atkens, George T. Leighs, Jr., Richard Schott, William Le Poidevin and H. J. Harkins.

HENRY J. TALFORD.

Word came to Plainfield early in the week of the death at Whitehall, N. Y., of Henry J. Talford, a former well known local newspaper man who resided here at intervals for a period of about ten years. He had been in failing health for a long time and the end was not unexpected to his friends. The funeral and interment took place at Whitehall Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Talford was born at Whitehall and entered the newspaper game as a member of the staff of the weekly published in his home town. He was a newspaper man in every sense of the word and soon branched out to the Albany Argus, on which staff he was legislative reporter for many sessions. For a time he conducted weekly newspapers of his own in small New York State towns, also publishing them in the same manner that is known as "syndicating" today and which has made fortunes for certain companies.

Longing for the busy life of a reporter in a large city, Mr. Talford gave up his farm holdings ventures and enlisted with the Washington Star. From that city he came to Plainfield in 1898 and left in April, 1900, to return to Washington. Plainfield had made a deep impression on him, however, and he again came back to this city in 1902 to handle the local correspondence for New York, Newark and Philadelphia papers, which he purchased from Lewis E. Thomas, now in the Philippines. In 1904 Mr. Talford founded the Plainfield Daily Star with the aid of several local business men, but the paper lasted only one week. The founder might have succeeded but for a lack of capital at the right time. When the publication suspended Mr. Talford joined the staff of the Courier-News and remained with it for a number of years. He left to return to Washington and afterward went back to his old home in Whitehall, where he remained at the home of his mother until death came.

Mr. Talford was a ready maker of friends and his company was sought by those who enjoyed talking politics and the affairs of state. One of his warmest constituents was former Senator James E. Martine, who passed many a delightful hour in discussing New York state and national affairs with him. The deceased's only surviving relatives are his wife and mother.

VERONICA POWERS.

Veronica Powers, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Powers, of Farley avenue, Scotch Plains, died Saturday afternoon after a brief illness. The funeral was held at the parents' home Tuesday afternoon, and was in charge of Rev. Father Mahoney, of St. Mary's church. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

PAUL GIRANASSI.

Paul Giranassi, of New York city, about fifty years old, died at Muhlenberg Hospital Wednesday afternoon, about an hour after he was taken there. He was found near the Oak Tree School too weak from physical exhaustion to give an account of himself. Through papers in his pockets the man's identity was established. He had a brother, G. Giranassi, in Massachusetts.

GWENDOLYN MARIE AUNGST.

Gwendolyn Marie Aungst, the five-year-old daughter of Professor and Mrs. D. Fred Aungst, of Washington avenue, died at the parents' home, Friday night. The child had been ailing for some time and every effort was made to stay the ailment, but without success. The little girl was a great pet with friends of the family, and the parents have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the late home and was in charge of Rev. John Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church, assisted by Rev. St. George Burrill, of the Church of the Holy Cross. There were numerous floral tributes extended by friends, one of them a large set piece from teachers of the North Plainfield school. Interment was in the family plot at Rohrerstown, Pa.

MELVIN R. VAN KEUREN.

Melvin R. Van Keuren, a one-time resident of this vicinity, died Sunday afternoon at his home in Montmouth Park, near Eatontown. He was sixty-five years old and leaves a wife, five sons, and a number of other relatives, some of whom live in and about Plainfield. Mr. Van Keuren was the owner of the Monmouth Park race grounds which he recently leased to the Government as a training camp for army recruits. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon and burial was at Eatontown.

Little Boy Dies From Effects of Scalding

John P. McShay, the four-and-a-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McShay, of 727 West Third street, died in Muhlenberg Hospital Wednesday morning from the effects of burns received at his home, when he accidentally pulled a tea kettle of hot water upon himself. The scalding liquid spread over almost his entire body. The case was considered hopeless from the time he was received at the institution. The accident occurred Monday night and the little fellow suffered greatly before the end came. Mr. McShay, father of the child, is sexton of St. Mary's church.

The funeral was held at the parents' home yesterday afternoon and was attended by many sympathetic neighbors and friends. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Pupils of Miss Lee Giving Recital Today

The piano pupils of Miss Sadie Lee, of Scotch Plains, will hold a musical at Miss Lee's home this afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock. The parents and friends have been invited to hear a program of special numbers showing the progress of the students during the past year. Those to take part are: Virginia Sherrif, Mary Bostje, Helen Brancatti, Mary Proctor, Marion Morell, Margaret MacLennan, Frank Sabotino, Helen Gigiono, Helen Owens, Margaret Ganser, Helen Smith, Evelyn Brancatti, Emelyn Johnson, Emelyn Brancatti, Fredericka Hardy, Anna Sabotino and Frances MacLennan.

Barbers' Union Plans Reception of Recruits

Three members of the local Journeymen Barbers' Union, who have enlisted with Uncle Sam's fighting forces, are to be given a reception by the Union next Tuesday night. The volunteers are: Alex Cervetto and Tony Paretti, who have joined Troop D, and Joseph Mirrable, who is now a member of Company K. All live in Plainfield.

The coming reception is being arranged by a committee composed of Charles Pagliuccia, George Hafner and Dominick Vilo. The program will include music and addresses followed by refreshments. In some respects the reception will be similar to the one given by Plainfield Aerie of Eagles to six of its members in Eagles' Hall last week.

THOSE EXEMPTED FROM NEW DRAFT ARMY.

Persons exempted in industries which the act of Congress authorizes the President to exclue from the draft:

Officers of the United States and of the several states, territories and the District of Columbia.

Ministers of religion.

Students of divinity..

Persons in the military or naval service of the United States.

Subjects of Germany residing in the United States.

All resident aliens who have not taken out their first papers.

Upon application to the local exemption board the following may be discharged from military duty:

County and municipal officers.

Custom house clerks.

Persons employed by the United States in the transmission of the mails.

Employes of armories, arsenals and navy yards of the United States.

Persons employed in the service of the United States designated by the President to be exempted.

Pilots.

Mariners actually employed in sea service, within the United States.

Those who have persons dependent upon them.

Any persons members of religious sects or organizations, organized and existing May 18, 1917, whose then existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form.

Those found to be morally deficient.

ADDRESS FOR THE SOLDIER IN FRANCE.

The correct manner of addressing a letter, postcard or printed matter to a United States soldier in Europe, as announced today by the Postoffice Department, follows:

"John Smith, Jr.:

"Company ——— infantry, American Expeditionary Forces."

The name and address of the sender should be in the upper lefthand corner of the envelope.

No other than United States postage stamps are valid and on such mail matters domestic rates of postage apply.

"Under no circumstances," stated the department, "should patrons attempt to designate the location of the unit."

Postmasters will forward the mail to New York. A United States Mail Agency at Mardeaux, France, in charge of Marcus H. Bush, will see that the letters reach their destination.

Mraulag Tells Why He Refused the Flag

That he could not endure the language of George Bertram Woodruff, president of the Elizabeth Excise Board, which, he held, was abusive of the German people, was the explanation yesterday by Mayor Victor Mraulag, of Elizabeth, a native of Austria, of his departure from a flag raising of Tenth Ward citizens at West Jersey and Grove streets, Elizabeth, Wednesday afternoon, without accepting the flag for the city, as had been scheduled. Toward the close of Mr. Woodruff's patriotic address, the Mayor said yesterday, he whispered to Arthur E. Warner, chairman, that if he got on the platform he would have to take up Mr. Woodruff's speech and that he deemed it neither the time nor the place to do so.

The incident has since been the talk of the city. In spite of the fact that the Mayor earlier made a patriotic address, stressing sacrifice for country, at a flag raising at the Sacred Heart School, his action in the Tenth Ward is widely criticized. Some, however, declare some sympathy for his stand.

The loyalty of 3,000,000 citizens of German birth or origin was defended in the Mayor's statement. Few of them, he said, would be found wanting in adherence to this country. But Mr. Woodruff's declarations, though he could not quote chapter and verse, he held to be directly contrary to President Wilson's injunction not to make the war situation harder for loyal German-American citizens by unguarded utterances.

In answering, Mr. Woodruff, between whom and Mayor Mraulag all has not been serene, stated yesterday:

"There was nothing in my speech to which a loyal American citizen could take exception."

The only words of Mr. Woodruff which other hearers thought could in any way cause a suspicion of reflection on Germans who have sworn allegiance to the United States was a statement that "German lies and German propaganda" were trying to poison the loyalty of people in America. Throughout his address Mr. Woodruff, however, strongly condemned German ruthlessness. He likened the Kaiser to Attila the Hun, and in a reference to the War of the Revolution declared that the Teutonic influence with those who sought to oppress the colonies was seen through the house of Hanover.

Mayor Mraviag's message to Mr. Warner was conveyed to Mr. Woodruff, who rose to make the simple announcement that the Mayor could not remain to receive the flag. The reason for his departure, however, soon became known.

Exemption Boards Face A Great Responsibility

The great responsibility that rests upon the shoulders of exemption boards appointed to pass upon the claims of men taken by draft is summed up by the Elizabeth Journal in the following pertinent editorial:

"The President warns the men who compose the exemption boards of the county that they have given to them the solemn and important task to "adjudicate the most sacred rights of the individual and to preserve unbroken the honor of the Nation." In other words, into their hands has been committed the lives of men and the honor of the country.

"There are about 9,600,000 men registered for service. All men between the ages of 21 and 31 years are included in the list. Men of all conditions, classes and circumstances are included. Out of the whole number the exemption boards are to choose those who are best qualified and can be best spared by the Government and by society for the fighting task of the Nation. Out of the eligibles, then, some 650,000 will be chosen by lot to enlist or fighting men. Approximately out of every group of fifteen registered men one will be taken for immediate military service.

"The choosing must be made in such a judicial manner that the best interests of our country will be served. Each individual man will be accorded fair treatment. The men who are best qualified to serve in uniform and whom society can best spare are the ones who ought to expect to be chosen and who should be chosen.

"It would be ill-treatment, indeed, to select one man and exempt another when both are on an equal footing. It would be fair treatment, under the circumstances, to make a distinction between men where one is better qualified than the other for military service or who is the loved one at home more dependent upon him, or even is more indispensible to the Government in the industrial task with which he is at present connected."

BISHOP McFAUL LEFT ALL TO CHARITY.

The will of the late Bishop James A. McFaul, of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Trenton, has been admitted to probate by Surrogate Bullock. No inventory of the estate has been made, but the bulk of it is left to his successor as Bishop to carry on the religious and charitable work planned by Bishop McFaul in his lifetime. There is a bequest of $5,000 to his sister, Mrs. Mary E. O'Connell, of Phillipsburg; $2,500 to his brother, John J. McFaul, of Kingston, and $2,000 to be divided among the domestics at the episcopal residence.

Thousands Used All Over the United States

Be sure the outside burial receptacle you place your dead in is airlight and waterproof and strong enough to withstand the tons of earth above it. Ten years of experience in manufacturing and burying between 250,000 and 300,000 Norwalks all over the United States is positive proof of their quality. Moulded out of carefully prepared reinforced cement—seasoned and coated without and within—the Norwalk will protect the most delicate casket from stain and blemish. Top and bottom are sealed together in plain sight—above the ground—and the vault becomes instantly one solid piece of protecting masonry that grows stronger with the passing years. Velie 6

The Real Proof of Engineering Skill

does not lie in the building of a changed or structurally different car every year, but in the development and improvement of a type which has proven its superiority and satisfaction by continued use. The Velie Biltwel Six has made an astonishing record in the last year. It created a demand which trebled our output, tested the capacity of a mile of Velie factory, and made a name for style, performance, and economy that you now hear wherever automobiles are discussed.

The question has always been, "What could be done to improve it?" The answer is, we simply added more values, and in spite of the enormous increase in the cost of raw materials, Velie Quality has not only been maintained, but much more given at a low price—$1185.

Draft "Lottery" Scheduled For Coming Week

Sometime between today and Wednesday, unless complications rise anew to prevent, work will be started at Washington on the picking, by means of lottery, the men who are to form our selective draft army of approximately 650,000 men, these to be chosen from the 9,600,000 between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-one who have registered. The forces of Provost Marshal Crowder are bending every effort to complete plans for the drawing but the failure of boards in several thickly populated sections to yet send in their lists is holding up the entire machinery. If all these returns can be received by tomorrow the drawing is certain to start not later than Wednesday.

When the drawing starts it is expected that there will be in the receptacle holding the capsules approximately 6,000 little squares of paper, each bearing a number from 1 up to the highest found necessary. Each number drawn will mean that every man in the country holding that figure will be called to serve in the new army. For instance, if 1,141 is one of those taken from the receptacle the person in each of the 4,550 local districts will know that he is one of those drafted. The low numbers drawn will mean one man from every district, but in the higher denominations it will affect only the districts heavily populated. This district, for instance, will not be affected by numbers over the total registered, which is 2,925.

The registered men in each district are numbered from one up to the total registered, and when the drawing at Washington takes place, a person named by President Wilson and the Provost Marshal General will take from the receptacle one of the capsules. This will be opened under the rules made by the President and the number read. The numbers, if the present plan is adhered to, will be drawn until the receptacle is empty.

After the drawing the Provost Marshal will make a list of the numbers in the order they have been drawn. Then the quotas of men to be supplied by each district for the first contingent to be called to the colors will be apportioned by the President and Governors of the various States. Counties and districts of over 30,000 will deduct from their quotas the men enlisted in the National Guard or regular army.

Then will be taken up the work of selecting, in order, the first 650,000 and will keep on down the list until the full quota in each case has been obtained over and above those exempted for various reasons. As soon after as possible those who will have to serve will be sent to the cantonments now being constructed in various parts of the country. According to present plans, those from this district, together with others, will go to the camp near Wrightstown.

Those men between the age of twenty-one and thirty-one will be responsible for ascertaining whether or not they are drawn. In brief, this is what each registrant is expected to do:

Go to your exemption board and find out what your red ink serial number is as soon as your board has finished numbering the cards for the big human lottery.

Watch for the drawing in Washington. Then find out whether you were drawn and the order in which you must appear.

After that learn when you must appear for physical examination.

In case of doubt as to any point, ask your local board about it.

There are the first steps the registrant must watch, but there will be others, and as every man is taxed with the responsibility of knowing requirements, it behooves the youth of America to keep close tabs on newspapers from now on.

Only the district board can receive claims for discharge on the ground that you are engaged in industry, including agriculture. Only decisions of district boards on industrial claims for discharge can be appealed. If you desire to appeal the decision of the district board to the President, you may do so within seven days of the date of mailing to you of the decision of the district board. As soon as your case is finally disposed of the Adjutant General of your State will notify you by mail that you have been selected for military service.

Notice that you have been selected for military service will not necessarily order you into service. The notice to report for military service will come when the Government is ready to receive you.

When the case of any registrant has been disposed of so far as the local board is concerned, the names of those not exempted or discharged will be posted. Claims for exemption for agricultural or industrial work must be made within five days after such posting and must go direct to the higher board, sitting for the judicial district. Appeals from the rulings of local boards must be made to the high boards within ten days.

Just where the exemption board for this district, composed of Plainfield, Fanwood and Scotch Plains, will hold sessions when the hearings for exemptions are started has not yet been announced, but it is probable that certain days will be set when they will meet in each of the three places.

Capture In This City of Rudolph Otto Has Helped Greatly In Spy Roundup

As recent developments have shown, the capture in this city sometime ago of Rudolph Otto has helped greatly in the roundup of alien enemies, especially in this State.

New Jersey agents of the Department of Justice, working under the direction of the United States District Attorney Charles F. Lynch, whose latest activities led to the capture of Professor Jonathan A. W. Zennick, a wireless expert, has set the pace in the nation-wide campaign to break down whatever espionage system Germany may have established in this country.

The arrest of Zennick at Boonton was followed quickly by that of Carl Heynen and E. A. Borgemeister, two suspects in New York. Spy operations are regarded as the likely way in which advance information crossed the sea concerning the Pershing expedition to France.

The suddenness with which the government descended upon the three men, who, it is now admitted, are the important quarries sought with the inauguration of the new operations to imprison spies, is traceable in a degree to earlier operations by the agents working in this State, which resulted in the interment of Rudolph Otto, who for many months lived in this city on Martine avenue. Otto, who at one time was German Consul at Jamaica, proved an important prisoner and what was learned following his interment is said to have guided the government operatives in their weaving of a net which finally ensnared Zennick, Heynen and Borgemeister.

The Department of Justice agents who took Zennick from his boarding house in Boonton also took with them a bulky package which is believed to have contained much damaging evidence against the prisoner. It was learned that in his belongings, Zennick, who was regarded in Boonton as a docile and inoffensive man, but one with the faculty of making friends, had a regular file of newspaper clippings, from which a detailed history of the war might be obtained.

Heynen and Borgemeister were arrested in an office in the Hamburg-American Steamship Company's building at 45 Broadway, New York, formerly occupied by Dr. Heinrich Albert, who was financial attache of the German Embassy in this country. Borgemeister was in the banking business here and later became secretary of Dr. Albert. Heynen used to have an office on the eighteenth floor of 60 Wall street. Captain von Papen formerly had offices in this building.

Heynen was put under direct observation of secret service men, it is said, before Count von Bernstorff left this country. His relations were so close with the Embassy that government officials thought he would leave with von Bernstorff. When he remained here it was understood that he stayed to look after financial interests of prominent Germans, including, it is reported, the Kaiser's supposed interests in a large German brewery in the West, and in the Hamburg-American Steamship line.

It is said that Heynen is regarded as about the best posted German in the country about conditions in Mexico. He represented the Hamburg-American line in Mexico at the time Admiral Fletcher seized Vera Cruz and is said to have figured in some of the movements of the steamer Ypiranga, which was prevented from landing arms believed destined for Huerta.

Agitation For Public Market

Plainfield, it was learned this morning, may have a community market in a short time patterned after those already in existence in a number of cities throughout the State. The matter has been brought to the attention of Mayor Calkins by a number of prominent citizens and he in turn has promised to select a number of citizens to form a committee and discuss the matter with the Plainfield Food Commission. A number of sites for such a project have already been spoken of and will be considered by the committee.

Those who are interested in the movement for a public market are of the opinion that it would result in lowered prices, as has been the case in other cities. The extensive farming that is being carried on in this vicinity would also offer a field for fresh produce without having it shipped from a distant point.

At least eight other cities in New Jersey now have community markets and in every case they have been found to be a means of lowering the cost of many commodities. Westfield, Summit, Elizabeth, Dover, Morristown and Newark are already included in the list and people flock to the markets by thousands daily, carrying market baskets and bartering.

Through the co-operation of the Bureau of Markets and the express companies it has been made possible for the selling of produce brought direct from South Jersey. The State Department of Agriculture is encouraging the idea and is of the opinion that it is possible to establish a market in practically every city in the State.

Already it has been asked where such a market could be located in Plainfield. One of the spots most favored by those interested is the Depew property on Watchung avenue. It is near the railroad and is accessible from all parts of the city. With very little expense it could be turned into a suitable site for such a market as would meet the needs of Plainfield people.

All Quiet Along Co. K "Front"

(Special Correspondence.)

"Somewhere in Jersey," July 12.—Everything remains quiet along the sector patroled by Company K, although the camp is in mourning over the disappearance of our big bull dog "Bum." He took French leave and we have not seen him for nearly a week. We had trained him until he was about ready to cleanup ten Germans alone and would have been a big help in the trenches. The "noms" started going to school at South Amboy this week and now have to go once a week in the future.

Recruiting seems to be picking up. We opened a recruiting station at Long Branch this week and already have sent seven applicants up to Plainfield for examination. At the present rate we will soon be up to war strength. We now have the largest company in the Second Regiment and undoubtedly will be the first unit to get its full complement.

We have no inkling as to when we will leave here or where we will go when we do. We have had orders to vacate two of our posts one at Ocean Port and the other at Point Pleasant. The men were paid yesterday and are a happy bunch today, especially as the eats at camp are the best yet since our cook returned from taking a course with the regular army cooks at Fort Hancock.

One thing that we really need to help us in camp life is a clothes wringer. We have a washing machine that was donated to us and if we could get the wringer our troubles would be nearly over. The men have to do their own washing and they have to depend chiefly on their hands to get the clothes dry enough to hang up.

FUNERAL OF MISS KROCK.

The funeral of Annie Krock, the 21-year-old Polish girl who committed suicide by taking Paris green, was held in the home of a Cedar street boarding house in Plainfield yesterday afternoon. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery. Miss Krock was employed at the home of J. A. Hassell, 731 West Seventh street, and inhibed the fatal draught Tuesday night about 9 o'clock, for what cause no one knows. She was discovered by members of the family who summoned Dr. Cregar and the physician had her removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where she died at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. The girl had several fits of despondency within the past month, but it was not realized that she was laboring under any serious trouble.

CODINGTON RESIGNS.

At the last meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders former County Attorney William R. Codington, of this city, tendered his resignation as lunacy commissioner with the suggestion that Councilman Francis J. Blatz be appointed his successor. Mr. Codington's resignation was accepted, but no action on his recommendation was taken.

$2,000 Bid To Rebuild Nott Engine

Prospects for the reconstruction of the Nott pumping engine at Fire Headquarters, recently found practically useless because of continual breakdowns in the motive mechanism, are contained in a report to the Councilmanic Fire Board from the Wisconsin Motor Company, of Milwaukee, Wis. An expert in the employ of this concern asserts that a new motor can be installed and several changes made at a total cost not exceeding $2,000 and which when completed will give the city from eight to ten years service from the machine. A decision in the matter is being held in abeyance until a second report is received from the Van Blurk Motor Company, of New York, which also sent one of its experts to look the Nott over. If the latter concern believes it is feasible to change the engine and submits a bid lower than $2,000 the contract may be awarded to the Van Blurk people.

What to do with the Nott machine, which was purchased only four years ago at a cost of about $8,000, has been a puzzling proposition for the city fathers. The apparatus met all requirements at the official test and was purchased after the insurance board of underwriters had recommended it. Shortly after the Nott was placed in service it began breaking down and on more than one occasion became useless while at a fire. The pumping capacity required for proper operation was more than the motor could stand and the machinery had to be torn down after every attempt to put it in service. The mechanics at Headquarters were forced to give up the job of trying to make the motor dependable and the best workmen from the local garages followed suit after several changes had been found of no avail. It came to a question of either discarding the machine entirely or rebuilding it about a new motor and for this reason the Wisconsin and Van Blurk concerns were called in.

The report now in the hands of the Fire Board points out all the changes that will have to be made but in the end declares it will be a saving of money to put the new motor in. The expert who examined the vehicle and put it through numerous tests is one of the best in the country and his arguments are considered good. If the present engine can be retained at a saving it seems best to do so instead of expending perhaps $10,000 for another apparatus to take its place. At the present time Headquarters has no pumping engine and is dependent upon the American-La France at the Netherwood house or the old steamer in case of an emergency. The business men of the city feel that no time should be lost in deciding the question one way or the other and for this reason the Fire Board is anxious to receive the second report before going ahead. The Van Blurk concern is expected to submit a statement during the next few days.

Ten More Join Local Company

One of the best weeks of the recruiting campaign that has been conducted in this city during the past month by Company K will come to a close on Sunday, when Captain Charles Peterson will be at the recruiting station all day. Of the several thousand youths in this district who are liable to draft the Captain figures there are enough who want to enlist before they are sent for to bring the company up to war strength. Lieutenant Philips and his men have recruited eleven men during the week, which brings the total number obtained thus far up to sixty-six.

Including those on duty "somewhere in Jersey," there are now about 160 men in the entire unit, which makes it larger than any other company in the Second Regiment. Captain Peterson has hopes of bringing his command up to war strength sooner than any of the other regimental commanders will.

Those who passed the examinations for entrance into the company this week were as follows: A. Talarico, J. Stebens, William Hinkohls, J. Lake, L. Durkee, A. Anderson, C. Heliker, H. Kornberg, R. Hunt, A. Camsioni and F. L. Sharp.

BAPTISTS HAD A GOOD DAY.

Although the annual excursion of the First Baptist and Temple Baptist churches departed from this city in a misty rain yesterday morning, and returned amid a downpour, the 800 or more pleasure seekers had a fine time at Asbury Park. The sun shown at the popular resort almost all day and the various attractions were thoroughly enjoyed by the children. No accident marred the day's program and the return was made to this city last night about 9 o'clock. The excursionists were carried to the shore in two sections, both trains provided by the Jersey Central being composed of the finest equipment.

Calkins Replies To State Query

If present plans considered by Adjutant General Barber to form the various Home Defense Leagues about New Jersey into an organization for service in this State it is certain that the Plainfield Home Defense League will not co-operate as a body, although the stand Mayor Calkins has taken in the matter in replying to a letter from Trenton leaves it optional with the members of the League whether or not they affiliate themselves individually with the movement. Thus far out of all the municipalities approached on the subject only fifty have replied and from the attitude taken by many of those the proposal does not seem to have been clearly set forth.

Mayor Calkins in his reply, explained at length why it would be impossible for Plainfield to join in the movement. The members of the Home Defense League, when the organization of that body was effected in March, were appointed by the Mayor, confirmed by the Council and sworn in as special officers thus becoming a part of the city police force. The Mayor has expressed the opinion that he did not see how any of the members could join the new movement and still continue in the local unit. Resignations, however, will be accepted in cases where they were tendered.

Another reason he gave was the impossibility of the men being able to devote more time than they are now doing. In case of an emergency, the Mayor assured in conclusion, the Plainfield League would be glad to co-operate.

Local Interest In Auto Merger

Plans are under way, it was learned this week, for the merging of the Chevrolet Motor Company and the General Motors Corporation. It is understood that both the Chevrolet brothers, Louis and Gaston, and the American Motors Corporation are affected by the proposed merger, but efforts to locate either of the brothers at their homes in this city yesterday were futile, and no one in authority at the plant of the American Motors Corporation on West Front street could be located.

More than one share of General Motors common stock, probably 1¼ or 1 1-3 shares based on estimated earning powers of Chevrolet and General Motors), it is understood, will be given for one of Chevrolet. Chevrolet stockholders are expected to vote on the proposition at their annual meeting next month.

Chevrolet capital stock authorized totals $80,000,000 of $100 par, of which $54,000,800 is outstanding. General Motors has $87,859,000 common of $100 par outstanding, $32,500,000 being authorized; also $20,000,000 authorized of 6 per cent. cumulative preferred, of which $19,980,000 is outstanding. The merger plans, it is understood, contemplate the retiring of all the General Motors preferred, which stock is subject to call at 110 and accrued dividends on any dividend date beginning November 1, 1918.

Chevrolet now controls General Motors through the ownership of $450,000 shares ($15,000,000 par) of General Motors common. To exchange stock on the basis proposed would require Chevrolet to increase its capitalization to at least $150,000,000.

Report had it the United Motors Corporation, which manufactures parts and accessories, would also be included in the merger, but authorities say this is unlikely. Chevrolet owns 100,000 shares of United Motors common stock of no par value of which 1,195,000 shares have been issued. Chevrolet also owns 13,650 shares of Scripps-Booth stock.

W. C. Durant, president of Chevrolet, and interests usually associated with him, have long had in mind the formation of a huge automobile organization capable of turning out between 250,000 and 400,000 cars annually.

Mr. Durant stated last March that Chevrolet shipments from January 1 to March 10 totalled 21,875 cars, while scheduled production this year has been estimated at 150,000 cars, against 69,682 shipped in 1916. The company, it is officially stated, is now receiving orders for more than 8,000 cars monthly than it can fill.

General Motors Corporation was chartered in Delaware last October to acquire the capital stock of the General Motors Company of New Jersey, which owned the entire capital stock of the Buick, Cadillac and Oakland Motor Car Companies, Olds Motor Works, General Motors Company of Michigan and other interests.

The name of the new organization has not yet been determined.

RECOVERED FROM ILLNESS.

According to word received at the Fullerton home, on West Seventh street, Donald Fullerton, a student officer at Fort Meyer, Va., has recovered sufficiently from his illness to leave the post hospital and work.

State Will Spend $78,000 In Rebuilding Park Avenue

The schedule for road work to be done during the coming year under State supervision has just been approved by the New Jersey State Highway Commission and among other items includes the appropriation of $75,000 for the permanent reconstruction of three miles of lower Park avenue, starting at the city line and continuing past the tracks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. A delegation of prominent men from Plainfield and vicinity numbering over 100 returned from Trenton last night highly elated with the result of a hearing held in the Senate chamber of the State house yesterday afternoon during the course of which John W. Herbert, chairman of the Commission, announced the decision of that body to make provision for the improvement.

The delegation had little trouble in convincing the commissioners that Park avenue was in such condition that it was imperative that steps to reconstruct be taken at once, as Mr. Herbert explained that that body was already aware of just how bad it was. After receiving numerous protests from motorists along Park avenue the people all over this section of the State, engineers had inspected the road and brought back a report that caused the Commission to sanction the project without first hearing the large delegation that visited the Capitol with the fully intended purpose of either getting what was wanted or an explanation of why nothing could be granted.

Work on the rebuilding of Park avenue is to start as soon as the contracts can be awarded and will be pushed forward as quickly as possible. At yesterday's meeting there was a discussion as to whether it should be constructed as to cross over the Lehigh Valley tracks or go by way of Oak Tree, but the former course was decided upon as being the better. As to just what material will be used the Commission was unable to say but it was made clear that it would be of the best, costing approximately $25,000 a mile. The Commission also made it plain that provision will be made each year to construct the road further until it has been made of a permanent nature its entire length.

Contractors working under the direction of the Middlesex county Freeholders are now engaged in making repairs to the section of road that will be rebuilt. They include the taking off of the present surface and laying an inch and a half of stone to be rolled in as a binder.

In order to give the Commission an idea as to what Plainfield is trying to do toward making Park avenue passable, at least as far as within the city limits is concerned, Mayor Calkins and other city officials who made the trip explained the plans already under way to repair the thoroughfare. Because of the extensive work to be done in other parts of the city, Park avenue will this year be only repaired from Ninth street to the Middlesex line, and from Fourth street to Ninth it is to be permanently rebuilt. Each succeeding year, it was explained, the permanent work will be carried out further until the line is reached.

Those who made the trip left this city yesterday morning shortly before noon and included Councilman Charles Smineck, Judge Hiram Steele, David Smalley, W. S. Tyler, Champlain Riley, Judge William Newcorn, Morris C. Van Arsdale, Rufus Delafield, Assemblyman William N. Runyon and many others. At Trenton luncheon was served before the hearing started at 2:30.

Wonderful Growth of Local Concern Due to Present War

Although few Plainfielders are probably aware of the fact, a new industry has sprung up in this city within so comparatively few months and besides becoming in that short space of time one of the largest in Plainfield is now a national factor. The Standard Aero Works, of North avenue, is that concern and an article in the current issue of "Aviation" gives an idea of the growth it has experienced.

The Standard concern started at first with one factory formerly used by a company making false hair. The original plant had a flood-space of 22,000 square feet, but after extensive orders from the Government were received the quarters were found to be entirely too small. On April 1 of this year the old Krom factory on North avenue was taken over, adding 27,000 square feet of space to the concern. After this plant had also grown too small additions were built to both main factories by Alexander Milne, of this city. They were both completed about June 1, one having an era of 32,000 square feet and the other of 35,000 square feet. The total floor-space now in use is about 106,000 square feet.

The Standard Aero Works is now engaged entirely in the construction of planes for the Government and, with night and day force working, will continue at top speed for the duration of the war at least.

The bosses. Conferences between the two have been held frequently in perfect harmony and with mutual benefit to both. The present officers of the Local are as follows: President, William Beigner; financial and corresponding secretary, Charles Pagliuccia; recording secretary, Robert Turnstall; treasurer, Albert Braun. The committee which arranged the reception and anniversary is composed of: Charles Pagliuccia, George Hafner and Dominick Vitti.

Joe Mirabile was last employed by William Feiring and resigned his position to join Company K. Cervetto and Perretti were employed by William Feiring, of North avenue, and enlisted with Troop B and expect to be called for service about July 25.

Reception Tendered Soldier Boy Barbers

Alex Cervetto, Dominick Paretti and Joseph Mirabile, three local young men who have joined the colors, were given a most enthusiastic farewell reception by Local 315, International Journeymen Barbers' Union, of which they are members, Tuesday night. The affair took place in Moose Hall on West Front street, and was attended by forty members and friends of the guests of honor. An elaborate supper, served at 11 o'clock by George Egel, was a big feature of the gathering.

Music during the evening was supplied by an orchestra, composed of Edward Watson, piano, and M. Ricchuito and Frank Caruso, mandolins. Songs were sung by Joseph Santa, Dominick Vitti, Charles Pagliuccia, Jr., who also gave piano numbers, and William Reinman. Mr. Reinman made a big hit with an original selection, "I'm Way Inside and Will Be Out the Outside When I Wend My Way to Prideville." It was in the form of a topical song and was gotten off with plenty of "business."

William Beigner, president of the Local, acted as toastmaster for a session of speech-making. All the boys who have been called or enlisted men for many years congratulated them on their determination to help Uncle Sam win the big fight and said all manner of good things about them. They meant every word they said and when Messrs. Cervetto, Paretti and Mirabile are on the battlefields thousands of miles from home they will be comforted by the thought that they carry the absolute best wishes and respect from every member of the Plainfield Barbers' Union. The trio responded as best they could to the commendation, but as one of them put it, "they would do eventually prove themselves fighters and not talkers."

The reception was combined with an anniversary celebration of the organization of Local 315, which was sixteen years old last Monday. It now has thirty-two members and is financially is one of the strongest Locals in the State. The best of relations exist between the members and

FRIENDS' CONFERENCE ENDS ON MONDAY MORNING

The conference of the Philadelphia Friends in the Friend's meeting house at Watchung avenue and East Third street, will continue until Monday. Tonight at 7:45 there will be a social gathering at the meeting house. Tomorrow at 10:30 there will be a group discussion on "International Relations." At 7:45 in the evening by a lecture, when Elbert Russell, former professor at Johns-Hopkins University, will make an address. Sunday morning there will be a meeting for prayer service at 10:30 and a lecture in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. Fellowship meeting will be held at 7:30 in the evening. The closing session of the conference will be held on Monday morning at 9:30 and will be in the form of a devotional meeting.

Yesterday there were no meetings held, as those attending the conference went on an excursion to Lake Hopatcong, where an enjoyable time was had.

SAFE IN FRANCE.

Word of the safe arrival in France of Alexander R. Ralston, son of Rev. Edward S. Ralston, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, this city, was just been received by the young man's father. Ralston is enlisted as an ambulance driver. The steamer on which the local recruit had passed had among its passengers two sons of Colonel Roosevelt, Archibald Roosevelt and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

Chester Arthur Zeller, Plainfield Boy Picked by Government Artist As Uncle Sam's Representative Marine

The following article, taken from the New York Sun of last Sunday's issue, refers to Chester Arthur Zeller, a son of Joseph Zeller, for many years a resident of the Dunraway Hill sections of Watchung. The young man in question has a wide acquaintance in Plainfield, and also has numerous local relatives. Among them are an uncle, John A. Zeller, of Linden avenue; an aunt, Mrs. Mary Zeller, of Manning avenue, and a cousin, Theodore Zeller, of Leland avenue. Mrs. Henry Windham, of East Front street, is a distant cousin and her home has frequently been the stopping place of Chester Arthur Zeller on his many visits to Plainfield. The young marine whose picture is now to be seen in every city and hamlet in the United States, is well remembered by Plainfielders who likened the artist's drawing to Chester Arthur Zeller before they were aware of the fact that he had been used as the model. The boy's father lived in Watchung or Plainfield, and many in the United States, is well remembered by Plainfielders who likened the artist's drawing to Chester Arthur Zeller before they were aware of the fact that he had been used as the model. The Pride of Every Farm

Every farmer wants a good barn to protect his stock from the weather. He knows that a good barn is a good investment.

Other materials than wood have been used in barn building, but nothing has yet been found that makes as warm and dry a barn as a well built wood barn. And the best wood barn is one built of

WHITE PINE

White Pine stays where you put it, without opening at the joints. It doesn't warp, split, twist or rot, even after years of exposure in all kinds of weather. Because of its soft, yielding grain it is easy to work and easy on tools.

Other woods are good in protected places but for use out-of-doors, White Pine gives the longest and most satisfactory service.

We have practical working plans, specifications and bill of materials of the barn shown above or any other farm building. Come in and get them or let us send them to you.

Enlisted Here, Dunellen Man Had Celebration in Elizabeth

Holding an imaginary revolver in his pocket, Sylvester Reinhardt, 23, of Dunellen, overpowered the driver and a physician in a General Hospital ambulance at Seventh and Livingston streets, Elizabeth, Monday night, leaped from the machine and kept a crowd of about 200 people at bay until Detective Sergeants Ward and Manning, with Patrolman Neubeck, came and took him into custody. Reinhardt was wild with drink.

The ambulance in which Reinhardt was riding was called to the Elizabethport station shortly after 8 o'clock. It was said that the young man had been injured by either falling or jumping from a train there. Reinhardt was placed in the machine and the automobile started for the hospital. The physician noticed that the patient was acting queerly, but he did not look for any trouble on the way.

At Seventh and Livingston streets the young man jumped up from his seat and took hold of the chauffeur by the neck. He then put his hand in his pocket, holding it as though he had a gun in the coat, and commanded the driver to stop the ambulance. After the chauffeur obeyed Reinhardt ordered the doctor to leave the car with the driver. The drink-crazed man then got out of the ambulance himself, taking a defiant position alongside of the machine.

By that time a crowd had begun to collect around the ambulance. Reinhardt still retained hold of the "gun," so that no one desired to venture near. From 8:15 o'clock until 9:15 he kept the crowd which had then grown to large proportions, at bay. At that point the police arrived.

Detectives Ward and Manning took the situation in hand and closed in on Reinhardt. Everyone was waiting for a report from the "gun," but the detectives soon found that Reinhardt had no revolver. In spite of this fact the prisoner put up a stubborn battle. Ward finally succeeded in placing the handcuffs on him, with the assistance of Manning and Patrolman Neubeck, and the young man was returned to the ambulance. The journey to the hospital was then resumed.

At the hospital the drink victim acted so boisterously that the police again had to be called to remove Reinhardt to police headquarters. The latter tamed down then. Ward taking him to headquarters without handcuffing him.

After a night's rest in a cell the Dunellen man was a different person Tuesday morning. He sent for Ward, with whom he had fought so vigorously, and apologized over and over. Ward felt that the young man had learned a lesson from the experience and pleaded for him in police court, suggesting that he be made to take the pledge. There it was also brought out that Reinhardt had enlisted in the army in this city Monday. He was to report at Newark at noon Tuesday, he told the court.

"I do not want you to go into Uncle Sam's army bearing any stigma," said Judge Mahon to the defendant, a well appearing, and physically perfect young man. "I think this will be a lesson to you, to keep away from drink, so I shall suspend sentence on you."

Mosquito Extermination Work Still Continues

The present season has started with the best prospects for effective work in mosquito extermination that the State has ever seen, according to a report sent out by the State Experiment Station. The marshes and uplands are better drained, the workers have more experience and the funds are larger, but offsetting these advantages are the higher cost of labor and the possibility of a difficult season.

In view of the location of the mills ramps on the edges of stagnant waters near bridges which they are guarding, local outbreaks of malaria among the guardsmen seem likely to occur, and it is hoped that those in charge of the soldiers' health will not fail to take measures to meet this danger.

Union county plans to continue the patrol of her entire area and to destroy breeding wherever found. Additional drainage is now being cut in certain inadequately drained areas of the salt marsh. All of the drainage of work around Plainfield has been gone over. The inspectors declare this end of the county remarkably free from the pest.

RIFLE RANGE OPEN.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing every Saturday from 9:30 a. m. until 5:00 p. m., the rifle range of the Independent Gun Club will be open for members of the Plainfield Rifle Club. The rifles and ammunition are being furnished by the Government.

MERCER

A highly-developed four-cylinder motor that hurls its power to the rear wheels through a short, rigid crankshaft and sturdy transmission explains the extraordinary might and smoothness of Mercer performance. More cylinders and a longer crankshaft would be a burden. And the charm of Mercer grace and appointments has identified it closely with social distinction. Deliveries at once.

Red Cross Adopts Working Schedule

Following the dedication services last Sunday afternoon, the Ginna homestead on Watchung avenue was opened this week as the headquarters of the local chapter of the Red Cross. Already a schedule of working hours has been arranged and all week women have been flocking to headquarters to help make bandages and other articles for the use of the Nation's soldiers. The headquarters are to be opened every week-day, closing at noon on Saturdays, and the working schedule given out by Mrs. F. W. Goddard, who is in charge of that branch of the work, is as follows: Surgical dressings, Tuesday all day; Wednesday, mornings; Friday, all day. Sewing, Mondays and Thursdays. Starting last night and continuing every Thursday night the sewing class started by the National Special Aid Society will meet for the purpose of allowing those who do not have time during the day to work.

Owing to the generosity of residents interested in the movement and to many of the local merchants it was necessary to expend but $50 in the purchasing of furniture and equipment. Everything else, from American flags to soap, was donated.

Former Teacher Here Weds at Jamesburg

Mrs. Blanche Mathews, widow of the late William Mathews, a well-known merchant of Jamesburg, became the bride on Saturday night at 8 o'clock of Franz Johnson, also well known at Jamesburg, but recently a member of the faculty of the Washington School, this city, as instructor in manual training. The ceremony took place at the bride's home at Jamesburg and was performed by Rev. W. B. J. Edgar, pastor of the Jamesburg Presbyterian church. None but immediate relatives of the two families were in attendance. Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party was driven to New Brunswick, where a repast was served at the Hotel Klein. Later the couple left for a trip through New York State and on its completion will make their home at Jamesburg.

A little romance is attached to this marriage. Mrs. Johnson engaged her present husband as manager of her general store business in Pennington at the death of her husband several years ago. Before coming to Jamesburg the Mathews family conducted the principal hotel at that place for a number of years. Mr. Johnson was very popular while in Plainfield and when he retired from the local teaching faculty a short time ago to play professional baseball with a Southern League he carried the good wishes of all his Plainfield friends. He is a brother to Miss Helga Johnson, of this city, who is instructor of the "opportunity class" in the Stillman building, at Fifth street and Arlington avenue.

Tiny Plainfield Miss Holds Traveling Record

When a Pennsylvania train pulled into the Camden terminal Sunday night the conductor handed over to a policeman the tiniest lone traveler he had ever carried. She was Margaret Wood, four years old, and her home is in this city. She had boarded the train at Perth Amboy, where her parents are visiting. The conductor thought she was with her mother, but long before Camden was reached discovered that she was alone.

Placed in the care of the matron at the City Hall at Camden, the little traveler, one of the brightest and most winsome youngsters the officials have seen in a long time, naively said: "I just wanted to take a ride." Told that her parents must be terribly worried Margaret tossed her brown curls and said: "Oh, I was going back home." She was given every attention and when called for yesterday bade the matron and officers a merry good-bye.

Arthur Warner May Seek Judge Runyon's Position

Now that political dopesters have about decided that Judge William N. Runyon, of this city, is to run for State Senator, although he has not yet announced his candidacy, they are beginning to search about for a probable winner to campaign for his place in the Assembly at the coming election. According to reports coming from the other end of the county, Arthur E. Warner is to be the man to receive the support of the Republican party at the polls. Warner was a runner-up for Morgan two years ago and has been "building" his fences about the county ever since it was first rumored that Judge Runyon would probably seek the Senatorship.

There has been some talk of Peter J. Olde seeking an Assembly nomination, but the fact that Olde was only recently made secretary of the Union County Tax Board, giving him some reward "for services rendered," will probably keep him out of the contest. Charles L. Morgan and Arthur N. Pierson, the other two Assemblymen from this county, will again seek re-election.

PLANS APPROVED.

Plans approved by the State Board of Tenement House Supervision for the first part of Jelly Brindle Goode for five two-story frame structures to be erected on Johannis place by Abram Haas. The cost will be $20,00.

PERSONAL

Frederick Atlee, of Sherman avenue, returned home Monday after a two weeks' visit with relatives at Ridgefield Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Curran and children, of Jersey City, will return home tomorrow after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Curran, of Arlington avenue.

Peyton Schenck, son of Mrs. A. R. Parkhurst, of Grant avenue, who is a member of the Officers' Reserve Corps at Fort Meyer, Va., spent Sunday at the home of his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brokaw Smith, of New York, were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Smith's parents, Captain and Mrs. William C. Smith, of Grandview avenue.

William Robinson, of Rye N. Y., has returned home after a visit with his uncle, John Donnelly, of West Fourth street.

Arthur Brown and son, William Brown, of Asbury Park, were guests this week of Mr. Brown's brother-in-law, Edwin H. Bennett, of Westervelt avenue. Mr. Brown is a member of the Asbury Park Bathing House Corps.

Charles R. Borden, of West Seventh street, is confined to his home with a broken leg received in a fall on the Fourth of July.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Strong, of Central avenue, have gone to Massachusetts for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maguire and son, Joseph, Jr., of John street, are spending two weeks with relatives at Providence, R. I., Mr. Maguire's former home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cook and daughters, of East Seventh street, left a few days ago for the Pocono Mountains to remain during the summer.

Miss Ethel E. Humphrey, of Madison avenue, a member of the local Nursing Bureau, has gone to Rome, N. Y., to spend a portion of her vacation with relatives.

William F. Doane and family, of East Sixth street, have gone to Moscow, Pa., for their summer outing.

Miss Mary McCathy, of East Sixth street, and Miss Margaret McCarthy, of West Sixth street, left Sunday for Denville, where they will spend two weeks.

Mrs. William J. Firstbrook and daughter, of Westervelt avenue, are enjoying the ocean breezes at Asbury Park. They will remain for the month of July.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Botsford, of Third street and Muhlenberg place, are spending two weeks at Providence, R. I., with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. O'Keefe, who were married in St. Mary's church on July 4, have returned from their wedding trip to Atlantic City and are making their home on Arlington avenue. Mrs. O'Keefe was formerly Miss Mary Ellis, daughter of James Ellis, of Arlington avenue. Mr. O'Keefe is a carpenter and has been living at 442 West Fifth street.

Mrs. Martha B. Colthar, of 149 Duer street, suffered a paralytic stroke at her home a few days ago. Her condition is quite serious because of her advanced age. Mrs. Colthar is the mother of Chauncey F. Colthar, for many years connected with the Plainfield Daily Press, but now in the employ of the Plainfield Trust Company.

Mrs. Robert Neylon and children, of Detroit, are visiting Mrs. Neylon's mother, Mrs. Mary Bray, of Plainfield avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Swift Brengle, the latter having been formerly Miss Maude Catherine Jackson, have gone to San Juan, Porto Rico, where Mr. Brengle holds a government position as assistant to the Attorney General at San Juan. The couple were married at Arlington last week, the ceremony being performed by the bridegroom's father, Colonel Samuel Logan Brengle, of the Salvation Army. Mrs. Brengle attended the Plainfield High School and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Jackson, of East Fifth street. The bridegroom, who lived at Arlington, was graduated from Wesleyan University in 1911 and the Harvard Law School in 1914.

Henry C. Krebs, of the borough, superintendent of the Somerset county schools, has been attending the summer school at Ocean City during the past week.

Michael L. Shannon, of Watchung avenue, and Peter Herzog, of Somerset street, have returned from a visit to Atlantic Highlands and an inspection of Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook.

Hugh McDonnell, Jr., of Park avenue, is home from a short visit to Harrisburg, Pa., where he was the guest of Thomas J. Griffen, a former Plainfielder now connected with the Bell Telephone Company at the Pennsylvania Capitol.

Miss Marjory Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Green, of West Seventh street and Monroe avenue, is spending two weeks at Rutherford with her grandmother.

Thomas Reddy, of Arlington avenue, has been discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital and is again able to be at work.

Miss Rose J. Goddard, of Brooklyn, and Rudolph Heinold, of 114 Duer street, the borough, were married at the home of the bride in Brooklyn last Sunday night. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. W. Scheurman and was witnessed by a gathering which included a number of friends from this city. Following a wedding trip the couple will reside at 96 Summit avenue. Mr. Heinold is employed as messenger at the Plainfield postoffice.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dodge, of East Fifth street, returned home the forepart of the week after a ten days' stay at Mountain Lakes, Morris county.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lee, of Manning avenue, the borough, have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Stryker, of East Whitehouse.

Miss Alice Moran, of Hampton, is spending a portion of the summer with her cousin, Miss Cecilia Fee, of Spruce street.

Miss Benice Peck, of Park avenue, has been entertaining her mother, Mrs. M. B. Peck, of Holyoke, Mass.

David Evans and "Budd" Lyon, of Watchung avenue, left Wednesday for their former homes in Ashley, Pa., previous to enlisting in the United States Army. Mr. Evans was employed for nearly a year at the Spicer plant in South Plainfield but more recently had been with the Standard Aero Corporation, where Mr. Lyon was also employed.

John J. Carney, of Roanake, Va., is spending a few days at the home of his mother, Mrs. Eliza Carney, of the borough. Mr. Carney was called North by the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Jacob Voehl.

Miss Margaret Mead, of High Bridge, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Frank Hill, of Spruce street. Mrs. John Brown, of West Fourth street, another sister of Miss Mead's, is spending some time at the home of her mother in High Bridge.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Alice Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Albert Lane, of East Seventh street, to Thomas Henri Huff, son of Rev. and Mrs. Henri M. G. Huff, of Overbrook, Pa. The wedding date has not been set.

Mrs. Hansen, of Wallace place, accompanied by her son, Ray Hansen, and daughter, Marie Hansen, will leave today for Stanford, Conn., where they will make their home in the future. Ray Hansen having secured an excellent position in that city. Mr. and Mrs. Neals Mackinson, of East Second street, are the parents of a ten-pound girl born to them Tuesday.

Gugenheim Concern Honors Earl Moran

In recognition of faithful and efficient service accorded the concern in the nine years he has been with it, the board of directors of the Chilean Exploration Company, of New York, have elected C. Earl Moran, of Mountain avenue, assistant secretary of the organization. The position is a very important one as the Chilean Exploration is a subsidiary of the Guggenheims and is capitalized at $12,000,000. The company owns, leases and develops copper and other mines in Chile, South America. The main offices are in New York.

Mr. Moran is a Plainfield boy and a graduate of the Plainfield High School, where he was very popular with his classmates. He resided for a long time on West Fifth street, but more recently removed to his present home, the borough. Some years ago Mr. Moran married Miss Elsie Knowlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Knowlton, of West Fifth street, who is also a graduate of the Plainfield High School.

Miss Helen Callahan Accepted by Red Cross

Plainfield's quota of young women who have offered their services to their country as Red Cross nurses has had another addition the past week in the acceptance of Miss Helen F. Callahan, daughter of Thomas Callahan, of East Second street. The necessary examinations after application had been made were all passed successfully, both mental and physical. Miss Callahan will go abroad as a member of the Brooklyn Navy Base Hospital, one of the three Navy hospital units in the country in charge of Dr. Brinswade. She has been notified to be in readiness for a call between July 15 and August 1 and is now at the home of her father awaiting the summons.

Miss Callahan is a graduate of the Brooklyn Hospital Training School and has been practicing the nursing profession in Brooklyn. She has been very successful and her enlistment in the Red Cross service means a valuable addition to the nursing staff. The Brooklyn Navy unit is made up of doctors and nurses from the Brooklyn and Long Island College hospitals, with forty college young men in addition to orderlies. The continent has its own ambulance and all supplies and has recruited its own commissary department. So far as is known Miss Callahan and her associates are to be sent immediate duty in the Northern France sector as soon as possible after landing in the war zone. Miss Anna Callahan, a sister of Miss Helen, is also a graduate nurse and is completing her Red Cross examinations for the purpose of doing duty in a French field hospital.

FREEHOLDERS RECEIVE BIDS ON REMODELING.

Bids for the remodeling of a county building at Rahway avenue and Union street, Elizabeth, to be used as an office for the county engineer, were opened Wednesday afternoon by the building committee of the Board of Freeholders. The bidders submitted their figures on revised specifications, after it was decided that the original plans provided for too large an expenditure.

Ellis P. Applegate and Peter H. Meisel were appointed to act with the building committee in securing the bids.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS AND INDIVIDUAL LOSSES.

Installing the new permanent pavement has placed another thorn in the side of the suffering public beside the one brought about by the tearing up of streets in preparation for what was coming. The sore spot is now in individual places where business concerns have been shut off by the blocking of certain thoroughfares where the work is under way. One section is East Second street, between Park and Watchung avenues, and another is East Fifth street, between Watchung avenue and Richmond street. The majority rule has been put in force and the individual has had to suffer. On Second street the proprietor of a garage has been shut off from the outside world in a business sense by the digging of a foot and a half excavation where bricks are to be laid. An automobile can neither enter or leave the place, consequently he is out $200 worth of storage in the month that the "embargo" will continue, not to mention all the transient business that would come his way. This particular instance is duplicated on a smaller scale at an East Fifth street garage where the nearness to the corner of Watchung avenue has helped to overcome a part of the difficulty temporarily. The percentage of profits at the latter place will show a big decrease before the pavement is completed and the owner of the business will have to stand it all by himself as will everyone else who is caught in the meshes of the paving net.

No financial redress is to be had for the loss of business. No one blames the merchant or garage owner for the vigorous "kick" that is being made but the only consolation he is to get is the fact that some other fellow will suffer later and in the end the community will have a fine system of streets. Instances of this kind of individual loss are to be found in any part of the country where civic improvements require a temporary stopping of traffic. The claim for individual damages has frequently been taken to the courts but there is no record of any recompense being made. It is up to the loser to grin and bear it.

It does seem, though, that some provision could have been made for taking care of the individual when the city's representatives signed the agreements with the contractors. This was done to a certain extent in the matter of East Fifth street but it was dependent upon the manner in which the Public Service Corporation would lay the double track being installed. If one set of rails was put down at a time that side of the street could be closed up for paving and the other side left open. The Public Service, however, gave the contract to the Newark Paving Company, which is also doing the brick paving for the city and the officials of the latter found it more convenient to do all the track work at once. That took East Fifth street off the traffic map. The contractors say as they do of East Second street, that the thoroughfare is open to vehicles, but woe betide the automobilist who attempts to get through. There was a verbal agreement about doing East Second street half way at a time for a special convenience of the Fire Department but this seems to have fallen through. The apparatus is using an alleyway into Watchung avenue as its temporary exit. There is a statement that Park avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, is to be paved in two sections, the meeting point being in front of Thompson's garag for the special benefit of that particular business. There is no doubt but what it means a whole lot to Mr. Thompson, but if it can be done in this case why could it not be done for the man on Second street or the man on Fifth street? It seems to the ordinary observer that one is entitled to just as much consideration as the other.

FURTHER APPRECIATION OF THE HOME DEFENSE.

An editorial printed in these columns on June 29, detailing the great amount of arduous work being gone through by the local Home Defense League in preparation for emergencies that may some day arise and commending the faithful volunteers who are putting aside personal pleasures for the public good, has brought a number of appreciative letters from officials and others. The tone of each epistle is to the effect that the Home Defense League is doing a splendid work but the community was not fully cognizant of it until the Record gave a full explanation of what it meant to be one of this hard working organization. What this paper said was in absolute justice to the league which has not been given the consideration it deserves but in justice to the residents of Plainfield it may be mentioned that they are beginning to comprehend the importance of the project. The time is coming when they will understand it better.

Any one who was compelled to be out in the severe rain storm of Tuesday night can sympathize with the Home Defense men called upon to do their customary "trick" on that occasion. A squad composed of six of the members who, in private life, have all the comforts of a fashionable home and busy offices to preside over during the day, reported for duty promptly at 8 o'clock Tuesday night just at a time when Jupiter Pluvius was doing his utmost to dampen the ardor of any but the stoutest heart. This determined half dozen went to the Netherwood water plant and for two dreary hours maintained their lonely vigil in the rain splashed darkness. At 10 o'clock they relinquished their guard duty to mount bicycles and pedal to distant parts of the city as police apprentices just as the skeptical citizen with no obligation was preparing to turn down the covers of a cozy bed. Midnight found the grim sextette drenched to the skin and greatly fatigued from their unusual task but they reported for duty at their respective business places the next morning, outwardly showing no signs of their laborious "night before" but inwardly feeling the satisfaction that they had done their little bit toward preparation. That is one of the instances of what the Home Defense League is doing. Every night adds more to the list. The Record is only too glad to applaud the work of these men and in return is glad to receive recognition from its readers.

While it was not written with the idea of being published, we have secured permission to reproduce the following appreciated letter from Marion S. Ackerman, a member of the Home Defense commission, and a citizen who is lending his every energy for the welfare of the community beside giving three sons to Uncle Sam's cause:

"July 7th, 1917.

"Plainfield Record,
"193 North Avenue,
"Gentlemen:

"The Editorial in your issue of the 29th ultimo concerning the Home Defense League is most timely and sustaining. The members of the League have been working hard to reach a point of efficiency and the recognition of that work by you is very encouraging. The present course of drill and service is preparing the League to meet promptly and effectively any emergency which may arise. An intimate knowledge of the City, the details of police work, call boxes and posts, will undoubtedly prove most valuable should the Home Defense League suddenly be called into action, and the knowledge thus gained by the men will also serve as a protection to them.

"It is good to learn that the people are being advised through you, of the self-denial and excellent work being done by the members of the Home Defense League. The League, as you know, is composed of both commuters and local citizens, whose attendance has been most satisfactory and they work steadily in a spirit of seriousness and enthusiasm

"Thanking you for the way you have advised the people, I am,

"Sincerely yours,
"MARION S. ACKERMAN."

THE COMPETITION OF THE COMMUNITY MARKET.

Eight cities in the State have started a community market for the purpose of bringing the farmer's products direct to the consumer, thus affording a great saving to the people so much in need of lower prices. The movement has reached Plainfield, but with it comes the complex proposition of interference with the trade of merchants who handle green goods and who are substantial tax-payers. The question was asked directly in Summit a few nights ago as to how the opposition would work out and the explanation is contained in the following excellent editorial taken from the columns of the Elizabeth Daily Journal:

"Summit is preparing to follow the example recently set by Westfield and Elizabeth and establish a community farmers' market. There is no question about that city making a success of such a venture, providing it is carefully planned and well managed. It will be necessary to interest a number of farmers to become steady patrons of the market. The citizens of that city, no doubt, will patronize the farmers well enough to make their effort profitable.

"When the matter was presented before the Common Council of Summit by prominent Westfield individuals who had a part in managing the market in that place, the question was raised whether a market of the kind does not offer unfair competition with the local merchants. The question has been often asked. It is not always readily answered. It was answered before the Summit Council that the interests of its 10,000 residents are of greater consequence in these times than the interests of a few merchants.

"It is a fact, however, that merchants in Westfield and Elizabeth are not finding too much fault. They do not appear to feel the competition so much as might be supposed. In Elizabeth the hucksters are more apt to feel the competition.

"When it is recalled that the community market is designed primarily to benefit the poorer class, the best reason for the development of the community market idea is given. It is not expected that the more well-to-do class will long patronize a market after it is well established. It requires effort to attend the market in person and to carry home purchases of produce. The more well-to-do in time will return to patronizing dealers who fill orders by telephone and make all deliveries, even though they are charged considerable more for the produce.

"It is certainly unfair to the public of Summit or any other place to be obliged to purchase produce after it has gone through there to Newark or Jersey City, passed through the hands of a speculator or two and a commission man, turned over to hucksters or merchants and then returned to that place with several profits added to the price paid the farmer. The merchants of Summit may learn to meet the competition of the market by establishing direct relations with the farmers, as the market committee has done, making up in service for their profits. It can be done and should be done."

STOPPING THE NUISANCE OF THE GLARING HEADLIGHTS.

Despite the periodical raids conducted by Commissioner Dill, certain automobilists continue to endanger themselves and others by the use of glaring headlights. The practice has caused more than one serious accident and will continue to do so until the offenders are made to realize that the blinding illumination is not to be tolerated. The recent raid conducted in Plainfield yielded more than thirty motorists who were breaking the law in this respect but now that the excitement of that occasion is over the practice is being resumed. Nobody knows when Commissioner Dill's men will return and consequently the number of violations keeps getting larger each night. The local police seem to be unable to abate the nuisance as their other duties are so multitudinous they can devote but a very small part of their time to this work.

If Commissioner Dill will station half a dozen of his inspectors in this city for a few evenings, he will greatly improve conditions here, and at the same time add to the receipts of his department. The blinding lights on some of the machines are a great nuisance to pedestrians as well as to drivers and chauffeurs, and this is particularly true on the country roads.

"HIS NOSE KNOWS" WHEN "NOOZE IS NOOZE."

"And," says Milly, in a editorial broad side that might be intended for any newspaper in the United States, "even at that they would not have to go farther than the length of an ordinary pair of scissors to get something that would be news to their readers." How true, how true. If anyone doubts the veracity of Milly's statement, let him compare any copy of the Spurious Nooze with a few evenings previous issue of the Newark News, the Newark Sunday Call, Elizabeth Daily Journal or even the little Weeklies from Hunterdon county, not passing up even the Plainfield Record, and note the charge of the Scissor brigade. In that dear departed past in which Milly loves so well to revel he was so jealous of his clipping ability that he chained the shears to his private desk and put the paste box in the safe over night. He knows as no one else knows.

The First Presbyterian church quietly observed its ninety-second birthday last Tuesday. Never smoked, never drank, thank you, and is in full possession of all its faculties with prospects of many useful years to come.

The price of potatoes in the local market dropped a quarter the past week and then suddenly climbed a half a dollar in advance. Evidently due to the speculators trying to find out how much the customers will stand before next winter's prices are fixed.

Following out the suggestion of Herbert Hoover, local women have commenced a canvass of the city to induce housewives to practice economy in the use of food-stuffs. As long as the present inflated prices of all necessities continue, it's dollars to doughnuts the good women of the kitchen need no coaxing to go easy on the family supplies.

Moral: Leave Not Your Ford In Springfield

Plainfield automobilists who have occasion to go to Springfield and through accident or some other occurrence are compelled to leave their machine in the street over night had better take a little tip from William Willis, the North avenue taxi-cab man, and place an armed guard over the car if they expect to find it on their return after a brief absence. One of Willis' motor vehicles went through this experience last Sunday night and when he located it early Monday morning all that was left of it was what some ambitious thief was unable to carry away. The taxi-cab had been struck by a Morris County Traction Company trolley but the damage that stalled it was not half as bad as what was brought about by the petty despoilers. They stripped the car of three tires, four coils, spark plugs and other appurtenances to the value of $60. Willis offered up a silent prayer of thanks for having the frame left and refused to be consoled when Chief of Police Edward Ruhan, of Springfield, said he had no clue to the perpetrators but would do all in his power to locate the stolen goods.

The taxi-cab in question was sent to Newark last Sunday night in charge of Percy Granger, one of Willis' drivers. On the way home from the Jersey metropolis the machine stalled on the car tracks directly in front of a trolley in charge of Motorman Thomas Noonah. A curve prevented either the motorman or the taxi-driver from seeing each other and in the crash that followed Granger was hurled to the roadway on his head. He was carried to the office of Dr. Watson D. Morris, of Springfield, who found it necessary to sew up a scalp wound and attend to numerous cuts and bruises before the damaged driver could return to Plainfield to make a report.

Granger had no idea but what his taxi-cab, one of the popular Ford make, would be all right when somebody from the North avenue office arrived to take it in charge. The sight that greeted Willis, who made the trip over, was appalling to say the least. Only the frame of the car remained and if the highway robbers had had enough help it is probable that this would have gone the way of the tires, the coils, the spark plugs and other booty. Between what damage the trolley did and what was stolen the owner of the car is out about $100.

"I feel," said Willis, in discussing the matter with a Record reporter, "very much like the board of directors of a New York horse car line years ago when a new conductor reached the barns at night after his first day's trip up and down West street. He turned in ten cents as his total collection of fares for the ten hours he was on duty. The matter was reported to the directors, who were in session at the time, and they gave a vote of thanks to the conductor for bringing the car back. I can ill afford to lose what was taken away but I am very thankful I had anything left at all. The next time one of my drivers leaves a car in Springfield he will automatically resign from the Plainfield Taxi-Cab Company."

TO WAGE WAR FOR GAS RATES.

Meeting yesterday in the office of City Counsel Frazer, of Newark, the executive committee of the New Jersey League of Municipalities decided that it would not be proper for the league, as such, to conduct the fight against the proposition of the gas companies to lower the standard of gas. The committee did decide, however, that the league should be used as a means of organizing those cities which desire to enter the fight.

Mr. Frazer's motion that the league tender its services to the municipalities for the organization of the gas fight, those accepting the services to share in the expense in a proportion not to exceed one per cent. per capita, was passed.

JERSEY CANALS TO BE UTILIZED.

Canal development is going to play a big part in mobilizing United States resources to win the war. Such is the opinion of those close to the waterways situation in its relation to transportation, and it is borne out by an analysis of facts.

As war as New Jersey is concerned, the project of dredging and generally improving the Delaware and Raritan Canal is receiving attention. The construction of the New Jersey ship canal, under federal supervision, from a point in Raritan Bay, south of South Amboy, to Bordentown, on the Delaware, is not being overlooked in governmental circles. The last named project would take some years —possibly three or four—to accomplish, but consideration of it has been stimulated by the present emergency. The rivers and harbors bill, now before Congress, carries an appropriation enabling the government to take over the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal.

LOCAL BOY MISSING.

Harvey Ketterling, 16, of this city, is missing from his home here. Ketterling is described as five feet tall, weighing 140 pounds, round red face, with hair cropped short. When last seen he wore a brown suit, brown soft hat, black shoes and carried a pasteboard box.

Plainfield Elks at Boston Convention

Past Exalted Ruler Walter S. Marder, of Belvidere avenue, represented Plainfield Lodge of Elks at the annual grand lodge convention of the order which began in Boston last Monday. Sessions have been held every day and will conclude tomorrow morning. The customary big parade on Thursday, which has always been a feature of the Elks' gathering, was declared off yesterday because of the war. Other Plainfielders attending the convention are: Joseph T. Noonan, Clarence M. Mundy, Albert T. Raymond, Thomas Brantingham, E. C. Wescott and George Westcott.

Fred C. Harper, of Lynchburg, Va., was elected grand elected ruler for the coming year, and Atlantic City was selected as the place for the convention of 1918. The only other business transacted of any great importance was the introduction of a new ritual for the order and resolutions pledging the support of the entire Elks' membership to President Wilson in the present national crisis and the conservation of food products.

The waiters in the dining rooms of the Boston hotels took advantage of the rush brought about by the convention and went on strike for more pay. When it was refused them they left their various places of employment without notice. Equal to the emergency most prominent Elks in the country donned aprons and served their visiting brothers. The "waiters'" corps included former Governor David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Augustus Herrman, chairman of the National Baseball Commission. All the tips received were dropped in a box for the Red Cross fund.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

A patriotic mass meeting to which members of all the various clubs of the association are invited will be held tonight on the lawns surrounding the clubhouse on East Front street. Miss Elizabeth French, of New York, who is president of the Junior War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A., will be present and explain the work being planned for to help in the present war. A social time will follow the meeting.

A meeting was held last night in the association rooms at which time the young women who will represent the local branch at the Eastern Conference at Silver Bay received instructions. They will leave this city on Monday and will be gone ten days, those who will make the trip being: Miss Alice Titus, Miss Winifred Mann, Miss Ethel Colton, Miss Ada Van Hise, Miss Isabelle Scarborough, Miss Bolton, Miss E. J. Sloane, Miss Margaret Hawkins, Mrs. Ida Hawkins, Miss Mayzie Mair and Miss Mabel Cronce.

The Marie F. Brake Club will meet this afternoon with Miss Lena Jackson, at which time arrangements are to be made for the holding of a cake sale on Saturday, July 21, in the Pitts store on East Front street. The proceeds will be used to defray the expenses of a delegate to the High School camp at Camp Altamont, N. Y.

The swimming class will meet tomorrow afternoon on the estate of Mrs. Frederick Mead, of East Front street, when Miss Alice Titus will give instructions.

The Business Women's League will hold a meeting tomorrow night. Supper will be served between 6 and 7 and afterward a social time will be enjoyed.

Miss Lena Jackson will be in charge of a "Home Hour service" in the association Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles Hawig, Mrs. Archibald Cox and Miss Lelia Hedges are in charge of the meeting of the Manville Club at Manville today.

REVIVED AFTER SHOCK, BOY FLEES RESCUERS.

Consciousness that had left thirteen-year-old William Johnson when he found himself unable Sunday night to relinquish his hold on a charged electric wire, returned to him as firemen who had rescued him were debating the choice of a doctor. The youngster scrambled to his feet and ran from his rescuers to the home in Third street of his father, William Johnson, Sr.

The boy was one of a group playing in the rear of fire headquarters on East Second street. He climbed to the roof of a milk wagon belonging to Marchant Brothers and caught hold of an electric wire. As the current coursed through him, the youngster screamed and writhed until he lost consciousness. Firemen armed themselves with pliers and released the boy by cutting the wire. Still unconscious he was lifted from the top of the wagon, but his interest in things—including doctors—was renewed soon afterward. The boy appears to have suffered no more serious injuries than burned hands.

MRS. FEICKERT NAMED AS COUNTY SUPERVISOR.

County supervisors to direct the work of the New Jersey division of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense were named at a meeting of the executive committee of the division held several days ago. The appointments were:

Atlantic, Cape May and Ocean Counties—Mrs. John J. White, of Atlantic City.

Hudson and Bergen Counties—Mrs. L. P. Dewey, of Hackensack.

Camden, Salem and Gloucester Counties—Mrs. Wellington B. Geehtel, of Haddonfield.

Mercer, Monmouth and Cumberland Counties—Mrs. Jay Ten Eyck, of Newark.

Burlington, Hunterdon, Sussex and Warren Counties—Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of this city.

TO DEVELOP BIG PANWOOD TRACT.

The Goodhope Realty Corporation has opened up a tract known as Mountain View Heights in the Borough of Panwood. It consists of more than thirty acres near the Panwood railroad depot, and only two blocks from the Union trolley line, which runs from Newark to Plainfield, covering all the suburban towns along these lines.

Mountain View Heights faces the Watchung Mountains, and is considered one of the healthiest sections along the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

The corporation has started to develop this property early in May, and set for its aim to build up the section with moderate priced houses.

FORM AMBULANCE CORPS.

Work was completed this week on the formation of an ambulance unit at Summit, when over 200 young men from all over the State representing some of the wealthiest families, were pitted against each other in an effort to secure the two positions as drivers left open. All the other members of the unit had just as hard competition in order to pass and as a result the ambulance corps is expected to be one of the best that will operate in France during the war. Frank Hand and Clarence Bettmann, of Scotch Plains and Fanwood, respectively, have succeeded in passing the examinations and are waiting to be called into service.

TO HOLD EXAMS FOR RURAL LETTER CARRIERS.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the county of Union, to be held at Westfield, Elizabeth and Summit on July 28, to fill the position of rural carrier at Westfield, and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other postoffices in the above-mentioned county. The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a postoffice in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from Charles E. Dunn, at the Westfield postoffice.

"AL" WIDDOSON HEEDS COUNTRY'S CALL.

Heeding the call of his country, Alfred Widdson, former P. H. S. athlete and member of the Holy Cross football team, has hung up his mits and forsaken the squared ring and will shortly join the "Fighting Fourteenth," the pride of Brooklyn. Widdoson is well over six feet in height and built in proportion and for that reason has been a mark for many military organizations. About a year ago he aspired to boxing honors and went to Newark, where for a time he was sparring partner for Charlie Weinert. When peace times come again he may resume the sport once more.

TO CELEBRATE.

Bordentown is to have a three-day historic pageant on the 10th, 11th and 12th of this month. A feature will be a commemoration of the town's historic men. They include Joseph Borden, after whom the place is named, whose home was burned by the English in the Revolution; Prince Joseph Bonaparte; Francis Hopkinson, author, and signer of the Declaration of Independence; Thomas Paine, Thomas Farnsworth and Commodore Charles Stewart, who commanded the frigate Constitution.

CAMP ENDEAVOR OPENS FOR YEAR.

Camp Endeavor, located on the mountain in back of Scotch Plains, opened this week when a party of youngsters from Elizabeth arrived to spend two weeks. The camp will now remain open for the remainder of the summer with children of both Plainfield and Elizabeth receiving benefits, as well as those from other parts of the county.

Many changes have been made at the camp both in the way of accommodations and playgrounds. It is expected that over 200 children will be taken care of before fall. Young women members of the Union County Christian Endeavor will be in charge.

NO VACATIONS FOR EXEMPTION BOARDS.

That members of district boards of exemption are in the Federal service just as much as the soldiers and therefore should not expect vacations at this time, was the opinion expressed yesterday by the State military authorities at Washington.

Numerous requests have been received by the different mayors from board members asking for temporary leaves of absence for vacations.

The military officials take the view that the boards are doing patriotic duty and are really in service and should be willing to sacrifice vacations for this year.

SUCCESSFUL FESTIVAL.

Despite the contrary weather conditions, the annual ice cream festival of the Watching Avenue Presbyterian church held last night, proved a great success. It was intended to have the affair outdoors but the heavy rain through the afternoon and evening compelled a "retreat" indoors. The attendance was very large and practically all the articles on sale at the various booths were disposed of. Music was furnished last night by the Dutch Arms Band. A portion of the proceeds will be contributed to the Red Cross fund.

WAR TEACHES DENTISTS.

Oral surgery is again returning to the dentist as a result of the achievements of the profession in the war hospitals of Europe, delegates to the annual convention of the State Dental Society, now in session in Atlantic City, declare. It is probable that all oral surgery necessary in the United States Army abroad will be assigned to the dentists, for whom a special dental section is being organized in the Officers' Reserve Corps. Many of the New Jersey dentists have already enrolled for active service, one of whom is Dr. C. L. Crist, of this city.

The New Jersey Society's convention, which opened Wednesday and remains in session three days, is regarded as the great professional event of the year and attracts dentists from all over the country. It is estimated that about 2,000 are in attendance. One of the features will be motion pictures of clinical work in France in facial reconstruction.

FOOD CANVASSING NEARLY COMPLETED.

Entering upon their third day of canvassing the city, members of the Woman's Service Committee have about completed the interviewing of every housewife and asking them to sign pledge cards for the conservation of food. The committee is working under the direction of Mrs. William D. Murray. With hardly an exception the women have been only too glad to help in the movement. There are twenty-eight automobiles carrying the canvassers about, there being one car to each postal district, with the exception of two which have two machines in service.

ATTENDING ANNUAL SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The opening session of the Schoolmen's Convention in the First M. E. church, Ocean City, Monday, was attended by 125 supervising principals, county superintendents and principals from all sections of New Jersey. Dr. A. B. Meredith, Assistant State Commissioner of Education, presided.

An instructive talk was given by Dr. Louis D. Coffman, dean of the School of Education of the University of Minnesota, followed by a round-table conference.

The convention will continue all week. Dr. Henry Maxson, head of the city schools, is scheduled to make an address.

MORRIS—HENNIGER

Cards have just been received here of the marriage of Miss Lillian M. Henniger of Williamsport, Pa., and Dr. Thomas M. Morris, formerly an intern at Muhlenberg Hospital. The wedding followed the doctor's completion of service at the hospital July 1. The bridegroom is a native and former resident of Williamsport. He and his bride are now living at Crasford.

TO AMEND ACCOUNTING.

William R. Codington secured an order from Judge Connolly in Orphans' Court Friday morning for an amendment to the accounting of the estate of Benjamin F. Klaffert, who died in this city. The estate amounted to $250,000. Mr. Codington represented the Plainfield Trust Company, the trustee.

NEW JERSEY BEHIND IN RECRUITING CAMPAIGN

Results expected from the first two weeks of the recruiting campaign launched by Governor Edge to bring New Jersey's enlistments of regular army and National Guardsmen up to full quota have not materialized. In a last effort to raise the number needed a strenuous drive will be made this week and next. Only a few hundreds of the troops needed have been raised.

In the neighborhood of 4,000 will be required before the State has done its bit for the State and National military organizations. Desultory results throughout have shocked the Governor and Adjutant-General Barber, who had expected ready response to their call two weeks ago.

Motion picture films depicting the life of the soldiers who attended the officers' and "none-come" camp of instruction at Sea Girt two weeks ago are to be shows in moving picture houses all over the State in an effort to induce enlistments. The films were taken on June 21 and have been held pending the outcome of the campaign. They are now to be released and will be shown in ninety-six places. National Guardsmen in uniform will carry the films from one picture house to another.

The task ahead is believed to be an impossible one to many military men, but Governor Edge continues to put his faith in the patriotism of the Jerseymen who are able to answer the call.

SPORT CARD.

The local sport card for this week-end is as follows:

Saturday.

Golf—Ball sweepstakes, 18 holes, medal play handicap, at Hydewood Golf Club.

Tennis—Women's singles at Westfield Tennis Club.

Baseball—Hope Chapel vs. First Baptist, West End Oval (City League). Manville at Flemington. Bound Brook Y. M. A. at East Millstone.

Sunday.

Queen City Wheelmen's five-mile handicap race at Scotch Plains, 1:30 p. m.

Plainfield Motorcycle Club endurance no-motor-stop run to Easton, Pa., and return.

Trout season closes.

JUDGE DE MEZA ILL.

Owing to the fact that City Judge William G. De Meza is detained at his home by illness, there was no session of the City Court this morning. All cases were postponed until a later date.

You will want the Record to go with you. Let the paper be a weekly visitor at your hotel, boarding-house or camp for the summer. You will be lonesome without the news from home. Address will be changed as often as desired.

Give your order to your local newsdealer, or this office direct, and have the Record follow you while away on your vacation.

Be sure and say in giving your order whether you wish the Record continued at your home while you are away.

GOVERNOR APPOINTS NEW SEWAGE COMMISSION

Governor Edge has just announced the appointment of the commission to investigate the question of the consolidation of the Passaic Valley District Sewerage Commission with the North Jersey Water Supply Commission, as follows: William F. Hoffman, of Newark; former Assistant Postmaster General William M. Johnson, of Hackensack; and Francis Scott, of Paterson.

The appointment was made under Joint Resolution No. 3 of the last Legislature, and the commission is to report at the next session whether or not it will be in the interest of economy and efficiency to make this consolidation. The Governor also made these appointments:

HENRY ACKERMAN SENT TO TORONTO.

Fifteen Fort Meyer student officers, including J. H. Ackerman, son of Marion S. Ackerman, of Watchung avenue, left this week for Toronto, where they will study aviation with the Canadian branch of the Royal Flying Squad. Ackerman is one of the first of the Plainfielders at Fort Meyer to successfully pass the elimination examinations. The remainder are still on the anxious seat.

HUFF—LANE ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. John Albert Lane of 219 East Seventh street, this city, today announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice Lane, to Thomas Henri Huff, son of Rev. and Mrs. Henri M. G. Huff of Overbrook, Pa. No date has been set for the wedding.

AN APPROACHING WEDDING

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Catherine Dolcie, of North Plainfield to John Carnevalli of White Plains, N. Y. The wedding ceremony will take place in St. Joseph's church on Sunday July 22 and will be performed by Rev. Father P. J. Hart.

SCHOOL CHILDREN WORKING.

Three weeks after the closing of the city and borough schools for the summer vacation finds nearly fifty per cent of the students, and that means nearly all that are old enough, working either at farming or some other occupation. Children ranging from 10 to 16 years of age are allowed to work at anything not contrary to law as long as they get working papers from the school head. Those children in this city working are composed mostly of students in the High Schools. In the entire State the number working approximate 5,000.

T. E. Wilson, of Providence, R. I., is spending a few weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Donaldson, of Stebbins place.

Rev. and Mrs. Edward Atherton, who have been spending the winter at Cromanton, Fla., are visiting the latter's cousin, Miss Elizabeth A. Manning, of Grant avenue. Mrs. Atherton was formerly Miss Mary Compton, daughter of the late Halstead C. Compton.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

MRS. JACOB VOEHL.

Death came suddenly last Friday afternoon to Mrs. Eliza Voehl, wife of Jacob Voehl, of 39 Grove street, for nearly fifty years a resident of either the city or borough. She had been at the Voehl summer home in Martinsville since warm weather began and with her husband was enjoying a walk through the garden there when she was stricken with apoplexy. She sank to the ground unconscious and passed away before assistance of any kind could be secured. Previous to the attack she had been in her customary health and despite her advanced age was looking forward to a most enjoyable summer on the farm, which was but a short distance from her birthplace.

Mrs. Voehl was born at Coontown seventy-eight years ago, her maiden name being Eliza Mantz. She was married to Mr. Voehl in 1859 and after living for a few years in Somerville and Hoboken, the couple removed to this city. Mr. Voehl was a baker by trade and purchased the bakery of the late Alexander Warnock, where the Linke building stands. Later he removed the business to 127 West Front street and conducted it successfully until twelve years ago, at which time he sold out to L. Kornfield. Mr. Voehl also had a branch establishment at Somerset and Harmony streets, which was afterward taken over by his son, Henry Voehl.

In her younger days Mrs. Voehl was a member of the First Methodist church and later of Grace M. E. church. She was very active for a long time in both religious and temperance circles when the prohibition movement was extant about thirty years ago. She was a devoted wife and mother and always enjoyed the respect of every one who knew her, a statement years ago that would include almost half the local population.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Voehl is survived by three daughters and four sons. They are: Mrs. Eliza Carney, widow of John Carney; Miss Wella Voehl, Miss Christina Voehl; Jacob Voehl, Jr., and Henry Voehl, all of Plainfield; George Voehl, of Dunellen, and John Voehl, of Bayonne. There are surviving fourteen grandchildren and six great grandchildren. Many family gatherings were held at the Voehl summer home at Martinsville and it was one of Mrs. Voehl's greatest pleasures to have a group picture taken of the different generations.

The funeral was held at the late home on Grove street Monday night and was attended by a large gathering that included relatives and friends from many places beside Plainfield and North Plainfield. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church, was in charge of the service, and he was assisted by the Rev. C. S. Gillespie, of Grace M. E. church, who read scripture and offered prayer. Two bass solos were sung by Adolph Cornwall, of Brooklyn, an old friend of the family and soloist in one of Brooklyn's leading churches. The hymns were "Abide With Me" and "Love That Will Not Let Me Go." The floral tributes were unusually numerous and beautiful, many set pieces coming from friends who in days gone by had been beneficiaries of Mrs. Voehl's kindly disposition. There were others from the various departments of Grace M. E. church, where Mrs. Voehl's activities have been earnest workers since its organization. Burial was made Tuesday afternoon in the family plot in the Methodist cemetery, four sons and two son-in-laws of the deceased acting as pall-bearers. They were: Jacob, Henry, George and John Voehl and Edward F. Sebring and J. F. Kulp, the last named of Bayonne.

CHARLES S. BEARDSLEY.

Charles S. Beardsley, aged seventy-two years and a prominent resident of Fanwood, where he had lived since 1902, died at his home on North avenue, that borough, Monday night. He had been ill for several years with a form of blood-poisoning which resulted in the amputation of an arm in its early stages and later caused complications which brought about his death. He had been able to be about however, until the last two months previous to the end. The funeral was held at the late home Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock and was conducted by the Brethren with Samuel Ridout in charge. Interment was in the Scotch Plains cemetery.

Mr. Beardsley was seventy-three years old, and was born in Cayuga county, N. Y. He attended the Auburn Academy, and the Albany Law School. He was admitted to the bar in Rochester in 1866. He served in the New York Legislature in 1875-6, and was later deputy county clerk in New York county. Later he was attorney for the collection of arrears on personal taxes in New York city.

He was one of the committee of one hundred and one that nominated Abram S. Hewitt for Mayor of New York city.

He was a close friend of Samuel J. Tilden, Grover Cleveland, aand of David Lamont. During Mr. Cleveland's administration Mr. Beardsley spent over six months at the White House as adviser and secretary to Mr. Cleveland.

By profession Mr. Beardsley was a lawyer and banker, but of late years he had devoted his time exclusively to journalism and recently completed a book of personal reminiscences, which will be published soon.

Mr. Beardsley was one of the organizers and vice president and director of the Gotham National Bank, of New York city.

Beside his wife, Mr. Beardsley is survived by two daughters and two sons. These are: Mrs. Aspegwall Judd, wife of the well-known New York doctor of that name; Miss Ada Beardsley, Hulbert and Ten Eyck Beardsley, all living, at Fanwood. There are also surviving a sister, Mrs. Lewis Kohler, of North Girard, Pa., and two brothers, Frank, living in Massachusetts, and Edmund, living in New York.

FRANK CORRONO.

The funeral of Frank Carrono, a former well known Scotch Plains young man whose death occurred in Schinfield, Mass., was held in St. Joseph's church, the borough, Saturday morning. The requiem mass was said by Rev. Father Hart and many relatives and friends were in attendance. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, with the following friends acting as pall-bearers: James Hunter, E. F. Aller, Michael Sacco, James Walsh, James Fitzgerald and John Corrono, all of Scotch Plains.

Mr. Carrono's death was due to congestion of the lungs brought about by injuries received in a motorcycle accident some time ago. He went to a sanitarium in Brimfield about a month ago in the hope that a change of climate and treatment would prove beneficial but a sudden turn for the worse developed. Mr. Corrono was twenty-five years old and a native of Scotch Plains, in which village he had lived practically all his life. He had a host of friends in that place and also in Plainfield and was well liked. He was at one time employed in the office department at the Richmond street freight yards but his last position was with the local office of the Prudential Insurance Company. His only near surviving relative is his father, Michael Corrono.

WILLIAM GIBERSON IRONS.

William Giberson Irons, a resident of Toms River and father of Henry C. Irons, of West Eighth street, died in Muhlenberg Hospital Saturday afternoon, following an operation performed on June 28 for the amputation of one of his limbs. The deceased fell about a year ago, fracturing one of his hips, and because of his advanced age all efforts to unite the broken bones failed. Gangrene developed and amputation was adopted as a last resort. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Katherine Irons, of Maine and Seward streets, Toms River, and was attended by relatives and friends from Plainfield, Toms River and other places. Burial was in the Toms River cemetery.

Mr. Irons was born in Toms River in 1825 and had always made his home in that place. He was engaged in business for many years as a contracting carpenter but had been in retirement for a long time. He was a member of the Toms River Presbyterian church and at various times had been active in the civic affairs of his home town. Beside his daughter, with whom he lived, his only other near relative was his son, Henry C. Irons, who is one of Plainfield's well-known residents.

EDGAR RANDOLPH VAIL.

Edgar Randolph Vail, a resident of Plainfield for the past ten years, died Saturday night at his home, 1103 West Fifth street, following an illness of three days with acute indigestion. He was the son of the late Abram M. Vail, of Greenbrook, where he was born and always lived until he came to this city. Mr. Vail was a member of the Religious Society of Friends and a man of quiet, unassuming disposition. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Paul Whitall, of Springfield, Mass.

The funeral was held at the late home on West Fifth street Monday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. C. M. Anderson. Interment was at Hillside cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Arthur Stryker, Horace Vail, E. Victor Lorton and Fred Wilcox.

MAUDE BULKELEY HAZELTINE.

Miss Maude Bulkeley Hazeltine, daughter of the late Charles A. and Harriet V. Hazeltine, died Tuesday afternoon, at the home of her brother, Arthur N. Hazeltine, of 1135 Park terrace. She had been ill but a short time. Miss Hazeltine was born in this city and had always made her home here. Beside the brother with whom she lived, she is survived by one other brother living in Westfield.

The funeral was held at the late residence on Park terrace yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock and was in charge of Rev. Dr. W. I. Steen, pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

MRS. BESSIE DICKINSON.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie Blackwell Dickinson, wife of Townsend Dickinson, who died at her summer home at Bay Shore, Long Island, Monday, were held at that place Wednesday afternoon. Burial was in Hillside cemetery, this city. Mrs. Dickinson was born in Philadelphia and was a resident of Plainfield for fifteen years. She leaves a husband, son and daughter.

MRS. BESSIE R. PEACOCK

The funeral of Mrs. Bessie R. Peacock, widow of Samuel Peacock, who died last Friday night at the home of her son, Joseph S. Peacock of Duer street, was held at the residence Saturday night for local friend. A second service was held in Philadelphia Sunday morning and burial was in that city.

Mrs. Peacock was born in England in 1835 andcame to this country when she was twelve years old. Most of her life was spent in Philadelphia or South Jersey. For the past twenty five years she had resided in the borough with her son. Some time ago she became an invalid through a form of paralysis and she had been confined to the house for a long while. She was a member of the First Baptist church of Camden where she was a faithful worker in her younger days.

BeSide her son Joseph, Mrs. Peacock is survived by one other son, Walter Peacock, a retired army officer living in California.

THEODORE W. CLARKSON

Theodore W. Clarkson, a well known resident of this city for nearly half a century, died early yesterday morning at his home 470 West Front street. He had been ill a long time with a complication of troubles.

Mr. Clarkson was fifty-eight years old and came to Plainfield when a young man from Rahway where he was born. He was a painter by trade. He is survived by his wife and the following sons and daughters Mrs. A. J. Ford, Miss Henrietta Clarkson, T. Edward, Wesley and Elmer Clarkson, of this city; Mrs. Arthur Keiderling, of New Britain, Conn., and Clarence W. Clarkson, of Elmora. He also leaves a brother Frank H. Clarkson, of Long Branch.

The funeral will be held at the late home tonight at 8 o'clock and burial will be tomorrow morning in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Friends Raise Fund for Injured Youth

About a month ago Ernest Drake, of Grove street, who is a member of Company K, stationed at Red Bank, was run over by a locomotive while doing guard duty at the railroad bridge. His leg was so badly mangled that it had to be amputated at the Long Branch hospital. Drake is little more than a boy, he being only nineteen years of age. It was reported that he went to sleep while guarding the bridge, but this was not true. The accident was due to the fact that he stood too close to the tracks.

After the accident to Ernest Drake, Mrs. de Sotolongo, a Red Bank woman who has done much for the local boys, went to the long Branch hospital and arranged matters so that the boy's mother could be with him. Ernest has never had a public school education. His parents are in straitened circumstances and he had to work at the age when most boys are attending school. With his lack of education and with one leg gone, his prospects after leaving the hospital would not be bright.

To remedy this Mrs. de Solotongo has been collecting money to pay for an industrial education for Ernest, so that he can earn a livelihood. So far she has collected $33.75 and has turned over this money to Captain Peterson. The boys of the company are also making up a purse for Ernest.

TO BECOME AVIATOR.

Maurice Hall, of 5 South avenue, Fanwood, a sergeant in the Seventh Regiment, N. Y. N. G., has been relieved of his duties for the time being and today reported at Mineola, where he will go into training to become an aviator. He passed all the required examinations with a high average and if he makes good on the preliminary trials will go to France to complete his training.

Plainfield Militia Guards Factory

Employing Three Thousand Making Fifteen Thousand Uniforms Daily

The calling of so many men into the military service of the country has given rise to a problem that has not yet been fully solved. To clothe and shoe an army numbering into the millions is a task that has been keeping every factory busy at full speed for months past with the end not yet in sight. To Company K, of this city, has fallen the task of guarding such a plant at Red Bank and according to members of the unit a uniform in the making is a thing of interest.

The factory is getting still larger results in the matter of volume of output. This concern has been in the business for years and its immediate problem was essentially that of expanding its existing facilities so as to meet the Government's emergency wants. A force of 3,00 operatives is busily engaged in working up the olive drab fabrics into the uniforms that are daily becoming more familiar to the public.

Knowing that the cost of materials has risen greatly of late the casual visitor at the plant is at first amazed by the seeming carelessness with which enormous quantities of the stuffs are attacked with tools that are patterned pretty much after a woodworker's equipment. Upon the very long tables the fabric is spread smoothly and in layers until the accumulated mass has a thickness of anywhere from thirty to a hundred ply depending upon the nature and weight of the material. On the uppermost layer of cloth are placed standardized patterns around which the tailors chalk the guiding outlines, fitting in the various shapes so as to reduce the wastage or unused material to a minimum.

Plainly the fabric could not be cut to shape by means of shears if time were to be saved. Therefore portable cutters fitted with saws and driven by electricity are used. In this way the operative is able to saw out simultaneously forty identical parts for the heavy regulation overcoat. There are different models of these cutters, but all of them make it possible to simulate in a general way the jigsaw of the fancy woodworker.

After the stuffs are cut roughly to the chalked lines of the patterns the sides of similar parts are trimmed true to their proper contours either by hand or by electrical cutters or by a modified form of the band saw so commonly seen in the shops of the model maker and the patternmaker. All these tools must be kept exquisitely sharp. One of the latest forms of the electric cloth cutter employs a disklike knife which is spun around at a rate of 6,000 revolutions a minute. Indeed, when its edge is razor keen the circular blade can readily cleave its way neatly through several hundred thicknesses of fabrics. Ordinarily, however, it is not practicable to deal with more than a hundred layers of material at a time.

As might be expected, even the best of steel is speedily dulled by the texture of the material and its minute particles of mineral matter. Accordingly it is necessary to refit the cutting edge for its work at frequent intervals. To this end the newest of these tailoring aids have very small emery wheels attached to them and so placed that they can be brought into service to sharpen the cutting disks.

When the parts for a certain sized garment are cut they are assembled in bundles and made ready for distribution to the sewers. All the separate pieces are marked for identification so that the chance of confusion will be reduced as far as practicable. The need of this can be readily appreciated at the Red Bank factory, where they are finishing 15,000 uniforms every working day. But as 4,000,000 uniforms are required to outfit half a million men it is plain that it will take many weeks and a number of such plants to provide sufficient clothing for America's soldiers of the present and the near future.

The sewing machines are arranged in long rows on two sides of extensive tables. The operators have only to guide the material and to push a lever to accomplish their work. The machines are run by power shafts located under the tables and receiving their driving force from centralized electric motors. Training has made the operatives expert, and it is astonishing how fast they are able to sew up seams, to put in hems, etc.

Inasmuch as the workers are paid by the piece there is a premium upon quantity of production. Each operative has his work limited to a particular part of a garment. Some sew sleeves, some put the coat bodies together, while others put on pockets, collars and the kindred finer touches.

Buttonholes are made by special machines, and so too are eyelets. The work starts at one end of the shop and the successive assembling is carried forward so that there is the least measure of lost motion in shifting the growing garments as they near completion.

At various stages the work is inspected and the experts engaged in this can pick out at a glance the least flaw in workmanship. With the sewing done and the buttons on, overcoats, blouses and breeches must be pressed.

The traditional tailor's goose has no place in a modern establishment of the present sort. For coats there is a mechanical gas heated iron carried at the end of a steel arm and so hinged or pivoted that it can be swung freely and yet with a minimum of muscular effort on the part of the operative. The iron is heavy and it is astonishing how quickly a service overcoat can be well pressed.

For trousers the presses are heated by steam and the dampened garments are folded and laid in between the cotton padded jaws of the ironer. Only skilled hands of the adult attendant is needed to bring about the desired measure of compression, and with the heat the breeches are quickly dried and creased to perfection. It is just a matter of moments to dispose of each garment.

ACTION ADJOURNED.

The liability suit of Charles A. Kane against the Lange Machine Auto Repairing Company, of this city, was adjourned before Judge Connolly in the Court of Common Pleas Friday morning. Testimony had already been submitted in the plaintiff's case, it is said, and the question for the court to decide is whether or not the injury is permanent.

In pursuance of a request from the Commercial Economy Board of the Council of National Defense, the Plainfield Bakers pledge themselves not to accept returns of UNSOLD BREAD

On and After JULY 10, 1917

This action was taken upon the receipt of the following letter from the Commercial Economy Board:

COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

JUNE 5, 1917.

GENTLEMEN: IN THE PRESENT EMERGENCY, THE IMPORTANCE OF HUSBANDING THE WHEAT SUPPLY IS SUCH THAT ALL WASTES OF WHEAT, NO MATTER HOW SMALL, MUST BE STOPPED. WITH THIS NECESSITY IN VIEW, THE COMMERCIAL ECONOMY BOARD HAS CONDUCTED AN INQUIRY INTO THE WHOLESALE BAKERY PRACTICE OF TAKING BACK UNSOLD BREAD FROM RETAILERS. THE INVESTIGATION COVERED REPRESENTATIVE BAKERIES IN ALL PARTS OF THE UNITED STATES. IT APPEARS THAT APPROXIMATELY 4 PER CENT. OF ALL THE BREAD DELIVERED BY WHOLESALE BAKERS IS LATER RETURNED TO THEM, AND THAT AT LEAST ONE-THIRD OF THIS IS SOLD FOR ANIMAL FEED.

A PORTION OF THE BREAD RETURNED IS SOLD AT REDUCED PRICES TO CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS AND THE POOR. THE BOARD POINTS OUT, HOWEVER, THAT WITH THE COST OF CARRYING THIS BREAD TO AND FROM THE RETAILERS ELIMINATED, THE BAKER COULD AFFORD FULLY AS WELL AS NOW TO SELL THE SAME AMOUNT OF BREAD AT THE SAME REDUCED PRICES.

WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, THE BAKERS CONSULTED AGREED THAT THE WASTE OF LABOR AND HUMAN FOOD INVOLVED IN THE PRACTICE OF ACCEPTING RETURNS IS DETRIMENTAL TO THE PUBLIC INTEREST AND SHOULD BE DISCONTINUED.

THIS ALSO IS THE CONCLUSION OF THE BOARD AND OF THE COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE.

YOU ARE THEREFORE HEREBY REQUESTED, IN COMMON WITH ALL OTHER WHOLESALE BAKERS ALL OVER THE COUNTRY, NOT TO ACCEPT RETURNS OF UNSOLD BREAD ON JULY 10TH AND THEREAFTER.

COMMERCIAL ECONOMY BOARD OF THE COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

The bakers, however, cannot do this alone. The HOUSEWIFE must co-operate with the baker and the grocer in order that this request be efficiently effective

We Make This Appeal to the Housewives of Plainfield and Vicinity:

Place Your Order for Bread a Day in Advance

This will not only assure the grocer of your daily requirements, but will also eliminate the return of unsold bread to the baker

We trust that we may have a prompt demonstration from the HOUSEWIVES of Plainfield of their desire to serve our country in this, a grave national necessity

It Costs Less--At First

To bury in a wooden box, a slate or brick cistern or even a cement vault with an unsealed lid costs less than the Norwalk. A heavy top lowered and sealed by hand is, naturally more expensive. But once you have seen with your own eyes the workman cement the top and bottom of the Norwalk Vault together into one solid piece of masonry you are satisfied; and that comfort is worth any price you could pay. That's why every modern undertaker is glad to use the Norwalk—he can guarantee his work. Your undertaker can give you the necessary information.

The Lure of the Stearns-Knight Car

THE STEARNS-KNIGHT PRODUCES IN THE MIND OF THE SPECTATOR THE SAME SENSATION OF SATISFACTION THAT COMES TO ONE GAZING UPON SOME MASTERPIECES OF DESIGN AND BUILDING.

HIDDEN, YET SUBTLY FELT, LIKE THE ARCHITECTURE OF A GREEK TEMPLE, ARE THE STRONG CONSTRUCTION LINES OF THE FAMOUS STEARNS CHASSIS.

Sturdy and Doric in its strength and simplicity, the Stearns Chassis forms the foundation for the superior elegance which characterizes The Stearns-Knight Car.

The external lines owe their beauty simply to the strength and grace which they confine—all of which encloses that masterpiece of motive power—The Stearns-Knight Engine.

Grace, Balance and Unlimited Power—these three form the Trinity which makes The Stearns-Knight a masterpiece among cars, the one car that you will desire—the car that you should own.

First 500 Plainfield Numbers Drawn in Big Draft With Men Who Must Respond

Quota in This District Estimated at Least 200, While Double This Number Will Be Called Before Exemption Board Within the Coming Week

The first five hundred numbers in the Plainfield district drawn in the big draft for the National Army reached this city by 4 o'clock this afternoon, and the corresponding names of the men who must respond to the Government's call are given below. It is estimated that the drawing will not be completed before 5 o'clock tomorrow morning as the total of 10,500 capsules are to be recorded and the drafting board at Washington is averaging about 1,000 names in an hour and a half. Secretary Baker drew the first number at 9:30 o'clock this morning. It was 258, held in this city by David Graham Turner, colored, of 424 East Third street. He is a porter employed at the Queen City Hotel, 21 years old, and came to Plainfield from Louisa, Virginia, in 1914. He is married but his wife was sent to Bonnie Burn Sanatorium two weeks ago to be treated for tubercular trouble. The second number drawn was 2522, held by Frank Conde, of 1155 South Second street. Large crowds besieged the office of the Record all day and every effort was made to give the necessary information to the anxious callers, but the process has been slow because of the elimination of numbers not affecting this district. North Plainfield's quota is estimated at forty, but the official figures from Washington will not reach here for several days. As soon as the official list of numbers is received the Plainfield exemption board, the chairman, Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, will summon all drafted men to the Common Council chamber at 149 North avenue, where the exemptions will be decided. The numbers drawn and those holding them in this city, Scotch Plains, Fanwood and Mountainside, which make up the Plainfield district, are as follows:

U. S. Muster to Affect 300 Plainfielders

With Company K called in from four months of guard duty along the coast and Troop D ready to move at a moment's notice, nearly 300 Plainfield boys will mobilize next Wednesday, July 25, with the remainder of the New Jersey National Guard. Their ultimate destination is known to be Anniston, Alabama, where they will receive the intensive training in modern warfare that will fit them to take their places in the trenches on the battlefields of Europe.

Announcements concerning the movement of the Guard from the time of mobilization until the Southern training camp is reached are vague. At the present time it is expected that when Troop D entrains next Wednesday it will be for Sea Girt, while Company K, it is understood, will join the other units in the First Battalion of the Second Regiment at New Brunswick and remain there for at least a week before going to Sea Girt. The move for Anniston may be made within a week after the mobilization or possibly not for a month.

One Killed, One Injured By Lightning

Passing over this city at noon yesterday and lasting less than an hour, a violent thunder storm caused the death of one man, the serious injury of another and did considerable property damage. The dead man is Charles Williams, a well-known character, who was instantly killed when a bolt shot down a tree under which he was standing in the Halstead

Indignation Over Sidewalk Order

The action of the Common Council at a meeting held on Monday night, at which it was decided to enforce the ordinance requiring regulation sidewalks all over the city, has raised objection on the part of many of those affected that will probably result in the matter finding its way to the courts before the ruling is obeyed. The Council is basing its action upon an ordinance passed last fall and which up to the present time has not been enforced. The ordinance says in part that "all sidewalks on every street or public highway within the city shall, at the expense of the owner or owners, be curbed and paved and kept and maintained with the materials in the manner and at the grades specified or mentioned in such ordinance."

Taking advantage of the ordinance, the Council has given notice to owners of land abutting on the south side of North avenue, Watchung avenue and many other thoroughfares in the city to make the changes. If they are not started within thirty days the city will do the work and assess the cost against the owners.

Such a move, especially at the present time, is not agreeable to the majority, according to the protests already filed. A number have obtained legal advice on the matter and declare that they will not obey the order. One property owner, it is said, would have to expend $700 to meet the requirements, and at a time when the country is at war and labor scarce the action is not approved.

Death Comes to Mrs. W. H. Riley

Mrs. Louisa Lord Riley, widow of William H. Riley, died last evening at the home of her son, Champlain L. Riley, of 11 Myrtle avenue, the borough. She had been ill a long time with complications produced by advanced age. The funeral will be held at the late residence and will be private. The service will be in charge of Rev. A. C. Nickerson, former pastor of All Souls' Unitarian church, who is now living in Vermont.

Mrs. Riley was born in Philadelphia eighty-one years ago and had lived part of her life in Orange and at Ithaca, N. Y., beside short periods at other places. She came to Plainfield about fifteen years ago. In her younger days Mrs. Riley had been active in the once prominent "Women's Rights" party which flourished previous to the organizing of the Equal Suffrage League. Mrs. Riley was the founder of the Influential Woman's Club of Orange and also assisted in the formation of a similar organization at Ithaca. She was a member of the Unitarian church.

Beside the son with whom she lived, Mrs. Riley is survived by one son, Howard W. Riley, a professor in Cornell University.

TROOP D DESTINATION WILL BE SEA GIRT.

At the weekly drill of Troop D held last night orders were issued by Captain Daniel Rmkle to the effect that the unit would assemble at the headquarters, Putnam and Kensington avenues, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, move to the North avenue freight station and entrain for Sea Girt, there to mobilize with the remainder of the New Jersey National Guard. It is possible that orders slightly changing that schedule may be received before the time set for moving, but they will be in the main unaltered.

With the knowledge that they will be called into the national service within a few days, but this time on a mission promising more in the way of action than the journey to the Mexican border last summer, the members of the troop last night were in high spirits after the orders giving them the first inkling of where they were going on July 25 were read. Just what will occur after Sea Girt is reached is mostly conjecture, although one announcement that has quelled many rumors and put at rest the minds of everybody in the troop is word that the unit will go through its period of training as a mounted organization. It had been understood unofficially that the troop was to be dismounted and drafted either into the artillery or infantry arms of the service.

At Sea Girt Troop D will merge with the three troops from Newark, East Orange and Red Bank to make up the First Squadron. It is understood that the First Squadron will eventually be sent to Anniston, Ala., with the remainder of the State guard for its intensive training. Either at Sea Girt or at Anniston remounts will be furnished by the Government, orders having been received to turn over the animals at present used.

Several changes in the non-commissioned officers and two enlistments were given out last night. Sergeant Van Deventer was relieved as supply sergeant and appointed leader of the third platoon and in his stead Sergeant Rose was delegated supply sergeant. The discharge of Sergeant Righter was also announced, and Sergeant Collins was appointed mess sergeant. The two new men accepted as recruits were George Block and William Dealaman.

CO. K TEMPORARILY AT NEW BRUNSWICK.

Following official notification at the headquarters of the company this week to the effect that the Second Regiment, together with the rest of the New Jersey National Guard, would mobilize and train for foreign service at Anniston, Alabama, Company K is waiting at Red Bank today for orders to move to Sea Girt before they start for the sunny South. Present orders are to quit the forty-three posts that have been guard stations for the company during the past four months and mobilize at the New Brunswick armory for one week, at the end of which time the present belief is that the company will be sent to Sea Girt and there with the entire regiment to Anniston.

Following out orders received a week ago, the local guardsmen will end their tedious guard duty tomorrow morning and from then on will hold themselves ready to move on an instant's notice. All the other company headquarters in the regiment have been ordered to do likewise, and it is the general impression that next week will find Home Defense Leagues guarding the points that have been under the protection of the guardsmen.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, JULY 20, 1917.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE TIMES' "PIPE DREAM."

Our esteemed contemporary, the Elizabeth Times, is seeking to inject a little "pep" in the sluggish primary campaign by printing political stories of more or less veracity, considerably less than more if what is said about Plainfielders is taken as a criterion. One of these stories purported to tell of a conference held in New York last week at which the aspirants to office in Union county were carefully looked over and official G. O. P. endorsement given the favorite few. Among other things the article said of Assemblyman William N. Runyon that "it required considerable coaxing to get Mr. Runyon out of the race for common pleas judge, but he finally consented on condition that he would have a clear road for the senatorial nomination."

Such a statement as this is absolute rot. If any leader attending the alleged conference made such a representation he did so without Mr. Runyon's authorization. At no time has the popular Plainfielder declared, even to his most intimate friends, that he wanted to be James J. Connolly's successor and as for the coaxing part those who know the Assemblyman can vouch for the assertion that no one ever had to coax him to stand aside for party purposes. In reality it has been one of his pardonable faults to be too willing to stand aside for some one else when he was eminently qualified to fill the position in every way better than a competitor. His has always been a bulwark of self-denial and no leader of the Union county G. O. P. has any right to say that he had to be coaxed out of the way for Mr. Pierce. Assemblyman Runyon has made a splendid record in the lower house and in justice to himself and his constituents he is to become a candidate for the senatorial nomination, an office which no one can deny he will fill to the credit of those who give him the confidence of their vote. The common pleas judgeship is a most excellent appointment but Assemblyman Runyon never had any intentions of embarrassing the plans of the G. O. P. by claiming it for his own. The Senate is his goal at the present time.

The Times' article went on to say that the Republican Committee had officially sanctioned the candidacy of Assemblyman Runyon for the senatorial nomination and that of Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur for the sheriff's office. It has never been the custom of the county directorate to support two candidates from the same district for two such important offices in the same year and if such an innovation has come about it is welcomed news to the Plainfield voters. On the senatorial question this city is of but one opinion but in respect to the shrievalty matter there is a considerable difference. Freeholder Wilbur is being opposed by Councilman John H. Cose in his campaign for nomination and it may be that the "endorsement" is a case of "hiding the colored gentlemen beneath the kindlings." Official recognition of Mr. Wilbur may widen the breach caused locally by the entrance of the two candidates for the job now held by George Otto and in so doing the chances of someone else further down the line landing the place are vastly better. The county committee has a habit of playing politics 365 days a year and is always a year ahead of the people who place ballots in the boxes. Councilman Cose has a following and so has Mr. Wilbur. Plainfield generally has a chance when splits occur in Elizabeth but there is not a ghost of a show when it trots out two candidates for same county nomination. Councilman Cose ran second in the race three years ago, losing out to George C. Otto by a scant 300 votes.

In respect to one other Plainfielder mentioned in the interesting but somewhat misleading Times' article it may be said that the truth was told. This is in respect to City Judge William G. De Meza who, it was asserted, had been mentioned for the surrogateship over which a squabble has arisen. George T. Parrot has held the office so long that he has been a target for criticism on the part of would-be successors and this year will witness an interesting fight through Sheriff Otto's determination to try for the place. The Times itself says he has a big following and with Mr. Parrot seeking to hold fast to his old seat the Elizabeth vote will be cut in every district. That means a better chance for someone in the upper end of the county and Judge DeMeza's name has frequently been mentioned. While he has made no public announcement as to his stand it is made no public announcement as to his stand it is not to be denied that he would make an excellent candidate. The office should be held by a lawyer, despite Mr. Otto's assertion that only five counties in the State have a member of the bar as surrogate, and Plainfield's police magistrate is in every way qualified for the office. It is rather early at this time to go into details regarding Judge DeMeza's candidacy but he may be heard from in the very near future if the call of the local voters is respected.

One more reference to the Times story. The meeting where all the information regarding endorsements came from was said to be held in New York. Those in attendance were given as State Committeeman Hamilton F. Kean, Registrar Frank H. Smith, County Chairman William Newcorn, former Senator Ernest R. Ackerman and Surrogate Parrot. If this is true the meeting was held in the Presbyterian Hospital because that is where Frank H. Smith has been for the past two weeks. He is a patient there undergoing observation for stomach trouble and will not be discharged until August 1. It does not seem likely that his political associates would intrude upon his sick-room for such an important conference, but if they did, a portion of what transpired must have been communicated to the Times' political reporter by a fellow-patient of Mr. Smith's who was being treated for some form of ear trouble and got his snatches of conversation mixed.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION AND THE RIGHTS OF PEDESTRIANS.

The average pedestrian has such little knowledge regarding his rights on the streets of the city that a mention of the matter seems quite apropos through the timely suggestion of Harry C. Van Emburgh that steps be taken to indicate cross-walks on intersecting thoroughfares where brick pavement is laid. Mr. Van Emburgh points out that traffic conditions at congested corners could be greatly simplified if markings be made at curbs and the improved streets "designating the proper place to cross, especially where there is not at present any regular crossing point."

The idea is an excellent one. It is used in many cities throughout the State and has been the means of preventing accidents because drivers of motor vehicles art better enabled to keep watch for persons making the cross-over. Men and women have the habit of stepping from the side-walk whenever they feel the inclination and proceed to the opposite side of the street without any regard for the legality of their act. As a matter of fact they have no right to do this. If an accident should result the motorist has the better of the argument from the start as to who is to blame because pedestrians are prohibited from crossing except at designated points. In reference to this matter the latest copy of the New Jersey Motor Vehicle department's road laws specifies the following rules: 1. "In places where the houses are on an average less than one hundred feet apart, pedestrians shall have the right of way over vehicles at any street crossing." 2. "Any person crossing a street at any place other than the crosswalk shall do so at his own risk. Nothing in this regulation, however, shall relieve the drivers of vehicles from being constantly vigilant, exercising all reasonable care to avoid injury either to persons or property."

A perusal of these rules show the wisdom of following out Mr. Van Emburgh's proposition, thus affording protection to the man who drives a car as well as the man who walks. All he has to do to verify what the observant citizen seeks to overcome is to stand at the corner of Front street and Park avenue or Park and North avenues. Pedestrians cross in a haphazard fashion, walking in whatever direction their fancy chooses. Sometimes they go straight across, sometimes diagonally and sometimes in a circular manner that defies any motorist to guess what the ultimate point will be. The Common Council would do well to properly mark the busy street corners and if possible should have it done while the new brick paving is being put in. In many cities this is accomplished by using a different colored brick, thus saving the expense of frequent paintings when the latter plan is used. The designations may save more than one pedestrian, ignorant of his rights, from possible fatal injury.

PROPERTY OWNERS PROTEST WALK ORDER.

No citizen with a spark of civic pride within his breast will object to the Common Council's plan to give Plainfield a better system of sidewalks yet the order which came from the meeting of the city fathers Monday night seems rather drastic. In pursuance to an ordinance passed last fall the mandate was directed to certain property-owners on Park avenue, North avenue, Watchung avenue, Emerson avenue and other streets directing them to put down a concrete walk in front of their respective places. Where flagging is already down this must be removed and the newer style of pavements substituted. The order states that the work must be done within thirty days or the city will give out the contracts and charge the expense against the individual.

It is not to be denied that the Plainfield sidewalks as a rule are nothing to be proud of. It would be hard to find a block that is without its depressed flagging at one point and elevated at another, leaving obstructions to catch the toe of the unwary pedestrian. There are in many cases where the walk has been cracked and allowed to settle in dangerous positions, gathering pools of water in wet weather and shifting about when stepped upon. These should be removed in favor of substantial concrete, but if the movement is to be taken up in earnest it is difficult to understand why only one side of certain streets have been designated. This was done in respect to Park, North and Watchung avenues. On North avenue the south side is named in Monday's order and no attention is paid to the fact that the north side has almost as many, if not more, bad spots. This applies particularly to the upper end of the street near Watchung, where the flagging has gotten into deplorable shape. The same thing can be said of the other streets on the side where nothing is to be done.

Rumor has it that some of the property-owners will contest the Council's mandate. One large taxpayer asserts that he has consulted counsel and has been informed that the city cannot compell him to take up his present bluestone flagging and curbing as long as it is in good condition. If this should be the case interesting developments may arise from the determination of the street committee to better the walks. The protest is heightened by the seeming partiality of taking only one side of a thoroughfare and letting the other go, an action which the city fathers may be called upon to explain. Good walks are sorely needed but no property-owner likes the idea of being singled out to stand the expense.

WHY DOES PLAINFIELD IGNORE HER GALLANT LADS?

Why is it that Plainfield is allowing its soldier boys to be summoned away for war without any civic recognition of their patriotism? Everywhere in the country, the big city, the town or the little hamlet, citizens are arranging demonstrations to honor their young manhood and send the gallant lads off with a rousing farewell from the entire community. In East Orange, Newark and Red Band, where troops of the First Squadron, New Jersey Cavalry, are located, plans are practically complete for a community demonstration when the troopers ride away but Plainfield, which has dashing Troop D, of the same squadron, seems to be unaware of the fact that any recognition is needed. All the farewells so far planned are little more than friendly receptions. In Greenwich, Conn., the entire town gave itself over to a demonstration in behalf of the local troop. In Elizabeth the entire local quota of the National Guard and Marine Corps is to parade through the streets before adjoining to different quarters for a banquet and reception. In other places the brave lads are to be assembled in the open and given "God's speed" by the Mayor or leading officials. It seems a pity that the Plainfield boys, of whom there are so many, are to leave for no one knows where without so much as a parade that brings the smiles from pretty girls on the curbstone or the enthusiastic plaudits of thousands of fellow townsmen.

The local boys will truly realize that this is a war of silence, unless some wide-awake citizen starts the ball rolling for one of those demonstrations that quickens the pulse and stirs the blood of every loyal American. Let's honor the gallant boys—Troop D, Company K and all the other recruits who have offered up their lives that liberty might survive.

GET RID OF DANGER FIRST.

Mayor Calkins' dictate to the police regarding the arrest of autoists who open their "cut-outs" paves the way for comment. The "cut-out" matter is not nearly so important as that of glaring headlights, reference to which has been made in these columns before. The opening of a "cut-out" creates only a noise that is not always annoying and has no harmful effect. On the contrary the brilliant headlights result in accidents and are always an absolute menace to innocent persons. A few weeks ago the glare of an automobile headlight caused another autoist coming in the opposite direction to steer blindly and plunge headlong through an ancient bridge railing, causing the fatal injury of one of the car's occupants. Personally, we have heard no special protest against the "cut-out" but the demand for dimmed lights is continuous. If Mayor Calkins is to conduct a crusade against automobile nuisances his efforts would be appreciated better if the dangerous ones were gotten rid of first.

Master Calls 300

men that have joined Company K and are stationed at the old postoffice building on West Front street momentarily expects orders to leave. Lieutenant Phillips, who is in charge of the recruits, has as yet received no official orders, but the impression prevails that the moving order will come before Wednesday.

Where the destination will be is also conjecture. It is probable, however, that the recruits will be sent to the regimental headquarters of the Second Regiment at Trenton and not join the company until it moves for the training camp. Lieutenant Phillips expects that he will be ordered to keep the local station open and endeavor to recruit the unit up to the full personnel of 250. The company is now within six men of having 150, the old war strength, and is the first in the entire regiment to even near that mark.

Although orders have been issued that the New Jersey troops will be sent South on July 25, including both those now on duty and those to be called out on that date, it is not likely that the boys will be sent out of the State. Company A, now stationed near Bear Mountain, New York, has been ordered to leave there next Wednesday, the day set for the mobilization, for Sea Girt for rifle practice, after which it is to be sent to Wrightstown to relieve Company B, which will go to Sea Girt for rifle practice. All the other companies are expected to be sent to Sea Girt, and this seems to confuse the scheme of sending the troops South next week.

SEA GIRT READY TO RECEIVE GUARDSMEN.

Interest in the projected mobilization of the State military forces at Sea Girt in response to the call of President Wilson is intense at that place. The summer hosts, as well as the permanent population, are alert to the spirit of the times and military is supreme in everything. July 25 has been set as the date for the calling out of the New Jersey National Guardsmen and they will be brought to Sea Girt for temporary training.

It is not as yet decided as to whether the four regiments at present in the Federal service as bridge and railroad guards and factory police are to be brought to Sea Girt along with the organizations not in the Federal service, but the State authorities have construed the information at hand as indicating that all of the New Jerseymen would be sent for the mobilization.

Consequently Sea Girt is awaiting with abated interest the opening of what promises to be the finest military spectacle ever seen at the State reservation at Sea Girt. There will be close to 10,000 State troops there besides the regulars, who will be there for their target practice. The new divisional headquarters troop, with the War Department authorized organization in this State for the eighth tactical division, consisting of the National Guard organizations of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia and West Virginia, is expected at Sea Girt next week for a preliminary period of training.

In preparation for the big encampment great extensions have been made in the water and sewer lines, and large forces of workmen have been engaged in the task of preparing for the influx of troops. A survey of the reservation convinced the high military authorities of the State that the entire New Jersey fighting machine with its respective arms can be quartered on the reservation, and the unsatisfactory arrangement of last year whereby at the time of the Mexican mobilization the cavalry and artillery units were removed a mile or more from the headquarters will be avoided.

Numbers of State officers have been at Sea Girt during the week for their examinations before the regular army examining board and they have added much to the military appearance.

Collis Case Joins Base Hospital Unit

Collis H. Case, of East Front street, who has been an inspector for the Plainfield Board of Health for several years, has enlisted in the Medical Corps of the United States Army. He has been assigned to Base Hospital unit No. 16 as pathologist and expects to be called for service some time in August. Mr. Case only recently completed a year's course in medicine at Columbia with the intention of eventually becoming a surgeon. The unit he is to go with is being recruited in New York city and is being supported by wealthy citizens who have taken this means of showing their patriotism. It is known locally as the "Piel unit," in honor of the organizer. The doctors and other medical men in No. 16 have been recruited from Columbia College and the Presbyterian Hospital in New York.

Mr. Case is a former Plainfield High School student and one of the most popular young men in the city. Beside his work in the Board of Health, where he holds an excellent record, he is one of the organizers of the C. and C. Exterminating Company, an insecticide concern which operates throughout the State. In this enterprise his partner is John Casey, of West Third street, who will continue the business. Mr. Case left Sunday for a two weeks' vacation trip which will include a stop at Albany and other places on the shores of Lake Champlain and terminating at the Canadian border before returning home via Boston.

Killed by Lightning

Compton meadows at the foot of Compton avenue. The body was not discovered until 6 o'clock last night when William J. Dealaman, of 24 West Front street, saw the prostrate form as he was looking for his cattle pastured in the Compton property. Only one mark was on the victim's body and this was directly behind the right ear where the lightning leaped from the tree and evidently passed entirely through his form.

The injured man is Louis Funk, nineteen years old, of 137 Jackson avenue, who was felled by a bolt which tore its way through S. W. Rushmore's new residence on Belvidere avenue. Funk is a carpenter and was working on the house when the storm broke. None of the other workmen were affected by the lightning although the bolt passed through a large part of the house. Funk was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, where it was found that he had been terribly burned about the hands and has sustained peculiar conditions about the skin surface which caused the blood to exude from many parts of his body. His condition remained serious until this morning when it changed for the better and his recovery is now assured.

Beside striking the Rushmore house, the lightning struck the steeple of the First Presbyterian church, wrecking the surmounting cross which has been struck on two previous occasions. Another bolt struck the home of Mrs. William Britton, of 44 Elm place, causing fire in a clothes closet which resulted in the call for the fire department. The blaze was extinguished before the firemen arrived. The storm as a whole was one of the worst that has occurred in this section in many years and was accompanied by a heavy down-pour of rain which flooded many of the city's streets.

The body of Williams was taken to Higgins' undertaking parlors and the funeral will be held there tomorrow. He was sixty-seven years old and was born and always lived in Plainfield. Family troubles years ago caused him to take to drink and for a long time he has been a wanderer, living anywhere it happened to be convenient. He was well educated and at one time was one of the best type setters in Union county. He leaves a wife and two daughters who have been away from Plainfield nearly thirty years. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal church and burial will be in Evergreen cemetery. Williams leaves a number of nephews and nieces in this city who are taking care of all arrangements. The dead man gained a livelihood in the summer by picking mint and watercress in the lowlands about Plainfield and was about to get his daily supply in Compton's meadow when the storm broke. His basket was by his side when the body was discovered by Mr. Dealaman.

Will Not Force League to Serve

Adjutant-General Barber declares in a statement this week that compulsion will not be adopted in enlisting men for the National Guard Reserve from the Home Guard organizations of the State, although he believes the Governor has this power. This view was given in answer to statements which have been made that the reserves would be recruited by draft process.

"No compulsion whatever has been suggested," said the Adjutant General, "this enlistment will be purely voluntary. Just what course the Federal Government will finally pursue in connection with the guarding of vulnerable points within the State has not been determined but New Jersey is preparing in advance as it always tries to do for any eventualities which may occur. If we cannot get sufficient men from the Home Guard organizations we will get them elsewhere. If the Government calls upon us to guard these points through local organizations.

"Many suggestions has been made that under present conditions it might be wise to formulate a permanent State force along the lines of a State constabulary or new National Guard. All this has been carefully considered and when the Legislature is convened next winter a complete program will be ready to meet the necessities confronting the authorities at that time. In the meantime, however, without criticism or prejudice we are simply placing the matter before the home guard organizations."

Both Mayor Calkins and men connected with the organization have expressed themselves as being against Plainfield's league joining a State body.

MORE ROOM FOR CITY DEPARTMENTS.

The rapid growth of the various departments of the city has necessitated the changing of arrangements in the city building so as to give more room to the city clerk and street department. The change is temporary and intended to do until the new City Hall is complete. The architect who drew the plans for the structure made an inspection this week to consider the advisability of making several minor changes.

A. E. Force, of West Front street, returned Wednesday after an eight days' automobile tour through South Jersey.

Junior Elks Slated For Anniston Training Camp

Two of the youngest members of Plainfield Lodge of Elks will be among the first volunteers to go out with the New Jersey Field Hospital Corps when it reports for duty next week to begin training at Anniston, Ala. They are Benjamin Cole, of Madison avenue, and George Trust, of Washington avenue, Dunellen, both of whom have only recently reached their twenty-second year. They offered their services when the first call was made and selected Medical Corps for service, passing all examinations in a satisfactory manner. Their fellow members at the Elks' Club are planning an informal reception to be accorded them early next week.

Mr. Cole is the son of Captain Benjamin Cole, who is one of the New Jersey Central's pilots in the Hudson River ferry service and who recently removed to this city from Dunellen. Mr. Trust is the son of August Trust, a former well-known Plainfielder who has been living at East Arcadia, N. C., removing there to Dunellen a little more than a year ago. Both young men will be in the hospital division commanded by Captain Wyckoff, of Leonia, and which has its headquarters at Elizabeth.

James Simms Goes to Big Plant at Boston

James Simms, of West Fourth street, who has been foreman of the draughting room at the Pond Tool Works, left a few days ago for Boston, where he has accepted a similar position with the Mead, Morrison Plant, a big munitions concern with which James T. MacMurray, formerly of this city, hold an executive office. Mr. MacMurray was for many years manager of the Pond plant but left more than a year ago to become superintendent of the International Fuse and Arms Company at Bloomfield. He resigned from this position to go to Boston where he has already made an excellent record.

Several other Plainfielders beside Mr. Simms have been drafted from this city to the Mead, Morrison plant through the efforts of Mr. MacMurray. One of them is Charles Belter, who was Mr. MacMurray's secretary at the Pond shop and who is now serving his old employer in the same capacity. Mr. Simms' family is still in Plainfield but will remove to the Massachusetts capital within the next few weeks.

The Mead, Morrison Company is one of the best known industrial plants in New England and formerly confined its output to special lines of machinery. The war boon brought a five million dollar order from the United States Government on which it is now working and which, with private orders, will keep the plant busy day and night for the next two years. Mr. MacMurray has been appointed one of the active managers and he has already introduced some of the innovations which brought the Pond shop to the high state of efficiency it has enjoyed for many years.

WIND-UP OF CARNIVAL.

The general committee and all those who assisted in making the recent carnival conducted by the Knights of Columbus such a great success will assemble in Columbus Hall tonight for an informal reception. The program will include the drawing for fifty dollars in gold, shares for which were sold during the carnival.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maguire, of John street, returned home Wednesday from a ten days' visit with Mr. Maguire's parents at Providence, R. I.

The Misses Norena and Loretta Dunny, of East Seventh street, are spending a two weeks' vacation at the home of Mrs. John Conlin, of Windsor, Vt.

Miss Mae Brady, of the office staff of the Plainfield-Union Water Company, is spending a two weeks' vacation at Atlantic City.

"Doc" Doyle, of East Fifth street, has resigned his position with the Atchison, Topeka and Sante Fe Railroad to accept one with the New York office of the National Conduit and Cable Company.

Fanwood's second former resident to be taken into custody by U. S. Secret Service men was interned at Ellis Island several days ago following the arrest of Max Hauschild near the Sayreville wireless station on Long Island. Hauschild was a resident of Fanwood for several years until the outbreak of the European War. As he left the borough Rudolph Otto, former German consul at Kingston, Jamaica, became a resident. He has since been taken into custody. Hauschild holds a major's commission in the German army. Reasons for his being arrested are not known.

Second Night Club To Honor Recruits

Nine young men from this city and Dunellen who will shortly be called by the Government for duty on either land or sea will be given a big reception tomorrow night by the Second Night Club, of which they are members. The affair is to take place on one of the New York-Keansburg line boats near Keansburg and will be attended by fully 250 Plainfielders and others. The program is to include a sail through the inlet, music, dancing and refreshments. Every detail has been carefully worked out by the committee in charge in order to make the affair a rousing send-off to the boys who have so nobly responded to the call to the colors.

The nine guests of honor will be John T. Caulfield, John Winnenoff, Eugene McGarry, Edward O'Loughlin and Joseph Gallagher, who are members of Troop D; James J. Kyle and William Mead, of the Naval Militia; Albert Bryniarski, of the Medical Corps, and John Logan, who was formerly a Troop D man but has been transferred to the submarine chaser placed in commission by Warren Ackerman. Gallagher and Logan reside in Dunellen while the others are all from either Plainfield or North Plainfield. Keansburg was selected as the place for the send-off because so many of the Second Nighters have been in the custom of spending week-ends there and the numerous attractions of the water resorts offer a splendid setting. The steamer has been chartered for the entire evening and Venable Brothers' string orchestra will furnish music for the dancing. It is believed the reception in every way will be one of the largest of any planned for Plainfield recruits as every one of the seven has a great following of friends and everyone is anxious to start them off with the feeling that they have all manner of well wishers in their home towns.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the Second Night Club is headed by Joseph McCarthy, who has an experienced corps of assistants in arranging the plans. Many of those invited to the affair will make the trip from Plainfield to Keansburg by automobile, while others will go by train.

K. of C. Convention and Excursion Dates Set

The board of directors of the supreme council of the Knights of Columbus have abandoned the idea of holding the annual convention at Old Point Comfort, Va., and instead have chosen Chicago as the place for holding the annual session. The convention will open on Tuesday, August 7. The board of directors having in mind the policy of most societies at this time to dispense with entertainments and large gatherings, decided to choose the most convenient and economical place in the hope that the convention will be a purely business meeting of not over two days' duration.

Preparations are being made by the Knights of Columbus of this city for the annual excursion to Asbury Park on Thursday, August 9. It is expected that more than 4,000 members from various parts of Northern New Jersey will make the trip. Special trains will leave the local station at a date to be announced later.

Medical Corps Men Given Farewell by Colleagues

Charles Wendell and Albert Bryniarski, two of the pharmacists in the drug department of the United Cigars Company's West Front street store, who have enlisted in the New Jersey Medical Corps of the U. S. Army, were given a farewell reception by their fellow clerks and other friends Wednesday. The affair was held at the home of Paul Basch, on East Second street, and was attended by about forty in all. A program of music and dancing was enjoyed during the evening and supper was served at midnight. The parlor and dining room were tastefully decorated with American flags, Red Cross flags and the Army insignia.

During the evening Mr. Wendell and Mr. Bryniarski were presented with compact "comfort kits" in water-proof cases, the gift of the United clerks. The presentation was made by E. F. Champlin, manager of the drug department. The two young men expect to be called for training service next week.

First Sitting of Exemption Board May Commence Tuesday; Enlistments Will Not Decrease Quota of 183

Although Chairman Charles A. Reed, of the Plainfield District Exemption Board, had not received the master numbers from Washington at noon today, despite assertions by a local paper to the contrary yesterday, there seems to be every indication that they will arrive this afternoon or tomorrow morning. As soon as they reach here the work of mailing out notification cards to the first 366 men to be examined will be commenced with the idea of having them delivered not later than Monday. In this event the first sittings of the Board in the Council chamber rooms on North avenue will commence Tuesday morning, continuing until the full quota of 183 conscripts is secured. Examinations will be conducted quickly and it is figured that not more than two days will be consumed in hearing exemptions or conducting physical tests.

It was stated authoritatively by Chairman Reed this morning that no matter how many Plainfield men eligible in the first call of examinations had voluntarily enlisted, Plainfield's quota of conscripts would continue to be 183. This was the number given him by Washington on June 15 and he has received no orders to the contrary, therefore, every enlistment means the calling of an additional man. It seems quite certain that between 500 and 600 young men will be summoned before the Board next week. The other members beside Chairman Reed are Dr. F. W. Wescott, of Fanwood, and Charles W. Runyon, of this city. In the event of the local Board refusing exemptions, there are only two recourses for men who still claim to be unfit for service. These are, first, the State District Board, of which there are three in New Jersey, and secondly, President Wilson direct. The elimination of aliens and young men with wives, children or widowed mothers to support will be a big factor in running the first panels up to the 600 mark.

If you desire exemption, you must file a claim for it or some one must file a claim in your behalf. Forms are to be provided by your board for this purpose.

The fact that on June 5 you may have indicated on your registration card that you claim exemption is not a claim for exemption. Apparently there is nothing in the regulations that prevents even an alien or a government official from serving if he does not file a claim for exemption.

There are two classes of exemption claims.

Within seven days after you are called you may claim exemption with your local board.

1. If you are a federal or State official.
2. If you are a minister or student of divinity.
3. If you are in the military or naval service.
4. If you are an alien enemy or any other alien who has not taken out first papers.
5. If you are a county or municipal official.
6. Or custom house clerk.
7. Or employed in transmission of mails.
8. Or an artificer of workman in a United States armory, arsenal or navy yard.
9. Or employer in certain other federal service.
10. Or a licensed pilot.
11. Or a mariner now in sea service.
12. If you have persons dependent on you for support.
13. If you are a member of a religious sect whose creed is against war.

Later, within five days after your name is certified to your district board, you may file claim for exemption with such board if you are "engaged in industries, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment or the effective operation of national interest during the emergency."

Dr. F. W. Cornwell First Physician to Be Called From Here

Of the thousands of American doctors who proffered their services to the Government for the care of wounded soldiers in the European war zone, the first to be summoned from Plainfield is Dr. F. Wilbur Cornwell, of East Seventh street. He was wired last Friday afternoon as he was enjoying a brief rest at Spring Lake and without a moment's hesitation hurried to New York to report to the Flower Hospital contingent, of which he is a member, and with which he will go abroad. He is now located in the training camp at Fort Ontario, Oswego, N. Y., from which point he will be moved to the seaboard and thence by transport to Northern France. He has been commissioned as captain, an honor conferred upon him because of the excellence of his examinations.

Oldest Commuter Dead at Fanwood

Following a lingering illness that only conquered after a six months' struggle with the iron will that had guided him through eighty-six years of an active life, Thomas Young, first mayor of Fanwood and honored with the title of "the oldest commuter on the Central Railroad of New Jersey" passed away yesterday morning at his home on Forest road, that place. Today the little borough is more affected than it has been in years.

Mr. Young was born in Quaker Springs, N. Y., and lived the life of a farmer's son until a young man, when he moved to New York city. Mr. Young first appeared on the floor of the Produce Exchange early in 1850, when he was a young man, and had remained there ever since. Forty-seven years ago he moved out to Bound Brook, commuting every day despite the fact that he had to get up before the chickens each morning in order to get to New York before noon. A year later he moved to Fanwood and had made his home there since. From then until he quit two years ago he had not missed all together five days from business and figured that he had purchased well over five hundred monthly tickets for which he paid something ocer $3,500. Not long before he decided to give his chickens all his attention he was found to have commuted longer than any other person on the Jersey Centray.

Troop D Ready To Take Oath

"On to Anniston. After Anniston, France. After France, Berlin." Such was the cry, with variations, that resounded through every company street and from the throats of over 4,000 sturdy Jerseymen as they worked live beavers in the gathering dusk last night to put the finishing touches to the camp in preparedness for the first week-end. Two days in camp has effected a world of change in the soldier boys who were only a week ago going about their daily tasks in civilian life and already they show signs of that spirit that goes with the ability to "go over the top" and on to Germany. For the second time within a year, Troop D has upheld the honors of Plainfield among the country's fighting men and already has taken to the new life with a determination that promises a glorious trail following them wherever the path shall lead.

The work of mustering in every man now at "Camp Edge" is going forward with speed and precision under the direction of eighteen regular army men and by tonight or tomorrow at the latest Troop D, officers and men, will be back in the Federal service for the first time since the trip to the border last summer. Brigadier General Barber, his staff and the First Field Hospital Corps were sworn in yesterday and today the work is going on unabated. The Federalizing of the troops, said Lieutenant Marcus Stokes yesterday, would not take more than four days. To clean up the details, complete examination of papers and physical tests, he said, however, may require possibly a week or ten days. Physical examinations will go steadily on, simultaneously with the formality of roll call, until every man has passed the gauntlet of the physicians.

Troop D, together with the rest of the First Squadron, is quartered near the center of the reservation, occupying both sides of the main company street.

Although it had been known that July 25 was the date for the mobilization of the New Jersey National Guard, orders received by Captain Daniel Runkle late Tuesday night from Major Hobart Brown, commanding the First Squadron, was the first definite knowledge the local troopers had that they were to leave Wednesday. The first official orders were sent from Brigadier-General Barber's headquarters at Sea Girt

Women's Clubs In Session Here

One of the largest and most auspicious gatherings held in Mt. Olive Baptist church began yesterday with the first day's sessions of the second annual meeting of the New Jersey State Federation of Colored Women's Clubs. Two hundred delegates from all parts of New Jersey together with others from New York and many white persons interested were present. The proceedings were of a most attractive order and so decidedly interesting that practically every person who was present last night remained until the finish though it did not come until 11 o'clock. The meeting will continue today and unless something intervenes one of the best known colored women in the United States will be present in the person of Mrs. Booker T. Washington, widow of the great colored founder of Tuskegee Institute and the champion of his race for many years. All persons interested are invited to attend.

Last night's meeting opened with an address of welcome in behalf of the city by Assemblyman William N. Runyon, and the popular Plainfielder received a great ovation. The address in behalf of the clergy was made by Rev. W. I. Imes, pastor of Bethel chapel, and Rev. C. H. Nelson, of St. Marks' Episcopal chapel, spoke in behalf of the churches. Other numbers of the program included the following: Vocal solo, Mrs. E. P. Ensey, of Jersey City; instrumental solo by Mrs. Leah Randolph Johnson, of Jersey City; address, "The Immigrant," Miss Helen Pendleton, supervisor of district work of the Associated Charities of Newark; "At Work in the United States," A. Whinton; greetings by Mrs. M. C. Lawton, president of the New York State Federation of Colored Women's Clubs; Federation Song, by Miss Esther A. Yates, sung by the congregation; instrumental song, Miss Florence W. Steele, of Jersey City; benediction, Rev. C. H. Nelson.

An informal reception followed the program during which the various Women's Clubs in the city, of which there are four, entertained. The addresses as a whole were unusually brilliant and afforded several of the most talented delegates an opportunity to display real oratorical ability.

Borough Man Is "Officially Dead"

After waiting for definite news as to the whereabouts of his son, Edward Forgerson, John Forgerson, of Lincoln place, received this week a death certificate from the Canadian War Office at Ottowa. While the certificate does not show that definite knowledge of his death has been found it sets forth that "101252, private, having been missing since October 9, 1916, must have died on or after that date."

There is still the barest possibility that young Forgerson may be held prisoner or unable to communicate with his command or relatives. The exact particulars regarding his absence are not known. The death certificate names him as one of the "49th Battalion, Canadian Overseas Expeditionary Force."

Plainfielders in Other Divisions

Beside having two military organizations, Plainfield has done its share toward raising a huge army for the defense of the country by giving numbers of its residents from all walks of life for the various branches and divisions of both the Army and Navy. The Record has endeavored to keep an accurate list of those who have volunteered for any national service. The non-mentioning of any enlistments is not intentional and where knowledge is brought to us of anyone joining the Armyor Navy, or other branches of service, we are only too glad to add the names to the steadily growing list. Those who we have obtained up to the present time follow:

Ambrose Smalley	U. S. Medical Corps
Patrick Long	U. S. Army
Constandino Marmile	U. S. Army
Herbert Weisbecker	U. S. Navy
James F. Buckle, Jr.	U. S. Navy
Harold Lounsbery	U. S. Aviation Corps
Junior Dunning	U. S. Medical Corps
Dr. R. S. Stevens	U. S. Medical Corps
Mrs. R. S. Stevens	U. S. Hospital Unit
Frank Hepner	U. S. Navy
George Rouscher	U. S. Field Artillery
Elmer Austin	U. S. Army

State Faultless in Draft Change

In a review of the proceedings and correspondence between New Jersey officials and the Federal authorities at Washington, incident to the draft, given out by Governor Edge this week to show this State was unjustly accused to having confused the plans for the drawing, it is demonstrated that the State was at all times on the alert in perfecting the method by which its citizens should be called to the colors.

The fact that this State was the first to apprise Washington of the faulty nature of the "master number" plan which had been formulated and which was hurriedly abandoned at the eleventh hour in favor of the system which was employed last Friday is shown. The "master number" plan might have depopulated entire election precincts having the numbers drawn, and other districts, contiguous, would not have been called upon to provide a single man for the first army. When New Jersey was accused of causing confusion, Governor Edge wrote to United States Senator Frelinghuysen, asking the Senator to investigate the unfair claim against the State. Following is the reply in part of the Senator:

"Last night General Crowder told me while the draft was in progress that on account of the protest made by the State of New Jersey the system of drawing had been changed, so that instead of using one thousand numbers it had been decided to use 10,000, taking ten hours or more to complete the work and making it a more equitable proposition in every way.

"General Crowder stated also that some of the newspapers had stated that on account of New Jersey, the whole draft system had been thrown out of gear. He seemed annoyed over this situation, as he said you and General Barber had given him the very best co-operation and he had given out a statement to the newspapermen to this effect. He wanted me to say to you that it was due to the suggestion from you that the change in the draft had been made, and he felt the plan finally adopted was the fairer of the ones considered."

First discovery of the flaw in the original draft plans was made by State Librarian John P. Dullard, who is serving on one of the Trenton district exemption boards.

COUNTY EMPLOYES FOR ASSOCIATION.

For their mutual protection civil service employes of Union county have started a movement to form an organization which, it is expected, will have a membership of 100. Three petitions are now in circulation, and to them Deputy Sheriffs, under Sheriff Otto, county jail attaches and clerks at the Union county courthouse and the Elizabeth City Hall have affixed their signatures. The idea of the organization is principally to enable everyone under civil service in the county to hold secure his position, and in the event of charges being brought for incompetency, inefficiency or for some other cause to insure the one under fire a fair and impartial hearing. In urging employes to sign the petition those in back of the movement point out that heretofore, despite the protection which they should have under the provisions of the civil service law, politics has been responsible for some civil service employes being forced out of their positions.

END OF JERSEY GUARD SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST 5.

The New Jersey National Guard will pass out of existence with the mobilization of the different units August 5, thus following out President Wilson's proclamation. The regiments and other groups will lose their present identity and will be renumbered by the War Department.

The Second Regiment, including Company K, of this city, will thereafter be known under some such designation as "Seventy-eighth Infantry, U. S. A." The government will assume complete control.

The National Guard insignia, such as buttons, etc., will be discarded for decorations bearing "U. S." such as the regular army men wear.

DON'T WEAR UNIFORM UNLESS IN SERVICE.

If you want to keep out of trouble, keep out of Uncle Sam's uniform until he puts you in it.

Cabaret performers, street masqueraders and store employes are warned by United States Attorney Coffey that the strict letter of the law will be enforced against those who are found in uniform. No more clothing store clerks, says Mr. Coffey, may stroll around as living advertisements in the regalia of Major Generals, Rear Admirals or even ordinary Sammies.

The warning followed a protest from Department Headquarters to Governor's Island. Persons who like to dress up are reminded that within a week at least four men have been arrested for wearing the uniform illegally, and that recently another man was sentenced to Federal prison for a year and a day for having falsely represented himself as a Captain in the Reserve Corps.

LOCAL MAN NAMED.

In naming the three general exemption boards for the State this week Governor Walter Edge included Dr. B. Van D. Hedges, of East Seventh street, as one of those to

Laws Governing Child Labor Made Very Strict

General Lewis T. Bryant, Commissioner of Labor of New Jersey, desires to call the attention of the employers of child labor and the general public in Plainfield to the fact that the laws governing child labor are unchanged, and provide that:

No child under 14 years of age may be employed in any factory, workshop, mill, commercial laundry, newspaper plant, printery, or any place where printing or the manufacture of goods of any kind is carried on, or in any mercantile establishment.

All children between 14 and 16 years of age must file with the employer an age and schooling certificate. This applies to the school vacation period the same as all other times in the year, no distinction being made in the law in this regard, and the Commissioner of Labor is not empowered to make any exceptions thereto.

The work hours of children between 14 and 16 years working in any of the above-mentioned places are limited to eight in any one day and forty-eight in any one week, and such children are prohibited from working between 7 o'clock in the evening and 7 o'clock in the morning.

Signed statements giving permission to children between 10 and 16 years of age to work at such occupations as may be lawful for children between these ages are not good in any of the places to which the child labor laws apply, the only legal proof for such employment being the age and schooling certificate above specified.

Penalties are provided for violation of any of the above provisions, ranging from a fine of $25. or imprisonment in jail for sixty days to a fine of $50, or imprisonment in jail for ninety days, or both.

MANY FEDERAL JOBS GO BEGGING.

The United States Government needs, and needs badly, great numbers of stenographers and typewriters, both men and women, for service in the departments at Washington, D. C., and the situation in Federal offices outside of Washington is scarcely less urgent. The supply of qualified persons on the Commission's list for this class of work is not equal to the demand, and the Civil Service Commission urges, as a patriotic duty, that citizens with this special knowledge apply for examination for the Government service. At present all who pass the examination for the departmental service are certified for appointment. Examination papers are rated without delay.

Examinations for the departmental service in Washington, D. C., for both men and women are held every Tuesday in 400 of the principal cities. Examinations for the field service—positions outside of Washington—are held frequently.

The Civil Service Commission also announces an open competitive examination for first grade clerk to be held August 4 at Newark and Perth Amboy. A large number of appointments at salaries ranging from $720 to $1,000 per annum will be made in the various branches of the Internal Revenue Service throughout this district, as well as some under the War Department and in other branches of the federal service. This offers a splendid opportunity not only for employment but for patriotic service.

Application blanks may be secured from the local postoffice building.

REMOVES TO NEW HOME.

P. A. McVoy, who has been residing at East Front and Washington streets for a number of years, has taken possession of the handsome new home he has just had built at Prospect and Edgewood avenues. Mr. McVoy's office and workshop for his plumbing, heating and tinning business will still be located at the old address at Front and Washington

Y. M. C. A. Work at Wrightstown Camp

The Y. M. C. A. is conducting a very active work at the cantonment at Wrightstown. A large tent is in operation in the center of the camp, and equipped with everything to help the men during their "leisure" time. Writing materials are supplied, and hundreds of letters are written in the tent each day. There are checkers, chess, abundant reading material, phonograph and piano.

At present there are about 1,500 workmen erecting the various cantonment buildings. Added to this there are 300 enlisted men and another 100 clerks—and the Y. M. C. A. tent is a constant center of activity.

Olof Gates, former general secretary of the Elizabeth association, is in charge of the tent and also the construction of the Y. M. C. A. buildings which are being erected for the men of the National army who will come in September. Eight of these buildings will be used for regular association work, and will seat about 1,000 men. Activities will be conducted similar to those in a regular city building. The ninth building will be an auditorium seating 3,500 men, and the tenth an administration building. There will be large meetings, entertainments, movies, etc.

The first building is now half erected, and will be ready in about two weeks. In the meantime movies are being run by the association four nights a week, and on two others entertainments are given.

Regular church service is held on Sunday mornings, and men's meeting in the afternoon. A men's Bible class has been organized, and is taught by Mr. Gates.

Big Tented City Houses Troops

Plans looking toward a resumption of the Governor's Day celebrations are under way at Sea Girt, and the prospects are that the first will take place about a week or two after the New Jersey National Guard army is safely quartered in preparation for their transfer to the camp at Anniston, Ala., where they will be sent for training. Governor Edge has been so absorbed in the duties of his office owing to the stress of war conditions and their effect upon the State that he had little time to devote to preparations for social affairs. The customary method of inviting men of prominence in public life from all parts of the State irrespective of political affiliation will be followed by Governor Edge, who is at Sea Girt for his first summer.

Although the soldier boys have only been in camp since Wednesday, much of the confusion attendant with the mobilization last summer is absent. Tents have sprung up until there is now a good sized city where a few days ago there was only the rolling plain of the reservation. Troop D has again taken to camp life after the lapse of a year and with border experiences still fresh in their minds the men have made themselves as comfortable as if they were home. Preparations for many visitors over the first week-end are being made by the men in anticipation of little dainties missing from the every-day menu.

During the stay of the troops at Sea Girt there will be social diversions aplenty for their indulgence. All of the neighboring resorts are planning events, and Sea Girt itself will assume a status of importance. The social side of the military life is always elaborate, and it will be made especially so in view of the early departure of these men for the camp where they will prepare for service in France.

Nearly everything was in readiness for the troops when they began to arrive Wednesday and Thursday. Extensions to the water and sewer lines have almost been completed and new water pumping machinery is being installed and deep wells driven to provide an adequate supply for the big army of 10,000 or more men who will collect there.

The rifle ranges on the encampment reservation have presented an animated picture during the last week. Civilians from all over the State have been on them for target practice. Rifle clubs have sent delegations down for long range work and every convenience has been given them by State officials under the direction of Brigadier General Bird W. Spencer, the inspector general of rifle practice for this State. The Military Reserve of Newark sent down the largest crowd yet, with 172 shooting in one day. At times the lawns adjoining the clubhouse of the New Jersey State Rifle Association have resembled picnic grounds, large numbers of women and children frequently accompanying the marksmen for the outing.

Market Baskets to Be the Fashion If Local Merchants Heed Mayor's Advice

Sherman's polite conception of war will be brought home to Plainfield housewives with a thump if merchants and storekeepers follow the advice of Mayor Leighton Calkins and discontinue free deliveries. When one of the enterprising grocers over a quarter century ago hit on the scheme of distributing his goods about the city in a wheelbarrow it marked the inauguration of the free delivery and with the appearance of the horse and wagon in the business and later the advent of the automobile market baskets were relics of bygone days.

Now it would seem that in this one respect at least Plainfield is to fall back years at a jump, as it appears likely that the Mayor's counsel will be heeded. Following a plea for cooperation from the Committee of National Defense, he has directed letters to the Board of Trade and Business Men's Association with the request that the matter be considered. The plan is being considered in a national way.

A saving of twenty-five per cent. to merchants and public could be made if purchasers of perishable food products paid cash and carried their purchases home. This statement is made by Alexis L. Clark, chief of the Bureau of Markets of the State Department of Agriculture, in this week's Market News Service. The bulletin discusses the advantages of the credit and delivery systems, especially as they apply to perishable foods.

"The idea of charging for credit and delivery services is as old as trade itself," the bulletin states. "Somehow in the United tates during the last fifty years the evils of credit and delivery have worked themselves into the very heart of our commercial life. So far as these business methods affect hardware, dry goods or general merchandise the Department of Agriculture is not particularly concerned, but the results of allowing these practices to get into the distribution of perishable food products have been so costly that they cannot be too severely condemned."

After pointing out the danger of ordering, say, lettuce or raspberries, and having them delivered several hours later, when heat and other conditions may have damaged them, the bulletin says: "When retail prices show an apparent profit of 300 per cent. over wholesale prices, who is to figure out the proportion necessary to cover returned perishables which did not satisfy?"

Any grocer, the bulletin asserts, can enumerate instances when finest goods were returned five hours after they had left the store. The only thing he could do and remain in business was to add enough "overhead" to the wholesale cost to cover such losses. The same thing is true with credit.

"If merchants," the bulletin continues, "could all be brought to see the injustice they are doing themselves and the vicious habits they are leading their trade into and stop it, a saving of twenty-five per cent. could be effected."

Record Office Answered Many Draft Queries; Numerous Humorous Instances

The drawing of the draft numbers in Washington last Friday, despite its grim aspects, developed many instances of a humorous nature in Plainfield, as well as numerous bits of patriotism. The method of drawing the numbers and many other details were not understood by the general public and to it can be attributed the greater part of the amusement that was connected with the historic event.

During the rush for the thousands of Records that were sold all day Friday and Saturday many people stopped long enough to make queries, such as, "Would a man who was a member of the Harvard football squad be exempt?" or "Will a man have to go if he doesn't want to?" These and many more were answered at the Record office and many a mind was put at rest. Numerous telephone and personal calls from anxious mothers were received, one being especially pathetic even though humorous. The instance in question was brought about when a worried mother came into the Record office to say that her boy's name was spelled wrong in the registry list. "God forbid," she said with tears in her eyes, "that my boy should die in France with his name spelled wrong."

Comparatively few of the city's prominent people were drawn early in the draft. Roger Mellick, one of the first, is not affected as he is already a sergeant in Troop D. Councilman Charles Loizeaux, who also is well up on the list, stopped in the Record office Friday night and said that he would not try to claim exemption on the ground that he was a public official, but on the contrary is now closing his business affairs so that he may go if called.

Gaston Chevrolet, the world famous auto racer, who makes his home on Monroe avenue, will undoubtedly be one of those taken in the first draft quota, his name coming well up in the list. It is improbable, however, that he would be allowed to remain as an infantryman as his ability as an automobile engineer, he being the designer of the Chevrolet engine, would make him valuable elsewhere. In more than one case several members of one family was drawn early in the draft. Both sons of Charles W. McCutchen, of the borough, were thus affected, while three boys of the Borlan family, of Regent street, and two boys of the McDonald family, of Chatham street, appear at the top of the list in North Plainfield. Both Jack and Tom Ricketts, two well-known athletes, were others early drawn.

It now seems probable that those drawn further down the list than 100 will have to be examined before the quota of 183 for this district is obtained because many of those who are sure to be examined have come into New York during the past few days and have either enlisted or been turned down and will not be drafted. They, however, will not help decrease this district's quota.

Sad News For the Faithful; The Democratic Outing Is Off

The Kaiser, of course, will never know about the latest unpleasant deed of which he is the indirect perpetrator—no less a daring deed than the calling off of the annual Democratic outing, without which no summer season has been rounded out in Union county these many years.

Sad news for the faithful, and sadder still for the hand-shakers and the "to-be's," who have been wont to annually swarm aboard the sides of the good ship Sirius, as she swung proudly past the Recreation Pier loaded to the gunwales with good things and Jeffersonians, and sailed up Long Island Sound to that refuge of rest and refreshment—Witzel's Grove.

There the faithful would linger while the leaders, latest and politest name for "bosses," would gather around the private festive board and make a yearly "Who's Who" in Union county Democracy.

One of the sad features, sadder than the announcement that the Czar of Russia is down to his last 4,000,000 roubles, is the fact that Fred Zion, the tall sycamore of democracy and commanding general of the publicity department, will not have an opportunity to announce to the press that "there will be plenty to eat and drink for the inner man," interspersed with sundry bits of information about the large orchestra and the big guns who were to go along—and sometimes did.

And another mournful fact is the enforced absence of Hugh Boyle, who managed the athletics and trumpeted his orders o'er the field of dash and daring.

Whether or not "Jim" Martine would miss the event, now that he has left the stately halls of Congress and the editorial pages of some metropolitan dailies and settled amid his book-farming activities at Cedar Brook, near the Queen City, cannot be stated, although "the farmer orator" would once again have an opportunity to orate at will—an opportunity never declined.

Thus far no substitute affair to bring the clans of democracy together has been devised, and it is unlikely that there will be anything in the way of an outdoor function.

Republicans Pick Slate for County?

The preliminary boiling of the political pot previous to the active primary campaign has produced a number of articles in the county papers relative to the candidacy of present and would-be officeholders. One of the most interesting was published in the Elizabeth Evening Times a few days ago reporting an alleged meeting between the county leaders of the G. O. P. While it is at variance with facts known in Plainfield it is given below at its face value:

"The primary slate of the Union County Republican organization, it was learned from authoritative sources today, is made up as follows:

"For Sheriff—Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur, Plainfield.

"For Surrogate—George T. Parrot, Elizabeth.

"For State Senate—Assemblyman William N. Runyon, Plainfield.

"For Assembly—David Armstrong, Rahway; Charles L. Morgan, Elizabeth, and Arthur N. Pierson, Westfield.

"Upon promising to retire from politics in the future, State Senator Carlton B. Pierce was offered the appointment of Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, to succeed James C. Connolly.

"The slate was made up at a conference of the party leaders the latter part of last week. It is said the conference was held in New York. Those reported to have attended were State Committeeman Hamilton F. Kean, Registrar Frank H. Smith, former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, County Chairman William Newcorn and Surrogate Parrot.

"The decision of the organization not to support Under-Sheriff James E. Warner, of Cranford, did not cause much of a surprise to those closely acquainted with affairs in the party during the past year. During the primary fight last year Mr. Warner refused to step the way the organization wanted him to, and as a result the machine will not support him this year.

"Mr. Wilbur ran for sheriff three years ago and was well supported in Plainfield and other sections in the upper part of the county. The organization is apparently working on the theory that the vote in Elizabeth will be split up between Elias F. Applegate and Joseph H. Neill, while Mr. Wilbur will show enough strength in the remainder of the county to come out on top.

"In an attempt to sew up the nomination for Mr. Parrot, the conferees appointed Andrew Imbree Hetfield J. Olde, secretary of the Union County Board of Taxation, to enter the race for surrogate. It was figured that Mr. Olde would draw materially from the strength of Sheriff George C. Otto. Mr. Parrot's principal opponent for the nomination, in the downtown and central sections of the city, where the sheriff usually polls a big vote. The fact that Mr. Olde's name would not be placed ahead of the sheriff's on the primary ballot was also taken into consideration.

"As was expected, the conferees decided that the big issue of Mr. Parrot's campaign will be that there should be a lawyer in the office of surrogate. Sheriff Otto's friends are prepared to meet this issue with the claim that in the twenty-one counties of the State there are only four lawyer-surrogates.

"In this connection it became definitely known today that James P. Kelly will run for the Democratic nomination for surrogate. It was also reported today that Police Judge W. G. DeMeza, of Plainfield, is considering running for the Republican nomination for surrogate.

"It required considerable effort to get Assemblyman Runyon out of the race for common pleas judge, but he finally consented on condition that he would have a clear road for the senatorial nomination.

"Mr. Pierson, it is understood, has an eye on the speakership of the House, and for that reason he wants to return to the Assembly rather than seek a place in the upper house. Mr. Armstrong is a newcomer in county politics. He is a member of the law firm of Hyer & Armstrong, of Rahway."

LABOR DAY PLANS.

Preparations were gotten underway this week which will result, it is expected, in the greatest Labor Day pageant that this city has ever witnessed. It will be known as "The Democracy of Labor" and will have the co-operation of the Red Cross chapter and various local trade bodies.

"Old Salt Strayer" Saves Electricians From Watery Grave

The twenty-five members of Local No. 262, Independent Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, of this city, who enjoyed the annual outing of the organization to Raritan Bay, July 14, are thanking their stars that Raymond Strayer, one of their number, was along with them.

The Plainfielders were having the time of their young lives on board the trim little schooner yacht, "Voltmere," hired for the occasion, the cloudburst that played great havoc in this part of New Jersey, swept down upon them. Every man in the crowd but Strayer was a land-lubber and it had not been for his experienced maneuvers the panic that followed the first careening of the frail craft would have resulted seriously.

Strayer served six years in the United States Navy as an electrical mechanic and made the famous world trip with the big fleet. A battleship is somewhat different from the "Voltmere," but just the same the former naval man knows enough about the sea to handle anything from a rowboat to submarine. The rush for life-preservers knocked Captain Elijah Trumbull from his feet, allowing the tiller to run wild and leaving the boat at the mercy of the gale of wind. He forward top gallant mains'l was ripped to shreds and the mizzen mast was snapped off short to the deck, leaving the inexperienced electrical workers floundering in a mass of wreckage.

"Allie" Wagner asserted himself to the extent of striking up "My Country 'Tis of Thee" in stentorian tones, believing the crowd would take up the strain and thus give the crew a chance to straighten things out. Mr. Wagner worked this same trick with great success on the Timbo Club excursion six years ago when the special train leaped the track at Winslow Junction and plunged down an embankment. The crash had barely occurred before he began warbling "Rock of Ages" and the Timboites forgot their danger in trying to remember the words to help him out. There is no telling how the ruse would have worked in Saturday's panic as he was cut short in the middle of the second line. A heavy bale-stick whirled through the air and struck him amidships with such terrific force he forgot he ever belonged to a country. There are some of the electrical workers who assert that the bale-stick was thrown by an excited fellow-member who thought "Allie" was calling for help while others insist it was picked from the deck by the force of the squall.

It was just at this point that Strayer came to the rescue. He managed to fight his way to the tiller and after getting the boat off its beam ends and out of the trough of the sea yelled directions to the other boys just as he had seen admirals in the Navy do it in the Indian Ocean typhoons. He found two ready assistants in George Summers and Frank Pope, who were able to maintain their equilibrium on the slippery deck because they had previously discarded their shoes, socks and all superfluous clothes. Just why they had done this no one knows although some of the "knockers" started a rumor that they were preparing to swim ashore and swim to Sandy Hook, at that time only about two miles away. At any rate they were in a better position to help out than anyone else and held fast to the boom which was swinging about, to the great danger of everybody on board. By the time Captain Strayer had got the "Voltmere" on an even keel and supplying it for the residents of this city Mr. Mendel has provided a want that has been sorely felt for many years. It is quite probable that Plainfield bathers will shortly adopt the slogan: "Why go to the Atlantic coast when Holly Lake is so close to home?"

command order had been restored out of chaos and the half-crazed representatives of Local 262 stopped figuring if drowning was an easy death and how their families could collect insurance on lodge claims only a month or two behind in payments. As the first calm moments following the passing of the storm they fell upon Strayer's neck with hysterical frenzy, pouring out their gratitude and hailing him as their saviour. If he had been someone more susceptible to flattery it might have turned Strayer's head, but as a true veteran of the United States Navy he brushed the tears out of his eyes and exclaimed in softened tones: "Boys, I only did my duty."

The run back to Perth Amboy, the home port of the "Voltmere," was made without any incident except that Summers and Pope got hot under the collar because the shoes they took off had disappeared. It is believed they were swept overboard, but there is a chance that some of the crew might have unconsciously stored them away by mistake. The towers made their way home in rubber boots borrowed from a Perth Amboy clam-digger. When the delegation landed at the dock and felt a solid pier beneath their feet instead of the treacherous waters of Raritan Bay, a 6,000 vote cheer went up that rang in Plainfield and Milltown for the distant rumbling of thunder. The delegation left this city by automobile early in the morning, returning the same way in the evening. Just before the exciting storm episode mentioned, the excursionists had visited Seidler's Beach, where they enjoyed an excellent dinner. The outing was a great success financially and stormily and the excitement part will soon be forgotten unless Summers and Pope ask the Union to reimburse them for the missing shoes.

The outing was arranged and conducted by a committee composed of Daniel Dodge, Frank Pope and John Schley.

Miss Helen Brzniarski and her mother, Mrs. Annie Brzniarski, of Dunellen, will leave Monday for a two weeks' stay at Point Pleasant.

"Reuben Hal" Wins Big Race at Boston

Thomas Brantingham, of Park avenue, returned home from Boston last week bringing with him the coveted silver cup offered by the New England Racing Association for the horse winning the 2:16 pace in the annual racing meet at the Metropolitan track, Boston. Mr. Brantingham entered "Reuben Hal," the famous pacer belonging to Arthur C. Hensler, the Newark brewer, and although there were six other entries from all parts of the country, the Newark horse captured the trophy.

The race was decided by the best two out of three heats and Mr. Brantingham, who is one of the best drivers in this section, had no difficulty in coming under the wire in the lead two straight times. The best heat was done in 2:16¼. Owing to the fact that the Elks' convention had brought great crowds to Boston the races at the Metropolitan track were witnessed by many thousands of people. Mr. Brantingham was warmly complimented for the manner in which he handled his entry and was cheered to the echo when the beautiful trophy, valued at $500, was presented him by the judges. Among the Plainfielders who witnessed the race were Elsworth C. Wescott, George Wescott and James J. Prindle, all of whom were attending the Elks' convention.

Hundreds of Bathers Flock to Holly Lake

Milton Mendel's plan to give Plainfielders a really, truly sure enough bathing "beach" where a cool dip can be had on a sweltering day, has already met with such a high response on the part of the local public that the Holly Park Lake frequently resembles an embryonic Atlantic City. On Sunday afternoon at about 3 o'clock the bathers numbered 1246 and would have been much in excess of this if it had not been for the rain a short time before. During the warm evenings of the present week there have been as high as 100 persons enjoying the many attractions of the bathing grounds. Heretofore Plainfield bathers had to make the long trip to the shore to enjoy their favorite sport but now that Mr. Mendel has brought the chance directly home Holly Lake will grow in popularity as soon as its advantages become known. In its present form the "beach" was opened only two weeks ago.

The old Holly pond which Plainfielders knew in their younger days was about three acres in extent. Mr. Mendel had this portion completely drained for thorough cleaning and then dug out six additional acres to increase the size of the water sheet. Hundreds of wagon-loads of sand were afterward dumped in, thus affording a bottom giving all the impressions of a coast resort "beach" to the feet of the bathers. The water is shallow at the banks but gradually gets deeper until there is all the depth an expert swimmer or diver demands. A diving platform is now in course of erection and electric lights are being installed to illuminate the lake at night.

A further Atlantic City appearance is given the premises by the erection of fifty individual bath houses. A nominal charge is made for these and patrons are asked to bring only their own bathing suit and towel. In fact, the Holly bathing "beach" is complete and supplying it for the residents of this city Mr. Mendel has provided a want that has been sorely felt for many years. It is quite probable that Plainfield bathers will shortly adopt the slogan: "Why go to the Atlantic coast when Holly Lake is so close to home?"

THURSDAY CLOSING

Beginning with Thursday and continuing each week during August many of the local tradesmen will close for the entire day in order that their employes may have a day's vacation. The plan was arranged by the local Board of Trade and Business Men's Association.

MERGER DOES NOT AFFEC LOCAL CONCERN.

Nearing the end of its first year as one of Plainfield's manufacturing institutions, the American Motors Corporation on West Front street is growing larger all the time with extensions of becoming not many years hence one of the city's biggest concerns. In talking with an official of the concern this week, a Record reporter gathered that rumors of the corporation being affected by the proposed merger of the United Motors and Chevrolet plants were groundless. On the contrary the plant is working overtime and next year will probably double its present output.

KNITTING FOR JACKIES ON THE "MAINE."

The volume of work turned out by the local chapter of the Red Cross is evidenced nowadays by the constant bustle and going to and fro of numerous workers at the headquarters on Watchung avenue. Another piece of work is on the long list of things to be accomplished, following the receiving of a letter several days ago from the captain of the battleship "Maine." He, having heard of the local chapter and its readiness to help, has made the request that his mess be supplied with knitted comforters and it is likely that this will be the jackies will keep warm with the aid of woolens sent by local women.

Fill Vacancies Caused by Call

Vacancies created in the ranks of New Jersey industries by selecting men for the national army will be filled by the State Department of Labor co-operating with the Federal-State-Municipal Employment Bureau at 19 Franklin street, Newark, and other similar institutions, if employers inform General Lewis T. Bryant, State labor commissioner, of their needs. The commissioner has sent word to Director Joseph Spitz, of the bureau, stating that the department will see that losses to labor through the selective service call will be made up, as it is claimed there are plenty of available workers in the State.

Although the bureau opened this week with its floor space doubled by the addition of the second floor, where the women's division is now located, all departments were crowded by the rush of applicants. Farm hands were more plentiful than for several days and twelve were soon sent out. Boys came singly and in squads to register for farm work. There are now more than 3,000 boys listed for the camps, which it is expected will be opened about August 1. Enough have already registered to more than supply Newark's share as pledged by City Director Brennan at a recent conference in New Brunswick.

The first floor room vacated by the women's division has been assigned to applicants who are skilled workmen. It was filled in an hour after it opened, and a number were soon placed. The women's department is now divided into three sections, one for day workers and domestic help, another for clerical workers and stenographers and the third for applicants for year contract work or other factory positions.

Companies employing women will be given desk room, if they desire to have a representative at the bureau to meet applicants. One representative was assigned a desk today.

The Plainfield Executives' Club former in this city for the purpose of replacing men called for service or who leave, will co-operate with the State department and in that manner it is expected local industries will be but little affected.

The organization has been organized here by the heads of several manufacturing plants for the purpose of establishing a free Employment Bureau and in other ways assisting skilled men to get employment and make their coming to Plainfield attractive through proper housing conditions. The management is vested in an Executive Committee of the four officers and three others who are as follows: L. S. Ayer, president International Motor Company, Plainfield; W. B. Mehl, vice president Mehl Tool and Die Company, Roselle; secretary, C. W. Spicer, Spicer Manufacturing Company, South Plainfield; treasurer, A. P. Stillman, Watson-Stillman Company, Aldene; C. L. Emmons, Votey Organ Company, Garwood; C. V. Bradford, Standard Auto Corporation, Plainfield; P. W. Hall, Hall Printing Press Company, Dunellen.

POWDER ASSESSMENT STILL STANDS.

Whether or not the explosives stored in the plant of the International Steel and Ordnance Corporation, at the time they were valued by the assessor of Sayerville township, Middlesex county, at $140,000 for taxing purposes, belonged to the corporation or to the Government of Great Britain, the State Board of Taxes and Assessment this week dismissed the appeal taken by the corporation from the assessment, upholding similar action by the Middlesex County Board of Taxation in affirming the assessment upon the personal property.

The entire assessment involved was building and machinery, $60,000; smokeless powder, $70,000; "T. N. T.," trade name for munitions, $70,000. The company did not pay the taxes on the latter two items on the ground that it was not the owner of the property on May 20, 1916, on which date the assessment was made.

JANET RICHARD LECTURES.

Announcement of the dates for the seventh series of talks on "Vital Questions of the Day," to be given by Miss Janet Richard, in the auditorium of the Hillside School, was made this week. The first will be given on November 8 at 3:15 in the afternoon and will be followed by the other talks as follows: November 22, December 6 and 20, January 10 and 24, February 7 and 27 and March 7 and 21.

ANOTHER LETTER ON DEFENSE LEAGUE.

Mayor Leighton Calkins, replying to a letter from Adjutant General Barber on the subject, reiterates his statement that the local home guard organization, which consists mainly of business men beyond military age, organized for emergency service locally, can hardly be relied upon for State police or military service.

PRISON PROBE HEAD.

Governor Edge announced yesterday that Dwight W. Morrow, of Englewood, member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., will succeed William B. Dickson, of Montclair, as chairman of the State Prisons Inquiry Commission. The Governor also has asked former Assemblyman Ogden H. Hammond, of Bernardsville, to fill another vacancy in the commission. Governor Edge said the work of the commission was highly satisfactory.

PERSONAL

David Dealinger, of Westervelt avenue, returned Monday to his duties in the executive offices of the New Jersey Central after a three months' absence because of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Glover Stevens, Mrs. F. A. Miller and Mrs. George Dunn, all of Scotch Plains, returned home Wednesday after a delightful automobile trip through Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia and Virginia.

Miss Mabelle Phillips, of Madison avenue, secretary of the Charity Organization Society, left Monday for Cape Cod, Mass., where she will spend a month's vacation. She is accompanied by Dr. Graff, of Somerville, the well-known woman physician.

Mrs. James Hurley, of Belmont avenue, the borough, has gone to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to spend a short time with friends.

A party of Plainfielders composed of Vincent W. Nash, Jr., John C. Powers, Albert P. La Rock, Thomas M. Muir and J. Howard Dyke motored to Greenwich, Conn. Monday, where they were entertained by Ralph L. Morrow, formerly editor of the Daily Press but now the managing editor of the Greenwich Press. The Plainfielders were accorded an enthusiastic reception by Mr. Morrow, who conducted a tour of the city and made the local men acquainted with many of the leading citizens of the town.

Miss Helen Johnson, of Spooner avenue, and Miss Mabel Woody, of Jersey City, formerly of Plainfield, leave tomorrow for Atlantic City to spend a two weeks' vacation.

Herman Foster and family, who have been residing at 18 Regent street, the borough, for the past five years, will leave next week for Philadelphia, where they will make their home in the future. During his local residence Mr. Foster was employed at Swain's art store.

Miss Emma Crowley, of New street, left Monday for her former home at Worcester, Mass., where she has been spending the present week with relatives. During the coming week she will visit friends at Boston and Providence, R. I.

The Misses Norenna and Loretta Dunny, of East Seventh street, have gone to Windsor, Vt., where they will spend a portion of the summer with relatives.

Mrs. Franke Burke and children, of West Sixth street, are spending the summer at their bungalow at Wildwood, South Jersey. Mr. Burke is compelled to remain in Plainfield during the summer but spends the week-ends at Wildwood.

John Retsor and Clinton Conover, of the borough, were week-end guests at "Camp John," Keansburg.

Arthur Zeckendorf, of West Second street, has been spending the past week at Asbury Park enjoying his annual vacation.

Miss Harriet Mattison, of Madison avenue, registerar of vital statistics at the local Board of Health office, will return next Monday after a two weeks' vacation spent at Camp Iroquois, Lake George.

Miss Emma Elliot, of the Courier-News staff, is spending her two weeks' vacation at Green Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McKeegan, of West Fourth street, are entertaining the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fischer, of Alleghany, Pa. The visitors will remain about two weeks.

Miss Anna Doyle, of East Fifth street, has been seriously ill for the past ten days, although her condition today was considerably improved.

William Brown, of Watchung avenue, has been spending the past week at Lake Hopatcong, returning home yesterday.

Ernest Stahl, of Maple avenue, the borough, has been sojourning at Bradley Beach during the past week.

James A. Wilson, of Providence, R. I., returned home last Monday after a two weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Donaldson, of Prospect place. Mr. Wilson was accompanied home by John Carmichael, of Monroe avenue, who will be his guest at Providence for two weeks.

Captain Ed Hoffman, of No. 1 fire house, on West Second street, is enjoying his annual vacation. Part of the time will be spent at the seashore with Mrs. Vail and the members of his family.

Mrs. Elmer Doty and son, Henry, of Dewey Park, returned home this week after a ten days' stay at Keansburg.

William H. Bunn, of Fifth and New streets, will leave the coming week for the Middle West and for a time will probably be located at Detroit. Mr. Bunn is a carpenter and has been employed by R. D. Carver.

Miss M. J. Wheland, of West Sixth street, has been spending the past week with friends at Long Branch and Toms River.

With Beautiful Old Traditions, Anniston, of New South, Beckons Jerseymen With Widespread Arms

Unlike their experiences on the Mexican border, where excursions away from the monotony of camp were apt to result in nothing more tempting to Jerseymen than home killed beef which fitted best into Hamburger steaks, New Jersey soldier boys to be mobilized at Anniston, Ala., a beautiful town in the northern part of the State overflowing with Southern tradition, can celebrate their time off with old-fashioned Southern cooking. The culinary art as perfected in the hotels, restaurants and private homes of this garden spot has been handed down from the old negro mammies of ante-bellum days who learned to make hoe cake fit to melt in the mouth and fried chicken that tempted the bears off the Appalachian Mountains, while sitting at the feet of mistresses of big plantations where time and expense were unknown terms.

That the stay of the Jerseymen, including Troop D and Company K, of Plainfield, will be a pleasant one at Anniston is promised by Mayor Scarborough in a letter to a member of the Record staff. He extends a welcome to all and expresses the hope that the visit will prove both profitable and enjoyable to them. The entire town is preparing for the welcome and is ready to do anything for their comfort.

There won't be any cactus, sage brush, tarantulas or sand storms for the boys to endure this time, but there are other things about the Anniston and Piedmont country, as that part of the Appalachian foothills in Northern Alabama is called, that will vary monotony for the boys in khaki when not drilling or doing camp duty. The town itself, with its cotton mills and neighboring Southern villages, has a population of about 20,000, one of the most modern and flourishing cities of the new South. Located at the lower end of the Cumberland Valley and in what is known as the "cotton and mineral belt," it is one of the most important cities in the northern part of the State and is the county seat of Calhoun county. Just to the southward lay the coal and iron fields of the South, but all around are the rolling fields and wooded slopes that make camp life bearable.

Anniston is beautifully situated among the mountains of Northern Alabama at an elevation of 900 feet and is one of the most beautiful spots on the American continent. With its excellent railway facilities, it is on the Southern Railway, running from Washington, D. C., to the Mississippi River, also on a division of the Southern from Cincinnati to Chattanooga, Rome, Selma and other points. A division of the Louisville and Nashville Railway running from the Birmingham also touches Anniston, and the Seaboard Railway, which is building toward Anniston, is only twelve miles away at the present time.

With mild winters and cool summers, Anniston is an all the year around city. It has easy accessibility to all parts of the South and is a favorite playground for those seeking to escape the Northern winters. While the city has no waterfront, Oxford Lake Park is the gathering place of thousands and has bathing, boating and many other attractions. The Anniston Country Club is also one of the social centers of the city, and the beautiful mountain country surrounding the picturesque suburbs offer delightful excursions. Within a short distance is Pulpit Rock with an elevation of 2,400 feet and from the top of which a view of the entire end of the State can be had.

The town has a beautiful Federal building in which is located the postoffice and county and Federal courts. The buildings of Calhoun county are also located in the city, while a public library, Y. M. C. A., several parks, all sorts of churches, a golf and country club and opera house, where the best of productions are staged, are scattered at various points within the city. The public school system is considered the best in the South, with separate buildings for whites and blacks, and several higher educational institutions are also located there. These include the Noble School for Girls, "The Inn," another young women's school, and the Presbyterian Synodical College for Young Men. The High School is now located in a temporary structure while a new building is being erected.

The municipal government is housed in a big city building, and the Weather Bureau, Seiler's and Saint Luke's hospitals and the Barber Memorial School are structures always pointed to with civic pride. The two principal hotels, the Hotel Anniston and Hotel Alabama, accommodate the city's visitors, while there are also numerous winter homes and boarding houses.

The moral tone of the city is very high and prohibition is strictly enforced. The people are hospitable and pleasant, the whites outnumbering the blacks. There are several daily papers, good roads and modern garages for the tourist.

Just where the camp for the soldier boys will be located is not yet known, but there are plenty of sites in any one of the dozen or so little and flourishing suburbs. The ground is fertile and dry with much iron and mineral deposits noticeable, so it is a place well adopted to fit Jerseymen to drill in readiness to go to the battlefront.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, JULY 27, 1917.

A FUTILE ATTEMPT TO JUSTIFY NEWSPAPERS DERELICTION.

The oft repeated assertion in the phraseology of the day that "every knock is a boost" has never been more cogently demonstrated than in the attempt of the Courier-News to belittle the Record's enterprise in providing the people of Plainfield with a full list of names of all men in this district slated for early appearance before the Exemption Board in the selection of the draft quota. Instead of accomplishing their sinister purpose, the short-sighted editorial writers have only directed more attention to their inexcusable "fall down," the most glaring one that has occurred in Plainfield newspaper annals in many a day. They admit that their own readers criticised their action and to off-set their failure to give the local reading public what it wanted they have set about a campaign of ill-timed disparagement that finds no support with thinking people. The first wail that came from the somnolent sheet was fifty per cent. whimper and fifty per cent. arrogant approbation of its own short-coming. In order that readers of the Record might get the full import of the babyish excuse for "sleeping at the switch" we give it in full as follows:

"We have been asked why we did not publish the names as well as the numbers of men who were conscripted on Friday last. The answer is that no one has been conscripted as yet, and when they are we shall publish the list. The proceeding in Washington on Friday was simply the drawing of numbers assigned to all men who had registered under the Military Conscription Act on June 5, for the purpose of determining the order in which they shall be called upon to serve.

"The numbers were assigned to the men by local Conscription Boards. The names and numbers of every man subject to conscription residing in this city, Scotch Plains, Fanwood and Mountainside, in Union county, North Plainfield, Borough and Township, the Borough of Somerville in Somerset county, and the boroughs of Dunellen and Middlesex in Middlesex county, were published in the issues of the Courier-News on July 7-10. It was generally understood that all of those numbers would be drawn and we published the names and numbers that every one concerned might familiarize himself with his number, and note the numerical sequence in which it was drawn in the selective draft. On Friday we published a list of all numbers affecting residents of Plainfield and the other communities mentioned above, drawn up to 3 p. m., and on Saturday we printed the completed list. There was no good reason why the names in addition to the number should have been printed at that time. Any list of names that was printed locally in connection with the selective draft was simply a reproduction of what had appeared in the Courier-News almost two weeks before.

"As soon as the local Exemption Board has received the official record from Washington showing the manner in which each number was selected, it will then proceed to make up a list of those who must be called first, and the list will be printed. That list will be of the greatest interest to all who are liable to conscription. Almost every daily paper throughout the country printed the numbers only, on Friday and Saturday, having previously printed both names and numbers. There was a total of 2,661 men registered in this district and it required three pages to print their names and numbers."

There it is, in all its glaring idiosoliloquim. Now, can anyone with an ounce of grey matter remaining in his cranium imagine a publication that has the greatest circulation of any daily newspaper in Hunterdon county printing such a drool as that? The publication of the names of Plainfielders as they were drawn for the draft in rotation at Washington was the biggest piece of news that most of us remember. Nothing like it has occurred since the days of the Civil War and it can be truthfully said that every man, woman and child in the municipality, in common with the inhabitants of every other conscription district, was in a state of nervous tension when the numbers began coming over the wire. In one sense, the numbers meant nothing to those who did not hold one individually, but they furnished the identity of the young men who were to take up arms and the people wanted to know who they were. No better proof of this need be given than to state that 8,000 copies of the Record were sold Friday and Saturday at the regular price of five cents each. When the news spread that this paper was preparing the list of names as well as the numbers, the jam about the building almost blocked progress. Every attempt was made to give the anxious ones all details as soon as they were received and to this effect posted bulletins every few minutes. Further than this proof sheets of the names and numbers were handed to the crowd of a thousand or more persons on the sidewalk who were unable to get near enough to read the posted lists on the windows and these sheets were grabbed at like the proverbial hot cakes Hundreds of queries were answered over the telephone and until 2 o'clock Saturday morning distressed mothers, sisters and sweethearts continued to ask if loved ones whose numbers they could not remember had been drawn. All this and yet the Courier-News insists that the names should not be published until a week after the tension had been relieved. "No one has been conscripted as yet," says the article quoted and yet the Washington authorities went to all that trouble last Friday to designate who was drafted, leaving the Exemption Boards to decide whether or not the men called should be excused. There is a likelihood that six hundred of the 2,933 in this district will be summoned within the next few days and of this number we personally know of fifty who are already settling their business affairs to answer the conscription call. If no one has been drafted yet, the Courier-News should set the minds of these young men at rest because to some of them it means a loss of thousands of dollars for being able-bodied, patriotic American citizens. The statement that 2,661 registrants were in this district is one of the numerous errors in the garbled article as the district comprises 2,933 and an attempt to wade through the Courier-News lists of July 7-10 with a difference of 272 numbers would bring about a hopeless tangle. As one young woman who had not been fortunate enough to get a copy of the Record Friday night put it: "I spent an hour locating the names of six friends in the Courier list and gave it up as a bad job." There was no giving up with the Record list for there was all the information in concise form and even more accurate than the list furnished by the Exemption Board to the Courier-News office. The attempt of the Park avenue publication to add company to its misery by claiming that practically every paper in the country printed the numbers only has fallen short. The Brooklyn Eagle, big as the list was, furnished the names and so did the Newark Call, the Newark Star-Eagle, the Elizabeth Daily Journal, the Roselle Spectator and the Westfield Standard, to say nothing of the other papers outside of the Metropolitan district. The Westfield Standard thought so well of the importance of names that it gave the list in an extra that sold for double the regular price of the publication.

The opening assertion that several persons had asked the Courier-News why the names had not been printed should really have read several thousand, as the question was on everybody's tongue. The local people really believed they could depend upon the only daily paper in town to give some satisfaction because of its facilities but they were even denied any information when it was asked for over the telephone or by personal call. Feeling sure that it was master of the situation the newspaper that is supposed to serve the people started out with the idea Friday morning of refusing to give out even a single number before 3:30 o'clock, the time the edition goes to press. When the disappointed callers turned away from the Frost building and found by inquiring at the Record office that they could get every number as soon as it came over the wire there was a change of procedure in the Courier-News sanctum. The numbers were reluctantly pasted on the window in such small form that they could barely be read. It made little difference, however, in what manner they were displayed because it was too late to get the crowd that was grouped in front of the Record office and getting the information it so sorely desired.

In one last supreme effort to make atonement for its neglect, the Courier-News came out last night with a list of the first 366 men to be called before the Exemption Board, claiming that this organization had received the master numbers from Washington. This was falsehood pure and simple. Whether or not the numbers were secured from an official source by the editorial staff the Exemption Board was still awaiting the Government list at 5 o'clock last night, an hour after the Courier-News was on the street. The article also asserted that Chairman Reed had summoned a committee for the purpose of beginning the mailing of notification cards. If the master-sheets had not been received by the Board, how could the committee be called together? Simply more Courier-Newsdoms of the fabrication type. The list that was printed last night was simply a repetition of what the Record had given last week. Something had to be done to carry the names and in consequence the fake about the Exemption Board getting busy was concocted. It might have fooled some of the up-country readers but the people of this community knew they were only getting something they should have gotten six days previously.

To come right down to "brass tacks," the Courier-News was guilty of deep sleeping surpassed only by Rip Van Winkle's slumber of twenty years without the poor old Dutchman's excuse. It has maintained the same policy of mental and moral spissitude on all subjects of interest to the local public and instead of being a representative newspaper has drifted along as an automatic chronicler of happenings without any special brain work or energy included in the process of preparation and presentation. If it had not been for the lash of criticism directed against it by long suffering subscribers there would have been no editorial reflecting on the Record's alertness. Instead that important part of the newspaper would have still been given over to $1.50 a column plate comment on topics of such vital importance to Plainfield as "Flood Conditions In the Mississippi Valley," "Developing Alaskan Railroads" and "The Menace of the Boll Weevil." What is wanted in this community is a wide-awake newspaper with enough backbone to take a decided stand on municipal subjects, give the people news when it is news and above everything stay awake when the whole nation is agog with excitement. If the smug Courier-News wishes any further corroboration of the Record's forethought in giving the names of the men in this district who were to be conscripted let the comatose staff read the following commendations from leading citizens:

Assemblyman William N. Runyon: "I congratulate you most heartily upon the unprecedented success which attended your publication of the names of Plainfield young men who were affected by the conscription drawing of Friday last. In a very real sense such publication was the most vital piece of news our generation has ever had, and the indomitable enterprise displayed by you in collecting and tabulating the data, and in offering it at such an early hour to the public, entitles you to the sincere thanks of all citizens of this vicinity."

William L. Smalley, Mayor of North Plainfield: "Accept my congratulations on your mighty good work in getting out your paper in such a manner as you did on conscription day. In the rush and haste you certainly did accomplish wonders. Again I congratulate you."

Counsellor Vincent W. Nash, Jr.: "Permit me to offer my congratulations to you on your issues of Friday and Saturday last. The printing of the names and numbers of the local young men who are liable to be first conscriptioned was a timely and wonderful example of newspaper enterprise and was typical of the Record's efficiency.

"The printing of numbers alone meant nothing to friends and business associates of the registered, therefore no better plan could have been devised, than the printing of the names as well as the numbers which assisted everyone including conscripts.

"The mere fact that you disposed of 8,000 extra copies of your paper shows that you rendered a public service that is appreciated by the public in general. I trust that you may have continued success."

Robert F. R. Huntsman, president and general manager of the Brooklyn Standard-Union and member of the Plainfield Home Defense Commission: "The first thing a newspaper has to do is to print the news. The most important news last week was the printing of the conscription list, and it was a piece of unusual enterprise for the Record to produce this list without any perceptible error on the day of the draft.

"The people of Plainfield should support a newspaper which is serving them so accurately, usefully and progressively."

Harry C. Van Emburgh, Borough Engineer: "I was one of the many thousands of Plainfielders who were deeply interested in learning the names of those who had been drawn in the selective draft, not because it concerned me individually or any of my family but because I wanted to know who of my young acquaintances were to go. The numbers meant nothing to me as I did not know the identity of a single one of them. I want to say further that something happened Friday in connection with the Record's account of the draft that I will remember a long time. I saw two people on Somerset street who I am positive never bought a penny paper in their life give up five cents each for two copies of the Record. That to me, is the biggest endorsement of your progressiveness."

Counsellor Robert Newton Crane: "Allow me to congratulate you on the issue of your paper of Friday last. The idea of publishing both the names and the numbers of the persons selected under the 'Selective Draft Law,' was not only unique, but so far as I have been able to learn, was absolutely original. Thousands of people practically besieged your office as soon as it was generally known that you were printing the names of the persons selected so as to ascertain what position they held on the list and thereby gain some idea of their chances of being drafted into actual military service.

"Newspaper ideas of this sort are what Plainfield badly needs and I am sure that the public generally is appreciative of the trouble and expense you went to in giving them the information which they desired."

Tax Collector William R. Townsend: "I wish to congratulate you on your last week's edition of the Record in which you so clearly stated the drawing of our young men and their numbers. Also your putting before the public a special edition on Saturday to satisfy its demand."

P. S. Kiely, Chief of Police: "Permit me to extend my congratulations to the Record for the manner in which it served the public with the news of the great draft for America's National Army. Like everyone else, I was eager to know all the details and the concise manner in which your paper gave all the facts was a revelation to me as well as to dozens of persons I heard mentioning your enterprise. I have already mailed ten copies of the Record to out-of-town friends and am looking for further requests. Your determination to give the Plainfield public names as well as numbers has been of inestimable advertising value to your paper and I trust that you reap the reward you so richly deserve. By this I mean you should publish daily as a week is too long to wait for the real live articles that crowd your columns in every copy."

Counsellor Francis J. Blatz, president of the Plainfield Common Council: "I cannot let the opportunity pass without complimenting you on your issue of July 20. The giving of the names of our boys who were conscripted and the order in which they were drawn was information that our citizens desired and, I am sure, appreciated."

* * *

W. J. Whelan, secretary of the Plainfield-Union Water Company: "You are to be congratulated on the promptness with which you published the conscription lists. They were eagerly sought by those interested and were greatly appreciated."

Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow: "The publication in your July 21st issue of the name and serial number of registrants likely to be drawn for national service proved a great convenience, and was generally appreciated."

City Judge William G. DeMasa: "Although I am not a newspaper man I am enough of a newspaper reader to know when something good has been "put across." What you did last Friday and Saturday was the result of newspaper energy and ability and I hasten to extend my sincere commendation. I appreciated getting a copy of the Record with all the names of the drafted men but more than this I appreciated the courtesies extended me at the Record office during the day. Although your staff was busy tabulating numbers and names as the ticker gave the key, I was given every attention in asking the questions that everybody was asking and also was handed one of those sets of proof sheets which gave the first authentic information of the big doings at Washington. There were hundreds of wives, mothers and sisters in Plainfield in a high state of nervous tension over the probability of relatives and friends being drawn and I was enabled to relieve the anxiety of many of them. You are doing a good work in Plainfield and I am one of your numerous well-wishers."

City Engineer Andrew J. Gavett: "Those in so many interested homes who have been tabulating the results of the drafts, can well understand the amount of painstaking labor required in the compilation of the list published in Friday's and Saturday's Record, and so many have been under severe tension in these anxious days, the relief from suspense, whether the result was favorable or otherwise, could not be but beneficial."

David T. Kenney: "Your ability in giving the names as well as the numbers in the draft list on the date of the drawing is certainly a record for yourself and the 'Record.'"

* * *

J. J. Varley: "The Plainfield Record of last Saturday has shown its progressiveness in the special edition published with the names of the first 600 men whose names were drawn for duty. Such wide-awake alertness should be appreciated by the people of Plainfield, particularly at this trying time when all citizens were eager to know who were the first to be called for war duty. An all sides were heard comments of approval for the quick and alert method employed by the Record in giving to Plainfield citizens a true story of what had been done at Washington."

Sam Rothberg: "This is to compliment The Record for your speed in printing the 'Special Draft Edition' last Friday. The fact that you printed the names as well as the numbers of our Plainfield 'boys' who were amongst the first 500 selected gave to the public the information that they wanted."

* * *

Henry Rosenbaum: "Allow me to compliment you for the alertness and service to the public you displayed on last Friday night by giving the correct names of the local people concerned. It was indeed a service appreciated by the public."

Troop D Takes Oath

Tuesday afternoon to the commanders of the various branches of the Guard and they in turn notified their subordinates.

After spending Monday and Tuesday in preparation for leaving, Captain Runkle allowed his men to spend their last night before going away at home, ordering them all to report at the headquarters, Putnam and Kensington avenues, at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning. When the city was just awakening the troop made its way to the North avenue freight station of the C. R. R. of N. J., where the train, made up of three passenger coaches, stock cars for the horses and two flat cars for the army truck and wagon, was waiting for them.

It was expected until late Tuesday night that the troop would leave about 9 o'clock and because of the earlier hour only a few relatives of the men were aware of the time set for starting and but a few were on hand to see them off. They pulled out of the freight yard shortly after 8 o'clock. The run to Sea Girt was made in excellent time, the troop arriving just after the Newark and East Orange organizations.

The first troops to arrive for the mobilization were the men of the headquarters company of the Third Regiment of Camden. They got in before daylight, having left Tuesday night, and great quantities of their equipment and stores had been moved to their camp site before the other trains had arrived. The Field Hospital Corps, which included several Plainfield boys, was the next to arrive, pulling in at 8:55. They had just time enough to clear their stuff from the tracks before the headquarters troop of the First Squadron and the divisional headquarters troops arrived at 9:15. Next came Troops B and C, of Newark, and East Orange, followed by Troop D slightly ahead of schedule, and Troop A, of Red Bank. Then came in one continuous procession the field artillery units, signal corps and infantry regiments from all over the State until over 4,000 guardsmen had arrived by noontime and were busily engaged making camp.

Many of the faults brought out by the mobilization of the troops that went to the border last summer were not duplicated this time, and instead of finding themselves assigned to a camping place in a freshly plowed field nearly a mile away from the reservation, Troop D was set to work making camp on the main water line running through the reservation. A spirited contest to see which unit would have camp completed first developed and Troop D and the remainder of the First Squadron displayed their experience of last summer to good advantage by easily carrying off honors.

By Sunday everything should be in fine shape. Because they were not able to bid them goodbye when they left this city, mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters, sweethearts and friends are preparing to make the trip from this city to Sea Girt either tomorrow or Sunday to see the members of the troop. The summer colony is also planning to help entertain the soldier boys over the weekend and until they go South, and for the next week or so Sea Girt will be the rendezvous for all New Jersey.

Where Do The Profits Go?

MANY a farmer wonders at the end of the year where the "profits" went. Repairs for this plow—new "parts" for the binder—a new knife for the mower to replace the rusted one—and so you go. Not to say anything about the terrible wear and tear on machinery left out in the open.

And think of the time lost because this machine or that wasn't fit for use when it was wanted—the time lost tinkering with it—maybe a special trip to town.

The farmer who is a business man, doesn't waste his time or money that way. He builds a good implement shed—saves unnecessary repair bills—and gets maximum service out of his machinery. The time and money he saves represent clean profits.

He builds a good implement shed. That means

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

EMMA C. H. VERSCHUUR.

Emma Cornelia Helena Verschuur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Verschuur, of 34 Washington avenue, the borough, died Tuesday afternoon following an illness of ten days. The death of the young woman came under particularly sad circumstances as she was but eighteen years old and unusually talented. She was an accomplished pianist and singer and possessed a disposition that attracted everyone to her. The sympathy of the community is extended the members of the family in their hour of bereavement.

In addition to her parents, the young woman is survived by two sisters, the Misses Charlotte and Elsie Verschuur, living at the parental home. The funeral will be held at the parents' residence this afternoon and will be in charge of Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, where Miss Verschuur was a member of the Young Women's Bible Class. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

MRS. HENRY M. DE BOLL.

Mrs. Elizabeth DeBoll, wife of Henry Morgan DeBoll, of East Sixth street, died Tuesday afternoon following a long illness from apoplectic trouble. Her condition first became serious the first of June and since that time she had been sinking rapidly.

Mrs. DeBoll was a native of Mystic, Conn., where she was born fifty-two years ago. Later she resided at Groton, Conn., and came to Plainfield from the latter place in 1874. Mrs. DeBall was a member of the First Presbyterian church and had a wide acquaintance in both the city and borough. Beside her husband, the deceased is survived by two sons, Morgan W. DeBoll, of Long Island, and Frederick A. DeBoll, of Philadelphia.

The funeral was held at the late home last night at 8:30 and was attended by many relatives and friends. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church. Burial was made in the family plot at Groton, Conn., this morning.

DOMINICK COLLORA.

Dominick Collora, a well-known resident of this city for a number of years, died suddenly at his home on Leland avenue, Sunday night. Since the departure of his son to Porto Rico some time ago Mr. Collora had been living in the Leland avenue house with only a valet as company and when stricken with a heart attack was unable to call assistance except by using the telephone at his bedside. He had been subject to apoplectic spells of nearly twelve months and realized immediately when he was attacked Sunday night he needed medical assistance. The telephone operator at the local exchange conveyed Mr. Collora's hasty message to Dr. Clawson and although the physician hurried to the residence he arrived too late. Mr. Collora had passed away without the valet knowing that anything was wrong with his employer.

Mr. Collora was a native of Italy, where he was born fifty-one years ago. He came to this country when a young man and had risen to the responsible position of consulting engineer for the Robin's Dry Dock Co., at Erie Basin, South Brooklyn, and was in charge of the concern's foreign office. He was a member of Plainfield Lodge of Elks and had a wide acquaintance throughout the city.

Beside his son, Nickolas D. Collora, who represents the Standard Oil Company, at San Juan, Porto Rico, Mr. Collora is survived by two brothers, Andrew, of New Milford, and Louis, of Italy; and a sister, Miss Caroline Collora, also of Italy.

Owing to the inability of the son to reach this city from Porto Rico until next Monday afternoon, the funeral service has been deferred until next Tuesday morning. It will take place in St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, and the interment will be in Brooklyn.

EDWARD SHERER.

Edward Sherer, a former resident of Watchung avenue, but more recently living at 325 Franklin place, died at his home at the latter address Tuesday morning, following an illness of some duration. He was born in Kentucky seventy-five years ago and served in the Northern army as first lieutenant. Coming North after peace had been declared, Mr. Sherer engaged himself in banking work and followed it successfully many years. At the time of his death he was secretary of the Metropolitan Savings Bank. He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, of the Royal Arcanum and also an original member of the Loyal Legion, composed of veterans of the Sons of Veterans of the Civil War. Although he had lived in Plainfield but nine years the deceased had a wide acquaintance locally and his death is deeply regretted by all who knew him.

Mr. Sherer is survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss Genevieve Sherer, of this city, and one son, Prescot A. Scherer, of Garden City, L. I. The funeral was held at the late home yesterday morning and was strictly private, as was also the burial, which took place in Greenwood cemetery.

JOHN CODDINGTON SMITH.

John Codding Smith, a member of the well-known Newark flour and feed firm of J. C. Smith & Wallace and one of the men responsible for recent building developments in the West End of this city, died last Friday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. B. Wallace, of Summit. He had been ailing for a long time, primarily because of his advanced age, which was eighty-one years.

Mr. Smith was born at Bound Brook, the son of William and Harriet Smith, and spent his boyhood at that place. At the completion of his education he entered the wholesale produce business in New York and was one of the early members of the New York Produce Exchange. In later life he entered the wholesale flour and feed business in Newark, afterward taking his son-in-law, Colonel A. B. Wallace, into partnership. The concern's office and warehouses have been located on Egden street, Newark, for many years and for a long time have been one of the leading concerns of the kind in the State.

Through his marriage to Miss Mary French, of North Plainfield, many years ago, Mr. Smith lived here for a while and he became greatly interested in Plainfield real estate. At one time he had a large number of local holdings. One of these was the entire block bounded by Spooner avenue, Essex street, Darrow avenue and West Fourth street, which he allowed to be used at various times as the St. Mary baseball field and carnival grounds. He also owned a long stretch on West Fourth street, between Spooner avenue and John street, which, like the other parcel mentioned, was developed about ten years ago through the efforts of Mr. Smith and Elston M. French. Wallace place, running west off Spooner avenue, between Fourth street and Essex street, was given the name by Mr. Smith in honor of his son-in-law when it disposed of the block in building lots. Mr. Smith owned other properties in various parts of the city and borough.

The deceased was greatly interested in Methodist churches and one of his desirable charities was to give money to young and struggling congregations. In this way he was a liberal donor but his benevolences were in many directions although he was a firm believer in never "letting his right hand know what his left hand did." Since making his home at Summit he had lived a retired life.

Beside his wife, Mr. Smith's only near surviving relative is his daughter, Mrs. Wallace. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at Mrs. Wallace's home and was in charge of Rev. Dr. A. H. Tuttle, of East Orange, assisted by Rev. Dr. W. L. Haven, of Newark, a member of the Methodist Book Concern. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery, Brooklyn.

LESTER JOHN WILSON.

Lester John Wilson, the infant son of Charles J. and Emma M. Wilson, of Harmony street, died Sunday after a brief illness. The child was three months and nineteen days old. The funeral was held at the home of the infant's grandmother, Mrs. Annie Wilson, of Harmony street, Tuesday afternoon and was in charge of Rev. George Hauser. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery.

ALBERT A. HOLLY.

Albert A. Holly, who for nearly thirty years resided at Belvidere avenue and Ravine road, died Friday at the Marlboro, Asbury Park, where he went on July 16 in the hope that a rest at the seashore might benefit his health. He had been subject to heart trouble for nearly two years and recently it had brought on complications. He continued to grow worse after reaching Asbury Park and succumbed to an acute attack of heart trouble.

Mr. Holly was a native of New York but came to this city when a young man. The family has since passed away, the last death previous to Mr. Holly's being that of his mother, who died at the Belvidere avenue house about six years ago. Since then the son had been living at hotels or private residences with friends. Having no family of his own. His last address was at 521 East Second street, where he had been but two weeks before going to Asbury Park.

Mr. Holly entered the employ of the Market and Fulton Bank of New York, of which former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of this city, is president, when only a youth and had risen to the position where he had reached the position of teller, which he held at the time of his death. He was fifty years old and a member of Plainfield Lodge of Elks. His only known nearest relative is an aunt living in New York.

The body was brought to this city and kept at the undertaking parlors of Runyon & Son, from which it was taken Monday to New York Bay cemetery, Greenville, for interment. The only service was at the graveside and was conducted by an Episcopal clergyman from New York.

Rev. and Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, of Grandview avenue, will leave next Monday for the Canadian border to spend a portion of their summer outing. Mr. McKelvey will make some of the time in enjoying the fishing awarded by the St. Lawrence River, N. Y.

A Public Market Seems Assured

Although Mayor Leighton Calkins has stated that the city will not at present conduct a public market, it is possible that such a convenience may come into existence in the near future and be operated under the supervision of the Food Commission. That body is now delving into the problems to be solved before a market can be started. As it has done in all other cities in the State where markets have been established, the Bureau of Markets will help in any move [illegible] Plainfield. The following bu[illegible]ed this week gives consid[illegible] information on the subject:

"There are three distinct types of public markets," the bulletin says, "outdoor wholesale, outdoor retail and indoor retail. Outdoor wholesale markets can be seen in Paterson, New Brunswick and Asbury Park. An outdoor retail market can be seen at Perth Amboy and the Center Market in Newark is an example of an indoor retail market."

In discussing the relation of population to type and number of markets, the bulletin says: "A city of 5,000 inhabitants can support one outdoor retail market. A population of 25,000 to 100,000 (in which class Plainfield is) can support an outdoor wholesale market, an outdoor retail market and an indoor retail market. Cities over 100,000 people can carry on an outdoor and an indoor wholesale market and several indoor and outdoor retail markets."

The bulletin says that a discouraging feature which is bound to present itself to any community in starting a market is the lack of interest on the part of farmers. Housewives, on the other hand, the bulletin declares, usually show considerable enthusiasm. Farmers have grown out of the habit of direct selling. They have their planting system arranged and their market methods organized along other lines. They should not be blamed for not giving up tried practice for an experiment.

In conclusion the bulletin states: "A public market should not be a money-making proposition, but it should support itself. Practical sanitary precautions are necessary, but costly buildings and fancy equipment ought to be discouraged. Market keepers for a few hours a day can be secured cheaply by using the scales of weights and measures, or, as in the case of New Brunswick, a church janitor."

AERO CLUB HELD ENJOYABLE MEETING.

The fourth social of the Standard Aero Club since the organization was formed among employes of the Standard Aero plant last spring was held in the clubrooms in the Sebring building on West Front street last night. T. H. Huff, consulting engineer of the concern, who is instructor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, made an address during the course of which he explained the last aero inventions. The club orchestra contributed a number of selections and Anthony Caruso sang Italian airs. John Molins also played on the Virtuoso-accordion. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

TRANSIT CO. ALLOWED TO INCREASE FARE.

The Public Utility Commissioners of New Jersey have voted to allow the North Jersey Rapid Transit Company to increase its fare basis from 5 cents to 6 cents.

After six years of operation, the road's deficit in 1916 was $121,546. Its funded debt is $800,000, which is said to have been the actual cost of construction. Henry H. Parmelee is receiver for the line.

The line runs northward from a point in Bergen county just east of the Passaic River at Broadway, Paterson, connecting there with a line of the Public Service Corporation, and extends into New York State half a mile to Suffern. Because the line is operated in New York, the rate may have to be approved by the New York authorities.

Since its inception the road has been divided into five zones, with a 5-cent fare for each zone. This made the whole trip cost 25 cents.

GAUNT TO RETIRE FROM STATE SENATE.

Political circles in Gloucester county got a sensation yesterday by the formal announcement from President of the Senate George W. F. Gaunt, of Mullica Hill, that he will not be a candidate for renomination on the Republican ticket.

Senator Gaunt's statement is as follows: "To dispose finally of my name being associated with the nomination to succeed myself in the New Jersey Senate, that my good friends may be properly advised, it has been deferred owing to my health, which has been impaired since early in January last, and at present not such as to make it safe in justice to myself and to put forth the exertion that a campaign makes necessary. Therefore, I will not be a candidate, and take this opportunity to extend my sincere thanks to the many kind friends, both in and out of the county, for their assurance of continued support, and to thank the people of Gloucester county as a body for the honor bestowed on me, for the privilege of serving them the past nine years."

June Report of Health in State

Trenton, July 26.—The number of cases of disease reported to the State Department of Health for June, 1917, exceeds that reported during the corresponding month of 1916 by 2,023 cases. This increase was caused by the additional diseases made reportable by the enactment of Chapter VI of the State Sanitary Code and by the law requiring other diseases to be reported to the State Department of Health, and not to any increase in the diseases heretofore reportable.

In comparing typhoid fever, diphtheria and scarlet fever there were notably fewer cases reported in June, 1917, than 1916. This was general throughout the State. Chickenpox is the only disease in which there was any considerable increase in the number of cases reported and this is probably due to better reporting of the disease rather than to an actual increase in the number of cases that occurred.

Typhoid Fever. The number of reported cases of typhoid fever for June was 53, a decrease of 42 or nearly 50 per cent. from the number reported for the same month of the previous year. The cases were fairly evenly distributed throughout the State, eight being the largest number from any one county. No cases were reported from Hudson, Middlesex, Somerset and Sussex counties.

Diphtheria. The total number of cases of diphtheria reported was 351, 108 less than were reported during the corresponding month of last year. Cases were reported from every county except Morris and Salem.

Scarlet Fever. During June 354 cases of this disease were reported, which is 111 fewer cases than reported in June, 1916.

Measles and German Measles. There were 690 cases of measles and 975 cases of German measles reported. Hunterdon and Mercer counties being the only counties from which no cases were reported.

Whooping Cough. There were 532 cases of whooping cough reported, 457 of which occurred in Essex county. The fact that whooping cough was reportable to the local boards of health in the larger municipalities in Essex county before the State Sanitary Code took effect probably accounts for the relatively large number of cases reported in that county.

Poliomyelitis (Infantile Paralysis). Fifteen cases of infantile paralysis were reported during June as compared with four cases reported during June of last year. Cases were reported from Bergen, Essex, Hudson, Middlesex, Mercer and Middlesex counties. Owing to the extensive epidemic of poliomyelitis during the summer of 1916, more complete reporting of this disease has naturally followed and the increase in the number of reported cases for June may be entirely due to this cause and not to an actual increase in the number of cases.

Epidemic Cerebrospinal Meningitis. A total of 24 cases of this disease were reported during June from Atlantic, Essex and Union counties.

Tuberculosis. Cases of tuberculosis were reported from every county in the State except Sussex. The total number of cases was 596 as compared with 837 cases reported during June, 1916.

Smallpox. One case of smallpox was reported from Hudson county. During June of 1916 there were three cases reported, two in Camden and one in Monmouth county.

Chickenpox. The total number of cases of chickenpox reported was 601, an increase of 141 over the number reported for June of last year.

Malaria. There were 22 cases of malaria reported during June; a decrease of 26 or more than 50 per cent. from the number reported during June of last year.

Other Diseases. There were three cases of diphtheria, two cases of trachoma, six cases of lead poisoning and two cases of anthrax reported during June.

GAINS COMMISSION.

Announcement yesterday by Major Stanley Rumbaugh, commandant of the New Jersey State Training Camp, at Princeton, of cadet officers' appointments included the name of Alan Stevenson as sergeant-major.

SELECTED FOR AVIATION.

Word has just reached this city of the selection of Peyton Schenck and Guy Snyder to go to Toronto to train for aviation service. They make the third and fourth local men that have thus been honored, the names of the others appearing in another section of the paper.

BOND PAYMENT.

Next Monday will be the date on which twenty per cent. will be due on the Liberty Bonds purchased and the banks in this city handling the bonds are all prepared for the rush. The next payment will be due on August 15, leaving an additional thirty per cent. to be paid on August 30, when the full payment is expected to have been made.

JACK ROGERS ENLISTED.

Jack Rogers, of Watchung avenue, brother of Thayer Rogers, treasurer of the Plainfield Theatre, and one of Plainfield's best known young men, reported this week for duty in the hospital department of the U. S. Navy. He is now undergoing a course of training and in a short time will be assigned to a battleship unit. From 9 until 12 and 1 until 3 every day he attends sessions at Columbia College and from 5 until 7 has drill.

New Pastor at Seventh Day Baptist Church

Rev. James L. Skagg, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church at Nortonville, Kansas, for several years, will arrive in Plainfield next Wednesday and on the following Saturday will conduct his first service as pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church on Central avenue. When the installation service will take place is not known, although it will be sometime in the near future. Mr. Skagg succeeds Dr. Edwin Shaw, who resigned as pastor last winter.

Mr. Skagg was ordained to the ministry at Niles, N. Y., in 1906, and at first was pastor of the Seventh-Day church at Shiloh, this State. At the time he was county secretary of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association. Later he went to Nortonville and comes direct from there to here. His family will arrive early in the fall.

Begin Harvesting the Bumper New Jersey Crop

Bumper crops of New Jersey are being put on wheels and rolled right into the city markets fresher and faster this year than ever before, and for the first time since the growing of perishable products became extensive in this State the farmers are beginning to feel themselves to some degree independent of arbitrary railroad schedules and freight rates.

Motor trucks have solved the problem of fast delivery for the New Jersey truck farmers. Hundreds of the big cars, some of them with a carrying capacity of several tons, have been put on the roads between the farms and markets this season. Many of these auto trucks are owned by the farmers themselves, having been purchased to replace horses and market wagons.

A number of motor freight routes have also been opened up in the truck growing districts by small companies, or individuals, who have built up a flourishing business by transporting vegetables and fruits for the busy farmers.

Freight congestion and shortage of cars on the railroads have further added to the shipping problems of the farmer this summer and made motor trucks an absolute necessity for the large growers. The New Jersey State Board of Agriculture has assigned an expert to handle the shipping problems of the farmers of the State this year to try to facilitate the movements of crops by the railroads.

What effect this will have will not be apparent until the season is further advanced. Farmers know, however, that the railroads are already loaded up almost to the limit with freight. By using motor trucks for delivery of the crops to markets reasonably near the producing points, the growers believe they will do much to relieve the railroads of their burden and make more cars available for shipment of produce to distant points.

FIRST RED CROSS BUTTON AWARDED.

Miss Dorothy McKenzie, of this city, is the first young woman to win a "cross" since the Plainfield and North Plainfield Chapter of the Red Cross took possession of its new headquarters on Watchung avenue within the past two weeks. This honor was conferred upon her for completion of twenty-one hours' work. Many other young women are now striving to get a "cross." Headquarters is the scene of much activity these days, a large corps of women working every day making bandages and surgical dressings to be sent to the Allied force, especially the American soldiers and sailors.

BUILDING CONTRACTS.

The following building contracts have been filed in the office of the county clerk for the week ending July 21:

Charles S. Cook with A. H. Burdick, entire work new building. First place, Plainfield $6,300

Board of Freeholders with H. Williams et al., mason work, extension to power house, Fanwood $3,018

LOCAL YOUTHS LEAD AT WAWAYANDA.

With sixteen local boys included among the many youngsters enrolled, Camp Wawayanda is in the midst of its most successful season with Plainfield youths taking the lead in many branches of activity. The association standing in athletics is as follows: Cranford, first; Ridgewood, second; Plainfield, third; Passaic, fourth, and Asbury Park, fifth. Plainfield still leads in aquatics.

More than two hundred campers have been registered so far and a number have been placed on the waiting list. Bible study has been conducted by different leaders and during the coming week Rev. C. O. Wright will be in charge.

RUSSIAN IMMIGRANT SENTENCED TO JAIL.

Sentenced to the Woman's Reformatory at Clinton on a statutory charge by Judge Connolly in the Court of Quarter Sessions Friday afternoon, Sadie Myers, a Russian immigrant girl, sobbed as she walked from the platform in front of the judge's bench, and was led back to jail. She repeated that she did not want to go to the institution. She was arrested in Plainfield after having traveled about the country with

William Coyle Now at Fort Ogelthorpe

One of the many enlistments recorded locally within the past two weeks is that of William Coyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Coyle, of Waynewood place, who is already at Fort Ogelthorpe, Ga., as a member of the First New York Medical Reserve Corps. The well-known young Plainfielder determined to offer his services and was immediately accepted because of his fine physical proportions and excellence in mental tests. He made no mention of his intention to either family or friends and the first the former knew that he had become one of Uncle Sam's boys was when he wired from New York for a few personal articles. Immediately after he signed the necessary papers he was consigned to a detachment starting for the South, not even being allowed an hour's furlough, so important was the need of getting the contingent entrained. His parents and several other relatives reached Fort Slocum just in time to say farewell.

Mr. Coyle is twenty-three years old and for several seasons was one of the best known football players in Plainfield. His best work was accomplished as quarterback on the Holy Cross elevens that made local sporting history. In one of the games the daring young athlete received an injured limb that detained him at home for many weeks. He has also been a proficient baseball player and in numerous other athletic ventures has made good. His last position was in New York where he was engaged in the wholesale electrical supply business.

Mr. and Mrs. Coyle, the parents of the young man, received a letter from his this week in which he stated that Fort Ogelthorpe is a veritable "hive of industry." Recruits are coming in and going out by the thousands each week and the course of training the new men are being put through is putting them in splendid shape for foreign service. There are numerous other Plainfielders at the Fort who are "waxing fat" under the discipline of military life but all have suffered greatly from the heat of the past week. At times the humidity has been almost unbearable to the Northern boys and many have been temporarily incapacitated, but even a sweltering southern atmosphere has failed to check their enthusiasm and they are just as eager as ever to continue their preparation for field work.

How Harry Lauder Added His "Mite" To the Great Cause

Mrs. Donald McInnes, of Grant avenue, is in receipt of a copy of the "People's Journal," published at Perthshire, Scotland, on June 10, containing a lengthy article written by Harry Lauder, the famous comedian, and detailing a trip the great entertainer made to the French battle front. While to some extent written in a jocular vein, the story mingles humor with pathos, but the two combined give a story of hardships and suffering that go straight to the heart of every American man and woman. Mr. Lauder is beyond the military age but he gave a son to the cause who died in a gallant charge and his trip to the war ridden zone was to add his little bit to the wonderful work being accomplished by his brave countrymen.

The Scotch comedian carried a five octave organ to the field with him and wherever he sighted a hospital or field camp containing a wounded soldier he stopped for a few moments to bring a ray of sunshine into a small corner darkened by mental gloom. In four days the inimitable Harry sang 120 songs, just the same as he sang the same songs on American stages to the great delight of audiences numbering many thousands, as he puts it himself, he derived more pleasure from seeing a convalescent "Jock" beat time to the rhythm of one of his popular melodies than responding to the tumultuous plaudits of the biggest gathering he ever entertained. In his own words, beside singing his best known songs, he traveled over 500 miles of territory mostly by automobile. He went directly in the trenches to cheer the boys who were holding the line, patted the Scotch lads on the head, gave away hundreds of packages of cigarettes and in other ways did what he could to help along the great cause that is vitally important to every inhabitant of the allied nation.

Among the places that Mr. Lauder visited were Arras and Vimy Ridge. At the latter place the talented Scotchman caught himself in a barbed-wire entanglement and received a severe scratch on the right knee. He created great laughter among the boys in the hospitals by exhibiting the little tear to prove his assertion that he was one of those wounded at "Vimy." It was this kind of humor that was prevalent during his entire trip and when he turned backward to return to Scotchland it was with the knowledge that his talent had made a few hours brighter for the flower of Europe that is holding back the Teuton menace.

Elks Give Farewell to Trooper Milton Dilts

One of the most enthusiastic farewells accorded a Plainfielder on the eve of his departure for military duty was that given Milton D. Dilts, of Lenox avenue, a private in Troop D. It was arranged and conducted by fellow members of Mr. Dilts in Plainfield Lodge of Elks and took place Monday night at the Elks' clubhouse at Elizabeth. There were about forty present in all.

The grill-room of the Elizabeth club was given over to the occasion as one of the features was the serving of a lobster supper. This was followed by an entertainment furnished by professional and amateur talent. One of the big numbers was a satire on the "cocktail" scene from the second act of the farce comedy success, "Fair and Warmer," given by Peter Herzog, a member of the "Fair and Warmer" company, who makes his home in Plainfield, and "Dave" Rogers, treasurer of the Plainfield Theatre. It lasted twenty minutes and was a "screamy" from start to finish. Mr. Rogers displayed such versatility that he will hereafter be a feature at the Elks' minstrel shows. Other Plainfielders who took part in the program in either songs or dances were James Cahill, "Jack" Oswald, Everett Mapledean, J. Howard Dyke, T. M. Mufic, George Forgerson, Harry Shannon, Clarence Mundy and "Eddie" Way. Mr. Dilts was presented with a wrist watch and a "comfort" kit intended for field purposes. The presentation was made by "Dave" Rogers in behalf of the young trooper's clubmate friends from Plainfield Lodge. The committee which arranged the affair was composed of James Cahill, "Dave" Rogers and Michael L. Shannon.

War Work Keeps Politics at Ebb

Political news of a State-wide bearing is one of the scarcest things in Trenton these days. In ordinary years the middle of July brings considerable activity along those lines, but this year there is so much doing in connection with the part that New Jersey and its county and municipal sub-divisions are doing in war work of one kind or another that all else is set aside—even politics.

There is an occasional bit of gossip over the possibilities of the future in connection with the next election for Governor, or for United States Senator, but no one has recently gotten down to a real political discussion of even those large subjects. September and the State primaries are not far away and there must be some activity soon.

In the ranks of the Democratic party there is absolutely nothing doing. Among the Republicans there is hardly more than enough activity the last week or ten days some of the party heads in the State have begun to give attention to the fact that this fall there are to be eight State Senators elected and a new Assembly chosen.

Six of the eight places in the upper branch of the Legislature that are to be filled have been held by Republicans and there is not believed to be any doubt but that their successors will be of the same political party. There were forty-four Republicans in the last House of Assembly, out of its membership of sixty, and there is little doubt among the Republican leaders that this proportion will be duplicated in the next makeup of the lower branch of the lawmaking body of the State.

Small Board Agitation Rapidly Gains Strength

Although little general interest has been aroused in the small freeholder board petition being circulated about Elizabeth, nearly 500 names having been attached to the petition, *including that of former Repre*sentative Charles N. Fowler. It is being backed by President Van Wyck Lot of the Police Commission and is being circulated by Joseph W. Mapes. While Mayor Victor Mravlag has not committed himself, it is understood he favors a small board where Elizabeth will get more representation. It now has four members of the twenty-one and pays nearly fifty per cent. of the county taxes.

The argument *brings forth the re*ply from the old board members that Elizabeth gets more from the county than any other municipality in the way of care for prisoners at the county jail and patients at the Bonnie Burn Sanatorium and Morris Plains, besides a large share of the widows' pension fund.

While some of those behind the movement are actuated by the alleged slipshod methods of the old board, as shown by the probe started several months ago by Freeholder Miss Applegate, the persons in Elizabeth—and so far as is known in the rest of the county, although no petition is being circulated out of the city—seem to take but little interest in the proposed change. Should it carry this year it would mean the choosing of the board in the old way and not by the district method—the way most desired by the small freeholder board adherents. The district plan was buried in committee at the last session of the Legislature, it is understood.

The Story of the Black Wooden Cross, And Lightning's Mysterious Tendency to Strike It Only During the Noon Hour

Dropping from the skies during the vivid electrical storm which passed over Plainfield last Friday noon, the destructive lightning bolt which damaged the spire of the First Presbyterian church not only carried away a portion of the surmounting black wooden cross but also figuratively impressed upon the minds of the congregational members that the religious symbol at the apex of the steeple has been marked for destruction. On three previous occasions, and each time at noon, this same cross has been split in twain or stripped of its arms by a thunderbolt and the members of the First Presbyterian church are beginning to ask themselves if there is really any reality in divine retribution for the acceptance of a gift inspired by a non-believer in God's word. It may seem foolish superstition as other church eminences have been struck more than once by lightning, but the succession of "attacks" on the East Front street edifice and the peculiar circumstances relating to them has convinced more than one interested person that it would be better to remove the cross entirely, leaving the spire to determine later whether or not there is anything in the theory that has been advanced.

The story of the First Presbyterian black wooden cross is familiar to many persons in Plainfield. When the structure was erected in its present form about thirty years ago a benevolent gentleman who lived in this city wished to make a contribution in memory of her husband. She offered $40,000 with no other restriction than that a black cross be placed on the steeple. It is not the custom of Presbyterians to place this symbol on their houses of worship as the Roman Catholics and Episcopalians do but as there is no denominational tenant forbidding it the matter was brought to a congregational vote. It was seen that the philanthropic Plainfielder explained why she had made such a peculiar request.

Her husband, she told the members of the flock, had been born of a good, Christian family in Tennessee and thought he had been given all the religious and moral training that is the brithright of every American boy he fostered peculiar ecclesiastical views later in life, to make the statement plain, he became an infidel. The money that was offered, however, did not come from him but was the widow's own special donation, although she wished the cross erected in memory of her husband for a sentimental reason. At times when she could get him to converse for a few moments about churches and church people he referred to the Sunday-school he had attended in Tennessee and the memories of it that clung to his mind. He would refer to the people who made up the congregation, to the sermons delivered by pastors and visitors that set him to thinking about the hereafter and the manner in which religious workers endeavored to prepare sinners for the eternal home. While in this mood he would mention the fact that on his old Sunday-school had for one of its mural decorations a large black cross that seemed to beckon to him whenever an especially fiery chapter was quoted from the Bible by a zealous preacher. From those days until the day of his death in Plainfield this man had reverence for a black cross and the sight of one inspired him to deeper thoughts of the work of God. That was the only explanation given by the intending donor for her strange request in offering $40,000 toward the erection of the new church.

The congregational vote was in favor of accepting the money under the conditions mentioned and accordingly the black wooden cross was placed on top of the steeple. Strangers frequently commented upon the strange procedure for people of the Presbyterian faith and for a time the members of the church explained why it was done. The death of the widow revived the story but eventually it ceased to be a matter of comment until one day exactly at noon the black cross in its strange position was struck by lightning. Immediately the old story of the $40,000 offer was revived and some of those who had been against its acceptance recalled that the husband of the beneficent woman had died at noontime without professing regret for his unbelief. Others in the neighborhood looked upward they found that the black wooden symbol had been torn apart. The upright piece remained but both arms were gone. There was more talk of the strangeness of the lightning's action, more discussion about the advisability of putting back the cross and finally the resolution to fix it as before. The steeple was soon in complete repair with its familiar emblem at the topmost point and those who believed in lightning never striking more than once in the same place waited to see how many times their favorite phalacy would be repudiated. It came very shortly with a third shattering of the black cross but not a church. That was a few years ago and only the older members of the congregation talked seriously of not going through the replacing process again. The younger and less appreciative element prevailed and the cross was put back.

Nothing of any moment occurred to recall the old story until last Friday when for the fourth time the First Presbyterian steeple was singled out for a lightning target. Practically no damage was suffered by the tall spire but the black wooden cross against was stripped of its arms. The storm was at noon and the death of the infidel was at noon. There are other church steeples in Plainfield that have been struck by bolts during a storm but none of them with such convincing regularity or with such peculiar incidences, so argue many Plainfielders with a leaning to superstition and the question is being asked: "Will the cross be put back again for a further demonstration that the Almighty was displeased with the congregational action?"

Plainfield K. of C. Gives to War Fund

Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, is preparing to help in the movement of the order all over the United States to raise $1,000,000 for war purposes. Each one of the 300 members of the Plainfield Council has been assessed $2 and Sunday morning has been set as the time when all payments are due. Officials of the club will be at the clubhouse on West Front street all morning and as a result expect to turn over $600 toward the fund.

The campaign of the Knights of Columbus, which is being helped along by every council in the country, is to help provide recreation and amusement to soldiers in training at every large camp in the country. The $1,000,000 that will be raised will be used to erect and maintain rooms where the soldiers can enjoy themselves during their time off.

Recruit Company Waiting to Move

Lieutenant Phillips, who is in charge of Company K's local recruiting office in the old postoffice building, secured eleven recruits for the company this week, bringing the strength of the recruit unit, which is being kept here, up to seventy-seven men. Lieutenant Phillips expects to move his men sometime this week, probably to regimental headquarters at Trenton, where equipment will be given out. Sometime before Company K goes South for training the recruits will join it, making the unit by far the largest in the Second Regiment.

*The number of recruits for the lo*cal company are as large as some of the regular companies in the service and they are drilled as a unit five hours daily on Cricket Field in the manual of arms, signal drilling and the other rudiments of military schooling. The men as yet have not received all their equipment and until they do will retain their civilian garb.

Militia Quits Guard Duty Early Next Week

Some definite action will be taken by the State during the coming week to replace the National Guard regiments that will leave their guard posts within the next few days to mobilize in preparedness for the trip South. Whether an attempt will be made to utilize the various Home Defense Leagues after the manner in which the idea was received when first announced or whether a new National Guard body will be formed is not known.

Three infantry regiments, the First, Second and Fourth, will be the fighting units to leave guard duty. Part of the Fourth Regiment has been stationed in this vicinity for a number of months and provision for replacing them will have to be made. The Second Regiment, including Company K, has ended its tour of guard duty and expects to be moved to Sea Girt before going to Anniston.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE TO OPEN ON AUGUST 16.

Although the summer is hardly half over, plans are being made already by Counihan & Shannon, proprietors of the Plainfield Theatre, for the offering of an excellent number of theatrical productions to the local amusement-going public during the fall and winter season. With a number of improvements, the Second street playhouse will have its initial opening of the season on August 6 and from that date until next spring all of the latest successes will show from time to time. Vaudeville of the higher class, consisting of six acts and augmented by motion pictures, will also be a feature.

Government Takes Over Part of Scott Factory

One of the largest and most important contracts yet given out by private individuals by the Government to a single industrial plant came to light last night when it became known on good authority at Washington that the authorities at Washington had made a deal with the Walter Scott Printing Press Company that will involve the expenditure of many millions of dollars. By the agreement the Army and Navy department will take over a portion of the plant of the Scott company for the manufacture of gun mounts and gun carriages, leaving the remaining portion of the plant for the continuance of the Scott Company's regular business of manufacturing high grade printing presses. The present force of 600 persons is to be increased if possible to 1,000 or possibly 2,000 employes, working them in three shifts of 600 each. This will mean the employment of hundreds of persons belonging to Plainfield or nearby cities, as it is impossible to get a sufficient number in the vicinity, so busy are all the manufacturing plants. The Government will probably undertake the task of erecting that the necessary number of new hands are provided, drawing on its reserved supply of machinists from the ranks of the enlisted munition workers.

In order to provide room for such a big increase in the staff of employes, the Scott Company will erect a big addition to the present machine shop. Plans for this are now being completed and the work of construction will begin as soon as possible, so that, without cessation till this, everything is in readiness for the installation of machinery. The addition will occupy the vacant ground at the rear end of the present main shop and extending in the property line of the Rock Baking Company. It will be precisely as two stories in height in order to conform with the architecture of the original building, but this has not been decided upon as yet. The equipment will include the very latest devices for the handling of heavy castings and making them ready for use as a finished product.

According to the present knowledge of the Government's agreement the contract with the Scott Company calls for no foundry work as all the munitions are to be of steel. The castings will be delivered in Plainfield as they are turned out by some other concern and the work at this end will be the completion of the carriages and mounts ready for use. This process calls for skilled planer, lathe and boring mill mechanics. In order to properly care for the great amount of time-keeping and office work resulting from the big contract, an office staff of fifteen additional people has already been added to the regular force and others may be taken on as the contract proceeds.

The Walter Scott Company enjoys a reputation throughout the country as a well organized and well equipped concern for the manufacture of high grade machinery. When the English government was giving out contracts for munitions, the Scott Company was one of those selected to build special lathes designed to turn out shells. The concern made more than a million dollars' worth in a specified time without having a one of them turn back. The United States Government when the shop listed for use in the event of America entering the war and the Army and Navy departments quickly saw the advisability of taking over a portion of it for their needs. While the work progresses the plant will be under guard the same as is now conducted at the Aeroplane Works on North avenue.

Four Deaths Due To Intense Heat

Four deaths in this city, one in Bound Brook and many prostrations was the toll exacted in this section by the severe heat wave that swept over the country this week. Ever since Monday mercury has been hovering around the 100 mark, although a little relief came with last night's rainstorm.

The first death in the city attributed to the hot weather was that of Jerry Driscoll, who was found dead in bed yesterday morning. He occupied a room in the building at 115 East Front street, and it was there that Patrolman George Muth found him about 10 o'clock. He had been a resident of this city for the past five years and had no relatives so far as was known. He had been employed by local plumbers during that time and more lately by George Tobin, the North avenue contractor. The body was taken to Higgins' morgue, from which place burial will be made.

Taken to Muhlenberg Hospital Wednesday night a victim of the intense heat, Mrs. Carl Johnson, of 152 North avenue, passed away at the institution last night. She is survived by a husband and three children.

One of the cases of prostration reported yesterday was that of James McCavesli, an employe at the Pond factory. He was treated at Muhlenberg Hospital. Heat was also given as the cause of death of Eva Gon, infant daughter of Stanislaw Gon, and John G. Montague, seven months' old son of John Montague, of New Market avenue. Both died yesterday. Nicholas Gellassano, of Bound Brook, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, Wednesday night, from prostration. He will recover.

On Wednesday the men of the Hall Press Works, at Dunellen, were allowed to go home, as were most of the workers at the Standard Aero Works, the Saurer factory and Spicer's. In the drop forge and engine rooms of some of the plants it soared over the 140 mark and was unbearable. At the Levgar Steel Works many men needed the assistance of a doctor and prostrations were frequent at other plants. Construction work in various parts of the city was halted at times when the men refused to work longer.

An unidentified man was overcome by heat on South Second street Wednesday and was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment. A death in this vicinity due to the heat was that of Peter D. Drake, a prominent organist and music teacher, of Bound Brook. Many escaped the heat to a certain extent by flocking to Holly Pond, the ice pond and other bodies of water in this vicinity, while the largest exodus to the seashore and mountains of the year took place.

Troop D Is Waiting For Moving Order

With the mustering in of troops practically completed, Troop D and the remainder of the New Jersey Guard is anxiously waiting the fiat from Gen. Edwards, the new adjutant general, as to when they will move on Anniston. New clothing was issued to the Plainfielders today and they now have regulation outfits. Johnny Caulder, one of the troopers, was overcome by the heat at the Ethicals station Wednesday afternoon and he is now on his way back from a leave of absence. He was taken to the General Hospital at that place but is getting along nicely.

A reorganization of certain parts of the New Jersey troops encamped at Sea Girt, Gen. Dunn's new organization with attendant changes of importance to the military forces of the State, is due within a few days. Just what form the upheaval will take, is not known, but changes are scheduled and will be accompanied by a number of switches in official personnel.

Designation of the men who are to form five of the six batteries for the new regiment of heavy field artillery were made Monday. Commanding with Major Radcliff, of Paterson, it probable that soon to the announcement of the man who is to undertake the organization of the Sixth battery in that city. Included in the list of men named were three cavalry non-commissioned officers, the pick of the famous Essex troop, who have been named for the purpose of forming a unit as early as possible, the organization of two batteries at Newark.

One of the outstanding certainties of the situation is the elevation of Major Hobart B. Brown, commander of the First squadron of cavalry, to a higher commission. Major Brown, it is generally believed, is going to be the lieutenant-colonel of the regiment of heavy artillery. The cavalry, as a matter of fact, is expected to go over to that new organization in a body. Captain Daniel Runkel, of Troop D, is also mentioned for promotion.

Officers and men, with vivid memories of the week's terrific heat and humidity, dread for a while the review-opening of the drills on the big parade ground. They return to their quarters at night completely tapped out after the day's ordeal of from four to five hours of drill.

Once they are out there, however, the pep and snap return to officers and men and they go through their squad work and individual drilling in much better shape. The men are working hard to learn. It is easy to see this from their application to the duties laid down for them by the various organizations to which they belong.

The one chief topic of conversation among Troop D is what is going to become of them, whether or not they are to remain cavalrymen or be switched into the artillery branch of the service. Despite talk that the First Squadron is to be turned into a unit of field artillery, Major Hobart B. Brown, pending orders, is planning to give the detachment only cavalry work. The reports as to the other line in which the cavalry may be called to serve is as yet too speculative and too much in the form of "dope," said the major, to warrant work in the fundamentals of any other branch.

There are only about thirty horses to each troop of cavalry and Major Brown is planning to divide each troop into three platoons. One of these will have the horses in the morning for mounted drill, another will have them in the afternoon and the third platoon will get in its mounted work the following morning. Two platoons will drill dismounted, awaiting their turn at the animals.

As in the case of every other commander in camp, Major Brown will start his men at the school of the soldier. The large number of inexperienced men has led him, like the other officers, to decide to start his men at the bottom rung and gradually advance them up the ladder of military efficiency. New cavalry regulations, providing for somewhat sweeping changes in cavalry movements, increase the difficulty of the mounted men's task.

Because of the large number of troops using the parade ground, Major Brown is looking for a field where he can take his mounted men for their mounted work. The drilling dismounted will take their place with the others on the parade ground. Major Brown is a great believer in the efficacy of foot-drill in making for precision and accuracy in the movements of his men and will see that a good deal of time is given to that. His entire program calls for about seven hours of work daily, from 7:30 o'clock in the morning to 11:30 and from 1:30 to 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The squadron's muster-in is completed and its work can go forward rapidly.

Public Market Opens Tomorrow

Plainfield's public market will open tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock on the Bolee property on East Front street, the site secured for the proposed Company B armory. James V. Penny, of Watchung avenue, has been appointed manager by the Food Commission, under whose auspices the project is to be conducted. Although all plans have been made in so far as they can be in advance, confusion will probably exist a little while the market gets under working headway.

For the present the market will be opened three days a week, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, but if the volume of business warrants, will become a daily enterprise later on. The farmers in this vicinity have been approached and have promised co-operation. Tomorrow morning is likely to see a scramble because those arriving first will have their choice of locations. A charge of twenty-five cents or sixty cents a week will be made to each farmer to provide for the few incidental expenses.

The idea of a public market has been prevalent in Plainfield for a long time but it was only when other neighboring cities took up the idea this season that the local authorities thought seriously of it. Although it is sanctioned by the city, the market will for the present be under the direction of the Food Commission. In picking the Bolee property an attempt was made to get as near the center of the city as possible and also near the railroad.

New Motor To Be Placed in the Nott

According to a decision reached by the Councilmanic Fire Board the Nott pumping engine located at the East Second street headquarters, which was recently found to be in bad condition through continual breakdowns of the mechanism, will shortly be rebuilt at a cost of $2,000. Experts from the Wisconsin Motor Company, of Milwaukee have examined the machine and asserted that the installation of a motor will overcome the trouble. The bid of the Wisconsin Company for the work has been accepted and the concern guarantees that the apparatus will be in shape within three weeks after the contract is signed. Because of legal preliminaries this will not be done until next week.

The Nott engine was purchased a few years ago at a cost of about $3,000. The firemen handling it found that after every time it was run at any length various parts of the motor would be rendered useless. Further delays have arisen on several times while in use after answering an alarm and although the best mechanics in the city tried to overcome the trouble their efforts proved of no avail. It finally came to a point of either discarding the engine entirely or having it re-built. If such a thing were feasible. The different engine and motor companies were asked to make examinations and submit bids but only two responded. Beside the Wisconsin Company the other concern responding was the Ahrens Motor Company, of New York, which sent experts in this city for personal inspection but failed to submit a bid. The Wisconsin Motor people have a splendid reputation and are rapidly taking the lead in placing motor apparatus in New York, Chicago and other cities. The company's engineer asserts that with a new motor position and certain necessary changes made in the pumping parts the Nott will give the city at least five years of good service. The Nott Company, from which the engine was purchased, went out of business some time ago and nothing could be done toward getting a renewal of the old parts. The fire department has been greatly handicapped by the loss of the machine and its restoration to service will not only be greatly appreciated by the public but by the firemen as well.

Plainfield Woman's Car in Westfield Accident

An automobile owned and driven by Mrs. Sadie H. Drayton, of this city, and delivery car belonging to Frank's hat cleaning store and driven by Angelo Yowuszii collided at Elmer street and Lenox avenue, Westfield, Monday. In the car with Yowuszi was John H. Adams, a P. S. C. employe of 417 Grier avenue, Elizabeth, who was thrown to the street. Chief Rosecrans and Officer Deter carried Adams to the office of Dr. R. G. Savoye, who found that he had sustained a dislocated hip and minor injuries. Adams was removed to the Elizabeth General Hospital in the police car.

Actual Draft Will Begin Next Monday

The work of selecting Plainfield's quota of 183 men from the ranks of those designated by the drawing at Washington will begin at the Plainfield High School Auditorium next Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Official word to this effect comes from the office of Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, chairman of the Exemption Board. The notification cards have been sent out and the men to be examined will be called in lots of twenty-five at the hours of 10 and 11 in the morning, 2, 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. For the last hour of each day there will be twenty-four men in order to make up the first call of 366 men. The examination is to extend over Tuesday and Wednesday and as far after that as is necessary.

From figures received from other cities it is possible that the ratio of examinations will be one to four at least and probably more. This means that four men will have to be considered before one eligible is secured as there are plenty of exemptions in right because of physical weakness, dependents or other reasons. Every attempt will be made by the Board to give consideration to every claim, but the rules as laid down by the Federal authorities will be adhered to. If the quota of 183 is not secured in the first call, the selective men will be called according to their rotation number until the necessary number is secured. For the convenience of all who are to come before the Board, their names are given below with the hour and day they are to appear, as follows:

Twenty Recruits Off to Red Bank

Twenty members of the recruit company that has been quartered at the old Foundry on West Front street for the past two months were sent to Red Bank last night to join Company K, following the receipt of orders by Lieutenant Phillips from Captain Brown. The men were in charge of Sergeant Adam Miller and will immediately go into camp as part of the main unit. Those who composed the group were:

Garages Feature Building Permits

But little activity was reported in building circles during the month of July, only nine permits being filed with Building Inspector Doane for a representative outlay of $13,575. Garages still continue to be the favorite with those doing any building. Out of the nine permits six were for auto shelters, one for a storage place and two for extensions. The permits follow:

Mrs. Clara M. Stelle, 963 Union street—Garage, one story, frame construction, 8x12. Contractor, George Wilson; cost, $400.

John F. Harman, Division street—Frame garage, one and a half stories high and 37x22. A. L. Nash, architect; B. F. Tallamy, contractor; cost, $5,000.

Manning & Briggs, Lenox avenue—Frame, one story garage, 12x18. Contractor, J. L. Manning; cost, $200.

Emma J. Lee, 818 West Sixth street—Frame, one story garage, 12x18. Contractor, Robert Lee; cost, $100.

J. B. Lehmann, 561 South avenue—Cement storage house, two stories high, cement and frame, 110x24. Contractor, J. L. Manning; cost, $6,000.

Donato J. Del Negro, 705 South avenue—Extension on to rear of residence, frame, two stories in height, 14x22. Cost, $400.

Elias Wolverton, 917 West Sixth street—Extension on to rear of residence, frame construction and 14x18. Builder, himself, and cost, $400.

Red Cross Accepts Second Local Nurse

Despite the fact that she had received a much desired appointment as a member of the district nursing bureau in Cleveland, O., and completed all arrangements to leave for the West, Miss Clara Charlton, of East Fifth street, determined a few weeks ago that the Government needed her services as a Red Cross nurse and made application for appointment. She was called for examination, passed all tests successfully and last week received her appointment. She is now waiting instructions to proceed to the front with a New York State unit, a summons that may come any day.

Miss Charlton is a native of Meadowvale, Ontario, and was graduated from Muhlenberg Hospital in the class of 1910. She has since been practicing in Plainfield and has been very successful. She has a host of friends in this vicinity who are delighted to see her determination and who wish her every success in undertaking the difficult work incumbent upon a field hospital nurse. She is a sister to Mrs. Edward Norman, of Central avenue, who also trained at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Miss Charlton is the second Muhlenberg Hospital nurse to be accepted by the Red Cross Society and a third young woman to enter this field service in Plainfield. The other Muhlenberg graduate is Miss Helen Wilbee, who was a classmate of Miss Charlton's in the class of 1910. The latter is now in Philadelphia awaiting transportation to Europe with a Philadelphia unit. The third Plainfield Red Cross nurse is Miss Anna Callahan, of East Second street, who is soon to go abroad with a naval hospital unit.

Promotion in Sight for 2nd Regiment Officers

Although official announcement is lacking, the return the week of Lieut.-Col. William B. Martin from the West indicates that the Second Regiment is to profit from the promotion of General Barber to command the State's forces. General Barber has yet to be officially recognized by the Government but is likely to command an entire division composed of the Guard of this and several other States.

Colonel Reading, commander of the Second Regiment, is said to be in line for the brigadier generalship vacated by General Barber and rumor has it that Colonel Martin will become leader of the Second. Such a move would probably result in a majorship for Captain Charles Peterson, of Company K, and a switching of officers to fill his place would make Lieutenant Phillips captain and Sergeant George Apgar a lieutenant.

County Tax Rate Will Show Pleasing Decrease

Following a meeting of the appropriations committee of the Board of Freeholders Monday afternoon, it was announced by County Collector N. R. Leavitt that there will be a decrease in the amount of county taxes this year.

A few months ago it was expected that there would be an increase in the county rate, due to the mandatory raises provided by legislation and the normal increases that usually go into budgets. After arduous work, however, the appropriations committee has pared down each item to such an extent that the reductions more than overcome the mandatory increases.

A copy of the budget as approved by the committee is in the hands of the county collector, but will not be given for publication before it is approved by the Board of Freeholders at a meeting today.

A special effort has been made this year to lower the county tax because there are large increases in practically every municipality in the county. The county officials endeavored to escape any of the blame for these increases.

BEGINS HIS CAMPAIGN.

Councilman John H. Cose fired the first gun in his campaign for the nomination of sheriff in Union county last Friday night, when he addressed a big street gathering at New Providence. The Plainfielder is to command an entire division composed of the Guard of this and several other States.

Colonel Reading, commander of the Second Regiment, is said to be in line for the brigadier generalship vacated by General Barber and rumor has it that Colonel Martin will become leader of the Second. Such a move would probably result in a majorship for Captain Charles Peterson, of Company K, and a switching of officers to fill his place would make Lieutenant Phillips captain and Sergeant George Apgar a lieutenant.

MRS. BETTY HAMILTON.

Mrs. Betty Hamilton, colored, aged fifty years, died in Muhlenberg Hospital last night. She had been at the institution less than two days undergoing medical treatment. Her home was at 634 West Fourth street.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1917.

NO APPROBATION FOR DR. STRONG'S STRONG WORDS.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong may have shown the members of his First Baptist congregation "where he stood" in his sermon of last Sunday, but we doubt very much if his remarks will find approbation from the majority of Plainfield people. We do not doubt for one moment but that his forceful language was inspired by motives of patriotism yet it was not in keeping with President Wilson's avowal in his masterful message declaring war, that the United States held no animosity toward the German people, seeking only to crush the monarchical power that forced the rank and file to do its bidding. Furthermore, the reverend doctor's assertion that "he would just as soon be in hell as anywhere else if the Germans won the war," seemed rather out of place, coming as it does from a Christian pulpit that is supposed to be only for the dissemination of the Word of God, the God that said, "Peace on Earth, to men of good will." This nation is at war with Germany, and the American people are determined that they will crush the mandatory power of the unbearable Kaiser, but in doing so there is no personal animosity toward the German people who are simply obeying their ruler's command. Our fight is with the Government, not with the individual. The people of the German Empire are realizing that they have been too submissive just as the Russians realized it, and, perhaps, if the truth were known there is a great internal leaning of the Teutonic people toward the establishment of a Democracy. They want their freedom the same as we wanted it in 1776 and it would be more in keeping for Dr. Strong to beseech his God and their God to bring about the deliverance instead of condemning them as a whole and rousing the animosity of Americanized Prussians who are loyal to the country of their adoption. These latter were born and brought up under the German rule and whatever their reason for leaving it there are none of them who appreciate having it declared worse than the fiery pits of Hades, that same infernal pit that misguided ministers of the gospel have told up to sinners as the most awful fate for ungodliness or incompetent law. The German nation gave the world Santa Claus and the kindergarten, beside being responsible for many medical and scientific discoveries that have benefited mankind. Stripped of its military ambitions and the House of Hohenzollern, the mass of German people are as far removed from Gehenna as New York is from Pekin, China.

For Dr. Strong's benefit we quote this portion of President Wilson's War Message: "We have no quarrel with the German people. We have no feeling toward them but one of sympathy and friendship. It was not upon their impulse that their Government acted in entering this war. It was not with their previous knowledge or approval. It was a war determined upon as wars used to be determined upon in the old, unhappy days, when peoples were nowhere consulted by their rulers and wars were provoked and waged in the interest of dynasties or of little groups of ambitious men who were accustomed to use their fellow men as pawns and tools."

These are the great words of the President's of the greatest nation on earth and in uttering them we believe he was placing the most liberal interpretation on the views of the American people, carefully avoiding any direct thrust at his own constituents who were bound by blood ties to the countrymen whose false sense of loyalty is letting out their life blood. Continuing further President Wilson said: "Even in checking these things and trying to extirpate them we have sought to put the most generous interpretation possible upon them because we know that their source lay, not in any hostile feeling or purpose of the German people toward us (who were, no doubt, as ignorant of them as we ourselves were), but only in the selfish designs of a Government that did what it pleased and told its people nothing."

Further on in his message the first man in this land expressed himself on the feeling of the American people toward the German people in this manner: "It will be all the easier for us to conduct ourselves as belligerents in a high spirit of right and fairness because we act without animus, not with enmity toward a people or with the desire to bring any injury or disadvantage upon them, but only in armed opposition to an irresponsible Government which has thrown aside all considerations of humanity and of right and is running amuck.

"We are, let me say again, the sincere friends of the German people and shall desire nothing so much as the early re-establishment of intimate relations of mutual advantages between us, however hard it may be for them for the time being to believe that this is spoken from our hearts. We have borne with their present Government through all those bitter months because of that friendship, exercising a patience and forbearance which would otherwise have been impossible.

"We shall happily still have an opportunity to prove that friendship in our daily attitude and actions toward the millions of men and women of German birth and native sympathy who live among us and share our life, and we shall be proud to prove it toward all who are in fact loyal to their neighbors and to the Government in the hour of test. They are most of them as true and loyal Americans as if they had never known any other fealty or allegiance. They will be prompt to stand with us in rebuking and restraining the few who may be of a different mind and purpose. If there should be disloyalty, it will be dealt with with a firm hand of stern repression; but, if it lifts its head at all, it will lift it only here and there and without countenance except from a lawless and malignant few."

While he is away on his vacation, Dr. Strong might do well to absorb some of these sentiments. They came from the innermost depths of an executive who exercised a Christian spirit in expressing sympathy for a nation that is in a death struggle. After all the German people are human beings the same as ourselves and even though their rulers have been guilty of atrocities it behooves a disciple of the Lord to pray for their deliverance instead of using the pulpit as a propelling point for his individual ideas of governmental argument. This nation is in the fight to win and we know it is going to win. The people understand the situation thoroughly and it did not require Dr. Strong's fiery words to aid them in realizing what they already know. If anybody had asked the clergyman "where he stood" he could have told it quietly to the interrogator and left it to someone else to talk about the hatred of the German people. The Church, as we have always understood it, is a house of worship where the creed of political hate has no place.

Looking at the matter from another viewpoint, Dr. Strong's remarks were in contradiction to Attorney General Gregory's injunction: "Obey the law; keep your mouth shut." These words were intended primarily for people of pro-German sympathy but were also meant for anyone with the tendency to speak his views publicly, either one way or the other. The idea was to avoid disruption within our midst and preference for hell to a certain race of people does not sit well in certain quarters.

MANY RETIREMENTS FROM THE COMMON COUNCIL.

Expiring terms and one pending vacancy due to the selective draft will bring about a decided change in the complexion of the Plainfield Common Council for the coming year. Seven of the present members will finish up next December and unless re-elected will relinquish their duties as city fathers. An eighth member who was elected last fall will probably enter military service after his appearance before the Exemption Board next week and although courtesy has always held the office open in a circumstance of this kind it is probable that his place will be filled.

The only three councilmen who are to hold over will be G. Herbert Condict, from the Third ward; Theodore A. Martin, from the First Ward, and President Francis J. Blatz, from the Fourth ward. Charles Loizeaux, from the Second ward, is the one who would have held over but as he is within the drafting age and his number was among the early ones drawn, he has decided to give his services to Uncle Sam. There is a clause in the Exemption rules which entitles him to remain at home as a municipal officer but this he does not intend to do. It is probable that he will tender his resignation that the vacancy might be filled. The other solons who are to complete their present terms this year are: Elias H. Bird, L. M. Booth, Thomas F. Hylan, Juan A. Babcock, Charles C. Graves, John H. Cose and Charles C. Sminck. This will mean the election of five ward councilmen and three from the city at large.

While no announcement has been made of it yet the coming primaries will produce an active city campaign. The Republicans are not counting upon any great opposition from the Democrats and figure that men who go on the G. O. P. ticket will undoubtedly be elected. Irrespective of what Washington does with the "bone dry" measure the anti-saloon element in Plainfield is building its defenses for a total prohibition siege. By a resolution passed in the Council a few months ago the citizens will be asked to express their preference for a "wet" or "dry" policy locally but the "dry's" the determined to put a full ticket in the field no matter what the decision of the people. The ticket is now being rounded into shape and before the primaries are held in September will be exploited fully. Just what the "wet's" will do has not been learned at this time but it can be truthfully said that those favoring continuing Plainfield's present excise regulations will have a card or two up their sleeves.

Relative to the councilmen whose terms will expire this year one of them has announced that he will positively not accept renomination. This is Mr. Babcock, who has served faithfully and efficiently for three terms. Councilman Cose, who is in his second term as a member at large, will not be a candidate for Council as he is again in the race for the shrievalty nomination, an honor which he nearly captured in 1914. Councilman Bird, who came into the Council for the second time last year, will drop out of the city race in order to be a candidate for freeholder. He aspires to the chair now occupied by S. P. T. Wilbur as the latter is also a candidate for the Republican nomination of sheriff and will relinquish his present office to be a candidate. Messrs. Hylan, Booth, Graves and Sminck have a desire to remain in office.

In other ways local politics are looking up and as soon as the warm wave is over the various aspirants will get busy with their respective campaigns. It is practically decided at this time that Assemblyman William N. Runyon will seek the regular Republican nomination for Senator to succeed Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford, and Judge William Newsorn is working hard to get the appointment of Judge of the Common Pleas Court. He is opposed in this by Senator Pierce. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., who is now assistant corporation counsel, has his eye on the county prosecutorship plum and several other Plainfielders are laying back for various offices that are appointive. Altogether the situation locally is an interesting one and great things may be expected to develop very shortly.

CHEATING THE VEGTABLE BUYER.

The petty store keeper and peddler who gives short weight is with us again in greater proportion than has been noted in several years, if complaints that are pouring in can be relied upon. Potato buyers are the particular prey of this brand of deceiving merchant and the poor people who have been paying unprecedented prices for their favorite vegetable have had this indignity added to their troubles. The practice is not confined to the one commodity, however, but is worked out by various schemes in nearly every instance of vegetable selling, now that the green goods season is at its height. It is the wise housewife who gets all that she is paying for when she encounters dealers of this ilk.

It is asserted by one citizen in a position to observe some of the trickery of the peddlers that an extra basket of potatoes beyond the legal quota is "squeezed" out of every barrel. This deception means that the price of the extra basket comes out of the pockets of individuals who were ignorant of the fact.

Would it not be a good proposition for the Union county supervisor of weights and measures to look in on Plainfield one of these fine mornings. It is quite probable he would find sufficient infractions of the law to keep him busy several days, familiarizing himself with new forms of "get-rich-quick" bargaining. Perhaps a few arrests would dampen the ardor of the tricky gentlemen who are lining their pockets by contemptible and illegal practices.

When the Plainfield avenue "Rip Van Winkle" returns and finds the Marsh homestead landmark gone, he will surely mutter to himself as he passes on: "I have made a mistake; this is not the street I used to know."

WHAT'S BECOME OF THE GOOD OLD DAYS?

When "Ed" Thorn ran the Mansion House and anybody that was anybody used to drop around to "talk things over?"

When John Laing built a board fence around his hotel because the town went dry and North Plainfield enjoyed for twelve months the greatest popularity it has ever known?

When John Simpson imported all the Scotchmen this side of Bay Ridge for the annual Caledonian games down in the hollow off Washington avenue?

When there were enough people in town with the spirit of '76 to get up a real Fourth of July celebration worth remembering?

When the Jersey Central's "Jug train" carried crowds of thirsty citizens out of the Plainfield "Sahara" to Fanwood, from whence they proceeded to the Darby and Lambert oases at Willow Grove?

As Solid As It Looks.

Home Guards Not to Arrest Auto Speeders—So Says Dill

Home guardsmen who have special police powers had better be careful lest they exceed their authority and get in trouble, State Motor Vehicle Commissioner William L. Dill said yesterday his office had received complaints regarding the action of home guard members in various parts of the State nabbing autoists on alleged speeding charges and causing them to be fined.

An investigation is being made and it undoubtedly will result in a stop being put to the practice. Commissioner Dill declared men appointed for special police work as home guards never were intended to handle the auto situation, at least from the speeding standpoint.

"The motor vehicle act specifically outlines the duty of such an officer and the said officer must be named for that particular line of work. He must necessarily receive special instructions regarding his duties so that he may be qualified," said Mr. Dill.

The commissioner is in accord with the action of Town Attorney Clyde D. Souter, of Kearny, who, as acting police recorder, caused to be haled before him Justice of the Peace Harland S. Brown, of Arlington, on a charge of speeding. Justice Brown followed an alleged speeder and in gauging the speed of the motorist was compelled himself to break the speed law. His prisoner was fined by John H. Cooper, who was acting in the place of Mr. Souter. Motorcycle Policeman William Partridge went before Mr. Souter and Brown was summoned to court and found guilty of breaking the speed law. Sentence was suspended. He intends to take an appeal and as so instructed his lawyer, Arthur V. Archibold.

In addition to being found guilty of speeding Mr. Brown was relieved of his special police badge on the order of the Town Police Committee. He was a special policeman by virtue of his being an officer of the town home guard.

Concerning the Brown case Mr. Dill said: "I believe the magistrate who found this home guardsman guilty of speeding was absolutely right and should be commended for his action."

Miss May Birmingham, of West Sixth street, and Miss Helen Callahan, of East Second street, will leave tomorrow for Atlantic City to spend two weeks.

Arthur Hartshorn, of Madison avenue, left Wednesday for his former home at Fitchburg, Mass., where he will spend two weeks with relatives.

...riage Slackers ...r, Declares Registrar

New York ... the quota of those who are ... matrimony in the hope ... may escape the draft, and ... that the number may be augmented by Plainfield... ...has been no noticeable in... ...for number of marriage li... ...sued to men in the draft ... Miss Mattison today. "Of ... possible that one or two ... of slacker may have slip... ...ped through, but there have been very few."

She expressed the opinion that perhaps one of the reasons might be not so much that all Plainfielders were courageous and patriotic, as the fact that she and her assistant are widely acquainted throughout the city, and would be able to "spot" any who might be seeking matrimony as a means to escape the draft.

"It isn't likely that any one, no matter how cowardly he may be, would like to be identified as a marriage slacker," said Miss Mattison. "Over in New York it is different. There no one knows them, and they have an easy time escaping the finger of scorn.

"Did you ever stop to think?" observed the registrar with a smile, "what chance a man would stand in a squabble with his wife if she knew he had married her because he was afraid to fight?"

JOHN COOPER SEEKS SURROGATE NOMINATION.

John Cooper, who has been living in North Plainfield since disposing of his farm at Warrenville, is a candidate for the nomination of surrogate [illegible] Somerset [illegible] ...tion to enter the race was the result of urgings on the part of his friends who know what splendid work he has done for the party in years past. Mr. Cooper's petition was quickly signed by nearly double the number of necessary voters and his chances of victory are considered excellent.

Apartment Grands

These Grand Pianos are made specially for those people who live in apartments too small for the proper display of a large Grand.

And the same beautiful lines, the same careful adjustment of parts, the same high grade materials and the same tone qualities are as much a part of the small Grand as they are of the expensive large Grands.

If you contemplate buying a good Upright, make it your duty to see our Apartment Grands first. We feel sure that their superior beauty will win your approval. Moderately priced—$485 up.

MERCER

A highly-developed four-cylinder motor that hurls its power to the rear wheels through a short, rigid crankshaft and sturdy transmission explains the extraordinary might and smoothness of Mercer performance. More cylinders and a longer crankshaft would be a burden. And the charm of Mercer grace and appointments has identified it closely with social distinction. Deliveries at once.

Huge Labor Day Pageant Planned

After having practically discontinued its activities during the present hot weather, plans are being made by the Americanization Committee, formed last spring to spread the idea of patriotism among Plainfield foreign born, for a large pageant to be held at the horse show grounds on Randolph road on Labor Day. The Americanization Committee is to be assisted by the Recreation Committee and various local labor organizations. As soon as the said of the business men, merchants and others is obtained definite steps will be taken.

The pageant will be "The Democracy of Labor," the various scenes and tableaux of which Mrs. Maxwell Perkins is writing. Miss Lillian Lamson, employed by the Recreation Committee, is also to take an active part in the affair. A tentative program and schedule was worked out at a meeting held in the Public Library several nights ago and will be about as follows:

Symbolic Persons—The God of Labor, Civilization, Democracy, America, The Spirit of the City, Mother Earth; The Fruit and Grains, The Minerals, her gifts; the 48 States and 13 original States.

Historic Persons—King Richard, The Mayor of London, John Balle, The Mad Priest of Kent; Wat Tyler, Leader of the Serfs; Feudal Serfs, Armed Men, Abraham Lincoln, The Cotton Pickers.

Modern Participants—The Builders, Iron Workers, Concrete Makers, Carpenters, Masons, Electricians, etc. Automobile Makers—Tires, Makers of Parts, Assembiers, etc. The Aeroplane Makers. The Foundries. Hand Forge, Lathe; Women's Division, the Mill Workers, the Red Cross Hospital Service, Comforts, Community Canning. The Business Men ,the Home Defense League, The Jr. Industrial Army; The New Citizens, their leaders and groups.

A short synopsis of the pageant is as follows:

Procession—The God of Labor, Mother Earth, Fruits, Grains and Minerals, Civilization veiled and Timorous. Invocation—The God of Labor. Historic Scene—Feudal Days (Dramatic). Dance Interlude—Gift of Fruits and Grain. Historic Scene—Lincoln and the Cotton Pickers. Dance Interlude—Gift of the Minerals. The Present—America and Democracy enter together; Spirit of the City as page ushers in Plainfield's Gifts of Labor for Democracy; America's Call for a pledge for each citizen; Democracy and Labor clasp hands at feet of Civilization; Civilization Unveiled. "So long as America shall be guided by Democracy she shall be the herald of Civilization and her Flag shall be a symbol." Symbolic Flag Dance. Recessional.

Will Obtain Few at Top of List

When the local exemption board starts its examinations next week of the first 356 on the draft list it may be found that physical disability, dependency or some other exemption cause will have taken many out of the list. Enlistments will also prove a big factor in preventing the full quota being drawn until a large part of the list has been gone through. Possibly five or six will be all that will be obtained out of the first twelve examined.

No. 1 is David G. Turner, of 425 East Third street. Turner, although married, will likely not be able to claim exemption because of dependancy, his wife being a patient at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium. He says, however, that he is willing to go, although he has yet to pass the physical test.

No. 2 is Frank G. Conde, of 1155 South Second street, and could not be reached yesterday, but is said to be married and healthy. He will likely be enrolled in the army, unless physically unfit.

No. 3 is Andrew Ectock, of 244 Jackson avenue. He could not be located either and it is not known whether or not he will claim exemption.

No. 4 is Charles Kurtzman, of West Fifth street. He is married and engaged in business in this city. He is healthy and will likely not try to prove exemption.

No. 5 is Joseph Dikowski, of 1337 West Third street. He has dependants and will try to prove exemption.

No. 6 is Roger Mellick, of 1127 Watchung avenue. He is already a member of Troop D and is therefore certain of draft exemption.

No. 7 is John J. Maloney, of 225 Grant avenue. He is unmarried and without dependants. He will probably be taken if he is physically fit.

No. 8 is Bernard G. McCartney, of 629 West Third street. He is unmarried but has a dependant mother and will claim exemption.

No. 9 is Silas Guttridge, of 1121 South avenue. He has enlisted in the navy.

No. 10 is Arthur Wyckoff, of 525 South Second street. He could not be located.

No. 11 is Michael Mieczko, of 412 Spruce street. He is a machinist and will likely not try to prove exemption.

No. 12 is Charles D. Schifman, of 234 East Fifth street. His name does not appear in the directory and could not be located.

Charles Hartfelder, of East Sixth street, who has been detained from work for the past five weeks from the effects of an automobile accident on South avenue, Fanwood, is still incapacitated and will be for at least three more weeks.

No Prison Farm For This Year

There is little likelihood, according to recent developments, that anything will be done in the prison farm or county almshouse project this year. Necessity for keeping down the tax rate is the principal reason for this. When the special committee of the Board of Freeholders which had the matter of purchasing a suitable site for the farm for county jail inmates in charge, reported several weeks ago that the plan had to be temporarily abandoned because of the prices asked for sites that met the requirements it was thought that the committee could later see its way clear to resume negotiations.

Director George C. Teller expressed the view of the committee recently when he stated that municipal taxes would be altogether too high next year to permit of the proposed expenditure. He admitted the need of the improvements, but declared that their establishment was not feasible at this time because of the cost to the taxpayers and because building material is now dearer than it has been in years.

The prison farm committee also has in charge the proposed county almshouse plan and the members feel that nothing should be done until the county is in a position not only to build the prison farm building and almshouse, but a county isolation hospital as well.

DUNHAM-COWARD COMPANY LOSSES IN COWARD FIRE.

In the list of tenants suffering loss from water at the fire in the Coward building Wednesday night, the firm of Dunham & Clarin was omitted. Water from the third floor descended to the work-room of the well-known engineering office and destroyed valuable maps and drawings, entailing a damage of about $300. While the loss is covered by insurance it will cause a very annoying delay in the delivery of certain work. Mr. Clarin is in the government service as a member of the First Reserve Engineers and Mr. Dunham will be compelled to work early and late to reproduce the maps.

MEISEL IN SHERIFF'S RACE.

Reports from Elizabeth state that Freeholder Peter Meisel, of Springfield, is circulating a petition for his entrance to the race for the nomination of sheriff on the regular Republican ticket. This makes the sixth candidate for the honor and the third Freeholder to make the try.

Mrs. W. W. Warnock and her mother, Mrs. M. A. Furman, of Craig place, have been spending the past week at Paterson, with Mrs. Warnock's daughter, Mrs. William C. Begg.

Miss Mercedes Renz, of West Sixth street, will leave tomorrow for Denville to spend two weeks.

Plan New State Military Force

Colonel Robert L. Patterson, of Elizabeth, attached to the Inspector General's department of the New Jersey National Guard, has been directed by Governor Walter E. Edge to work out the details for the organization of this State's secondary fighting force—a home defense organization available for municipal and State-wide protectory duty under the military authority of the Governor. The chief executive's action brings more clearly to a head the formation of a State unit to supplant the National Guard, which passes out of existence virtually with the drafting of the State troops into the Federal service which will be completed within a few days.

About 2,000 pledges of support to the Governor either by service within their home municipalities or within the State and subject to his orders at all time, under which every class they have selected, have been forwarded to the office of the adjutant-general. The expression of readiness to serve within the home municipalities is general, but the number offering their service for State-wide duty is not so great.

The fact that no details of what the Federal Government expects of the State in the matter has made it rather difficult to reach any definite conclusions on the subject. With a view to securing a clearer understanding, Governor Edge recommended that Colonel Patterson go to Governor's Island, which he did this morning, and there secure complete data concerning the number of points to be protected, the number of men necessary for the details and the location of those posts. It was explained that such information was tendered the State some time ago, but that the recent withdrawals from various points have made it impracticable to base the estimates upon such former service.

Colonel Patterson has prepared a tabulation of the various towns from which these offers have been made and the number of men available for the separate services, home or State-wide. There is no disposition to raise a force of men far in excess of the required strength, and the need of accurate data is apaprent. It is possible that the number of men available under these voluntary offers for service will suffice, although originally Governor Edge expected to raise 5,000 men.

Federal equipment and maintenance will be forthcoming for such troops, it is understood. If the organization can be effected, the Executive will tender its services to the Government, with the understanding that they be armed and equipped, and that the cost of their maintenance be paid by the Federal Government. Any effort to have the State assume the cost will meet with opposition from the Governor, who has already expressed himself as being positively opposed to the State being burdened with costs that are directly due to the war and which should by all means be paid by the Government.

Trenton Awaits Guard Recruits

Recruits for Company K, of the Second Regiment, N. G. N. J., who are now quartered at the old postoffice, are to leave for Trenton within a few days. Advices to this effect have been received by First Lieutenant Philips, recruiting officer for the unit. This means that every man who enlists after the regulars go will be shipped to Trenton.

Regimental headquarters, where the rookies will go, are located on the State Fair grounds. Here they will receive further drilling and additional lessons in the school of soldiering. The principal reason for the change is to furnish the men with all the equipment they will be required to use. Only brand new materials will be distributed.

There are several recruiting stations for the Second Regiment throughout the State, and in these places large classes of rookies are being trained in the fundamental principles of soldiering. The preliminary education has been completed so the men will go to Trenton for extensive maneuvers, which will continue until the notice is received to move South.

Lieutenant Philips hopes to send a recruit company of at least 100 men. At the present time he has eighty odd, but he figures that an additional twenty youths is not so great when the fact is considered that in Plainfield there are approximately 700 youths who swore before the draft board that they are of military age and have no one depending upon them for support.

Eight more men were added to the roster of the unit following medical examinations on Tuesday, bringing the strength of the company stationed here to eighty-four men. The equipment long waited for arrived yesterday and was distributed to the men. Lieutenant Philips now plans to take his command somewhere in this vicinity. The heat during the past few days has been so severe that the men have been hardly able to bear it in the postoffice structure.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Emma Clifton Paster, daughter of Charles Foster, of West Sixth street, to William F. Hobble, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Hobble, of Watchung avenue. The wedding date has not been set.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

BERNARD J. CLARK.

Friends in this city received with deep regret the forepart of the week news of the death of Bernard Clark, a former well-known Plainfielder, who was found dead in bed early Monday morning at his home at the Iselin Hotel, Iselin, of which he was proprietor. Death was due to heart trouble and came as a great surprise to everyone as there had been no previous intimation of any ailment. The deceased retired in his usual health Sunday night and his lifeless form was discovered by his wife when she sought to call him at the usual rising time.

Mr. Clark was the son of Mrs Bernard Clark, of West Seventh street, this city, and was thirty-six years old. He was born in Brooklyn but had spent many years of his life in Plainfield. He was at one time in the United States Navy, retiring from the service with a most excellent record. Four years ago he became actively engaged in structural engineering work at Irvington, N. J., which he continued for two and a half years, after which he purchased the Weidenhofs Hotel at Iselin, and where he had been very successful. He had every prospect of continued success and his numerous friends in this vicinity were wishing him well when word came of his sudden demise just at a time when he had everything to live for. Mr. Clark possessed a genial disposition that made his friendship greatly sought and once formed was always held. He was secretary of the Holy Name Society at Iselin and a communicant of St. Cecilia's church at Iselin. Beside his mother, Mr. Clark is survived by his wife and one daughter, also a sister, Mrs. John McCullough, of West Seventh street, and a brother, Joseph Clark, of Watchung avenue.

The funeral was held in St. Mary's church, this city, yesterday morning, where a solemn high mass of requiem was conducted in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. Father Grady, of Iselin, was the celebrant; Rev. Father Hennessey was deacon and Rev. Father Mahoney was sub-deacon. There were many beautiful floral tributes, several of the mbeing exceptionally handsome pieces. St. Mary's cemetery. the following acting as pall-bearers: Richard Birmingham, of this city; Owen and Barney Dunaga, John Dunn, of Woodbridge; James Davenport, of Irvington, and Patrick Mescrill, of Iselin.

MRS. ANNE BATE.

Mrs. Anne Bate, widow of John Bate, died Saturday morning, at her home on Tillotson road, Fanwood, following a long illness. She was eighty years old and a native of England, coming to Fanwood from Brooklyn six years ago. She is survived by two sons and one daughter. These are Horace Bate and Miss Edith Bate, of Fanwood, and John H. Bate, of Westwood. The funeral was held in Greenwood chapel, Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, Monday afternoon and was in charge of Rev. Dana Goodwin, of Brooklyn. Burial was in the family plot in Greenwood cemetery.

ANDREW McCLEAN PARKER.

Andrew McClean Parker, a native and former resident of Plainfield, died Monday at Lincolnton, N. C., where he and his family had been living for some time. Death was due to paralysis which first affected him last fall.

Mr. Parker was fifty-seven years old and a son of the late Captain James Parker, of Perth Amboy. After graduation from Princeton University he became a civil and contracting engineer and a member of the firm of Ryan & Parker, of New York. This firm secured the contract for the construction of the Williamsburg Bridge, across the East River, but Mr. Parker sold out his interest and retired. For several years afterward he lived here in retirement.

Seven years ago Mr. Parker donated the use of what is known as Parker Field to the city as a playground and recreation center. A little later he moved to Princeton, where he took a course in the science of study in agriculture. He was a member of Grace Episcopal church.

Among the nearer relatives left by Mr. Parker are the following: His wife, two daughters, Catherine, now married and living in Brooklyn, and Adelaide, now of North Carolina; one son, Andrew McClean Parker, also in North Carolina; three sisters, Mrs. Lanier, of Perth Amboy; Mrs. Frances Du Bois, of this city; Mrs. Robert Selden Huse, of Elizabeth, and one brother, James Parker, of New York.

BENJAMIN S. BRAIDER.

Death came Wednesday morning at 5:30 to Benjamin S. Braider, of Putnam avenue, a resident of Plainfield for more than forty years and one of its best known citizens. He had been enjoying splendid health until three weeks ago when he met with an accident at the Anderson place near Washington Rock, where he had made a delivery of groceries. He was driving out of the yard when the forward wheels of his wagon dropped into a hole which he had not noticed. The horse and wagon went down in a heap and Mr. Braider was thrown to the ground, striking violently on his chest. He afterward assisted in getting his rig righted and to all appearances suffered no great injury. As a matter of fact, a bone in one leg was broken and it is believed he was hurt internally as complications developed the next day which confined him to his bed under the care of a physician. He continued to sink rapidly and a few days before the end came it was realized that his condition was hopeless.

Mr. Braider was born at Northampton, Pa., in 1844, and came to this city forty-one years ago. He conducted a grocery store in North Plainfield for many years, giving up the place about 1897. He was afterward located on Central avenue for a time but more recently had been in the employ of H. M. Bowman, of West Front street.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Mr. Braider enlisted in Company I, Thirtieth New Jersey Vols., and served with distinction. He was member of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., but had no other fraternal affiliations. He was a member of the First Baptist church, where he was a faithful attendant at all services. Mr. Braider always made it a point to attend the Baptist excursion to Asbury Park and this year he had been looking forward to it with unusual anticipation. But the accident he met with confined him to his bed so that he was unable to make the trip it was a great disappointment to him.

Mr. Braider leaves beside his wife, who was the daughter of the late David E. Townley, one son, Clifford A. Braider, of Park avenue, who is organist of the First Methodist church.

The funeral will be held at the late home, 1134 Putnam avenue, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. It will be in charge of Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First Methodist church, in the absence of Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery, where the casket will be borne to the grave by Winfield Scott Post comrades and with full military honors.

MISS SARAH S. BISSELL.

Death came to Miss Sarah S. Bissell, of Grove street, the borough, on Friday afternoon in her eighty-first year. Miss Bissell had been ill for the past two weeks. The funeral was held at the late residence Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and was in charge of Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Miss Bissell was a native of England but had lived in this city for the past fifty years and was a lifelong member of the First Baptist church. Her only surviving relatives are two cousins, residing in Brooklyn.

WILLIAM D. WILLIAMS.

The funeral of William D. Williams, a well-known and highly respected Plainfielder, whose death occurred last Friday morning at his home, 215 East Front street, was held Monday night at the Friends' Meeting House on Watchung avenue. The service opened with silent prayer, followed by vocal prayer by the Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Robert Love, of this city, and Edward Lorton, of New York, made brief addresses and an appropriate poem was read by Miss Margaret Vail. The funeral address was delivered by Dr. Herring, who had been an intimate friend of the deceased for many years. Concluding addresses were made by Edward D. Hutchinson, of this city, and Mr. Lorton. Burial was made Tuesday morning in the family plot in the Union cemetery, Hackettstown.

Mr. William was born at Hackettstown, Warren county, in 1856, and had lived in this city about twenty years, coming here to take charge of the white goods department of the original Woodhull & Martin Company, when the firm's location was in the Babcock building. He was a thorough business man and did much to build up the concern's trade in this city. When Woodhull & Martin took position in their new store on East Front street, now occupied by the Woodhall-Martin Company, he continued as an employee in the same department. About eight years ago when P. T. Woodhull and E. C. Martin disposed of their Plainfield store and opened a dry-goods establishment at Elizabeth, Mr. Williams was one of the first men of the old staff taken to the new place. He remained in a managerial capacity until his last illness began.

Mr. Williams was a member of the Religious Society of Friends and took an active part in the work of the Plainfield society. While at Hackettstown he was a member of a religious organization connected with a church in that town which is reputed to have the first Christian Endeavor Society in this country. On moving to Plainfield the deceased continued his religious activities and always stood ready to aid in the spiritual welfare or comfort of the humblest resident. His only fraternal affiliation was with Unity Lodge, No. 102, Knights of Pythias.

Mr. Williams' only near surviving relatives are two sisters, Mrs. Louise Phillips, of East Front street, and Mrs. ——— Scott, living in the Middle West.

Ask for Literature for American Boys

In response to the plea of American Sammies for papers and magazines from home, Postmaster-General Burleson yesterday officially enlisted the aid of every postoffice in the country.

Embryo soldiers at the various cantonment camps also will be supplied by the postmasters.

"In the big postoffices of the country," said Burleson, "there continually accumulates a large quantity of non-deliverable and non-returnable periodical literature, monthly magazines and weekly periodicals of high-class character.

"Ordinarily it is destroyed, but henceforth it will be transmitted free of charge to the boys behind the firing line. It is not the intention of the department to surfeit the soldiers with a mass of cheap and trashy reading matter, but to select, in so far as possible, that which is good and have it distributed through the depot quartermaster's office of the army.

"Postmasters in many of the large cities have been instructed to place these undelivered magazines and periodicals in packages and transmit them to an American port which has been designated. From there they will go direct to the expeditionary forces, where arrangements have been made for their distribution.

"In addition postmasters in other cities have been instructed to transmit their undeliverable magazines to certain centrally located cities generally not far from cantonment sites.

"Reading matter will be distributed from these points to soldiers in the making.

"In this manner the department hopes to aid materially in keeping up the spirit and morale of the troops while they are actively engaged in military duties as well as to improve their minds."

This arrangement is in addition to the plan heretofore announced by Burleson of permitting individuals to send reading matter to soldiers in camp and at the front simply by placing a one-cent stamp on a magazine or periodical without name or address.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA SUE.

An action in equity was begun in the Supreme Court Wednesday by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America to restrain the United States Boy Scouts from using in their name the words "Boy Scout, Boy Scouts, Scout, Scouts or Scouting, or any adaptation thereof."

The court also is asked to enjoin the defendant organization from representing that it is, or ever has been, "connected with the Boy Scouts of America or with the movement which was designated and known in Europe and the United States at the time of the defendant's incorporation as the 'Boy Scout' or 'Scouting' movement, from representing that it has a membership greater than that of the Boy Scouts of American and from collecting or in any manner using any check, draft or money order made payable to the Boy Scouts of America or 'Boy Scouts.'"

An order prohibiting the United States Boy Scouts from using the same uniform as the Boy Scouts of America also is sought, and an accounting is demanded of "all moneys and other property which have been received by the defendant but which were intended for the plaintiff."

FIREMAN OTTO GUNTHER QUITS THE DEPARTMENT.

Otto Gunther, who has been a member of the Plainfield Fire Department for nearly four years, tendered his resignation this week to take immediate effect. He left the service in order to accept a position as chafleur for a Netherwood family. In offering his resignation Mr. Gunther added the information for the benefit of the Fire Board that he was leaving the department for two reasons. One was "Not enough money" and the second "Not enough time off." The retiring fireman is an expert automobile man and was appointed primarily to take charge of the Ford pumping engine when it was first added to the equipment. Since the latter apparatus went out of commision he has been filling various positions, principally driver of the Mack chemical engine and hoseman. He was an expert in the motor line and his absence from the department will be greatly felt.

It is quite probable that another vacancy will occur in the fire department within a short time as William Schorb, Jr., appointed on probation in June, has been drawn for the selective draft. He will not come under the Federal exemption laws as he is not yet made a full-fledged fireman and will undoubtedly be called for service. He is in the best of physical condition, according to physicians who examined for the Fire Board, and having no dependants, is slated for service.

STANDARD AERO OFFICIALS ASK CITY'S PROTECTION.

Following instructions from the War Department, officials of the Standard Aero Corporation made formal application to the local authorities this week for protection after the National Guard troops are mobilized. Whether the local Home Defense League or police force will have the task of guarding the plant has not yet been announced but steps to insure the necessary protection will be taken within the next few days.

War Call Depleting Sigma Delta Phi Ranks

Enlistments and the possibility of early draft from the membership of the Sigma Delta Phi resulted in this well-known society holding a "get together" on a few nights ago before the regular meetings are broken up by responses to the country's call. The gathering was held at the home of Clyde Doane on Putnam avenue and was attended by nine of the sixteen members, the others being in other parts of the United States. The most enjoyable evening was spent with music, reminiscent talk and a supper. Unique and original favors were distributed in the form of cards bearing military pictures and verses appropriate to each individual.

The Sigma Delta Phi was formed of graduates of the Plainfield High School, none being taken in after 1908. This society was the one which the school authorities sought to break up and which brought it into great prominence through newspaper comment. Practically every man in it is eligible for military duty and the gathering mentioned was intended to be one that would be long remembered in the event of those present being called away for an indefinite time.

The first of the Sigma Delta Phi to answer the call to the colors was Arthur W. Bingaman, who is now in France with General Pershing as a surgeon in the medical division. He had completed his college and interne course at St. Luke's Hospital in New York when he decided to enlist. When the selective draft was made, one of the early numbers drawn was that of Augustus C. Nash, another member of the society who will undoubtedly be passed by the Exemption Board. Mr. Nash has been practicing law in Westfield for the past six years. Councilman Charles Loizeaux was another one on the early draft list and who is now disposing of his business affairs in order to enter the service. Beside the ones mentioned the other members of the Sigma Delta Phi who will undoubtedly be called or enlist and who were at the "get-together" are the following: Russel Morris, Clyde Doane, William Rafferty, Jack Riffert, Guion Fountain and Paul R. Collier.

New Camp Site for Co. K; No New Orders

August 1 has come and gone and Company K is still awaiting orders to move from its headquarters which have been at Red Bank for the past four months. The unit has, however, changed its camp site to a different section of Red Bank. It is a plot 150x600 feet and runs right along the Shrewsbury River. It is cool and well shaded and there will be plenty of room for the entire Second Regiment when the outposts are drawn in. Shower baths and other luxuries have been installed, including an incinerator for hot water. Ernest Drake, who lost a leg when he was struck by a train a month ago, is out of the hospital and at camp with the boys.

There is a great deal of speculation among members of Company K and the other units as to when the Second Regiment will get away to its concentration camp. Orders have been received to be ready at a moment's notice but that is all. It is possible that when the order comes the regiment will gather at Trenton and move from there Southward.

May Put Country's Prisoners to Work

Preliminary steps toward putting laws enacted this year, and which provide for the parole and employment of county jail prisoners into effect, were taken several days ago when County Attorney Francis J. Blatz, of this city, and Freeholder James Brokaw, of the Freeholder's prison committee, conferred with Judge James C. Connolly.

The principal enactment bearing on the matter is known as Chapter 271 of the laws of 1917. It provided that the sheriff can release prisoners daily for work and have them return to the jail at night, a portion of their earnings to go to their families. They may be employed at county work.

Another law empowers the judge of Common Pleas to parole the prisoners and they need not return nightly to jail, but must be under his supervision; and they may be placed under the care of the probation officer, or other special guardians, and will collect their wages and apportion it as provided by law. The court may also fix the rate of wages.

As the two laws seems to cover the same situation and are applicable to any county jail offense it is likely that the vital parts of the two acts will be combined and a working method adopted.

Judge Connolly suggested that the Board of Freeholders and the sheriff promulgate a set of rules for the paroled prisoners, and he will later take up the matter at a conference. Various agencies having to do with the persons made dependent through the committee to the county jail, of persons supporting them are vitally interested in seeing the laws adopted put into force in Union county. Like interest was taken by the judge, who has already given the matter much thought.

Three Auto Victims Was Saturday Toll

The past week was one of the most fatal for Plainfield automobilists in years. No less than three accidents having disastrous results occurred with Plainfielders figuring in them, beside a number of smaller collisions. One curious feature of the three accidents that resulted in three deaths was that all occurred on Saturday.

The first death occurred Sunday night in the Elizabeth General Hospital, Thomas Sheehan, of 112 Peabody place, Newark, and seventeen years old, succumbing to injuries received when he was struck by a truck Saturday morning owned by Matteo Mauro, a produce dealer of this city. Sheehan's bicycle became caught in the trolley tracks as he attempted to pass the truck on North broad street, near Hollywood avenue, Hillside. He sustained only a fractured leg and minor bruises when the truck hit him, but it is said that the shock caused his death. The prosecutor's office investigated but made no arrests.

Thomas Ford, nineteen years old, of Metuchen, died at Muhlenberg Hospital at 8 o'clock Saturday night, the result of injuries received in attempting to jump from a delivery truck owned by the Castle Ice Cream Company. He fell under the wheels and was crushed. The fatality occurred on Plainfield avenue.

Ford, who was employed as a helper for Izyard Borup, of Perth Amboy, driver for the truck, was lighting a cigarette. The head of a match set fire to the cushion on which he was sitting and he jumped from the truck to escape being burned. Ford had worked at the job only two days.

The body was removed to the morgue and later taken to the home of the dead man's sister at Perth Amboy, where the funeral was held. Borup was placed under arrest and Monday morning was held under $1,000 bail.

The third death occurred in St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, Sunday night, following an accident on Westfield avenue, Roselle Park, when Miss Helen Hedstron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hedstron, of Amsterdam road, that place, was struck by an automobile driven by H. E. L. Stacy, of West Sixth street. A full account of this accident will be found in another column.

LODGE PICNIC.

The sixth annual picnic of Plainfield Lodge, No. 622, B. P. O. E., A., will be held on August 12 on Scott's farm located on the mountain near Warrenville. Music, dancing, games and other features will entertain. Part of the receipts will be donated to the Y. M. H. A. building fund.

JAIL FOR STABBING.

Pleading guilty to stabbing Edward Murphy, of Arlington avenue, in the back, Merrine Casserio, an Italian, of 1836 Lake street, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in jail by Judge Connolly last Friday. Murphy was stabbed as he was standing at the corner of Second street and Park avenue early in June.

CITY CLERK BACK.

City Clerk James J. Carroll has returned to his duties after enjoying a two weeks' vacation spent at Binghamton and other points in New York State.

Miss Ethel E. Humphrey, of Madison avenue, returned to her duties with the City Nursing Bureau this week after a vacation spent with relatives at Rome, N. Y., and at Lake Hopatcong.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

BERNARD J. CLARK.

Friends in this city received with deep regret the forepart of the week news of the death of Bernard Clark, a former well-known Plainfielder, who was found dead in bed early Monday morning at his home at the Iselin Hotel, Iselin, of which he was proprietor. Death was due to heart trouble and came as a great surprise to everyone as there had been no previous intimation of any ailment. The deceased retired in his usual health Sunday night and his lifeless form was discovered by his wife when she sought to call him at the usual rising time.

Mr. Clark was the son of Mrs Bernard Clark, of West Seventh street, this city, and was thirty-six years old. He was born in Brooklyn but had many years of his life in Plainfield. He was at one time in the United States Navy, retiring from the service with a most excellent record. Four years ago he became actively engaged in structural engineering work at Irvington, N. J., which he followed for about two years, after which he purchased the Weidenhofs Hotel at Iselin, and where he had been very successful. He had every prospect of continued success and his numerous friends in this vicinity were wishing him well when word came of his deplorable demise just at a time when he had everything to live for. Mr. Clark possessed a genial disposition that made his friendship greatly sought and once formed was always held. He was a member of the Holy Name Society at Irvington and a communican at St. Cecilia's church at Iselin. Beside his mother, Mr. Clark is survived by his wife and one daughter, also a sister, Mrs. John McCollough, of West Seventh street, and a brother, Joseph Clark, of Watchung avenue.

The funeral was held in St. Mary's church, this city, yesterday morning, where a solemn high mass of requiem was conducted in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. Father Grady, of Iselin, was the celebrant; Rev. Father Hennessey was deacon and Rev. Father Mahoney was sub-deacon. There were many beautiful floral tributes, several of the mbeing exceptionally handsome set pieces. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, the following acting as pall-bearers: Richard Birmingham, of this city; Owen and Barney Dunaga, John Dunn, of Woodbridge; James Davenport, of Irvington, and Patrick Morrill, of Iselin.

MRS. ANNE BATE.

Mrs. Anne Bate, widow of John Bate, died Saturday morning, at her home on Tiliotson road, Fanwood, following a long illness. She was eighty years old and a native of England, coming to Fanwood from Brooklyn six years ago. She is survived by two sons and one daughter, Theodore, Howard H. Bate and Mrs. Edith Bate, of Fanwood, and John H. Bate, of Westwood. The funeral was held in Greenwood chapel, Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, Monday afternoon and was in charge of Rev. Arthur Lloyd, of Brooklyn. Burial was in the family plot in Greenwood cemetery.

ANDREW McCLEAN PARKER.

Andrew McClean Parker, a native and former resident of Plainfield, died Monday at Lincolnton, N. C., where he and his family had been living for some time. Death was due to paralysis which first affected him last fall.

Mr. Parker was fifty-seven years old and a son of the late Captain James Parker, of Perth Amboy. After graduation from Princeton University, he became a civil engineering engineer and member of the firm of Ryan & Parker, of New York. This firm secured the contract for the construction of the Williamsburg Bridge, across the East River, but Mr. Parker sold out his interest and retired, for several years afterward he lived here in retirement.

Seven years ago Mr. Parker donated the use of what is known as Parker Field to the city as a playground and recreation center. A little later he moved to Princeton where he took a special course of study in agriculture. He was a member of Grace Episcopal church.

Among the nearer relatives left by Mr. Parker are the following: His wife, two daughters, Catherine, now married and living in Brooklyn, and Adelaide, now of North Carolina; one son, Andrew McClean Parker, also in North Carolina; three sisters, Mrs. Lanier, of Perth Amboy; Mrs. Frances Du Bois, of this city; Mrs. Robert Seldden Huse, of Elizabeth, and one brother, James Parker, of New York.

BENJAMIN S. BRAIDER.

Death came Wednesday morning at 5:30 to Benjamin S. Braider, of Putnam avenue, a resident of Plainfield for more than forty years and one of its best known citizens. He had been enjoying splendid health until three weeks ago when he met with an accident at the Anderson place near Washington Rock, where he had made a delivery of groceries. He was driving out of the yard when the forward wheels of his wagon dropped into a hole which he had not noticed. The horse and wagon went down in a heap and Mr. Braider was thrown to the ground, striking violently on his chest. He afterward assisted in getting his rig righted and to all appearances suffered no great injury. As a matter of fact, a bone in one leg was broken and it is believed he was hurt internally as complications developed the next day which confined him to his bed under the care of a physician. He continued to sink rapidly and a few days before the end came it was realized that his condition was hopeless.

Mr. Braider was born in Northampton, Pa., in 1844, and came to this city forty-one years ago. He conducted a grocery store in North Plainfield for many years, giving up the place about 1897. He was afterward located on Central avenue for a time but more recently had been in the employ of H. M. Bowman, of West Front street.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Mr. Braider enlisted in Company I, Thirtieth New Jersey Vols., and served with distinction. He was member of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., but had no other fraternal affiliations. He was a member of the First Baptist church, where he was a faithful attendant at all services. Mr. Braider always made it a point to attend the Baptist excursion to Asbury Park and this year he had been looking forward to it with unusual anticipation. When the accident he met with confined him to his bed so that he was unable to make the trip it was a great disappointment to him.

Mr. Braider leaves beside his wife, who was the daughter of the late David E. Townley, one son, Clifford A. Braider, of Park avenue, who is organist of the First Methodist church.

The funeral will be held at the late home, 1334 Putnam avenue, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. It will be in charge of Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First Methodist church, in the absence of Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery, where the casket will be borne to the grave by Winfield Scott Post comrades and with full military honors.

MISS SARAH S. BISSELL.

Death came to Miss Sarah S. Bissell, of Grove street, the borough, on Friday afternoon in her eighty-first year. Miss Bissell had been ill for the past two weeks. The funeral was held at the late residence Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and was in charge of Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Miss Bissell was a native of England but had lived in this city for the past fifty years and was a lifelong member of the First Baptist church. Her only surviving relatives are two cousins, residing in Brooklyn.

WILLIAM D. WILLIAMS.

The funeral of William D. Williams, a well-known and highly respected Plainfielder, whose death occurred last Friday morning at his home, 215 East Front street, was held Monday night at the Friends' Meeting House on Watchung avenue. The service opened with silent prayer, followed by vocal prayer by the Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Robert Love, of this city, and Edward Lorton, of New York, made brief addresses and an appropriate poem was read by Miss Margaret Vail. The general address was delivered by Dr. Herring, who had been an intimate friend of the deceased for many years. Concluding addresses were made by Edward D. Hutchinson, of this city, and Mr. Lorton. Burial was made Tuesday morning in the family plot in the Union cemetery, Hackettstown.

Mr. William was born at Hackettstown, Warren county, in 1850, and had lived in this city about twenty years, coming here to take charge of the woodwork department of the original Woodhull & Martin Company, when the firm's location was in the Babcock building. He was a thorough business man and did much to build up the concern's trade in this city. When Woodhull & Martin took position of their new store on East Front street, now occupied by the Woodhull-Martin Company, he continued as an employer in the same department. About eight years ago when P. T. Woodhull and E. C. Martin disposed of their Plainfield store and opened a dry-goods establishment at Elizabeth, Mr. Williams was one of the first men of the old staff taken to the new place. He remained in a managerial capacity until his last illness began.

Mr. Williams was a member of the Religious Society of Friends and took an active part in the work of the Plainfield society. While at Hackettstown he was a member of a religious organization connected with a church in that town which is reputed to have the first Christian Endeavor Society in this country. On moving to Plainfield the deceased continued his religious activities and always stood ready to aid in the spiritual welfare or comfort of the humblest resident.

Mr. Williams' only near surviving relatives are two sisters, Mrs. Louise Phillips, of East Front street, and Mrs. W. Scott, living in the Middle West.

Ask for Literature for American Boys

In response to the plea of American Sammies for papers and magazines from home, Postmaster-General Burleson yesterday officially enlisted the aid of every postoffice in the country.

Embryo soldiers at the various cantonment camps also will be supplied by the postmasters.

"In the big postoffices of the country," said Burleson, "there continually accumulates a large quantity of non-deliverable and non-returnable periodical literature, monthly magazines and weekly periodicals of high-class character.

"Ordinarily it is destroyed, but henceforth it will be transmitted free of charge to the boys behind the firing line. It is not the intention of the department to surfeit the soldiers with mass of cheap and trashy reading matter, but to select, in so far as possible, that which is good and have it distributed through the depot quartermaster's office of the army.

"Postmasters in many of the large cities have been instructed to place these deliverable magazines and periodicals in packages and transmit them to an American port which has been designated. From there they will go direct to the expeditionary forces, where arrangements have been made for their distribution.

"In addition postmasters in other offices have been instructed to transmit their undeliverable magazines to certain centrally located cities generally not far from cantonment sites.

"Reading matter will be distributed from these points to soldiers in the vicinity.

"In this manner the department hopes to aid materially in keeping up the spirit and morale of the troops while they are actively engaged in military duties as well as to improve their minds."

This arrangement is in addition to the plan heretofore announced by Burleson of permitting individuals to send reading matter to soldiers in camp and at the front simply by placing a one-cent stamp on a magazine or periodical without name or address.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA SUE.

An action in equity was begun in the Supreme Court Wednesday by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America to restrain the United States Boy Scouts from using in their name the words "Boy Scout, Boy Scouts, Scout, Scouts or Scouting, or any adaptation thereof."

The court also is asked to enjoin the defendant organization from representing that it is, or ever has been, connected with the Boy Scouts of America or with the movement which was designated and known in Europe and the United States at the time of the defendant's incorporation as the 'Boy Scout' or 'Scouting' movement, from representing that it has a membership greater than that of the Boy Scouts of American and from collecting or in any manner using any check, draft or money order made payable to the Boy Scouts of America or 'Boy Scouts.'"

An order prohibiting the United States Boy Scouts from using the same uniform as the Boy Scouts of America also is sought, and an accounting is demanded of "all moneys and other property which have been received by the defendant but which were intended for the plaintiff."

FIREMAN OTTO GUNTHER QUITS THE DEPARTMENT.

Otto Gunther, who has been a member of the Plainfield Fire Department for nearly four years, tendered his resignation this week to take immediate effect. He left the service in order to accept a position as chafleur for a Netherwood family. In offering his resignation Mr. Gunther added the information for the benefit of the Fire Board that he was leaving the department for two reasons. One was "Not enough money" and the second "Not enough time off." The retiring fireman is an expert automobile man and was an original Woodhull & Martin Company, when the firm's location was in the Babcock building. He was a thorough business man and did much to build up the concern's trade in this city. When Woodhull & Martin took position of their new store on East Front street, now occupied by the Woodhull-Martin Company, he continued as an employer in the same department. About eight years ago when P. T. Woodhull and E. C. Martin disposed of their Plainfield store and opened a dry-goods establishment at Elizabeth, Mr. Williams was one of the first men of the old staff taken to the new place. He remained in a managerial capacity until his last illness began.

Mr. Williams was a member of the Religious Society of Friends and took an active part in the work of the Plainfield society. While at Hackettstown he was a member of a religious organization connected with a church in that town which is reputed to have the first Christian Endeavor Society in this country. On moving to Plainfield the deceased continued his religious activities and always stood ready to aid in the spiritual welfare or comfort of the humblest resident.

Mr. Williams' only near surviving relatives are two sisters, Mrs. Louise Phillips, of East Front street, and Mrs. W. Scott, living in the Middle West.

War Call Depleting Sigma Delta Phi Ranks

Enlistments and the possibility of early draft from the membership of the Sigma Delta Phi resulted in this well-known society holding a "get together" a few nights ago before the regular meetings are broken up by responses to the country's call. The gathering was held at the home of Clyde Doane on Putnam avenue and was attended by nine of the sixteen members, the others being in other parts of the United States. The most enjoyable evening was spent with music, reminiscent talk and a supper. Unique and original favors were distributed in the form of cards bearing military pictures and verses appropriate to each individual.

The Sigma Delta Phi was formed of graduates of the Plainfield High School, none being taken in after 1908. This society was the one which the school authorities sought to break up and which brought it into great prominence through newspaper comment. Practically every man in it is eligible for military duty and the gathering mentioned was intended to be one that would be long remembered in the event of those present being called away for an indefinite time.

The first of the Sigma Delta Phi to answer the call to the colors was Arthur W. Bingaman, who is now in France with General Pershing as a surgeon in the medical division. He had completed his college and interne courses and was taking a post-graduate term in St. Luke's Hospital in New York when he decided to enlist. When the selective draft was made, one of the early numbers drawn was that of Augustus C. Nash, another member of the society who will undoubtedly be passed by the Exemption Board. Mr. Nash has been practicing law in Westfield for the past six years. Councilman Charles Loizeaux was another one on the early draft list and who is now disposing of his business affairs in order to enter the service. Beside the ones mentioned the other members of the Sigma Delta Phi who will undoubtedly be called or enlist and who were at the "get-together" are the following: Russel Morris, Clyde Doane, William Rafferty, Jack Riffert, Guion Fountain and Paul R. Collier.

August 1 has come and gone and Company K is still awaiting orders to move from its headquarters which have been at Red Men's hall for the past four months. The unit has, however, changed its camp site to a different section of Red Bank. It is a plot 150x600 feet and runs right along the Shrewsbury River. It is cool and well shaded and there will be plenty of room for the entire company when the cutposts are drawn in. Shower baths and other luxuries have been installed, including an incinerator for hot water. Ernest Drake, who lost a leg when he was struck by a train a month ago, is out of the hospital and at camp with the boys.

There is a great deal of speculation among members of Company K and the other units as to when the Second Regiment will get away to its concentration camp. Orders have been received to be ready at a moment's notice but that is all. It is possible that when the order comes the regiment will gather at Trenton and move from there Southward.

May Put Country's Prisoners to Work

Preliminary steps toward putting laws enacted this year, and which provide for the parole and employment of county jail prisoners into effect, were taken several days ago when County Attorney Francis J. Blatz, of this city, and Freeholder James Brokaw, of the Freeholder's prison committee, conferred with Judge James N. Connally.

The principal enactment bearing on the matter is known as Chapter 271 of the laws of 1917. It provides that the sheriff can release prisoners daily for work and have them return to the jail at night, a portion of their earnings to go to their families. They may be employed at county work.

Another law empowers the Judge of Common Pleas to parole the prisoners and they need not return nightly to jail, but must be under his supervision; and they may be placed under the care of probation officers on under special probation, and will collect their wages and apportion it as provided by law. The court may also fix the rate of wages.

As the two laws seems to cover the same situation and are applicable to any county jail offense it is likely that the vital parts of the two acts will be combined and a working method adopted.

Judge Connolly suggested that the Board of Freeholders and the sheriff promulgate a set of rules for the paroled prisoners, and he will later take up the matter at a conference. Various agencies having to do with the persons made dependent through the committee to the county jail of persons supporting them are vitally interested in seeing the laws adopted put into force in Union county. Like interest was taken by the judge, who has already given the matter much thought.

Three Auto Victims - Was Saturday Toll

The past week was one of the most fatal for Plainfield automobilists in years. No less than three accidents having disastrous results occurred with Plainfielders figuring in them, beside a number of smaller collisions. One curious feature of the three accidents that resulted in three deaths was that all occurred on Saturday.

The first death occurred Sunday night in the Elizabeth General Hospital, Thomas Sheehan, of 112 Peabody place, Newark, and seventeen years old, succumbing to injuries received when he was struck by a truck Saturday morning owned by Matteo Mauro, a produce dealer of this city. Sheehan's bicycle became caught in the trolley tracks as he attempted to pass the truck on North Second street near Hollywood avenue, Hillside. He sustained only a fractured leg and minor bruises when the truck hit him, but it is said that the shock caused his death. The prosecutor's office investigated but made no arrests.

Thomas Ford, nineteen years old, of Metuchen, died at Muhlenberg Hospital at 8 o'clock Saturday night, the result of injuries received in attempting to jump from a delivery truck owned by the Castle Ice Cream Company. He fell under the wheels and was crushed. The fatality occurred on Plainfield avenue.

Ford, who was employed as a helper for Igvard Borup, of Perth Amboy, driver for the truck, was lighting a cigarette. The head of a match set fire to the cushion on which he was sitting and he jumped from the truck to escape being burned. Ford had worked at the job only two days.

The body was removed to the morgue and later taken to the home of the dead man's sister at Perth Amboy, where the funeral was held. Borup was placed under arrest and Monday morning was held under $1,000 bail.

The third death occurred in St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, Sunday night, following an accident on Westfield avenue, Roselle Park, when Miss Helen Hedstron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hedstron, of Amsterdam avenue, this place, was struck by an automobile driven by H. E. L. Stacy, of West Sixth street. A full account of this accident will be found in another column.

LODGE PICNIC.

The sixth annual picnic of Plainfield Lodge, No. 627, I. O. B. A., will be held on August 12 on Scott's farm located on the mountain near Warrenville. Music, dancing, games and other features will entertain. Part of the receipts will be donated to the Y. M. H. A. building fund.

JAIL FOR STABBING.

Pleading guilty to stabbing Edward Murphy, of Arlington avenue, in the back, Merrine Casorio, an Italian, of 1338 Lake street, was sentenced to six months in the county jail by Judge Connolly last Friday. Murphy was stabbed as he was standing at the corner of Second street and Park avenue early in June.

CITY CLERK BACK.

City Clerk James J. Carroll has returned to his duties after enjoying a two weeks' vacation spent at Binghamton and other points in New York State.

Miss Ethel E. Humphrey, of Madison avenue, returned to her duties with the City Nursing Bureau this week after a three weeks' vacation spent with relatives at Rome, N. Y., and at Lake Hopatcong.

City's One Horse Fountain Inadequate During Torrid Heat of Past Few Days

To many individuals the initials, S. P. C. A., present only an image of a noisy wagon, a double-decker lined with sad-eyed, pasty haired, howling animals—the felines above and canines below—the dog catchers.

But in Plainfield the S. P. C. A. has had a more attractive significance. Situated on West Eighth street is a watering station for horses, maintained by the society. The equipment is not elaborate, to be sure, but makes passing horses as comfortable as the 95 to 100 degree temperature will permit. The only fault the society has to find is that there are no more stations.

There was a time when horses were allowed to drop in the streets, overcome, and it never occurred to his natural helper, man, to alleviate his suffering. But about three years ago some humanitarian evolved the idea which is now in practice.

It is a touching sight to see some jaded beast drazzing along with faltering steps and unceasingly endeavoring to respond to the constant spurring of his driver. But as he turns a corner comes a familiar scent to his nostrils: a cool breath blows down the street as the pleasantly familiar watering station comes into view. He lifts his head, he snorts happily. He forgets momentarily the great load he is drawing behind him and quickening his pace to a trot, hurries down the street. No driver's rein is necessary to restrain him at the proper spot. He knows his friends and is quick to respond to their kind ministering.

Gratefully docile, he submits his steaming sides to a cool sponging, and his foaming mouth to an equally cool rinsing. He takes a drink, and, thus refreshed, returns to his day's labor.

And for this the S. P. C. A., the friend of animals, is to be thanked.

PAY CASH, CARRY GOODS, AGAIN ASKED OF PUBLIC.

Another plea to housewives to pay cash for the goods they buy and also, as far as possible, to carry those goods home themselves, is made by the Market News Service of the New Jersey State Department of Agriculture in a bulletin issued this week.

"As a means," says the bulletin, "of reducing the cost of living and of encouraging the formation of habits of thrift and of enlisting the aid of citizens in the great work of food conservation every housewife in the land should adopt the cash and carry home plan of buying. It is recommended by the Council of National Defense, by State food supply commissions and by State and city chambers of commerce and boards of trade."

After a discussion of high prices and the need of conserving food as a war measure, the bulletin states that scientific investigations have shown that a large factor in the cost of goods is the method of retailing.

"Further than that," the bulletin continues, "it has been shown that this method has been imposed upon the retailer by the thriftiness and extravagant habits of the consumer. The general practice of buying upon the delivery and credit plan makes it necessary for the retailer to add to the cost price of every article a wider margin than is added by all the other marketing agencies combined."

Discussing public markets, the bulletin says that two more public markets have been opened in Morristown and Atlantic City. In Morristown the city has designated one of the streets adjoining a park and has had it laid off in numbered stalls. On the opening day everything in sight was purchased. More than 100 women were on hand to encourage the farmers at the opening of the Atlantic City market. The Food Commission now has supervision over the proposed market for this city.

MANY DOCTORS WANTED FOR ARMY SERVICE.

Announcement was made this week that within the next year the medical service of the army would require the services of 144,000 men, of whom 24,000 must be trained physicians and the 120,000 other enlisted men in the Medical Corps. Half of these are wanted by October 1, and plans are well under way for obtaining them.

Already commissions have been issued to about 5,000 medical officers in the Reserve Corps of the army. Between now and October 1 enough other commissions will be issued to raise the total number of medical officers to 12,000. Two out of every nine physicians of military age throughout the United States and its principal possessions will be required for war service. Dr. Chalmers L. Crist and Dr. F. W. Cornwall are Plainfielders already joined and others are getting ready.

PROTECTING PLANT.

Several changes have been made during the past few days in the plan adopted to guard the plant of the Plainfield-Union Water Company on North avenue.

Every Local Man at Fort Meyer Is in Line for Commission; Camp Ends Aug. 14

New Jersey men from the Fort Myer training camp for reserve officers are going to lead the fighting units of the United States. When the War Department called for volunteers from the camp for second lieutenants in the regular army, New Jersey men crowded forward. Of the 140 men picked to take the examinations last week, New Jersey sent the largest representation before the board of special officers and when the board designated the men in the order of rank, Jerseyites were conspicuous all the way down the list. There are at least sixty men from the camp to be commissioned as second lieutenants, and a report from what seems good authority says that 100 men will be accepted.

After the tests for the commissions as second lieutenants, one of the regular army officers specially designated by the War Department to conduct the examination spoke in high commendation of the quality of men from New Jersey who had been examined. He said it was an honor for every one of the 140 men picked from the 2,300 in the camp to have come up so highly recommended and so well deserving.

"We are much pleased with the quality of the men we have examined," he said. "They should prove good army officers. Those chosen are men in whom their home State may well feel pride. The New Jersey men are a credit to their State and we expect to see them win honorable records in this war."

Warren A. Ransome, a local man who is endeavoring to get a commission, made an excellent showing last week as commander of the Third Battery of Artillery and had as one of his lieutenants Walter Reese, of Westfield. John C. Mickle, another Plainfielder, has been showing up well as a lieutenant in the Second Battery. These are only two of the many local men who are making good in camp.

Each of the candidates is to be finally passed upon by the board of camp officers for a commission. The last meeting of the board was held Wednesday and in the minutes of that meeting were inserted the list of those recommended for commissions. The list has been sent to the War Department and until August 14, when the announcement of the successful ones is expected, everyone will be on the anxious seat. The camp breaks up on that date. The last drills will be held on August 11, but before then the checking up of property, completing and filing of records and closing up of payrolls will have to be completed.

George Randolph, of Scotch Plains, has made a very good showing in the Ninth Infantry Regiment and is practically certain of a commission, as is Guy Snyder and Edward Burrell, of this city.

A rigid test for the purpose of aiding the officers in command of each company to report to the camp administrative officers regarding the fitness, personality, adaptability, efficiency and general characteristics of each candidate for a commission, practically every man in the camp has been ordered to take charge of a squad, platoon, company or battalion. He would then be ordered to drill this unit under the close surveillance of the regular army officers, who marked him in each characteristic. In this respect it has been a trying week for all concerned. The embryo officer called to command was often tensely nervous, knowing his commission and perhaps his entire future depended upon how he conducted himself. However, many of the New Jersey candidates conducted themselves very creditably.

AMBULANCE UNIT ACCEPTED.

After weeks of arguing with officials of the War Department, the ambulance unit formed at Summit for service with the American expeditionary force in France was accepted into the Government service this week. Because more had enlisted in the unit than was necessary a number have been transferred to other branches of the service. These include Frank Hand and Clarence Bettman, of Fanwood, who joined the navy.

NEW LEAGUE CHANGE.

Beginning Tuesday and continuing thereafter the members of the Home Defense League will be under the control of Chief of Police Kiely, as far as patrol work is concerned. All guarding done in connection with the water plant or other places will be done under his direction, he designating the squads to report for duty and arranging other details. Beginning with the first squad he will call out each one of the nineteen in turn.

HEATING PLANT FOR COUNTY SANATORIUM.

The board of managers of Bonnie Burn Sanatorium at Scotch Plains and the hospital committee of the Board of Freeholders held a conference at the courthouse recently, during which plans for putting tunnels under the recent additions to the Sanatorium were discussed. These tunnels are to carry steam pipes for heating. No decision was reached.

The committee recently opened bids for this work as well as for a general heating plant at the institution, but found that the cost would be greater than the appropriation. Because of this several conferences will be held to decide on some plan which will not entail a greater expense than was originally anticipated.

Mr. and Mrs. William Trueman, of Watchung avenue, have gone to Windsor, Vt., to spend several weeks.

Miss Helen Wilbur, of Park avenue, who was recently accepted as a Red Cross nurse, has gone to Philadelphia, from which point she will sail for France with the hospital unit to which she has been assigned.

Former Mayor and Mrs. Samuel Townsend, of Myrtle avenue, the borough, left this week for Cascade, N. Y., for a month's sojourn.

Miss Mary C. Kyle, of West Sixth street, supervisor of nurses at Muhlenberg Hospital, who has been a patient at the institution suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, has improved greatly during the past week and is now on the road to recovery.

"Record" Editorial Has Some "Record"

Several months ago the Record published in its editorial columns an editorial, which, at the time, did not appear to be other than ordinary. Since then, however, the article has been appearing in various newspapers all over the country with comments regarding its uniqueness. The last case to come to our attention of a paper thinking it worthy of reprinting was when the current issue of the American Press arrived a few days ago. The editorial was printed in its entirety under the following caption:

WHO WRITES THE OBITUARY?

Plainfield (N. J.) Record Warns Man Who Stopped the Paper.

The editorial in question we reproduce again for the benefit of our readers:

A few days ago a subscriber who is a well known citizen came to our office and stopped his paper for the reason, he said, that it did not just suit his fancy. We have since met him on the street, and it is amusing to note the look of surprise on his face that we are in existence, despite the fact he stopped his paper.

Some day, and it won't be long either, that gentleman will be no more. His heart will be stilled forever. Neighbors and friends will follow his lifeless clay to the silent city and lay him to rest among silent flowers. An obituary will be published in these columns telling what a good neighbor and beloved citizen he was—which the recording angel will overlook for charity's sake—and in a short time he will be forgotten. As he lies out there in the cold, cold graveyard, wrapped in the silent slumber of death, he will never know the last kind word spoken for him was by the editor of the paper which he so spitefully "stopped." Did you ever pause for a moment and think that your editor, whoever he may be, will gently, wrapped in the silent

Where Do The Profits Go?

MANY a farmer wonders at the end of the year where the "profits" went. Repairs for this plow—new "parts" for the binder—a new knife for the mower to replace the rusted one—and so you go. Not to say anything about the terrible wear and tear on machinery left out in the open.

And think of the time lost because this machine or that wasn't fit for use when it was wanted—the time lost tinkering with it—maybe a special trip to town.

The farmer who is a business man, doesn't waste his time or money that way. He builds a good implement shed—saves unnecessary repair bills—and gets maximum service out of his machinery. The time and money he saves represent clean profits.

He builds a good implement shed. That means

Seals Above The Ground

The famous Norwalk Cement Burial Vault is now sealed above the ground in plain sight of the family. Any burial receptacle, however waterproof and durable, is worthless unless its seal is a perfect one. The Norwalk Vault with its 3 inch depth of seal is tried and proven 100% efficient. The proof of which we say is 10 years of steadily increasing business—the burial of between 250,000 and 300,000 vaults in every section of the United States. Order Issued Today Raises Plainfield District's Quota to 220 Conscripts

Provost Marshall General Crowder Also Notifies Exemption Boards to Tighten Lines on Claims for Discharges

First Examination Secures 59 Drafted Men Together with 28 Automatically Accepted for Non-Appearance---New Panel of 450 Registrants Will be Examined at Evergreen Avenue School on August 20, 21, 22---Runyon May Resign from Exemption Board---Chairman Reed Asks for Volunteers to Aid in Clerical Work

An official order coming from Trenton today notified Chairman Charles A. Reed, of the Plainfield Exemption Board, to increase the quota of drafted men in this district twenty per cent. This means that the Plainfield district contribution to the National Army will call for 220 men instead of the original 183, although all of the 220 will not be compelled to serve. The increase has been made in order to care for the discharges that will come through failures to pass the Army surgeon's physical examinations.

To continue the work of selections began Monday, another panel of 450 men is now being summoned for appearance before the Exemption Board on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 20, 21 and 22. The scene of operations is to be shifted to the Evergreen Avenue School due to the fact that the Plainfield High School, used heretofore, will be occupied otherwise after August 20. A big corps of volunteer workers is now aiding the Board in getting out the notification cards but Chairman Reed says there is room for more helpers and asks for a response on the part of those able to perform the duties.

Another important order coming to the Exemption Board today instructs the members to issue no more affidavits as the Government has stopped printing them, and the local supply is exhausted. This is due mainly to the unexpected call for the affidavits, which in some instances, like that of New York city, was eighty per cent. of the men examined. Provost Marshal General Crowder has officially declared that the exemption and discharge lines will be drawn tighter to prevent escape from conscription on technicalities. The order declares among other things that where there are no children, wives, able to work, are not to be classed as dependents and neither are those who have parents able and willing to care for them.

The work of examining the first 366 men, called before the Exemption Board, began at the Plainfield High School Monday morning, and moved with clock-like precision until concluded Wednesday afternoon. A summary of the result shows fifty-nine conclugies conscripted, 28 claiming exemption for various reasons, 85 rejected because of physical deficiencies, 147 claiming discharges and twenty-eight failed to appear for examination. The last named are automatically accepted and it will remain for the Federal authorities to apprehend them. This would bring the total of conscripted men to eighty-six, provided none of them show good reasons for failing to answer the summons and are physically fit. The case of Bruno Grunzig, the only man who refused to be examined and asserted that the draft was unconstitutional is also a matter that rests with the Federal authorities. Action has already been taken and a detailed account of the procedure will be found in another column of this issue.

Chairman Charles A. Reed and the members of his Board, Dr. F. W. Wescott and Charles W. Runyon, sought by every method within their power to give proper consideration to every registered man brought before them. This task was made more arduous by the multitude of claims advanced by those who did not want to be taken, yet everything was accomplished in a most satisfactory manner. There was no intention at any time to do any injustice to the individual and if there is the remotest possibility for a dismissal later, the Board proposes to lend its aid. The claims for discharge does not necessarily mean that this is final. This also applies to the exemptions. The work of investigating all claims is now under way and where they are found to be authentic, the original decision will stand.. Where it is learned that the exemption is not bona fide, the applicant will be returned before the Board and classed with the acceptances. All who asked for discharge or exemption were given blanks and instructed to take an affidavit regarding the claim. These must absolutely be in the hands of the Board within ten days after the blank has been placed in the hands of the claimant. City Judge William J. De Meza and Attorney Vincent W. Nash, Jr., have generously volunteered to take all affidavits free of charge.

One matter, which the Exemption Board has sought to make clear is the misbelief that letters from certain manufacturing concerns doing munition work is good for exemption. Letters or claims of this calibre are given no consideration, as the Board has no alternative. This question is one that must be decided by the District Board on appeal. There were many instances of men employed at the Standard Aero plant, the Pond Tool Works, the Scott Press Works and even farm hands, who asked for exemption, as indispensible workers. The letters were not even looked at and the claims made verbally were halted before their conclusion. Relative to the farming claim, there is no provision made for exemption on this ground under the Government rule, but many have gained the idea that an agricultural workers does not have to take up arms.

The Exemption Board on all three days of its sittings was rendered valuable aid by former Assemblyman Roger F. Murray, who volunteered to "do his bit." He is entitled to full credit on the part of the citizens of the district, as are also the physicians who gave up their private practice to hasten the work of physical examinations. The regular doctors selected for the purpose were: Dr. William G. Murray and Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow. They were assisted by Dr. A. F. Van Horn, Dr. H. V. Hubbard, Dr. Albert Pittis, Dr. Edward S. Evans, Dr. N. W. Currie, Dr. M. L. Clawson, Dr. Thomas E. Blair and Dr. Fay Munger. Each physician did his own special part and when there was the slightest possibility of doubt a consultation of the full staff was held before the examinee was past or rejected.

Valuable aid was given the Board by members of the Home Defense League, who acted as ushers for the men from the time they entered the building until they left. Each one was taken in rotation, according to his number and by various stages passed from one department to another in close succession. Someone was always with him and the hundred and one questions that were asked were answered without interrupting the Board members. The Home Defensers also served in the capacity of special officers, relieving a pressure that otherwise would have devolved on the Police Department. The task of getting out the notification cards previous to the examination was a big undertaking in itself and in this duty the Board was helped by a corps of volunteers, who labored for ten days, sometimes as late as 12 o'clock at night. These included Howard Lapsley, Stewart Patterson, Delano Ladd, Hugh B. Reed, Edward F. Howe and Louis Rothberg. Beside these a corps of young women volunteered to take care of all the stenographic work of the Board, a big factor in itself. Those who worked in this capacity were: Mrs. Harvey B. Goodwin, Miss May McLoughlin, Miss Lena Rilling, Miss Marguerite Dodge and Miss Elizabeth Schroeder.

Owing to a pressure of his regular duties at the Union County Court House, it is possible that Charles W. Runyon may have to resign from the Exemption Board before the next sittings. In this event George M. Holstein may be appointed as his successor. He has been recommended by a number of citizens and possesses all the needed qualifications.

The complete disposition of the 366 men examined on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is given as follows:

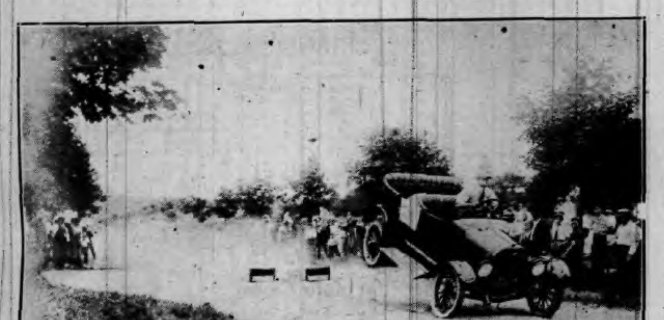
Maxwell Car Performs Marvelous Feat



Picture showing Maxwell car after completion of jump during test yesterday.

In an effort to offer to local motorists conclusive proof of the Maxwell's never-wear-out ability, reliability and mechanical strength, a stock touring car was put through a test at Norwood and Mountain avenues yesterday morning by experts sent from the Maxwell factory and brinex under the direction of the M. & L. Auto Sales Co., of West Front street. Attaining a speed of between forty and fifty miles an hour, the machine was driven off the end of a trestle and went fifty-one feet through space before touching the ground and suffered no damage. The exhibition was witnessed by a large number of local motor enthusiasts.

The manufacturers of the Maxwell car claim that their product is one of the sturdiest on the market, or rather than words, however, results in the automobile industry and the exhibition yesterday was the scheme hit on as being one to convince the public of the statements made concerning the machine.

In making the test yesterday only damage to the car was a broken glass in one of the headlights. Considering the strain on the entire machine, that performance is little short of remarkable and other makes would have been reduced to a scrap heap. Impressed by the test, several orders have already been placed for the Maxwell car.

P. W. Gibbs, of the Maxwell concern, and well known in the auto world, drove the machine when the dangerous feat was accomplished. The exhibit of yesterday was of the same type as one of the stunts resorted to when a movie "thriller" is wanted.

Grunzig Wins Way to Cell As "Martyr"

"I'd rather be short than wear a soldier's uniform," declared Bruno Grunzig, the 21-year-old Scotch Plains farmer, who was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Chief County Detective John A. Galatian on the charge of violating Section 11 of the draft act by refusing to answer questions or submit to physical examination when he appeared before the local Board last Monday.

Grunzig made this assertion before United States Commissioner Mathews when he was arraigned in Newark yesterday morning. He was held in $5,000 bail for a hearing Monday, with instructions that no one shall be permitted to visit him in the Essex county jail unless a permit is issued. Grunzig declared that he was a conscientious objector to the draft; that he did not believe in a Supreme Being, and didn't believe in the constitutionality of the draft act.

"I'll never submit to being made a soldier or to wearing a uniform," said Grunzig.

"Wouldn't you like to wear any uniform at all?" asked Commissioner Mathews.

"Well, maybe a prison uniform, which would be preferable to a soldier's," was the Socialist's reply.

In connection with a statement made Wednesday by United States District Attorney Lynch, in which he denied that Grunzig visited his office, Gustave Theimer said yesterday that he and the "conscientious objector" went to the office of the United States marshal in Newark and there told of Grunzig's refusal to be examined. The poultry dealer asked that he be placed under arrest, Theimer said. Grunzig were informed he declared, that there was no warrant for his arrest there. Theimer declared that they went to the United States district attorney's office and were told the same thing.

The American Union Opposed to Militarism has taken up the Grunzig case, Theimer said, and will engage a lawyer for him.

Dr. David Atwood Gains Commission

Dr. David G. Atwood, of East Ninth street, and one of Plainfield's most widely known dentists, received word on Tuesday from the War Department that he had been appointed a first lieutenant in the Dental Reserve Corps. At present he does not know at what time he will be called for active service but has been notified to hold himself in readiness.

Dr. Atwood took his examination at Fort Slocum sometime ago and yesterday was the first that he knew he had been successful. He has been a practicing dental surgeon for nearly thirty years, most of which time has been spent in Plainfield. He opened offices in this city shortly after graduating from college but after a number of years went West. Later he returned to Plainfield and for the past fifteen years has been located here. Since the local exemption board began its sittings in the High School on Monday he has been assisting in examining the men affected by the draft and has prepared for active duty at any time.

Baird Co. Planning to Leave Plainfield

The Baird Manufacturing Company, located at 301 East Fourth street, and makers of surgical instruments, is to remove from Plainfield in the near future and will go to Massachusetts to resume business. The exact date when the local plant will be abandoned is not known and an official of the concern could not be reached from whom to obtain further information.

The Baird concern has been in Plainfield for about twelve years and at the present time employs about fifty men. Just why the concern is leaving the city is not known, although it is said that labor conditions helped in the decision to remove.

DEATH OF C. W. TALLMAN.

Charles W. Tallman, a well-known resident of the borough for many years and proprietor of a grocery store in either Plainfield or North Plainfield for a long time, died this morning at his home, 188 Somerset street, following a long illness. For the past two years he had practically been an invalid, suffering from a nervous trouble which produced complications. No arrangements for the funeral have been made as yet.

Mr. Tallman was about sixty years of age and a native of Newark. His best known grocery stand was at West Third street and Muhlenberg place but he also did business on Liberty street and on Somerset street. His only surviving relative is his mother who lives at Orange.

Twenty-two Borough Men Pass Physical Examination

Six Were Rejected As Deficient During First Day Exemption and Discharge Claims Not Yet Made Public

The physical examination of those men drafted in the Somerville district, which includes North Plainfield, was started in the Somerset county courthouse at Somerville yesterday, when ninety-two out of the 104 men notified to be present showed up for examination. Of that number twenty-eight were from the examinations will be continued until 208, the entire quota, have been secured.

Those conducting the examinings are Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, of North Plainfield; Dr. A. L. Stillwell and Dr. Charles Halsted, both of somerville, who are assisting Dr. William H. Long, county physician. The other two members of the district board are Sheriff Ellsworth Brokaw and County Clerk A. G. Anderson. Those accepted or rejected as far as physically concerned from North Plainfield are as follows:

Rejected—Harold Pierson Bailey, John F. Hogan, Robert Runyon, James Arthur Hone, Russell Ryatt, Eugene Maxey.

Co. K Ordered to New Brunswick

Orders reached Red Bank late yesterday afternoon instructing Captain Charles Peterson to take his command to New Brunswick today, where the entire Second Regiment will mobilize. It is the unofficial consensus of opinion among the officers of the regiment that another week will find the orders forthcoming for the start of the trip to Anniston.

The members of the company were given a farewell last night by the whole of Red Bank in the Methodist church at that place. All this morning was spent in packing and making ready to start shortly after noon. It is possible that Captain Peterson will have his command march to New Brunswick unless the time limit is too short.

Big Outing For Standard Force

One of the biggest outings to leave Plainfield the present season has been planned by employes of the Standard Aero Corporation for the benefit of the hundreds of people working at the busy plant. It will take place on Saturday, August 18, with Bear Mountain, near West Point, on the Hudson as the destination. The commodious steamer, "Orient," has been chartered for the purpose, leaving the Communipaw terminal of the Jersey Central at 1:30 in the afternoon and returning to the same point about 10:30 at night. The round trip tickets are to sell at $1.00 each for adults and 50 cents for children. This will give the employes an opportunity to take their families and friends and the committee is planning to care for more than 1,000 persons.

In many ways the outing will be decidedly different than what Plainfielders have been used to in the past. The general committee met yesterday and arranged to have an entertainment on the boat both ways in addition to the serving of refreshments. The program will include music by a full orchestra, the singing of popular songs by professionals with the entire gathering taking up the choruses and a contest for the prettiest baby up to two years of age. A fine prize will be awarded for the latter.

Arriving at Bear Mountain, the excursionists will proceed to Palisades Park where a further entertainment will be enjoyed. The committee's official announcement speaks of this part of the day's outing as follows:

"When we reach Bear Mountain there will be a stop off, which will give an opportunity for games on land. A complete program of all games, prizes, contests, etc., giving the time and place will be distributed on the boat. If you can dance, sing, play a musical instrument, jig, or do anything at all amusing, practice up now and enter the contest on the boat."

The committee which has full charge of the arrangements is composed of Thomas J. Reilly, chairman, William Woodruff, James Scott, George T. Meyer and Daniel Frisbee.

Graduation at Ft. Meyer Late Today

By sunset tonight more than thirty Plainfielders, who have been serving at Fort Meyer for over two months, will, while themselves into shape to become leaders of men will know their fate—whether they are to be rewarded for their labor with commissions or whether they are to become just parts of the great fighting force now being raised. It is possible the Jerseyman will receive their commissions directly from President Wilson, he having been asked to attend the ceremonies to take place late this afternoon on the shady old parade ground, which stretches away from camp toward the banks of the Potomac. A large party of Plainfield people, including parents, friends and sweethearts, left the city either yesterday or earlier in the week to attend the ceremonies.

This war graduation is coming at the end of a three-day campaign of manoeuvres through the picturesque hills of Virginia, in which Jerseymen commanded practically every tactical unit. They are to open with a review of the entire Fifth Training Regiment by Secretary of War Newton Baker, who is also expected to address the young officers. The entire regiment will march and countermarch on the field in battalion formation and be formed with the Second Battalion facing the grandstand and the First and Third Battalions closing in on the flanks, forming three sides of the hollow square. The diplomatic and military representatives of the Allied nations, members of the Cabinet and Congress, others in Washington official life and friends of the young officers themselves will be present, making the occasion one of the most brilliant of the summer life at Washington.

The last three days of the camp have indeed been busy ones for everyone associated with the effort to secure officers for the American forces. Practically every New Jersey man will either receive a commission as a reserve officer, will be detailed to the second camp school or will be assigned to some branch of the military service other than the line. This much is certain according to the attitude of the instructors. The recommendations were sent to the War Department Wednesday and already it has been decided who will become officers.

During the manoeuvers of these last few days many boys known locally have taken prominent parts, showing themselves to be well qualified to receive commissions. William T. Gould, of this city, will not witness the graduation, as he was notified yesterday to report at the Princeton training camp, where he is to be trained to become an aviator. Edgar W. Freeman, another local student officer, is another of those practically certain of a commission. During the past week he was first lieutenant, commanding the first platoon of the First Battery. Those from Plainfield who have already passed successfully the training camp period include Gordon Moy, Peyton Schenck, and James Ackerman, who are now at Toronto learning aviation, and Guy Snyder, who has been detailed to the Princeton aviation school. Joseph Gavett was given a commission in the Engineering Corps on Monday. Other local men who will know tonight what their future in the war will be include: Harvey Rothberg, Frank Schwed, Henry L. Hall, Robert Cox, Herman Levine, John W. Zerega, Edson Woodhull, William P. Taylor, Lipman S. Gerver, Alexander Baltzly, Edward Burrill, Donald Fullerton, Sydney McKay, Charles Overton, John Mickle, E. F. Stevenson, Warren Ransome, Albert LaPorte, Wardner Carpenter and John J. Swann.

THE NEW FIRE TRUCK AND A COUNCILMAN'S VIEWS.

The Common Council has been a long time coming to it but even at this late date it is a pleasure to know that it realizes the need of a motor hook-and-ladder truck to take the place of the present vehicle at Fire Headquarters answering this purpose. Horse-drawn vehicles, so far as fire department purposes are concerned, are a thing of the past. The automobile has demonstrated its speed and cheapness of upkeep, consequently it is only a question of time when every vehicle in the city's service will be motorized. The old style aerial hook-and-ladder, with its cumbersome extension ladder, has long since been antiquated and the pitiful sight of two horses exhausting themselves in trying to get to a fire has been a thorn in the sight of the people who want to see things done right. It is fully six years ago that one public-spirited citizen asked that a third horse be added to the team assigned to the purpose for the sake of kindness to the dumb brutes if nothing else, but no action was taken. Probably if it came to a point where the truck was needed in a hurry a "howl" would have gone up that would have accomplished even greater things than followed the Lyle blaze on West Seventh street. The aftermath of that conflagration marked the new epoch in Plainfield Fire Department annals.

Councilman Charles S. Sminck is a member of the Fire Board who is always on the alert to serve the interests of this community and the Record secured the following excellent interview from him of the subject of the new motor apparatus:

"It is always the best and most economical thing to do to buy a thing if it is needed. It is always unwise and expensive to buy a thing, no matter how cheap the price, if it is not needed.

"These thoughts apply to a fire truck in Plainfield. The action of the Common Council in making provision for the purchase of a city service hook-and-ladder truck is, in my judgment, most wise and economical. The old horse-drawn apparatus absolutely fails to meet the present requirements of the city. It answers every first alarm fire in the city from Block avenue to Terrill road, from the brook to the city line on Park avenue. It is too heavy for two horses and in order to maintain it new horses are necessary at an expense ranging from $500.00 to $1,000.00, with the subsequent upkeep of the horses to be added.

"If the horse-drawn truck should be answering an alarm at Terrill road and another box should be pulled say at the Hospital or in the center of the business section it could not return in time to use its equipment to be effective in the saving of life.

"There are some buildings in the East and West Ends of the city where a truck may be promptly needed and which could not be reached in time by the present horse-drawn apparatus at headquarters.

"The city during recent years has spread out over a large territory with which truck equipment has not kept pace. The only argument which could be logically advanced for horse-drawn hook-and-ladder trucks would be to have one stationed at each end of the city and that would be too expensive.

"The existing situation is dangerous to the life and well-being of the people of the city and I am glad the Council has had the wisdom to correct it. Duty is not completed by merely calling attention to danger. It can only be completed by using the full powers of a councilman to correct it.

"Some of the buildings in Plainfield have many girls working on the third and fourth floors. During each working day there are over three thousand persons in schools, factories and hotels above the second floor.

"If things run smoothly no one thinks of these things, but if anything goes wrong then proper and pertinent inquiries would be made as to why the city officials had not anticipated protection against disaster.

THE WORK OF THE EXEMPTION BOARD

Another step toward the securing of Plainfield's contribution of 220 men to the great "National" army began the present week. Out of a total of 366 men examined by the Exemption Board only 59 were found to answer every qualification before being listed as a conscript. The others were eliminated because of physical defects, dependents, religious belief, enlistment previously or various other reasons. A further panel of 450 registered men is now being called in the belief that it will furnish the balance of the prescribed quota. If it does not additional calls will follow until the demand of the Government is supplied.

All the details necessary to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion in the total of the great selection has placed responsibility on the obliging shoulders of the Exemption Board, composed of Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, Dr. F. W. Westcott and Charles W. Runyon. These men have been laboring early and late since their appointment, and the service they have rendered this community is incalculable. With a full appreciation of the relatives who suffer conflicting emotions they have given heed to the claims for exemption of discharge, sifting out the just and unjust but ever mindful of their duty to the individual as well as the Federal authorities. It is doubtful if another board in the State has been as conscientious and the Record joins with wives, mothers and sweethearts in recognizing its worth.

Valuable help was furnished the Exemption members by Roger F. Murray, another excellent type of citizen, who has sacrificed personal interests to aid in the selective routine. With the same spirit of contributing their little bit, a corps of Plainfield physicians laid aside their private practice to establish physical fitness of the men summoned and the Home Defense League and civilians helped out in any task the officials imposed.

So went the work of the first part of the draft and now comes an even more difficult proceeding. This is the inquiry into claims for discharge of which so many were made. It must be borne in mind that every man who shirks his duty compels someone else to go in his place, thus shifting responsibility to a less desirable factor. This the Board will seek to prevent and it behooves every member of this community to further the object. Each individual has his or her duty to perform. Co-operation will bring about success and when the Plainfield contingent of 220 men is added to the National unit, those who are left behind will understand that no partiality has been shown in the unenviable task of designating the personnel.

* * * * *

WHY WORRY ABOUT THE DRAFT?

While discussing the draft measure in the Aviation Bill, Senator Fletcher introduced some rather grim humor by reading the following article written by an Atlanta youth in France, and which might furnish some consolation for apprehensive Plainfielders:

"Here is consolation for every man who has registered and expects to be drafted in the great war lottery this month. It comes from an Atlanta boy who has been on the firing line in France and knows what he is talking about:

"You have two alternatives—either you are drafted or you are not. If not, you have nothing to worry about. If you are drafted, you have two alternatives—you are in camp or you are at the front. If you are in camp you have nothing to worry about. If you are at the front you have two alternatives—either you are held in reserve or you are sent to the firing line. If you are in reserve, you have nothing to worry about. If you are sent to the firing line, you have two alternatives—either you fight or you don't. If you don't, you have nothing to worry about. If you do, you have two alternatives—either you get hurt or you don't. If you don't, you have nothing to worry about. If you do get hurt, you have two alternatives—either you are slightly hurt or badly hurt. If slightly hurt, you have nothing to worry about. If badly hurt, you have two alternatives—either you recover or you don't. If you recover, you have nothing to worry about. If you don't you'll be dead.

"So what's the use of worrying about the draft?"

As Solid As It Looks.

Later Date Named For Netherwood Garden Show

Owing to the inability of several of the members to be in town on Labor Day, the committee of the Netherwood Residents' Association in charge of the "Home Garden" show, has changed the date of the exhibition to Saturday, September 8. It will take place in the Parish House of St. Stephen's church at 3 o'clock and from the interest that has already been shown will be a most successful affair. A. C. Wilmerding, president of the association, made a personal inspection of thirty gardens the past week, all of which were planted by young people and from which vegetables will be exhibited. Cash prizes are being offered for the best products and also for the best flowers grown by children. Unforeseen conditions having arisen the committee has found some changes in the original plans for this competition necessary. These are now being gotten in concise form and will be published in full in the next issue of the Record.

APPOINTED AS CONDUCTOR.

Arthur Robinson, of West Third street, who has been a member of the Postoffice distributing staff for the past three years, resigned his position the past week to accept an appointment as conductor in the Pullman car service. He will begin his new duties next week with headquarters at Jersey City and will operate over the Lehigh Valley and Pennsylvania lines. Former Councilman P. J. Reville, of West Third street, and Edward Hines, of Liberty street, are two Plainfielders who have been Pullman conductors for several years.

KNIGHTS GIVE $800.

The campaign of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, to raise a fund to help swell that one of $1,000,000 being raised by the order for war relief purposes is now assured of success. Although collections have not all been received, it is certain the fund will be at least $600 and possibly more.

All Plans Complete For Spicer's Outing

Arrangements have been perfected by the Spicer Manufacturing Company Mutual Aid Society for the eighth annual outing of the organization which takes place on Saturday, August 18. The destination will be Highlands, below Atlantic Highlands, the same place where the outing has been held for the past three years. The trip is to be made by boat from Elizabethport, the steamer "Griswold" having been engaged for the purpose. It will leave the Recreation Pier promptly at 8:30, and will leave the Highlands for the return trip at 8:30 in the evening. The water route was decided upon because of the New Jersey Central's inability to furnish cars enough for transportation direct from Plainfield through the demands on its rolling stock for governmental purposes. Those who planned to take the trip must arrange their own way of getting from this city to Elizabethport.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is determined to make this year's affair the most successful the Spicer men have yet conducted. As the "Griswold's" capacity is limited to 350 persons the sale of tickets will be limited to this number. Members of the association will be cared for first at the rate of seventy-five cents per ticket and after all have been supplied outsiders will be given tickets at one dollar twenty-five cents each. This figure will include sandwiches and refreshments on the boat both ways but there will be no dinner served jointly at the Highlands as in previous years. From the interest already manifested it seems likely that the full capacity will be called for long before the "Griswold" leaves her dock and the 1917 outing of the Spicer's society will linger long in the memories of all attending.

The committee which has charge of the plans is composed of the following: Theodore Larew, chairman; William McCombe, William O'Loughlin, M. Camino, Thomas Farrell, Claude Roseberry, James Anderson, Rufus Larew, Joseph Wisniewski.

MT. BETHEL MISSION PLANS PICNIC AND DANCE.

Rev. Father T. J. Campbell and the members of Our Lady of the Mount Parish will hold a picnic and dance at Mt. Bethel tomorrow afternoon and night. The picnic will begin shortly after 1 o'clock and will be on the spacious grounds of Mr. Pilliere. There will be refreshments in abundance and plenty of good music. The evening will be taken up with a dance in the mountain house, adjacent to the picnic grounds.

A cordial invitation is extended Plainfielders to attend and special buses will make the trip to and from Mt. Bethel for their benefit. These will leave St. Joseph's church on Jackson avenue at 2 in the afternoon and 6:30 in the evening. All proceeds from the affair will be for the benefit of our Lady of the Mount Mission, which is in charge of Father Campbell, curate of St. Joseph's.

Receives Word From Young Son in France

Mrs. Joseph Swalbach, of Westfield avenue, Scotch Plains, received a letter this week from her son, Henry Swalbach, telling of his arrival in France. Young Swalbach, who is only 17, is one of the first from Plainfield or vicinity to arrive in Europe.

In writing he was unable to give any information as to his whereabouts, owing to the strict censorship. The letter was mailed on July 17 and says that he is a member of the Twenty-second Infantry, U. S. A. He expresses himself as being pleased with France and says he is eager to get to the front.

NO RECRUIT STATION.

Plainfield, for the first time since the declaration of war, now has no recruiting station. Men affected by the draft are not now accepted, but those below twenty-one or over thirty-one who wish to join the army, navy or guard will have to go to Elizabeth, Newark, or New York to do so.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

MRS. JAMES H. BUCKLEY.

Friends in this vicinity received with deep regret Tuesday word of the death of Mrs. James H. Buckley, a former well-known resident of Plainfield and Scotch Plains, which occurred early Tuesday morning at her home in Baltimore. She had been ill about three weeks with an organic trouble and while it was known to be serious it was not taken to mean that her condition was critical until shortly before the end.

Mrs. Buckley was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pound, of Scotch Plains, and was born and lived most of her life in that village. Her maiden name was Cornelia Pound. At an early age she displayed a remarkable talent for music and became especially proficient in stringed instruments. She was in later life thoroughly accomplished in playing the piano, violin, banjo and harp. She was also a cornet player and master of the pipe organ. At various times she had charge of the music in Grace and St. Stephen's Episcopal churches in this city and All Saints' in Scotch Plains, acting as organist in each instance. Mrs. Buckley became a teacher of music, a vocation which she followed even after her marriage owing to the demands of former pupils who wished others to perfect themselves under her guidance. She possessed a most attractive personality, one that readily made and kept friends. In her professional work she displayed an even temperament under all circumstances and never seemed to be out of patience when imparting the rudiments of music to a slow progressing child or adult. Mrs. Buckley's musicales were an annual event in Plainfield for many years and everyone was attended by a large gathering that was as much interested in her own performing as that of the pupils.

Mrs. Buckley's husband was employed in the local freight office of the New Jersey Central for a long time but resigned about fourteen years ago to enter the Pullman company's service as conductor. He removed from this city to Scotch Plains at the time but ten years ago changed his residence to Baltimore as that city was more convenient to his big "run." his work extending over the entire country. He was rapidly advanced to various important positions and at the present time is one of the most valued men in the service. When the Chinese royal commission visited the United States a few years ago, Mr. Buckley was delegated to take charge of the solid Pullman train which conveyed the party from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast and remained with it during the entire railway part of the itinerary. He has a host of friends in Plainfield who extend sympathy to him in his hour of bereavement.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Buckley is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William Wood and Miss Anita Buckley, both of whom live at the parental home in Baltimore. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. John Coles, of Scotch Plains, a brother-in-law, William R. Buckley, of Scotch Plains, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. William Terry, of 448 West Fourth street, this city.

The funeral was held at the late home in Baltimore yesterday morning and was attended by a number of relatives and friends from Plainfield and Scotch Plains. Burial was made at Baltimore.

MEYER COMPTON.

Meyer Compton, a native of New Durham, near Metuchen, but a resident of North Plainfield for many years, died in Muhlenberg Hospital Tuesday morning, just previous to the time appointed for an operation to off-set an internal trouble from which he had been suffering. He was seventy-one years old and was a blacksmith by trade but had been retired for some time. His last address was at 181 Somerset street, where he lived with his son, Lyle D. W. Compton, the latter an employe of the Sauver plant on West Front street. Previous to that the two lived at 317 Somerset street.

Beside the son with whom he lived Mr. Compton leaves one other son, Ephraim Compton, of East Third street, and three step-sisters. The latter are Mrs. Elizabeth LaForge, of Newark, and the Misses Eleanor and Emily Compton, of Atlantic Highlands. The deceased's father maintained a blacksmith shop at Metuchen for many years which, with the proprietor, was familiar to Plainfielders and others throughout this section.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at the undertaking parlors of Runyon & Son on Park avenue and was in charge of Rev. Edward S. Ralston, of the Netherwood Reformed church. Many relatives and friends of this city, Oak Tree, Mount Pleasant and Metuchen were in attendance as Mr. Compton had a wide acquaintance in each place. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

MRS. ALICE BEEKMAN.

Mrs. Alice Beekman, widow of John Beekman, died Saturday night at her home, 21 Elm place, after a long illness which was aggravated by the intense heat of last week. Mrs. Beekman was eighty-nine years old and a native of Somerville, but had lived in Plainfield for a long time. She was a member of the First Methodist church, where she was a regular attendant at all services when physical ailments did not prevent. She is survived by two daughters and three sons, all of whom live here. They are the Misses Henrietta and Amelia Beekman and John Beekman, of Elm place; Lewis C. Beekman, of Grandview avenue, and William M. Beekman, of East Front street.

The funeral was held at the late home Tuesday night and was in charge of Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson. It was attended by many relatives and friends who extended floral tributes. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

CATHERINE MAY REINMANN.

Catherine May Reinmann, the ten months' old daughter of Peter J. and Violet C. Reinmann, died Wednesday morning, after a brief illness. The funeral was held at the parents' home on West Front street last night and was in charge of Rev. George Hauser. Burial was in Hillside cemetery, this morning.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

Last Saturday afternoon seven association girls with Miss Mann went up to the week-end camp on the Watchung Mountain and stayed until late Sunday afternoon. The camp, which is about a twenty minute walk from the end of the trolley line, is situated right in the woods. There is a small cabin with living room and kitchen and a tent for sleeping out. The girls take their own provisions and do their own cooking in true camp fashion. This week Miss Lena M. Jackson, girls' work secretary, will go with any members who may wish to have a rest and change with little effort or expense. Girls wishing to go to camp should report to the office as soon as possible as accommodations are limited to nine. The Glee Club is planning to go as a group on the eighteenth of this month, so girls not fortunate enough to belong will have to make arrangements for this week or the twenty-fifth.

The gymnasium will be open on Saturday night from 7 until 9:30 for singing, games and folk-dances. All young women are invited to come and join in the good time which we expect to have every week.

On Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock a group is meeting for discussion of the "Church in Time of War." The meeting is led by Miss Mann, using Dr. MacFarland's book as a basis. Any girls or young women interested in so vital a topic just at this time will be most cordially welcomed.

The girls are much enjoying the use of the Babcock tennis court on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons from 4 until 7 and of the brook at Mrs. Mead's on Saturday afternoons from 2:30 until 4.

AN APPROACHING WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Conroy, of Fairview avenue, the borough, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence Conroy, to Peter Mauger, of Compton avenue, this city. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride-elect's parents on Monday, August 20.

Recruit Command Unites With Co. K

Following the receipt of orders from the headquarters of the Second Regiment, Lieutenant A. R. Phillips closed the recruiting office in the old Postoffice building on Saturday night and Monday sent the recruits to join Company K.

Lieutenant Phillips had been expecting orders to move for several weeks and when they came was able to get away with little confusion. Most of the fifty odd recruits who had been here for the past two months received their equipment last week and those that did not were outfitted at Red Bank. Under charge of Sergeant Adam Miller the men were to move Monday night via C. & R. of N. J. and arrived at Red Bank without a mishap, where they were quartered with the main company. Company K now has slightly over 160 men, the largest unit in the entire Second Regiment.

The return of Colonel Martin from the West this week has given rise to a rumor of changes in the Second. Colonel Martin has assumed command of the regiment in place of Colonel Reading, who has become head of the First Brigade. The two changes have not yet been sanctioned but as they are in the order of seniority will probably stand. Major Conrad Hall, of the First Battalion, is picked as successor for Colonel Martin and Captain Charles Peterson, of Company K, will likely be elevated to a majorship.

Red Cross Chapter Growing Constantly

The Plainfield and North Plainfield Chapter of the American Red Cross completed its fifth week Sunday. A large amount of work has been accomplished during that time and more progress is being made each day. Already the local chapter is regarded as one of the most active in the State and is conceded to have the finest headquarters for work.

A working schedule has been adopted so that no time will be wasted. It is as follows: Monday—Sewing all day; Tuesday—Surgical dressings all day, knitting in the morning; Wednesday — Surgical dressings in the morning, Johnny Snipers in the afternoon; Thursday —Surgical dressings and sewing all day; Friday—Surgical dressings and Johnny Snipers in the morning, knitting in the afternoon. The office is open Saturday mornings, but the work rooms are closed. The hours are from 10 to 1 in the morning and 2 to 5 in the afternoon.

Worsted for the seventy-four knitted sets for the battleship "Maine" has been given out and the work will be done the latter part of the month. The girls at the city playgrounds have also been supplied with knitting and the Johnny Snipers, composed of boys and girls under twelve years of age, meet at headquarters twice a week to work. New workers are going to the headquarters almost daily to work and the sewing and surgical dressing rooms are crowded during hours.

ANNISTON TRAINING CAMP RAPIDLY NEARING STATE OF COMPLETION

New Jersey National Guardsmen in camp at Sea Girt and those that have just quit guard duty have received no inkling as yet as to when the trip homeward for the winter will take place and judging from past experiences are not likely to receive more than an eleventh hour warning. Word issued from the War Department, however, gives out the information that the camp at Anniston, Ala., to which 15,000 troops of this and several other States are scheduled to go, is to be completed by August 15.

Contractors are working on the construction of the camp at top speed and have hundreds of men working in shifts during what will be a good sized city. A recent report of the work being done and issued by the War Department is as follows:

Anniston, Ala.—Government spur track affords ample unloading facilities and work is progressing on eight 500-foot extensions from main railway line to be completed August 5. Road work is in advance of needs. Construction of 37 buildings has been completed and the balance are progressing rapidly. Half the required lumber is on hand and the remainder will be received before needed. Delivery has been made of 10,000 feet of 6-inch pipe, but none of the 18,000 feet of 10-inch cast-iron pipe required has been received. The force at work comprises 910 laborers and 488 carpenters.

CITY LIKELY TO ENTER FIGHT FOR BETTER GAS

Following the suggestion by Mayor Leighton Calkins this week that the city join in the fight against the Public Service Corporation, the lighting committee of the Common Council and Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Hetfield will hold a conference sometime during the coming week and decide on just what steps the city will take in the matter.

Instead of raising the price for service, it is the intention of the P. S. C. to lower the standard of gas. Through the New Jersey State League of Municipalities, many towns have decided to fight the move Plainfield, as a member of the League, has been invited to co-operate.

Company K Boys Finding Seashore Life Quite Bearable But Not Very Exciting

The company had quite some excitement during the warm spell last week, when the whole of Red Bank was agog over rumors of a riot at Elsner's uniform factory. The intense heat took all longing for work out of some of the workers and their resolve to quit for the day allowed the impression to spread abroad that a riot was in progress. As the story gained circulation it included the astounding news that German spies had been caught. Company K made a double-quick run to the factory and Red Bank's police force, which was escorting the remains of a fellow-copper to the cemetery, deserted the cortege to respond to the hurry call. After all the flurry blew over every one was asking where the riot was.

Company K has moved the camp of its headquarters from the lot opposite the Elsner factory on Bridge avenue to Monroe Elsner's lot on West Front street. The first death in the company since it has been doing guard duty at Red Bank occurred last Friday. The deceased was buried on Saturday with military honors on the camp grounds. Taps were sounded, three volleys were fired over the grave and a minister's son who is a member of the organization delivered a brief discourse, extolling the virtues of the deceased. The body was slowly lowered in the grave with leather straps attached to a casket, covered with flowers. After that was left the earthly remains of K, the company's fox terrier mascot, was soon covered with earth, and the soldiers paid their last respects to the dog by strewing flowers on his grave. K had been the company's mascot several years and the funeral service for him was partly done in fun but was principally performed in a spirit of reverence.

The twenty members of the company recruited from Plainfield who were ordered into camp with the boys at Red Bank last Friday have survived their first week, after furnishing fun for the "vets." Sergeant Apgar says that he has to go out and save his mouth put back in shape each time after he calls the roll, now that the new men are on the list. Wonder what he will do when he has the names of some of the men to call?

Has anyone got any virtrola records which they wish to donate to the company? The boys get a lot of pleasure out of the machine given to them but have a scarcity of records. If they are left at the Plainfield Record office, 193 North avenue, they will be sent to the company with the well wishes of the donors.

Sergeant LeRoy DeCamp was discharged from the company last week on the dependency clause. With the going of DeCamp it leaves but two members of the original company left, they being Captain Charles Peterson and First Sergeant Apgar. Both men joined when the unit was formed seventeen years ago.

Miss Mary Burke, who is superintendent of the girls in the cutting department of Elsner's factory, has collected $10 for Ernest Drake, a member of the company who lost a leg as the result of an accident in which he was struck by a locomotive several weeks ago. The members of the company have accorded a vote of thanks to Miss Burke and the contributors.

Industry Is Fast Causing Vacant Houses to Disappear

Industrial conditions in this city have become so excellent during the past year and continue to grow more extensive each week that Plainfield may be facing before long that rather peculiar position of not having a sufficient number of dwellings to accommodate everybody. Although there are still vacant houses scattered here and there, local real estate dealers are united in the opinion that they are fewer than in years.

Two years ago there were hundreds of houses standing idle and a dearth of people who wished to buy or even rent. The situation prevailed until Plainfield manufacturers began to secure wartime contracts. Additional men were hired and shops were put on both day and night schedules. The completion and starting up of the American Motors Corporation on West Front street, the letting of contracts for nearly doubling the size of the Pond factory and changes at practically every other concern has meant the bringing of hundreds of men to the city.

Announcements of a more recent nature that would indicate even more activity in the future include word of the enlargening of the Scott Printing Press Works to take care of Government work. It is understood that the standard Aero Works is to erect another addition to take care of added Federal contracts, although official confirmation is lacking.

Although it is generally known among real estate men and builders that vacant houses are growing scarce, nothing is being done to help the situation. It is literally been months since Building Inspector Doane has given out a permit for a dwelling that would be suitable for the class of working man that industry is bringing here. Garages constitute three-quarters of the building being done, showing that local people are profiting by the war boom as well as the out of town mechanics.

DR. ANDERSON'S VACATION.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Anderson, of Madison avenue, left Wednesday for their annual summer vacation. They will divide a month between Ocean Grove and the mountains of Sussex county. During Mr. Anderson's absence the services at the First M. E. church will continue the same as usual as the pastor has appointed leaders for the prayer meetings. The Sunday services will be with the Union congregations.

SECOND STREET COMPLETED.

Work was completed today on the laying of a permanent pavement on Second street, between Park and Watchung avenues, and that thoroughfare is again open for traffic. Work is progressing rapidly on the laying of pavement on East Fifth street, between Watchung avenue and Richmond street, although it will be closed for a month yet to traffic.

Paderewski cannot interpret his wondrous music through the printed page—you must hear him to realize his genius for swaying vast audiences. And we, likewise, cannot picture the inbuilt musical qualities of our pianos in cold type—you must listen to them before you can form an adequate opinion of these superlative instruments.
We have the largest assortment of high grade pianos in New Jersey. Write for handsome art catalogues.

Fight Over McQuaide Millions Is Adjourned

Adjournment was made last week in the New York courts until September 5th of the fight over the millions left by James Pollack, which has been going on between his former wife, Mrs. Sara S McQuaide, and Gertrude McQuaide North, third wife of the testator. Miss Gabriel McQuaide, of this city, is a daughter of Mr. McQuaide. Postponement of the court action was caused by the inability to find Mrs. Sara McQuaide, the second wife.
Following the death of McQuaide in the Pope Villa, at Twickenham, Middlesex county, England, Mrs. Sara McQuaide had herself appointed administratrix of his estate here upon allegations that he had died intestate and she was his widow. As McQuaide left a will and codicil which Mrs. Reynolds McQuaide-North probated in England, she now, through one of her American representatives, is demanding the revocation of the administration letters granted to Mrs. Sara McQuaide.

"BOB" WALPOLE OBSERVING EIGHTY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY

Robert Walpole, veteran of the Civil War and one of Scotch Plains' oldest residents, is observing his eighty-fifth birthday today. He is still active despite his age and is busy receiving the congratulations of his many friends and well wishers. As has been the custom in years past, his children, grandchildren and great grandchildren are visiting him.
"Old Bob," as his friends know him, had planned to go on a fishing trip on his birthday but decided that such a journey would be too much for him. He is a member of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., having served through the entire four years of the war, and for forty-five years was town constable and for eighteen years court officer at Elizabeth.

MANY ESCAPES FROM REFORMATORY.
Police of the various cities in this part of the State in the last four months have been asked to look for nineteen prisoners escaped from the State Reformatory in Rahway. Nine escaped on Thursday last and seven on July 26. On May 29 two escaped, and on April 14, there was one escape.

Seals Above The Ground

The famous Norwalk Cement Burial Vault is now sealed above the ground in plain sight of the family. Any burial receptacle, however waterproof and durable, is worthless unless its seal is a perfect one. The Norwalk Vault with its 3 inch depth of seal is tried and proven 100% efficient. The proof of which we say is 10 years of steadily increasing business—the burial of between 250,000 and 300,000 vaults in every section of the United States. For further information consult your undertaker.

Mayor Calkins Protests Church Club's Politics

The action of the Church-Co-operative Association in deciding at a meeting on July 24th to place an anti-license Councilmanic ticket in the field next fall has produced the following remonstrance from Mayor Leighton Calkins in the form of an open letter to Andrew N. Nielson, president of the Church Association:

"Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 16, 1917.

"Rev. A. N. Nielson, President,
"Church Cooperative Association,
"726 Watchung Avenue,
"Plainfield, N. J.

"Dear Mr. Nielson:

"Thank you for your letter in reply to my inquiry as to what action on the license question was recently taken by your association. I wanted to be sure of the accuracy of the newspaper report on July 25th that you had decided to secure candidates for the Common Council, pledged in advance to vote no-license in the Council if elected. From one of the resolutions adopted at your meeting I take it that such was your decision.

"I can conceive of nothing more harmful to the cause of good government, or more detrimental to best interests of the city, than the institution this year of a campaign by any organization, political or otherwise, to pledge Councilmanic candidates either for no-license or for continuing the present policy; and as I believe the matter to be one which vitally concerns the public welfare, I shall furnish the press with copies of this letter in order that the situation may be clearly understood before candidates take the field in the approaching primaries.

"I sincerely hope that your association will reconsider its decision; otherwise it seems very clear to me that it will be the duty of good citizens to oppose your attitude, and your candidates, with all the vigor at their command. This would be a regretable thing, seriously affecting the influence for good of the churches of the city, at least such of them as may in any way be represented by an association which by its title seems to stand for church sentiment.

"I shall not here attempt to review in detail the history of the license problem as we have had it in Plainfield, but certain facts stand out clearly, cannot be controverted, and should be conclusive in shaping the coming campaign.

"For years we have had what is known as the 'Plainfield Policy,' which cuts down the number of saloons which otherwise might be licensed from forty-eight to nine, confines them to a restricted zone, imposes early closing hours, a rigid black list, and other restraining measures by which drunkenness in public places has been very largely eliminated. This policy has been continued by the Common Council from year to year because it has heretofore seemed to have the support of the Community or at least there has been no positive indication that a majority sentiment would support no-license. There has been no way to ascertain public sentiment by a perfectly unbiased test.

"There can be no doubt, however, of the marked change in public sentiment all over the country on this question, especially within the last very few years; and it would seem entirely reasonable to believe that local opinion, if given the opportunity to express itself, might now record itself in line with the prevailing tendency.

"Manifestly it has heretofore been proper, and entirely fair, to seek to elect councilmen pledged to no-license, as there has been no other way to get any line on public sentiment. But at best it produces a very inconclusive test of public opinion. No candid person familiar with the problem and with political campaigns will seriously claim that it is possible to get a fair and unbiased expression of the views of the people unless the question is submitted to them separately, as an issue by itself, entirely dissociated from the personal qualifications, popularity, tact, and campaign ability of the pledged candidates.

"Indeed for many years prohibitionists steadfastly declined to try to get at public sentiment by such means, insisting that the question could not be settled fairly and definitely except by a local option law.

"In full recognition of the correctness of that point of view, and of the fact that local option is an accepted principle with prohibitionists and with our churches, for which they have worked with unremitting zeal and to which they are committed, I interested myself last winter in getting a law passed which, while not technically a local option law, can have precisely the effect of such a law when applied as I am about to indicate. A local option law, by which the people in their own right may vote on the license question and settle it, could not have been had from the Trenton legislature, but we did get a law passed by which our Common Council, which has exclusive power to refuse to grant licenses, may order a vote of the people on the question, at a general election, whenever it wants a conclusive expression of public sentiment.

"The present Council, acting under this law, has ordered that such

Big Church Convention Next Week

The annual national conference of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will be held in the Plainfield High School, Arlington avenue and Ninth street, next week, starting on Tuesday morning and closing on Sunday. The advance guard of delegates from churches of the denomination from all over the country began arriving in Plainfield today and by the time scheduled for the opening session it is expected that between four and five hundred people will be on hand. Under the general direction of William C. Hubbard, assisted by nineteen committee chairmen, members of the local congregation have completed all arrangements for the reception and accommodating of those who will attend the conference.

The conference will open Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the auditorium of the High School. The address of welcome will be made by Rev. James L. Skaggs, recently installed pastor of the local Seventh-Day Baptist church, and he will be followed on the speakers' platform by Rev. George B. Shaw, national president. Sessions will be held every morning, afternoon and evening during the conference, and the following schedule will be followed out: Tuesday: Afternoon, report of the Young Peoples' Board; evening, report of the Sabbath-school board, Wednesday: Morning, prayer meeting at the church; afternoon, missionary program; evening, theme, "The Church and the War." Thursday: Morning, prayer meeting at the church; afternoon, general business; evening, program of the historical society. Friday: Morning, prayer meeting at church; afternoon, rest, recreation and preparation for the Sabbath; evening, prayer and conference meeting. Sabbath: Morning, prayer meeting and communion service, followed by morning service at church; afternoon, patriotic address and vesper service. Sunday: Morning, prayer meeting at church, educational societies' program and devotional service; afternoon, reports of committees and unfinished business; evening, grand service, sermon and closing services.

Delegates are to be taken care of in the homes of the members of the congregation and in local boarding houses. Meals will be served daily in the gymnasium of the High School and every other arrangement has been made for the comfort of the guests.

The general committee is composed of the chairmen of the sub-committees and they have chosen numerous assistants. The various chairmen are as follows: Publicity, Mrs. Henry Maxson and Mrs. J. E. Kimball; finance, O. S. Rogers; commissionary, C. Frank Chaplin; hospitality, Edward Mrs. W. C. Hubbard; welcoming, Rev. and Mrs. Edwin Shaw; official host, Dr. Henry Maxson; poster and printing, L. P. Burch; telephone, Asa F. Randolph; postoffice, Miss Mildred Greene; dinner tickets, Dr. M. L. Clawson; waiters, Mrs. Charles P. Titsworth; children's playgrounds, Miss Evalois St. John; checking room, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ellis; picnic committee, Miss Mildred Davis; music, Charles P. Titsworth; flower and decorating; tables, Roy E. Titsworth; hall, Albert Whitford; rest room, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan E. Lewis, and ushers, George M., Clarke.

Charles Loizeaux Ready to Serve In National Army

Declining to make an exemption plea or try otherwise to evade the selective draft, Charles E. Loizeaux, member of the Plainfield Common Council and secretary and manager of the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company, applied to the local Exemption Board yesterday for examination and was found physically fit and willing to answer the call. He left today on a short business trip and within a week will be ready to go on active service.

Mr. Loizeaux is one of Plainfield's youngest and most progressive business men and since the last election has been a member of the city governing body. Well known and active in local sporting circles of 8 years ago he entered the lumber business with his father following his graduation from the Plainfield High School and has worked incessantly for civic betterment for several years. During the campaign of last fall he was put forth by the no-liquor advocates and during his short term as Councilman has been instrumental in the introduction of a number of municipal improvements and reforms.

Notified to appear for examination Monday, he asked to be passed upon yesterday so that he might leave today to clear up his business affairs. He passed the physical tests easily and then asked the examining board chairman of the Board, if he wished to claim exemption, replied: "I can't do it If I made an attempt to evade service it would mean someone else going. My business will suffer, but so will that of others. I am ready and willing to serve my country."

When queried last night on the subject, Mr. Loizeaux said that he would tender his resignation as a member of the Common Council, but if he returned would be glad to again enter public life if the voters wanted him. He will undoubtedly be appointed to an executive position in charge of the quota from this district when the men leave for training camp early in September.

Motor Inspector Tobin Arrested for Speeding

Charged with speeding on Somerset street early last Saturday morning, George J. Tobin, of Grant avenue, and a State Motor Vehicle inspector, was severely reprimanded and given a suspended sentence when arraigned in the borough police court Monday evening. Mrs. Stelle Price, of 594 West 192th street New York, was also arraigned on the same charge and let go with a suspended sentence.

Tobin admitted in court that he was exceeding twenty-five miles an hour but explained that he was following another speeding autoist. The machine driven by the Price woman, however, was speeding directly in back of him and she obeyed the order to stop. Patrolman Dennis and Special Officer Townley were the two that attempted to stop the autoists, but Tobin ignored them, explaining in court that he was unable to stop. Both men said that it was only quick action on their part that prevented them from being run over by Tobin. The officers took his number and Chief Weiss notified him to be in court Monday evening to answer to the charges. He put in an appearance garbed in a Home Defense uniform.

Assemblyman Runyon Seeks Senatorship

All doubt as to the standing of Assemblyman William N. Runyon in the coming State Senatorial race was removed yesterday when petitions in his behalf were circulated in the city. They mean that Plainfield's popular resident will be a candidate to succeed Carlton B. Pierce in the Upper House of the State Legislature. The readiness with which the petitions were signed indicate the general approval of this community in his determination. It is practically certain that Mr. Runyon will be unopposed at the primaries and his election seems an almost certainty.

The decision of Senator Pierce not to stand for renomination is taken by local people to mean that the Cranford man has been given assurance that he will get the Common Pleas judgeship appointment. Judge William Newcorn, of this city, has been and is still a candidate for this place.

Big Outing Held by Local Police

Members of the Police Department, city and county officials and others interested in the activities of that branch of municipal government to the number of fifty-five enjoyed an outing yesterday afternoon at the grove of the Watchung Spring Water Company on Mountain avenue. The affair turned out to be one of the most pleasant and successful ever held in the city and included a program of sporting events participated in by the members of the department, the awarding of medals and a superlative "spread" that was replete with all the items on the most up-to-date menu. Good fellowship was the prevailing spirit during the entire afternoon and the outing broke up with a series of short addresses made by various ones present.

Patrolman Roy Martin was the shining light during the forepart of the afternoon and showed his athletic prowess to the exclusion of the other contending minions of the law. Martin won the 100-yard dash and in so doing became the possessor of a $7.00 pair of shoes donated by Jacob Abrams. John Wurth was awarded a Manhattan shirt contributed by DeMera & Blimm for carrying off second honors. In the relay race the team composed of Martin, McGinley and Russ defeated all opposition and won the following prizes: Pair of trousers, contributed by Hyman Adelberg; suit case, contributed by Harry Dreier, and a $3.00 pair of shoes given by David Kenney. Roy Martin broke into the prize winning column for the third time in the last event by receiving a box of cigars for hitting a baseball the farthest.

The awarding of the medals to the members of the department that were winners in the recent contest was made by Hazelwood Kellar, the donor. A gold medal went to Martin, winner of first prize; John Kelly received a silver medal for second prize, and Martin Welch was awarded a bronze medal for third prize. Arthur McGinley was presented with a gold medal for showing the greatest improvement during the period of the competition.

After the sporting events and awarding of prizes had taken place everyone sat down to a bounteous repast prepared by Horace Adams and Edward Brown. Those two promoters of clambakes famous in local history outdid themselves in an effort to make the affair a success and were voted rousing cheers by the hearty diners. After the wants of the inner-man had been satisfied a period of speechmaking was in order. These were made by members of the Common Council, Chief of Police Patrick S. Kiely, Marion S. Ackerman, Hazelwood Kellar, Freeholder Wilbur, County Detective Galatian and others too numerous to mention.

Mayor Calkins, who expected to be present, sent the following letter, which was read by Chief Kiely:

"Dear Chief:

"I find that I shall not be able to attend the police outing this afternoon and wish therefore that you would express my regret and wish them a most enjoyable time. Will you also say to them for me at this time that I think the city has reason to be proud of its police force which I know, from personal experience during the last four or five years, is efficient and I think steadily improving in experience and ability. I am glad also to say that the loyalty of the men to the city and its best interests, as shown on many occasions, where some special or unusual service has been required, has been marked with appreciation and gratification by myself and members of the Board of Police.

"I hope that the men of the force will also feel that we have their welfare in mind and shall try to do what can be done to make conditions not only tolerable, but really satisfactory for the men upon whom we depend for the maintenance of good order throughout the city and through the integrity of the members of the department for an honest and just enforcement of the law.

"Yours very truly,
"LEIGHTON CALKINS."

CLARKSON MUNDY.

Clarkson Mundy, aged eighty-two years, died Wednesday at his home, 1121 West Third street. The funeral will be held at the parlors of Cole & High this afternoon at 2:30 and will be in charge of Rev C. W. F. Attlee. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery.

SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 11.

The public schools of the city and borough will re-open after the summer vacation on September 11. Vacancies in the teaching corps at the various schools have been filled and schedules have been worked out. Freshmen entering both the city and borough High Schools will be given an opportunity to confer with Principal Lindsay Best, of P. H. S., and Principal Albert Early, of N. P. H. S., several days before the school opening.

Mrs. E. A. Reed and son, Lester, of West Fourth and John streets, have been spending the past week at Lee Hopstcong as the guests of Mrs. Reed's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Honan, at the latter's camp on Halsey Island.

Time Limit for Proof of Claims Ends Tomorrow

Chairman Reed Warns Claimants to Fill Blanks Properly—450 More Men to Be Examined Starting on Monday Morning

Chairman Charles A. Reed and the members of the Plainfield District Exemption Board are in complete readiness for the second session of examinations for the purpose of securing the quota of 220 conscripted men allotted to this section. Notification cards have been sent to 450 registrants, ordering them to present themselves at the Evergreen Avenue public school sometime during next Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday. The men are to be passed upon in division of seventy-five in the morning and afternoon, making a total of 150 each day. Examinations will begin promptly at 9 o'clock each morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

An extra session was held at Police Headquarters yesterday afternoon when twenty-two men who had been previously rejected, because of bad teeth were recalled for examination. The physicians acted under new instructions from Washington and the change of rules resulted in seven of the registrants being accepted. An eighth was added through the acceptance of Councilman Charles Loizeaux, who was scheduled to appear next week but presented himself in advance to permit of his taking a business trip to Canada. Mr. Loizeaux waved his rights for exemption although he could claim it under two reasons, the addition of the eight now makes a total of 61 men.

Tomorrow marks the last day for the filing of affidavits asking for exemption or discharge of the men examined at the sittings of the Board last week. The work of investigating these claims will be commenced immediately and continued without cessation until the list is completed. Chairman Reed declares that full consideration will be given all claims provided the applications and affidavits are properly made out. Those that have been presented so far show a badly mistaken conception of what constitutes a pointed reply to the numerous questions. Government orders are to cast all aside that do not meet the proper requirements. An instance of this kind is the query: "What has been the income of your wife during the past year?" Time and time again applicants have simply drawn a line through the question and made no answer on the blank space following. Others of the same kind appear on the application, but passing up the first alone, nullifies the claim.

It is practically a certainty now that many of the 204 claims for discharge or exemption will not stand the scrutiny of the Board. This applies particularly to the men who have only a wife and who assert that she is dependent. Where she has a small income either by her own work or some other sourcre it is figured that part of the husband's army pay will be forwarded to her and she can take care of herself on the combined amount.

Red Cross Accepts More Local Nurses For Foreign Service

The list of Plainfield young women or former Plainfielders who have been accepted by the Red Cross Society for service in France continues to grow. Those previously enrolled are Miss Helen Wilbee, Miss Grace Cahoune, Miss Elizabeth McClay, Miss Helen Callahan and Miss Clara Charlton. To these have been added Miss Olga Anderson, of West Seventh street; Miss Mary Powers, of West Front street, and Miss Alys Stryker, of Dunellen, but who has been practicing in Plainfield.

Miss Anderson is a native of Bermuda but was graduated from the Muhlenberg Hospital training school several years ago. She has been assigned to a hospital unit going from Orange and is now awaiting call. Miss Powers and Miss Stryker secured their training in hospitals outside of Plainfield but have always followed their profession in this city. They have not yet been assigned to any post although word is apt to come any day.

Another member of the Red Cross nursing staff who is widely known in this city is Miss Josephine Hughes, who for many years was in general charge of Muhlenberg Hospital previous to the adoption of the managing system now in vogue. After the appointment of Morris Harrison as the first manager of Muhlenberg, Miss Hughes was made superintendent of nurses. She left about five years ago to become assistant matron of the Flower Hospital, N. Y., and more recently has been holding an important position in the Post-Graduate Hospital. Shortly after the United States declared war on Germany she offered her services to the Red Cross Society. She was accepted and afterward made assistant supervisor of the Post-Graduate unit which sailed two weeks ago on the transport "Saratoga." The boat was proceeding out of New York harbor when it collided with the steamer "Panama," sustaining such serious damage that it was unable to proceed. The troops on board and the Post-Graduate unit were returned to New York, where they are now awaiting Government orders before proceeding again.

Red Cross to Work for U. S. S. New Jersey

At the request of William C. Braisted, surgeon general of the United States Navy, the American Red Cross has called upon the larger chapters of the society nearest New York to supply at the earliest possible moment surgical dressings for each of the 188 battleships and destroyers. Each ship will require thousands of compresses and bandages, the entire consignment making a total of more than 60,000 surgical dressings. The Plainfield chapter will supply the U. S. S. New Jersey.

Women qualified in the various chapters to make surgical dressings are working night and day for the rapid completion of the work. Only women who have taken the Red Cross course in the making of these bandages are eligible to engage in the work.

With the declaration of war there has been a rapid increase in the number of women taking the Red Cross surgical dressing courses. In June 4,144 certificates were issued to women who had taken the course of eight lessons of three hours each, and in the first ten days of July 1,279 certificates were issued.

Each chapter will supply the battleship named after that particular State and others in which they might have a geographical interest. Thus, the Chicago chapter will supply the Chicago and the Illinois. New York will supply the New York and the Albany. These boxes as completed will be shipped by chapters direct to the Bush Terminal at New York for distribution to the ships.

Full Military Honors Over Body of Captain Fred. Vogel at New York Funeral

News of the death of Capt. Frederick W. Vogel, of the 71st New York Regiment, which came to this city yesterday, caused widespread regret, for although he had been a resident of Plainfield only two years he had made hundreds of acquaintances in a business and social way. It was not generally known that he was ill as his ailment, an ulcerated stomach, did not become acute until three weeks ago and he did not enter Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Hospital until August 7. The end came at that institution Tuesday night at 10 o'clock, just a few minutes before Mrs. Vogel, who had been stopping with friends in Mt. Vernon, could reach his bedside. The captain had been unconscious since Tuesday morning and passed away following a convulsion.

Captain Frederick W. Vogel.

The funeral will be held in the Church of the Epiphany, Lexington Avenue and Thirty-fifth street, New York, Sunday noon at 12:30. It will be a full military service in every particular and practically the captain's entire company will be in attendance. There will also be other detachments from the Seventy-first and other New York regments now stationed in the armories. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery.

Captain Vogel was a native of West Hamilton, N. Y., and spent most of his life in that section. He came to Plainfield in December, 1915, and opened the Edison Diamond Dise Shop at 310 West Front street, which he was conducting in partnership with William Briggs when ordered out with the 71st Regiment for weeks guard duty along the Hudson River. He was in command of Co. H, which was stationed at Hudson, N. Y., near Albany. His reason for entering the Mt. Vernon Hospital was because Dr. Kayser, a surgeon of the 71st and an intimate friend of the captain's, thought it would be the most convenient point. Captain Vogel was 41 years old and resided at 741 West Third street. He leaves a wife and one son, Edward, the latter about twelve years old, also several brothers and sisters residing in Brooklyn.

Captain Vogel enlisted as a private in the Seventy-first Regiment in 1897. It was only a short time later when war was declared on Spain and with the other New York boys he was among the first transported to Cuba. His regiment participated in the memorable dash up San Juan Hill, occupied one of the forward positions in the bombardment of Santiago and was held in reserve back of the firing line during the terrific conflict at Las Guisimas Private Vogel was mentioned for bravery several times and promotion came rapidly until he reached the rank of captain.

In company with the thousands of other troops the members of the 71st were sent to the Mexican border in June, 1916. Company H was ordered to Fort McAllen, Texas, and the regular army inspecting corps complimented the Plainfielder on the manoeuvers and conduct of his men. On returning north he was mentioned for promotion and was to have been advanced to a majorship within two

Plainfield Theatre Open for the Season

Resplendent with new decorations and the general "rejuvenation" that takes place during the summer inactivity, the Plainfield Theatre opened its doors Monday afternoon for the beginning of the coming winter season. Manager M. L. Shannon offered Max Spiegel's musical burlesque, "The Merry Rounders," as the initial attraction and the occasion was made auspicious by two large audiences at the afternoon and night performances. The show was first-class in every respect, affording three full hours of solid enjoyment. The chorus was unusually good and the comedy as furnished by Abe Reynolds, Doc Dorman, Eugene Morgan, Miss Florence Mills and others produced almost continuous laughter. If the first performance is any criterion, the season of 1917-18 holds much in store for local amusement lovers.

It will be just twelve years ago next Friday that the Plainfield Theatre was opened to the public as a first-class amusement house and each succeeding twelve months has seen it grow in popularity. With the exception of five of the dozen years, Messrs. Counihan and Shannon have been the managers and people of this vicinity know by this time that they are worthy of being in charge of affairs theatrical. The patrons of the house proffered by their experience and the two managers have learned to know what the people want. One of their first principles is to provide comfort for those who attend the shows, a most essential factor in every respect. During the past two months they have had a corps of decorators and mechanics at work and the theatre is now better appearing than ever before. Several changes in the general equipment have been made that will receive the unstinted approval of the public which extends its patronage. Mr. Shannon will continue to be the resident manager and Dave Rogers will again act as assistant manager and treasurer. The remainder of the house staff will be practically the same as the previous season. A noteworthy addition to the orchestra which will again be in charge of Harry Wetton, will be Chris Sorenson, Jr., as trombone soloist. Mr. Sorenson had a wide experience in the musical world as soloist and manager with Pryor's Band and for the past six years as musical director and trombonist for Miss Eva Tanguay, the vaudeville star.

The policy of the Plainfield Theatre during the coming season will be much the same as that of last year, vaudeville and pictures on all dates when regular attractions are not scheduled. The bookings now contracted for include the Columbia Amusement Company's best road shows featuring musical extravaganza which are to be presented on Monday night of each week. Last Monday's opening performance of "The Merry Rounders" is to be followed by the gold favorites, George Stone and Etta Pillard, and their latest version of "The Social Maids." They will appear next Monday night, August 20. Others of the burlesque world are to be announced in the near future.

Manager Shannon and his partner, W. J. Counihan, have been busy during the summer arranging for their bi-weekly vaudeville bills. Through the addition of a new house at Perth Amboy, their circuit has been given full recognition by the leading booking agencies in New York and in consequence lovers of this form of amusement will have the best there is during the coming season. The first program of vaudeville and feature photoplays is announced for September 4. Instead of five acts, as heretofore, there will be six, everyone of them worthy of being a headline attraction. The same attractions appearing at the Palace Theatre, New York, regarded as the leading variety house in America, will come direct to the Plainfield Theatre after their Metropolitan engagements.

The "movie" fans have not been overlooked by Messrs. Counihan and Shannon in the arrangements of the season of 1917-18. The best the motion picture world affords will be shown on the screen of the Second street playhouse and numerous big surprises will be announced from time to time. "First runs" of all the feature plays put out by the leading producing corporations have been contracted for and patrons of the Plainfield will be given the "last word" in picture productions.

One of the earliest of the legitimate bookings is "Experience," the modern morality drama which has been properly called the "most wonderful play in America." It will come to this city on Thursday, August 23, with the original cast and the same heavy scenic setting which delighted New York audiences all last season. The cast includes: Ernest Glendenning, Jean Downs, Mary Hall, William Ingersoll, Maude Horne, Margot Williams, Billy Betts and 50 others.

Bookings for September, October and the early winter months include the following successful productions each of which will be offered with competent casts and elaborate settings: "Turn to the Right," "Thirteenth Chair," Arthur Hammerstein's New York musical comedy success, "You're In Love," "The Knife," "Oh, Boy" and "Good Gracious, Annabelle," "Nothing But the Truth," "Love O' Mike," "Watch Your Step," "Miss Springtime," "Come Out of the Kitchen," "Hit the Trail Holiday" and many others.

What Stout Plainfield Miss Wants a Real Nice Husband?

Calling upon Mayor Mitchel, of New York, as an aid to Cupid's matrimonial bureau, Harry K. Boldman, of 360 Sumner avenue, has asked that executive to help find him a wife who is willing to forsake Broadway for a 160-acre farm at Rockford, Ill. Boldman wrote the Mayor giving numerous facts concerning himself and making it plain that he was not seeking to be a slacker by hiding behind skirts.

Boldman is twenty-seven, clean cut and has the reputation for being steady. He would be in the army now but for the fact that he lost two fingers sometime ago. That does not prevent him, however, from making a good living at the plant of the Standard Aeroplane Co., where he has been employed since coming to this city from Rockford two weeks ago.

"I don't want a Fifth avenue butterfly or a Zeigfeld chorus girl for the reason that I'm going to buy a farm and need a common sense woman to help make it pay. If she has a little money to help buy the farm, well and good. If she hasn't and is the right sort it won't matter.

"The girl I want must be thirty years old or less, have dark hair and eyes and be fond of out-door sports. And, oh, yes, she must be stout. Of course I expect she will be fond of outdoor life."

Boldman doesn't want his wife to help milk the cows or mow the hay but expects her to be able to take hold of the house and run it. To make a farm pay he thinks both man and wife should work together. Before losing his two fingers he played ball with the St. Joseph's and Omaha, Neb., baseball teams. He is now anxiously waiting for replies to his letter, which was as follows:

"Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 5, 1917.

"Ladies of New York City.

"Dear Ladies: I write to ask are there any young ladies who would deem it a pleasure to meet an Irish gentleman, one who is an American? He has no relatives and is an orphan of the late earthquake of San Francisco, 1906.

"I would be pleased to have the pleasure to meet some nice ladies who have dark hair and eyes, but have no objection if her eyes are brown, for this is my strong point. I also am a great admirer of slow-built style, one who loves outdoor sport. Am just past my twenty-seventh birthday and have only one habit—I smoke.

"I have dark hair, brown eyes, fair complexion, weight 155 pounds. Formerly a professional baseball player. I am sorry I cannot serve my country, owing to the injuries in my arm. I will answer all letters that contain photo and description. Should same meet with my approval I will send photo.

"Those who are not past thirty-five years of age and deem it their pleasure to write may do so. I make say that no general delivery will be answered.

"So here's your chance to get a life companion, one who has a pleasant personality.

"With best wishes to all, I am,

"Yours respectfully,

"HARRY K. BOLDMAN,

George Van Camp, of Somerset street, left this week for an extended trip through New York State that will last several months.

Youth and Girls on the "Primrose Path," one of the gorgeous scenes in "Experience," at Plainfield Theatre, Thursday Night, August 23.

"Experience" Here Next Thursday

An interesting personality of whom much has been printed in other cities come here as Intoxication in "Experience," which shows at the Plainfield Theatre next Thursday night. She is Miss Margot Williams and until a little over two years ago was absolutely unknown. She had been in vaudeville and moving pictures and before that she was a ballet dancer in "Ben Hur." Then one day she walked into the offices of George V. Hobart, author of "Experience," when he was just about to put the play into rehearsal. He was much impressed with the deep, beautiful, sympathetic voice of Miss Williams. He engaged her for the dual role of Intoxication and Frailty in "Experience," which had its New York premier in October, 1915.

The day after "Experience" was produced, Miss Williams was the talk of Broadway as the big, new "discovery" of the year. It is no exaggeration to say that she walked off with the acting honors of the play In a cast that included many veterans of the stage. There was no press agent boom launched in advance of her coming, but the audience and the first night reviewers took note of her clever acting, particularly in the Bowery scene called in the play, "The House of Last Resort." Here she was Frailty, the girl worn and bedraggled whom the tide of life had thrown upon the rocks.

Following this success Miss Williams was deluged with offers from managers but she remained loyal to the firm of Elliott, Comstock and Gest and continued with "Experience," in New York for five months. Then by mutual agreement, she was released to accept a starring offer with Al Woods. Mr. Woods brought her out in two plays, both of which were failures, but it gave Miss Williams a chance to make a great personal hit. Mr. Gest, who had been so much impressed by her performance in "Experience" when she was originally in the cast decided that it would be a great achievement to secure her return to the cast of this play and a contract was signed by which she returned to the cast of "Experience" and will be seen here in her original roles of Intoxication and Frailty.

Important Session of Trades Council Tonight

At a meeting of the Building Trades Council to be held tonight in the hall on West Front street further action will be taken on the report made at last week's meeting concerning the construction of a building in the business section of the city. A discussion of the employment agency being maintained in Plainfield by local manufacturers will also take place.

The resolve of the Building Trades Council to investigate the report that rotten beams are being used in the construction of an East Front street structure is with a view of making a detailed report to the Common Council and asking that conditions be rectified. The employment agency has been a matter of discussion since it was opened several weeks ago. It is contended that the agency is very well if a man wishes to get a job in one of the local factories, but if he leaves that position he has to return to the agency to get a place in another shop and his losing of the first position may keep him from securing another.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Thomas Lindsay, of Mountain avenue, the borough, to Miss Lillian Mona Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Whitney, of Somerville. No date has been set for the wedding.

RETZER—CONOVER.

Mr. and Mrs. John Retzer, of Watchung avenue, the borough, announce the marriage of their daughter, Anna, to DeWitt Clinton Conover, of this city, on August 2, by Rev. Franklin B. Dwight, of Morristown.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robinson and son, Kenneth, of West Third street, returned home the forepart of the week after a stay at Asbury Park.

"Social Maids" Will Show Here

The theatregoing public will be delighted to know that next Monday's offering at the Plainfield Theatre will be "The Social Maids," Joe Hurtig's latest, most interesting and altogether classiest production. With the opening of the season everything in connection with the attraction was absolutely new, from the book and lyrics to the smallest detail of the costuming. That the company is an excellent organization is proven by the fact that at its head are those popular dancing and comedy stars, George Stone and Etta Pillard, both of whom are standard favorites with local theatre lovers.

PILLARD & STONE
With the "Social Maids," at the Plainfield Theatre, Monday, Mat. and Night

Their work in "The Boys From Home," the new musical burlesque, written especially for their production by Leon Berg, librettist, and Will H. odery, composer, has added to their already well established popularity. The story of the burlesque is a flimy bit of work, but it is so interwoven with delightful comedy, sweet and catchy music and willowy dancing by principals and chorus that it is carried along to a logical and satisfactory denouement in most unctious and pleasing fashion. The stars are most adequately supported by a fine cast which includes such well known artists as Willie Barrows, Sam Wright, Teddy Dupont, Jack Pillard, Marty Seamon and Jessie Hiatt. Adding zest and dash to the performance of the principals is a chorus, the like of which so far as beauty and talent go, has seldom been seen here. It is made up of thirty really handsome girls, ranging from the stately show girl of Broadway musical comedy fame to the tiny, petite and graceful "Pony" who lends piquancy and verve to the ensembles and stage pictures.

Swift & Co. Men Hold Annual Outing

On the grassy banks of the Passaic River where the stream winds through the meadowland belonging to Frank Ralph, near Mt. Bethel, the employes of the Plainfield branch of Swift & Company conducted their second annual outing and clambake last Sunday. Ideal weather conditions and a general atmosphere of good fellowship combined to make the affair a memorable one in every way. The Swift men had delegations present from the Swift houses at Elizabeth and New Brunswick, which together with a few Plainfield friends, numbered about thirty-five present in all.

Horace G. Adams was elected to have charge of the bake because of his reputation for turning out good stuff and he demonstrated that he had not been misrepresented. He had the assistance of the Swift experts in picking out the juiciest steaks, the tenderest chickens and the freshest fish, which were headliners on the elaborate menu. There was also an abundance of steamclams brought in their original state all the way from Rhode Island and great quantities of golden Bantam corn, hand picked by William A. Smith, one of the Swift salesmen, on his father's farm near White Plains, N. Y. Mr. Smith was unable to be present, because of being on his vacation, and in consequence will jive to regret it the rest of his natural life. Everything was cooked to perfection and Broadway service was given by a corps of dusky waiters headed by H. Marx and J. Ross, formerly of the Waldorf Astoria dining room staff. A feature during the day was a corn eating contest between "Sun" Claassen, of Fire Headquarters, and Arthur Craig, one of the Swift delivery men. The betting opened with odds on Craig because he is of Hunterdon county "corn-fed" stock, but no one tipped the boys off that he had been out late the night before and was not in the best of condition. Claassen had been training quietly for three weeks and when he got started it required the services of two strong men to earay away the empty cobs as he tossed them to one side. He won the match by fourteen points.

Another feature on the program was a baseball match between the Elizabeth Swifts and the Plainfield Swifts. In the third inning the score stood 5 to 0 in favor of Elizabeth and the Plainfielders had just started finding the sphere when the dinner bell rang. They were anxious to have the credit of being better slab artists than the Betsytown boys, but like all Plainfielders refused to let desire for fame stop them from catering to their stomachs. In the rush for the dinner table that followed, the score book got lost and no one knows exactly how the game ended. Late in the afternoon there was a program of quoit pitching, potato races, sack races, croquet and mumbledy-peg. The return home was made late in the evening. The trip to and from the Ralph farm was made by automobile while an auto-truck carried the supplies.

The outing was arranged by Manager C. H. Brady and Cashier LeRoy A. Benner, of the Swift executive staff, to whom full credit must be given for the day's success. The guests from New Brunswick included: Charles Fisher, Nathan Allen, Patrick Kehoe and Edward Brasbingham; from Elizabeth, H. Kenney, F. Finn, W. McCormack and A. Smith, and from Plainfield the following: Morris Block, Raymond Hanes, Paul De Serio, Andrew Compton, Arthur Craig, LeRoy Neighbor, Adolph Barre, Charles Machin, Charles Waldron, Joseph C. Blimm, Jens P. Claassen, Frank Diem, Henry Nischwitz, Joseph Ryno, William Van Syckel, T. A. Martin, Horace G. Adams, Gus Butterlein, Frank Haines, James Brunnell, Fred Coles and Martin Miltner.

Evangelist Linden to Conduct Revival

On Wednesday night, October 17, the First Methodist Episcopal church will commence a four weeks' evangelistic campaign under the direction of Rev. John M. Linden. Mr. Linden is a former assistant to "Billy" Sunday. He is a business man, having been with Marshall Field & Co., of Chicago, for twelve years. He has been a successful pastor with charges in Chicago, Oregon and Colorado. He is a graduate of Brown University and the Divinity School of Chicago University. He is a big man, standing over six feet, a congenial man you'll tie to. The Methodist church is making great preparations for a big time. A large chorus choir is being organized and will be under the direction of Clifford Braider.

Services will be held every night, with a special Sunday meeting. The other Methodist churches of the city are co-operating in the revival.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, AUGUST 17, 1917.

MAYOR CALKINS' REBUKE TO THE CHURCH CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION.

In the news column of this issue of the Record we reproduce an open letter which Mayor Leighton Calkins has forwarded to Andrew N. Nielson, president of the Church Co-operative Association. We want every citizen of Plainfield to read the Executive's words because they deal with a matter of vital importance to this community, namely, whether or not the question of the great American principle of majority rule is to be upheld or ignominiously discarded for the benefit of someone seeking a stated object. Mayor Calkins believes the same as we do, that a direct vote of the people should be the final word and anything that tends to contravert an expression of opinion of this kind is unworthy of public support.

The point at issue is the determination of the Church Co-operative Association to make itself a political organization for the expressed purpose of electing Councilmen pledged to vote against the granting of liquor licenses next year. This eternal question is one that has been agitated every time the excise period rolls around and to settle it once and for all Mayor Calkins worked early and late to put a bill through the State Legislature which would give him the right to ask the people of Plainfield what they wanted: a continuance of the present well regulated conditions or the absolute abolition of saloons within the corporate limits. This question is to be placed before the people at the next general election and although announcement has been made to this effect it did not meet with the approval of the Church Association. This organization held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on July 24 and planned to place Councilmanic candidates in the field who would vote for a "dry" municipality irrespective of the answer given by the citizens to the Mayor's question on the same ballot. In other words, the wish of the majority, if it should chance to be "wet," would mean nothing in the young lives of the Church Co-operative Association Councilmen, and they could vote "No" against license applications that the people would want. Could anything be more downright un-American than this? If the Church Association was to prove successful in its plan, the popular belief that the majority rules would receive such a knockout blow that no amount of official explanation would ever restore it. It is not to be wondered at that Mayor Calkins, after all his endeavor to learn the will of the people, should be displeased and if the Association is as sincere as it claims to be it will heed his request to drop its political plan. Thinking people have no use for such methods and the men back of the movement will stand in a better light if they throw their support as individuals to the question at large of "Yes" or "No." It requires complete perusal of the Executive's letter to gain the full import of the controversy and we want every voter, at least, to absorb it line by line.

When the Church Co-operative Association held its meeting at the Y. M. C. A., one of the arguments brought out for the placing of a Councilmanic ticket in the field was the statement that a member of the Council had said that "he would not be guided by the vote of the people but if re-elected to the Council next fall would vote on the question to suit himself." It might be said for the benefit of the Association that the man who first said he would pay no heed to the people's voice was G. Herbert Condict, an absolute "dry" man. Mr. Condict was elected from the Third ward as a "dry" candidate and when the resolution to have the people vote on the saloon problem was introduced before the Council by Chairman Graves, of the license committee, it was Mr. Condict who said he would vote in favor of the resolution but no matter what the people said he would follow out his own ideas. The inference was made at the Y. M. C. A. meeting that it was a Councilman in favor of licenses who made the remark. As a matter of fact, Mr. Graves and Mr. Cose in the Council session asked Mr. Condict if he felt that he was right in his stand why the advocates of the present conditions could not vote as they wished also. The resolution went through with only Mr. Booth voting against it. The ridiculous part of the whole proceeding was pointed out editorially in the columns of the Record following the meeting but with the true side of the matter outlined.

The Mayor's rebuke of Mr. Nielson and his associates opens the way for another criticism of the Co-operative body. It is high time that Church organizations quit meddling with affairs outside of their own special jurisdiction. It has gotten to the point in Plainfield that every time a municipal matter comes before the Councilmanic body these same religious associations feel that it is their personal proposition and devote so much time to circumventing officials, who have a better understanding, that they lose sight of what they were originally organized for. The license matter is only one of many. There are others that have croped up from time to time and always with the same result, the church associations would stir up unnecessary agitation that simply delayed the end the Councilmanic body would eventually reach with a majority approbation. The church is intended for religion only, not as a cloak to foster political aspirations, and the sooner the church people realize this the better it will be for all concerned. A study of the newspaper columns in recent years gives one the impression that the Word of God is no longer preached from the sanctuary of some churches and the Bible, as a preceptor and guide, has become absolete. There are clergymen who seem to vie with each other in expounding political doctrine or voicing individual beliefs on international questions that get their names in screaming headlines on the front pages of newspapers. No wonder people ask each other whether or not if it is true that the pulpit is becoming decadent.

WEEDING OUT THE "FAKE" ADERTISER.

The gullibility of the buying public was never more fully demonstrated than during the past week when hundreds of local shoppers "fell" for fraudulent advertisements inserted in the Courier-News by two Front street merchants. Fortunately, the alert officers of the Business Men's Association discovered the cheat and but for the leniency of the organization prosecution would have followed. The fact that it was the first offense in either case was all that saved the offenders from punishment.

The New Jersey statutes embody a measure calling for the arrest and severe punishment after conviction of all persons knowingly inserting an advertisement in a newspaper which misrepresents goods or values. The newspaper publishing any such advertising matter is made a co-defendant. It is to the credit of the Plainfield Business Men that violations of this law have not been recorded heretofore and it is believed that the men who were guilty this time will have a full appreciation of the measure in the future. The Business Men's Association is determined that the public is not to be fleeced, although the buyers are too ready to grab at anything that looks like a bargain. Without using any reasoning powers they flock to a store which announces through newspaper columns that articles are being sold "way below cost." It is a publisher's duty to weed out fraudulent advertisement and if this rule were followed out it would be an advantage to the public as well as to the honest dealer who makes no false pretense about what he has to offer.

The announcements were under alluring headings and gave some most remarkable bargains, the cut in prices being so big that the officers of the Association decided to make a closer inspection. In no case was the article what it was represented to be. It was a dead open and shut case of deception, the very kind that honest newspapers of the State sought to keep clear of in posting the public on legitimate bargains. Plainfield has no place for such frauds and it might be well for all merchants to realize that if the public is gullible, the Business Men's Association is not. It may be a long time before anyone else tries fake advertisement but if it is done an arrest and conviction will put a damper on the practice for all time.

Publicity For All Exemptions

Claims for exemption or discharge from military service for any other reason than physical disqualification are to be subjected to the spotlight of publicity, according to instructions received from the Government by the local board of exemption. The order was sent from the office of Provost Marshal General Crowder in Washington to Trenton, and was issued from the latter place by Acting Adjutant-General Frederick Gilkyson.

The order instructs the local board to give to the newspapers from day to day the names of persons claiming exemption or discharge and the ground upon which such claims are based, it is believed in effect of this will be to curb applications and to eliminate to large extent those who do not have legitimate grounds for exemption, as this class would fear to be held up to the contempt of their neighbors. Acting Adjutant-General Gilkyson's communication follows:

"The Government is becoming thoroughly aroused by reason of the great percentage of claims for exemption, which the public print shows are being made in other States, and issues the following order:

"'The names of all registered men are on a list arranged in the order in which they will be called for military service. Whenever any registered person imposes upon a local board and improperly secures a certificate of exemption or discharge, he advances the time of call of all other uncalled persons on the list. For this reason every registered person and, to some extent, every person in the community is more or less directly interested in seeing that the true facts are brought to the attention of the Government.

"'For every local board a person has been designated who will receive information of such cases and take appeals to the District Board or inform the public is entitled to know the grounds upon which claims for exemption or discharge are being asked for by registered men. Local boards should, therefore, be instructed immediately to make available to the press from day to day the names of persons claiming exemption or discharge, the ground on which such claims are based, and in general the number of cases that are being disposed of by the boards from day to day. This instruction does not apply, of course, to discharges on the ground of physical disqualification.

"'It is the intention of the Government to turn the spotlight on every man who seeks exemption or discharge for any reason other than physical disqualification.'"

Miss Dunham Bride of Trooper John Phillips

Miss Jean Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garret T. Dunham, of West Front street, was married on Sunday last to John Fassett Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy S. Phillips, of Madison avenue. The ceremony took place at the home of E. W. Allen, of Sea Girt, a cousin of the bridegroom and was performed by Rev. H. C. Mitchell, pastor of the Episcopal church at Sea Girt. Only the members of the two families were in attendance.

Mr. Phillips is a private in Troop D, which is now in camp at Sea Girt preparatory to removal to Anniston, Alabama, the mobilization point for the New Jersey troops. While it was known to his friends and those of Miss Dunham that they were engaged their marriage date had not been set and the ceremony of last Sunday was a result of the Plainfield trooper's being called out. Both young people have a host of local friends who wished them every success on hearing of the marriage. Mrs. Phillips will continue to make her home in Plainfield.

DAYLIGHT LAKE TRIPS.

The C. & B. Line is again maintaining daylight service between Cleveland and Buffalo. These trips proved very popular last season, and this year promises even greater patronage. From Cleveland, steamer "City of Buffalo" leaves New East 9th Street Pier every Saturday during the summer season at 9:30 a. m., arriving at Buffalo at 7:30 evening of same day. From Buffalo, the great ship "See-and-Bee" leaves wharves at South Michigan Street Bridge every Saturday at 9:30 a. m., reaching Cleveland at 7:30 p. m. The night service will be the same as heretofore, namely: Steamers leave both cities daily at 9:00 p. m., reaching destination the following morning at 7:30. (All Eastern Time.) Low fare excursions from Cleveland and Buffalo are given every Saturday, good returning Sunday. A reduced automobile rate of $5.00 round trip is made for these week-end trips for cars not exceeding 127 inches wheelbase.

PROBASCO BIBLE CLASS OUTING ON AUGUST 25.

The annual outing of the Probasco Bible Class, of the First Baptist church, will be held on Saturday afternoon, August 25, on the farm of Rev. Charles Eaton, of Watchung. Arrangements for the affair are being made by a committee and will include a baseball game and all kinds of sporting events. It is proposed to make it a regular old-fashioned picnic. There will also be an elaborate "spread" later in the afternoon. The start from the First Baptist church will be made at 2:45.

Hold Grunzig For U. S. Grand Jury

Bruno Grunzig, the twenty-one year-old youth of Scotch Plains, who created somewhat of a sensation here last week in refusing to submit to an examination by the local Exemption Board, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Mathews in Newark Monday and held under bail of $5,000 to await the action of the Federal Grand Jury. The commissioner expressed his contempt of Grunzig when the latter, who is of German extraction, said that he would not kill anyone even at the expense of his own life. Unless he is able to secure bail, Grunzig will go to jail where he will remain until the Federal Grand Jury convenes early in the fall.

Grunzig gave as one of the reasons for refusing to abide by the draft that he wished to test the constitutionality of the Conscription Act. After getting himself into considerable trouble, however, he will not have the pleasure or being the central figure in any test case, as the men to have that honor, if any honor there is, have already been selected.

The case at hand, which will be docketed August 24, and probably tried at the fall term of the high court, concerns the action of United States Judge Westenhawer, sitting at Cleveland, on evidence furnished against three members of the Socialist Party.

Charles E. Ruthenberg, Socialist candidate for Mayor of Cleveland; Alfred Wagenknecht, Ohio's State Secretary of the Socialist Party, and Charles Baker, State organizer for the Socialist Party, were tried and convicted of conspiring to discourage enrollments under section 332 of the Penal Code.

They were sentenced by Judge Westenhawer on July 25 to serve one year in the workhouse at Canton, O. On the same date the convicts served a citation on United States Attorney Wertz at Cleveland, which is returnable August 24. The Socialists claim they were arrested illegally, that their conviction was illegal under the laws of the United States and that they should be immediately released.

It is on this case the Selective Draft Law either will stand or fall. There have been so many attempts made on the part of those antagonistic to the act to discourage enrollments and to collect large sums of money to fight against its constitutionality that the Government determined to take the matter in its own hands and discount any efforts that have been made by pacifist propagandas and pro-German sympathizers to embarrass the Nation in the present emergency.

Renewed emphasis has been laid by Provost Marshal General Crowder upon the fact that Congress framed the Draft Law in the interest of the Nation, not the individual. For that reason the lines are being drawn tight in the matter of exemptions.

LOCAL MAN FILLING ELIZABETH VACANCY.

As yet State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Dill has appointed no one to succeed Charles J. Mahon as agent in charge of the auto license bureau for Elizabeth. The position has been open for several months, with James J. McCann, local auto agent, doing the work for both ends of the county. Councilman Callahan J. McCarthy and Edward A. Ryan, who is associated with the real estate firm of P. J. and W. H. Ryan, and both of whom are from Elizabeth, are active candidates. It is understood that Dill would like to have former Assemblyman William A. Leonard accept the job and has been holding off the appointment pending some definite word from Leonard.

"QUILLERS" GETTING BUSY.

The recently organized Protective Order of Quillers, which now has a membership of fifty well-known local young men, is arranging a schedule of social events that will extend into the winter months. The first undertaking will be a banquet at Terrill's which will be held at the Hotel Kensington within the next few weeks and this will be followed by a clambake in September and a reception and dance in October. Arrangements for the beefsteak dinner are being completed by W. J. Moran, Don Crain, Thomas Healey, John J. Sullivan and James Casey.

ABANDON IMPROVEMENT.

This country's war with Germany has caused the postponement of the installing of a sewer in Fanwood borough. The Borough Council has already entered into negotiations with this city for connecting with Plainfield's system at Terrill road and had had a survey made. The cost would have been, it is said, about $30,000, but the borough fathers decided not to make any more expenditures than necessary while the war lasts.

GRADUATION TOMORROW AT PRINCETON CAMP.

Friends and relatives of the men attending the New Jersey summer camp have arrived for the sham battles and parade which are to close the camp session at Princeton today. Major-General George W. Goethals is to review the battalion.

How efficient the examining officers consider the modern training the men have received in Princeton is shown by the large number of men who have been selected to attend the second series of officers' training camps. Allan Stevenson, of West Seventh street, is the only local man enrolled there.

Jersey Guards Off to Anniston

The first move of the Eighth Division, comprising the troops of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia, for Anniston, Ala., began today when 3,500 started entraining at Newark and Camp Dix for the trip below the Mason and Dixson line. Of the 3,000 Guards in this State only about 1,000 are included in the first body, including companies from the various regiments.

Troop D, at Sea Girt, and Co. K, at Trenton, were deeply disappointed at not being selected as units from their respective commands to go, but like the remainder of the New Jersey guard endured it with a fine spirit and are now waiting for the word to come which will start them southward also. Company E, having Trenton as its home station, was the only Second Regiment company ordered to move, while it is expected that a cavalry troop from Virginia or Maryland will be designated at the last minute to represent that branch of the service.

Intensive training in modern warfare will continue to be in order at the Sea Girt camp until the order for the remainder of the guard is forthcoming and the men who now remain behind will not lose anything in the way of preparing for the ultimate trip to France. At Trenton, too, where the entire Second Regiment is now mobilized together for the first time in years, training in the latest of military tactics will comprise the daily program.

Robert Gow Leaves Pond's After Twenty-eight Years

Robert N. Gow, of Park avenue, foreman of the tool department at the Pond Tool Works and an employe of that concern since 1889, has accepted a responsible position with the Metallic Rubber Manufacturing Company, at East Boston, Mass. He and Mrs. Gow will leave for the New England metropolis on Labor Day, next, just twenty-eight years from the day they came to Plainfield. They will make their home in Winthrop Beach, one of Boston's prettiest suburbs. Their going is greatly regretted, as both Mr. and Mrs. Gow have a host of friends throughout the city and borough.

James T. MacMurray, former superintendent of the Pond Tool Works, is manager of the Mead-Morrison Company, which is a big concern. At present it is working on a $4,000,000 order for gun mounts, which was secured by Mr. MacMurray. Mr. Gow is one of a number of the Pond experts who have joined Mr. MacMurray's forces. Among those who have preceded him are James Simms, Alfred Spangenberg, "Jack" Hallard and Charles Beiter.

Ambassador Eklus Will Speak Here

Abram I. Elkus, United States ambassador to Turkey until diplomatic relations with the Ottoman republic were broken, will be the principal speaker at a meeting to be held in the Plainfield High School on September 28 under the auspices of the local chapter of the American Red Cross. He will talk mostly on the urgent needs of the people of Syria and Armenia.

Mr. Elkus is the only man in the country today who, by first-hand knowlegde, can tell of the land of the Turk. Stricken with the dreaded typhus, he lay at the point of death when Turkey, obeying the mandate of Germany, broke off diplomatic relations with this country. Although he had occupied the post as ambassador only since Henry Morganthau relinquished it, Mr. Elkus had made such a favorable impression with the Ottoman leaders that he was allowed to stay until he had fully recovered.

The meeting is to be held under the immediate direction of the Syrian and Armenian Committee of the Red Cross and is part of a campaign. Residents of the city have been asked to save old rubbers and scrap iron until September, when it will be collected and added to a fund being raised.

ASSESSORS FINISHED.

The tax assessors have completed their work in all parts of the city after a month's work. No public announcement will be made, however, as to the total valuation or tax rate until the work of the assessors has been fully approved by the Union County Board for the Equalization of Taxes. That will not be until sometime during the middle of September.

POLITICS AT FANWOOD STARTING TO SIMMER

Politics up Fanwood way are beginning to grow more active as the time before the fall election grows shorter. Mayor William H. Hoar, holder of the office for two terms, has announced his retiral as a candidate this year and in his stead Councilman Albert I. Nichol has been prominently mentioned. Mr. Nichols has been in the Council for six years and so far has no opposition for the mayoralty.

There will be two vacancies in the Common Council to fill this year and so far seven residents have been named as aspirants. They include Richard Tull, S. G. Van Hoesen, H. C. Hallenback and John McDonough.

Mayor's Protest

a vote be taken, and there will be printed upon the ballots at the November election the question whether the voters prefer out-and-out selicense to the present policy.

"This clearly indicates the straightforward desire of Council to let the people decide the question for themselves. It is immaterial whether the present Councilmen are all in the Council next year, or who is in the Council. The Council as a body has gone on record as favoring a vote by the people, now that we are able to have it. That is all that the present Council can do. But it is enough. It makes it possible for next year's Council, when the question of renewing licenses comes up, to act as no other Council of many years has been able to act, namely, with positive knowledge of what the people want, instead of guessing at it. Knowing the kind of men who serve the city in the governing body, a standard which has been maintained for many years and is the envy of other communities, I have no hesitation in saying that it would be an unworthy thought to doubt that our next Council will, by an overwhelming vote, support the November referendum on this question.

"It was intimated in the newspaper account of your meeting to which I have referred, that the Church Co-operative Association is not satisfied to trust next year's Council to abide by the result of the election. It is not necessary to do so. The terms of seven out of eleven Councilmen expire this year. All that is necessary is to secure from each candidate a pledge that if elected he will vote in the Council on the license question in accordance with the vote of the people at the polls. The equivalent of local option will thus be an accomplished fact in Plainfield. Candidates from wards as well as candidates at large should have no hesitation in giving such a pledge. It is not a ward issue. If it were, we should have in essence ward option, with saloons in such wards only as vote for them. The question is not to be decided for the city as a whole. Any candidate unwilling to support your Association would knowingly take a position calculated to undermine good government, I assume that you have overlooked what it really will mean to run candidates this fall pledged in advance either for no-license or for the present policy. It will mean to pledge candidates to ignore the vote of the people on the license question unless the vote happens to go their way! It means an effort to pack the Council to force on the city a policy which the November election may show not to be acceptable to the people.

"The City charter confers upon the Common Council the exclusive power to regulate and prohibit the sale of liquor as it deems most conducive to the public good. This is not only the power of the Council but also its duty; and few will be found to hold that it would be conducive to the public welfare to impose a license policy contrary to the known wishes of the people of the Community. Therefore it seems to me an unmoral thing to run Councilmanic candidates this year pledged in any way whatever except to make effective the vote of the people on this question. To do otherwise comes very close to pledging candidates to violate their oath of office.

"I note from your letter that your Association, in addition to its decision to run candidates pledged to no license, about which I have taken the liberty of speaking plainly, adopted another resolution favoring a vigorous campaign of education along no-license lines. This in my opinion is the direction your activities should take. I am confident regardless of their own views on the license question, should stand squarely for pledging candidates, in the primaries and at the election, to make the referendum effective. I do not believe any candidate unwilling to give such pledge should be supported. You can be said the more readily now, before candidates are announced. It will not be a personal matter but one of principle; a matter of home rule, local option, and honest majority rule. But the campaign itself should be on the license question as a separate issue. Those who favor no-license have now the opportunity for which they have long asked, and their campaign should be to get out their vote for no-license at the November election. Those who believe that the present policy is best for the city have a like opportunity to urge their arguments and to get out their vote. With all Councilmanic candidates pledged to carry out the vote, whichever way it goes, the issue will be settled according to the sentiment of the community and there is no other right way for it to be settled.

"Let me remind you in conclusion that while I have always said that I believe prohibition can be enforced in Plainfield, I have never said that it could be enforced unless backed by public opinion. Everybody knows who is familiar with the enforcement of prohibition laws that as a practical matter it is difficult to get legal evidence to suppress speak-easies. It can be done generally only through paid informers. The everyday jury has a hardheaded and coldblooded way of dealing with their testimony, and would have little sympathy with the enforcement of the law through such evidence, if the Council should vote no-license after the people of the city had declared for the present policy. Let me assure you that in such event there will be no escape from deplorable conditions for which the responsibility will rest heavily somewhere.

"I have the honor to remain

"Yours very truly,

"LEIGHTON CALKINS,

"Mayor."

Plainfielders to Attend The G. A. R. Encampments

The annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which will take place in Boston all next week beginning Monday, together with the yearly convention of the Women's Relief Corps in the same city, will be attended by a large number of Plainfielders. Past Department Commander William C. Smith, of Grandview avenue, and Adjutant H. Craig Smith, of Madison avenue, will attend all the proceedings of the G. A. R., being the only two from this city entitled to a vote. Captain Smith receives his as Past Department Commander, while Mr. Smith is one of the eleven New Jersey delegates. Former Fire Chief T. O. Doane and other members of Winfield Scott Post are planning to attend the encampment.

The sessions of the Women's Relief Corps are held separate from those of the G. A. R., and will continue for a portion of the week. Mrs. W. C. Smith, who is Past Department President, and her daughter, Miss Clara Barton Smith, will be delegates at large for the department of New Jersey. Others who will make the trip to the Massachusetts capital are Mrs. Sarah Summers and her daughter, Miss Margaret Summers, of Craig place. The Plainfielders will leave New York Sunday on the Colonial line.

BERGEN CAMP SITE FOR 25,000 RUMORED

Reports from unofficial sources are current at Hackensack that the Government intends to establish at a point between Tenafly and Dumont, on the West Shore Railroad, a concentration and rest camp for 25,000 soldiers, with hospital accommodations for 1,000. It is believed that work will be started soon.

The purpose of such a camp would be for rest and acclimatation, it is understood, of Western troops, preparatory to their embarking for France, and it could be used generally for army divisions en route.

It is said that the Government contemplates building a military road for two miles from the camp site to Alpine, where troops could be lightered to transports in the Hudson River.

A New York contracting firm specializing in camp building has a corps of engineers going over the ground today.

Several weeks ago Governor Edge, at the instance of the War Department, asked the sheriff and other officials of Bergen county to recommend a site for such a camp in Bergen county, and they made a tour of inspection, finally limiting their choice to three sites. It is understood this site is the final choice.

MAJOR CHARLES IRWIN RECRUITING FOR GUARD.

Major Charles W. Irwin, of Denmark road, received notice from Governor Edge and Acting Adjutant General Gilkyson to the effect that he had been designated to recruit the new military companies from this section to take the place of the National Guard commands which have been mustered into the Federal service.

Major Irwin has accepted the appointment, and will be assisted in the work by Harold Depew, of Elizabeth. Mr. Depew will receive enlistments, swear in the applicants and assign them to their companies. He will be in his office on Wednesday until 9 p. m. and on Saturday from 1 to 9 p. m.

"THE HONOR SYSTEM" AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE.

"The Honor System," a powerful human interest drama, will be presented by William Fox at the Plainfield Theatre today and tomorrow, matinee and night. The staging of this spectacular play in Arizona and California caused a sensation in the Far West.

The resources of the State and the wealth of one of the largest film corporations were taxed to produce a work the direct appeal of which is to the hearts of the people. This is because "The Honor System" deals with the here and now of one of the world's most perplexing questions. It shows the individual in a tragic battle against the forces of society. Since "Way Down East" and "The Old Homestead" on the legitimate stage nothing else has been produced of such vital dramatic fiber.

BENEFIT DANCE.

A benefit dance will be held in Columbus Auditorium on the night of September 19 and the proceeds of the affair will be contributed to the huge tobacco fund now being raised by one of the metropolitan dailies. Edward Marks and his Jazz band are making arrangements for the affair and will provide the music.

WILL TRAIN SCOUT LEADERS.

In order to meet the demand for competent men to act as leaders for Boy Scout troops to be organized in this city during the coming winter, a school to instruct would-be Scout masters will be started at the Boy Scout headquarters on East Front street within the next two weeks. Printed matter explaining the requirements of a Scout-master have been prepared and a movement to form a new Boy Scout troop is already underway.

Big Sum Furnished By Jersey Autoists

Motor Vehicle Commissioner William L. Dill this week, in announcing the results of the first seven months' business transacted by his department this year, estimated that the receipts for the year of 1917 will exceed the sum of $1,909,000 and the numbers of examinations for drivers' licenses will be in excess of 70,000. These estimates were based on the results of the past seven months, which showed total receipts of $1,697,805.55, as against $1,402,666.80 for the entire year of 1916.

Thus far this year there has been registered 120,540 automobiles, of which number 16,805 are of the commercial type, and 6,165 are over 4,000 pound in weight. Motorcycle registrations have been issued to the total of 11,709 and 154,272 drivers have been licensed.

As the direct result of the law passed at the last legislative session, upon request of Commissioner Dill, the sum of $29,146.50 has been received for the issuance of 58,293 learners' permits. This law was asked in order to break up the practice of people taking out a learners' permit without any thought of ever applying for a license to drive. This additional revenue has never heretofore been enjoyed by the State. Each learner's permit means a fee of fifty cents to the State.

The total number of cars that were registered in 1916 was 103,342; there were 12,209 motorcycle registrations, and 137,855 drivers' licenses issued last year.

During the month of July examinations for new drivers' licenses to the number of 8,620 were conducted, representing the largest month's business the department has ever been called upon to handle.

HOW TO ADDRESS ALL LETTERS TO SOLDIERS.

Postmasters are informed that letters, post cards and printed matter originating in the United States or any of its possessions for transmission to the United States Expeditionary Forces in Europe are subject to the United States domestic classification, conditions and rates of postage, and that letters, post cards and printed matter originating with such forces for transmission to the United States or its possessions are likewise subject to domestic classification, conditions and rates of postage, except as modified by the provisions covering letters indorsed "soldier's letter" and contained in Section 406, Postal Laws and Regulations.

No other than United States postage stamps are valid for the pre-payment of postage on matter herein described.

Mail addressed to members of the Expeditionary Forces should bear the complete designation of the division, regiment, company and organization to which the addressee belongs, as well as the name and address of the sender, and be fully prepaid by postage stamps affixed. Patrons should be instructed under no circumstances to attempt to designate on the addressed envelope the location of the unit. The correct manner of addressing such a letter would be as follows:

Return to
Mrs. John Smith (Stamp)
Blank Street
New York City.

John Smith, Jr.,
Co. X, —— Infantry,
American Expeditionary Forces.

Postmasters will forward all mail matter addressed "American Expeditionary Forces" to New York.

MR. FULMER'S ENGAGEMENT.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Marguerite Lair, daughter of Charles Lair, of Dayton, Ohio, to Charles Allen Fulmer, of South avenue, this city. The wedding will take place in the coming fall. The bride-elect is one of the most charming young ladies of Dayton's younger social set. Her father is prominent in the financial and business circles of that city and is also a director in the National Cash Register Company, which has an immense plant in Dayton. Mr. Fulmer is the son of Charles F. Fulmer, of this city, and has a wide reputation as an automobile expert. At the present time he is the proprietor of the Newcomb Carburetor Sales Company, which has branch offices in all parts of the United States.

MAKING EFFORT TO REVIVE FARM PROJECT.

The prison farm project may be revived soon again. The committee of the Board of Freeholders in charge of the work met in the Courthouse last week, and as a result of the session it is said that negotiations will be started again for the purchase of a suitable site on which to employ county prisoners.

It is understood that the Dixon property, adjoining the Bonnie Burn sanatorium in Scotch Plains, is again being favorably condidered.

SEPTEMBER 3 MAY BE ARMY SERVICE HOLIDAY.

A national holiday may be declared on September 3 in celebration of the enlistment of selective service men for the training cantonments. No step to this end has been taken as yet, but officials at the Provost Marshal General's office regard it as a probable result of the simultaneous movement of the selected men from all over the country.

On that date at least 250 men will leave the city and borough. Unlike other places, Plainfield failed to give a farewell when its soldier boys in the National Guard went forth to war. Residents should not fail to join in the movement this time.

Decide on Physical Training Courses

State Commissioner of Education Clavin N. Kendall yesterday made public the details of the course in physical training which the Department of Public Instruction has prepared. Changes will probably have to be made in the schedules of the city and borough schools to conform with the measure.

The course in physical training was prepared in accordance with Chapter 170 of the laws of 1917, popularly known as the physical training law. Its enactment grew from the demand which has arisen in America since the outbreak of the European war, into which the United States has recently entered, for physical fitness and preparedness of each individual. The same enactment provided that there should be courses of military training for high school boys, in the event the State Board of Education approved the idea, and should the latter reject the proposition, then any district board may take it up. No course in military tactics has been prepared, as the State board has not acted either adversely or favorably upon the subject.

Division of the physical training course has been made into three parts, as follows: For grades one to six, inclusive; for grades seven to eight, inclusive, and for grades nine to twelve, inclusive, or the high school students. Approximately 150 minutes a week will be allotted in each of these departments of school work for this instruction.

In the lower grades the work will be made up of daily drills, setting-up exercises, posture exercises, marching, gymnastics, games and hygiene. The second division's work will include posture, gymnastics, rhythmic exercises, games and athletics. The instruction in the high schools will partake of a twofold nature. In what is described in the course as group 1 there will be instruction of an informative nature and in group 2 physical exercises. The former will be in the nature of study along the lines of citizenship, as contemplated in the law.

Assemblyman Charles L. Morgan, of Union county, sponsored the measure in the Legislature.

Dr. Elizabeth B. Stowe, of 56 Norwood avenue, left this week for her old home at Binghamton, N. Y., to spend two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Roseberry, of West Fourth street, leave tomorrow for Point Pleasant, for a two weeks' outing.

Plainfielders Hurt in Auto Crash at Amboy

John Madden, of Spruce street, together with his wife and five-year-old son, had a narrow escape from a serious if not fatal injury in an automobile accident at South Amboy Saturday night. They were returning from Asbury Park, where they had joined the Hope chapel excursionists, and were on their way home about 7 o'clock when the accident occurred.

Mr. Madden was at the wheel and was well over on the right side of the road when another automobilist running at a high rate of speed attempted to pass in front of a third machine and cut in front of the Plainfielder's car. Madden's machine was struck in front and turned completely around by the impact. All three occupants were hurled into the air but fortunately landed in soft ground in a ditch. Mrs. Madden and the child were hurt the worst but were able to continue home after receiving medical attention. All three are still carrying cuts and bruises.

Madden's automobile had a front wheel ripped to pieces and the entire front badly battered. A peculiar circumstance in connection with the accident was the disappearance of a tire from one of the rear wheels of the Plainfield car. It was torn off by the impact and although the road was searched for a long distance could not be located anywhere. The driver of the offending machine, who said he lived in Newark, agreed to pay all damages. Mr. Madden is a night foreman at the Pond Tool Works.

"FOUR MINUTE MEN" ARE ORGANIZED HERE

Co-operating with the Committee on Public Information at Washington, Mayor Calkins has appointed Judge J. Henry Crane, of the District Court, to act as chairman of a local committee to be known as "The Four Minute Men." The Mayor and Judge Crane have not yet announced the names of those who will comprise the committee but will do so in the near future.

Similar committees are being appointed in every city in the United States having a population of over 10,000. B. E. Chapin has been appointed State chairman and he will arrange with the various committees for the securing of speakers to give addresses for four minutes in moving picture houses and other places where the public gathers in numbers. The movement is being encouraged by the Government as a war proposition and is intended to acquaint the public with thinks of national interest. Dates for local gatherings where addresses will be made will be announced in a short time.

Correspondent Tells How Supply Ships Care for the Active American Fleet

An American correspondent, writing from his post with the United States destroyer flotilla, furnished an interesting narrative of the wonderful work that is accomplished by the men who must furnish the fighting vessels with supplies of all sorts. His story as given in newspaper columns is as follows:

"An American sailor, doing his bit aboard the big parent ship that looks after the brood of destroyers, delivered himself of this tribute to the great war vessel as he flied away at a big piece of brass. The metal has been cast right there on the ship to make a propeller for a small boat and he was now taking off some of the rough edges.

"The destroyer that wanted that propeller didn't have to go ashore to get the work done. Instead the order was sent to the floating workship which was turning out the screw in quick time and with the very best guarantee of superior workmanship.

"On another deck William Cline, ex-chef at some of the most expensive hotels in America, was standing at his table, putting out food for lusty young American sailors. Stewards were filing to his table with empty trays, having them refilled, and then scurrying back to the messroom, where hungry youngsters moved in a cafeteria line to get their lunch.

"'I cooked in hotels in Atlantic City where they charged fancy high prices,' said Cline, 'but the food was no better than what we are serving this minute to the boys on this ship.'

"Rations are unknown. The luncheon bill was: Vegetable soup, cold ham and beef, plenty of bread and butter, tapioca pudding and coffee. The sailor Oliver Twist may keep on coming back for more until he has had enough.

"This luncheon bill included an item that King George and Lloyd George do not have today—pure white bread. The big flour magazines are stuffed with sacks of unadulterated flour and when the white-clad bakers have cleaned up the last of it there will be more coming from the United States.

"The parent ship supplies the destroyers with bread. It also contains the department store where sailors replenish their lockers. There is a barber shop fitted out with white enameled equipment. And there is a hospital where human repairs go on while the workshops are fixing damaged vessels.

"There's a laundry, a bank, a post-office, a miniature ice cream factory, an electrical shop, a carpenter shop—there's even a jail for offending citizens of the floating community. The submarine hunters may see aboard ship the best American movies—often better than those shown at night in the single movie show which this base town supports.

"The English call her a depot ship. To the American navy she is a parent ship and the submarine fight over here has proved the foresight of her builders."

Planning Early Mobilization of Country's Big Draft Army

The entire office staff of Provost Marshal General Crowder, together with representatives of the railroads of the country, has been working during the past week on plans calculated to result in at least 100,000 men of the new National Army being in camp by or immediately following Labor Day. The remainder of the 687,000 in the selective army, it is planned, will follow the advance guard into camp before October 1. Word coming from the various cantonments scattered over the country indicate that those places of concentration will be ready for occupancy by that time.

The exact date as to when the movement of the men will start has been held up because of the holiday. General Crowder is trying to make sure that the railroads will be able to handle the heavy Labor Day traffic and still have facilities for transporting the new troops before he announces the date. If he finds that they will be able to do so he will undoubtedly settle upon September 1 as the date for the start and if not it will be postponed to September 4.

Those called out to camps first will be the ones at the top of the list, following the numbers drawn at Washington. According to the latest announcements the men designated to go will be notified a number of days after the call and will not have to report until twenty-four hours before leaving. It is likely the men will be assembled at points of vantage in each State and entrain from there for the cantonments. Thus it would seem that only a part of the men from this district will leave at first, to be followed by the others later.

The object in calling only a part of those who will form the National army early next month is so that they may get into camp and prepare for the coming of the others. After the contractors have finished their work on the cantonments there will still be much left to do before they will be suitable winter quarters and this work will be done by the first men called.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

MRS. SARAH A. COWARD.

Mrs. Sarah A. Coward, widow of Joseph B. Coward, and one of the eldest and best known residents of Plainfield, died Saturday morning at her home on East Front street following an illness of six weeks. The end came on her eightieth birthday, the date to which the family had been looking forward with great anticipation previous to the time her illness began. It was not regarded as serious at first but during the recent hot weather she had suffered greatly and failed rapidly.

Mrs. Coward was born in Plainfield, the daughter of Cornelius J. Boice, who in his day was one of the leading citizens of this city. He was prominent as a lawyer and many of the legal lights of this county first became acquainted with Blackstone in his office. One of the first young men of the town who first studied law under the tutelage of Mr. Boice was the late Joseph B. Coward, who while Mr. Coward was in her father's office that the young law student and Miss Boice formed acquaintance that ended in her marriage. The ceremony took place in 1866 at the Boice family homestead, which still stands on East Front street directly next to the First Presbyterian church to the west. It is this property which has been purchased as a site for the proposed Company K armory. Mr. Coward died about ten years ago just after he had quitted his office in the Coward building on Park avenue and was proceeding to his home next to the First Presbyterian church on the east. He was stricken with heart failure and passed away before medical attention could be given.

Mrs. Coward was a life-long member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, her membership dating back to the days when the congregation was known as the Second Presbyterian church and the house of worship was located on East Front street, just east of Park avenue. She was a faithful attendant at all services up to the time of her last illness and in her younger days was a teacher in the Congregational Sunday-school. Mrs. Coward was possessed of a strong Christian character while not a woman to forget that her first duties were at home found time to perform and maintain a large circle of acquaintances. The deceased is survived by two daughters, the Misses Lillian and Helen A. Coward, and one son, Harry H. Coward, all of whom reside in Plainfield. There are also two sisters surviving, Mrs. George S. Underhill and Mrs. A. D. Cook, both of Plainfield.

The funeral was held at the late home Tuesday afternoon and was in charge of Rev. Lewis Bond. A large gathering of relatives and friends was in attendance and numerous floral tributes were in evidence. Burial was in Hillside cemetery, the following acting as pall-bearers: A. W. Morley, of Brooklyn; Charles Cook, of Plainfield; Lloyd Rockhill and W. H. Young, of Trenton; Charles Cadmus, of Philadelphia, and Joseph Arrowsmith, of Red Bank.

MRS. MARTHA J. PETRIE.

The funeral of Mrs. Martha J. Petrie, widow of the Rev. James Petrie, took place at her late home on East Sixth street, Tuesday afternoon. In the absence of her pastor, Dr. Zelie, the service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Skellenger, who read selections from the Scriptures, a favorite hymn and one of Mrs. Petrie's early poems from the volume, "Poets and Poetry of Vermont." Burial was made in Hillside cemetery.

The deceased was the daughter of Elias Hall and Rebekah Dewey, of Montpelier, Vt., both of whom were of the old colonial stock. She was a first cousin of the late Admiral Dewey; Rebekah Dewey and Dr. Julius Dewey, the father of Admiral Dewey, being brother and sister. Through her mother she belonged to one of the few American families of direct royal descent tracing her ancestry back to Alfred the Great. Mrs. Petrie's husband was a Scotch Presbyterian clergyman, who, with his family, took up his residence in this city after his retirement from the ministry.

Two sons, three daughters, a stepdaughter and seven grandchildren and one great-grandson survive. The daughters are the Misses Flora and Josephine Petrie and Mrs. Grace Petrie Williams, of East Sixth street. Miss Kate M. Petrie, of New York, is the step-daughter and the sons are Edward Petrie, of Newark, and John Petrie, of Ridgefield Park. The one great-granchild is the year-old son of Rev. Paul Hutchinson, who is locater at Nanking, China.

THOMAS MAIR.

Thomas Mair, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mair, died Wednesday morning after a long illness at his parents' home on Mountain avenue. He was born at the Mair homestead, now owned by the Watchung Spring Water Company, twenty-three years ago and had always lived in the borough. Previous to his last illness he conducted a milk business in Plainfield. Beside his parents he is survived by one sister, Miss Elizabeth G. Mair.

The funeral will be held at the parents' home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

MRS. RACHEL M. C. F. CRAIG.

Mrs. Rachel M. C. Fetridge Craig, widow of Rev. Robert A. Craig, died Tuesday morning at her home on Leland avenue. She had been ill a long time with a complication of troubles. Mrs. Craig was a native of Ireland but had lived in this country since a young woman. She came to this city seven years ago after the retirement of her husband from the active ministry. Mr. Craig was a Presbyterian clergyman and held numerous charges in the East, principally in New York State. He was widely known in the Presbyterian denomination. Mrs. Craig was a member of the First Presbyterian church and though only in Plainfield such a short time had a wide circle of acquaintances.

The deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Edwin A. Skinner, of Leland avenue, with whom she lived, and Miss Susan Craig, who is a school teacher in the Middle West.

The funeral will be held at the late home on Leland avenue this afternoon at 3 o'clock. It will be in charge of Rev. Lewis Bond, and interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

MISS ANNIE WESTERVELT.

Miss Annie H. Westervelt, daughter of the late Hon. and Mrs. Jacob Westervelt, died Tuesday night at her home on Thornton avenue. She was eighty-six years old and came to this city from New York. She was a member of the Dutch Reformed church. She is survived by two nephews and a niece.

The funeral was held at the late home on Thornton avenue, this morning at 10:30 and was in charge of Rev. Mr. Lillianthal, acting rector of Grace church. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

JACKSON POUND.

Word came to Plainfield the forepart of the week of the death on Sunday last of Jackson Pound, a native and one time business man of Plainfield, which occurred at his home in Long Island City. He had been ill for some time. The funeral was held in Long Island City and the body was brought to Plainfield Wednesday afternoon for interment in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Mr. Pound was born at the old Pound homestead which stood on East Front street adjoining the Mulford Cole property. The older Pound, who is also named Jackson, conducted a bakery on West Front street for many years and when his son had reached his majority turned the plant over to him. It was then located at what is now the Voehl property at 127 West Front street. The younger Pound disposed of his interests about forty years ago to the late Alexander Warnock, father of W. W. Warnock. The stand in later years was known as the Voehl Bakery and at present is conducted by L. Kornfield.

After retiring from Plainfield Mr. Pound removed to Long Island City, where he was engaged in various pursuits until the time of his last illness began. He made frequent visits to this city and maintained all of his intimate associates to whom he was familiarly known as "Jacky," a nickname conferred upon him in his Plainfield school days. A number of his old schoolmates were among those who attended the burial service in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Mr. Pound is survived by a number of relatives, some of whom reside in this city.

ALFRED P. DREW.

Alfred P. Drew, a native of England but a resident of this city for many years, died Saturday noon at his home on West Third street, following a long illness. He first came here in 1882 and since then had been employed most of the time by the monument firm of L. L. Manning & Son at his trade of stone-cutter. He was an adept at this class of work and some of the largest monuments in Plainfield cemeteries display his handiwork. He was a man of quiet but congenial disposition and was greatly liked. He was a member of Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias; Crescent Company, U. R., K. of P.; Queen City Lodge of Odd Fellows and Plainfield Council, Loyal Order of Moose.

Beside his wife, Mrs. Annie Drew, the deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Pearl Anderson, of this city; one brother, Charles Drew, of New London, Conn.; also two sisters, Mrs. Harriet Bicknell, of this city, and Miss Alice Drew, of New London.

The funeral was held at the late home Monday night and was in charge of Rev. J. J. Flynn, of the Monroe Avenue church. Crescent Company and the members of the Knights of Pythias also conducted the Pythian ritual. Burial was made in Hillside cemetery.

JAMES ECKFORD RHODES.

James Eckford Rhodes, a resident of Fanwood for the past ten years, died at his home on Midway avenue, that borough, Sunday. He had been ill about a week with a nervous trouble which terminated with a fatal hemorrhage.

Mr. Rhodes came to Fanwood from Brooklyn, where he had resided since a young man. He was president of a lithograph company with headquarters in New York and branch offices in Newark. Surviving him are his wife, one son living in Minnesota and a daughter living in Brooklyn.

The funeral was held at the late home on Midway avenue, Tuesday night, and was in charge of the acting rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, Fanwood. Burial was made Wednesday morning in the family plot in Cyprus Hills cemetery, Brooklyn.

Netherwood Garden Show Is Attracting Wide Spread Interest

The coming "garden" show, to be conducted by the Netherwood Residents' Association in the parish house of St. Stephen's church on Saturday, September 8, has attracted widespread interest, not only in the immediate section where it is to be given but throughout the entire city. Gardening has been a new thing with so many people this year that hundreds of amateur agriculturists are on every hand and proudly boasting of the products they have developed with the aid of Mother Earth. Persons who never before thought of taking a second look at a fine display of vegetables on a green grocer's stand now pause for critical examination in comparison with what they have at home. Of course, the result of the truck farmers' labors is minimized to no small extent.

It was with the idea of stimulating interest in home gardens that the Netherwood Residents' Association gave special consideration to the subject and offered prizes for the best vegetables produced by any child in the district. The organization has stationed recently that the show will be the great propostion worthy of a call from anyone furthering the Government's purpose to help out in the American food problem. The gardens conducted by children are wonders in more ways than one and when these judges come to award honors there will be many close contests. Prizes have been offered for so many different classes that the array of produce will give the exhibition room the appearance of a typical county fair. The show will be opened to the public from 3 until 6 p. m., but all entries to the different contests must be in by 1:30 on the same afternoon. No admission fee will be charged. All interested are asked to invite their friends.

In addition to President Wilmerding, the committee from the Netherwood Residents' Association is composed of: E. P. Thomas, G. C. Scott and L. J. Geary. The committee has issued this bulletin in reference to the rules of the contests and the prizes to be awarded:

Classification.—Owing to the fact that many of the young people entered in this competition have received assistance, when the original idea was that their own labors only should apply, it seems manifest that those who come under the heading of having been assisted, and those who have not, should not compete in one and the same class.

Therefore this new arrangement of the classes is now in force.

No. 1—Class A: Age under 17—Those who have worked their gardens alone, inclusive of planting, up to the present time, cash prizes as follows:

For the best—

	First Prize	Second Prize
7 Potatoes	$1.00	$ .75
7 Onions	1.00	.75
10 Carrots	1.00	.75
2 Heads of Cabbage	1.00	.75
2 Egg Plant	1.00	.75
6 Tomatoes	1.00	.75
4 Ears of Corn	1.00	.75
2 Heads of Lettuce	1.00	.75

No. 2—Class B: Age under 17—Those who have had assistance in working their gardens, cash prizes as follows:

For the best—	First Prize	Second Prize
7 Potatoes	$ .75	$ .50
7 Onions	.75	.50
7 Beets	.75	.50
10 Carrots	.75	.50
2 Heads of Cabbage	.75	.50
2 Egg Plant	.75	.50
6 Tomatoes	.75	.50
4 Ears of Corn	.75	.50
2 Heads of Lettuce	.75	.50

No. 3—Class C: For Grown-Ups—Exhibits from gardens of residents of Netherwood, presumably assisted by, or worked entirely by, their employes. Prizes offered as follows: First prize, gold stamped blue ribbon; second prize, gold stamped red ribbon.

It is earnestly requested that all residents of our section who own gardens will make an exhibit on the eighth of September, and join hands with us in our first efforts in this our local Home Garden Show.

No. 4—Class B: Flowers—In order to stimulate interest in this exhibition, we earnestly request that all residents who have any flowers on their place, collect same, making them up into bunches of say half a dozen specimens or more, in as attractive a way as possible, and present these on exhibition with the Home Garden products on the date mentioned. This will add immensely to the attractiveness of the exhibition, and help your committee to have a show that is worth while.

A gold stamped blue ribbon for the first, and a gold stamped red ribbon for the second will be given in several classes for different kind of flowers, as per the judge's inclination and opinion of their merit, and the same will also be awarded in each and every class with the cash prizes awarded for vegetables.

No. 5—Class E.—The judge will be empowered to award extra special ribbons for vegetables or fruits, or any display that he deems worthy of an award, not listed above.

The prizes originally offered, viz.: $2.00 for first and $2.00 for second, for the best kept and most attractive garden, by youngsters under 17, will now be changed to the following conditions, viz.: $2.00 for first and $1.00 for second, for the entry that has not been assisted; and $2.00 for first and $1.00 for second for the entry that has had assistance by others than the one who makes the entry.

The judge of these gardens will make his visit on Saturday afternoon, September 1st, or if the weather on that day is bad, on Monday morning.

"Clem" Bechtel, Now on Firing Line, Describes Shell Fire and Fighting in the Sky

Among the first Plainfield boys to rally to the colors was Clement Bechtel, of Carlton avenue, familiarly known to his hundreds of local friends as "Clem." He enlisted in the Andover Ambulance Corps unit in May and shortly afterward was sent abroad as an ambulance driver. The trip across the Atlantic was made in the big steamer "Rochambeau," which has had many narrow escapes in its frequent journeys through the submarine zone. Mr. Bechtel, who is the son of Charles P. Bechtel, of Carlton avenue, was quickly sent to the front and letters received by Plainfielders the last few days indicate that he is on the great battle ground of Northern France. Already he has had many thrilling experiences. Excitement always had a fascination for "Clem," and it is easy to see for the censor's keen eye he would probably write more about his perilous doings. In one of his epistles he speaks of the scarcity of "smokes" and a delegation of local friends is now preparing a box of his favorite brand of cigarettes to ship to him. When letters come how welcome letters are and those who knew him might do a good turn for both "Clem" and themselves by writing.

Two of those who have just received letters from the young ambulance driver are J. A. Davie and "Jack" Hall. Both are written in "Clem's" familiar descriptive style and are the nearest to an account of real action that has come to Plainfield yet in the form of a letter. They are given below in order that other Plainfield friends might read them. The letter to Mr. Davie is as follows:

"July 19, 1917.

"Somewhere in France.

"Dear Archie:

"I have just seen a German 'plane dig for home amid a shower of shrapnel. This is such a common sight that half the time we do not watch it. The only thing we look in the air for is to see a French 'plane and a 'Fritzie' get together. I am driving the staff car in our section. We have 20 Fiat ambulances and a Vermorel touring car for the staff. I have been up to the third line trench, driven through gas and had a glimpse of the Germans. Have seen shells hit as near as 150 yards. We have had to leave our post twice in the last three days as the Germans were trying to get the road next to us as there was a movement of troops. Have to go out now, so will ring off. Regards to all the boys.

"CLEM."

The letter to Mr. Hall is equally as descriptive but contains different facts. It bears the same date as the previous one and is as follows:

"Dear Jack:

"I am right out front where all hell is popping. Have been to the third line trench and seen the 'Fritzies.' Drove through gas this morning and have had a German shell break 150 yards from me. We have had to run for it twice in the last three days as the Germans were trying to get the road by our first post. Lost one of our boys on the 16th. Leg blown off and died shortly after. You have probably seen it in the paper by now. Have plenty of souvenirs already, among them a German helmet and a gas mask. Tell the fellows to write and I will answer as letters are next to smokes in value.

Yours,

"BECK."

Ten Plainfield Men at Ft. Meyer Commissioned

With the breaking up of the first military training camp at Fort Myer, the last week ten Plainfield men and one from Scotch Plains became officers in either the regular or National army, which is to be composed of those caught in the draft. Those who received commissions have been furloughed home for several weeks before going on active service, while those who failed to get commissions at the first camp, including a number of local men, will return for the second camp starting this coming week.

Those who were included in the several thousand receiving commissions are as follows: Alexander Baltzer, second lieutenant, infantry section, First Company; John R. Brennan, second lieutenant, infantry section, second Company; Edward L. Farrell, second lieutenant of Infantry in National Guard, Second Company; Nathaniel H. Hart, second lieutenant of infantry in National Army, Fourth Company; Chalmers W. Overton, second lieutenant, infantry section, Officers' Reserve Corps, Fifth Company; Edgar W. Freeman, second lieutenant, artillery section; Murray Rushmore, second lieutenant, Field Artillery Section; John U. Hussey, captain field artillery; Ludlow Van Deventer, second lieutenant, cavalry section; Albert V. La Porte, second lieutenant quartermaster's corps, National Guard; Lipman M. Gerber, second lieutenant, ordnance department; Sydney McKay, second lieutenant, National Army.

George M. Randolph, of Scotch Plains, has been made a first lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

This city will be well represented at the next camp to start shortly, besides those who will return from the first camp, the following have been accepted: Edward Aloysius Carty, William David Conrad, Thomas Ellis Day, 3rd, James Lambert Fleming, Daniel H. Greene, Jr., Clarence V. Lightfoot, Roger Mellick, Allen Leal, Roger D. Stewart, Richard Hugh Strong, Randall H. Trumpe, Joseph Vandeveater, William E. Lyon, John C. Martin, Phillip Van Deventer.

LOCAL YOUTH IN SERVICE.

Charles D. Schiffman, of East Fifth street, is one of the most recent local men to enlist in the New York National Guard. He became a member of the Twenty-second Engineers shortly before mobilization and is now a member of the company that has been sent to Spartansburg, N. C., to prepare for the coming of the others. Schiffman stood tenth in the draft list for this district but was unable to put in an appearance before the Exemption Board because he was down South.

Chevrolet Ready for Big Race At Sheepshead Bay Tomorrow

Racing enthusiasts from all over the East will flock to Sheepshead Bay tomorrow to see three of the greatest auto drivers in the world and an aviatrix meet in a series of contests for handsome prizes of thousands of dollars. Ralph De Palma, Barney Oldfield and Louis Chevrolet, who will be pitted together in a series of special match races for the world's championship, have been at the track all week for practice and local autoists who have witnessed the tryouts say Chevrolet, who is a Plainfield man, has been doing better than 110 miles an hour every time he has gone on the track.

Rivalry between the three drivers has been keen for a long time and tomorrow's match should draw record crowds as a result. There will be three heats, of twenty, thirty and fifty miles, respectively, and the winner will receive a purse valued at $25,000. Chevrolet, driving his Frontenac, is being put forth as a favorite in many sporting centers and is sure to give a good account of himself.

Beside the feature race of the day and exhibition races, there will be a special contest between Oldfield and Miss Ruth Stimson, the air's foremost women pilots. Miss Stimson defeated Rekets in a match race several years ago and claims she will be a winner this time. There will be a purse of $1,000.

Plenty of Coal at the Mines, Asserts George J. Luhr, Back From Pennsylvania

Plainfield people who have been entertaining fears of a coal shortage during the coming fall and winter need have no apprehension, according to George J. Luhr, superintendent of the local trolley system, who returned a few days ago after a most delightful trip to the Wyoming Valley region of Pennsylvania. He was away about two weeks in all and spent the time in profitable sight-seeing as well as the usual recreation derived by vacationists.

One of the most interesting episodes of Mr. Luhr's travels was the inspection of a mine near Carbondale. The shaft descended many hundreds of feet below the surface of the earth and opened out into galleries which are turning out thousands of tons of anthracite every week. The Plainfielder was fortunate to witness a blast fired by one of the miners, giving him a chance to see the whole process of getting coal out of its natural element, including the carrying of the huge lumps by small cars up the slopes to the breaker-house and thence by different stages to the storage piles. Mr. Luhr saw thousands upon thousands of tons of all grades of anthracite and was informed by the miners that there is an abundance of coal all through the Wyoming Valley. They assert that there is no good reason for any scarcity the coming winter and if such a thing does occur it will be the manipulation by the selling agents, nothing more.

Mr. Luhr declared to a Record reporter that mining is very interesting and pays good money for short hours but as far as he is concerned he would much rather be railroading.

"Those fellows who work underground," he said, "not only have to contend with the danger of gases, explosions, cave-ins, shaft accidents and a dozen other things but they also have to keep an eye out for the mine-rats. Man, you may not believe me but I got a view of a big drove of them in an abandoned gallery and every one of them was as big as a full grown house-cat. The miners tell me they will carry off a dinner-pail if it's left around and will fight like a tiger if cornered."

The trip to the anthracite region was made by Mr. Luhr over the Jersey Central from Plainfield to Wilkes-Barre. He is enthusiastic over the excellent train service and the cleanliness of the road. It stands out in great contrast to the Delaware and Hudson, which he used in getting from Carbondale to Albany, N. Y., making the latter journey to enjoy the night trip down the Hudson River. He made brief stops at Scranton, Pittston and other places, and while at Carbondale was entertained by the Brennan brothers, former residents of Elizabeth, who have a splendid hotel business at that place. Taken all in all Mr. Luhr said it was one of the most interesting trips he has ever had because of its educational value as well as the contrast to routine life in Plainfield.

No Vote on Small Board This Year

There will be no small freeholder board referendum for the voters to express their preference on in November. Much to the surprise of those who had followed the movement it has been learned that an insufficient number of signers is responsible for the forced abandonment of the plan this year. Under a previous act of the Legislature but five per cent of the Assembly vote was required to legalize the petition as to signers, but a short time ago the small board men learned that there was a new law which stipulated that 2,500 names, or ten per cent. of the number of votes cast for assemblyman, was now necessary. It was then too late to procure the signers, as workers were few and the dull season and the draft proved handicapping incidents. The day for filing was Monday.

It was decided, however, to keep the petition alive and to file it within the next two weeks for next year's election.

There seemed to be no great enthusiasm for the small board movement this year, because of the absence of the district representation proviso, although fair support was found among men who had formerly been aligned with the Progressive element of the Republican party, as well as among many Democrats and Republicans.

Success of Market Is Already Assured

Plainfield's new community market will complete its second week of existence when it opens for business tomorrow morning and already its success is assured. Manager James Penny is highly elated over the way in which both the farmers and housewives are co-operating.

The market opens at 6 o'clock and closes at 9 o'clock, although thus far the demand for produce has exceeded the supply and the farmers have been on their way home an hour after the opening. The market is being conducted as a wholesale and retail one. The farmers are allotted locations on the Holce property on East Front street, where the market is located, in the order they arrive and after they reach their station they are not allowed to call out their wares. The Boy Scouts have sold a large part of their produce raised at Holly Park.

The Food Commission has drawn up a number of rules to be observed concerning the display of produce and they will be strictly enforced. Everything not in boxes or barrels must be at least eighteen inches from the ground and any misrepresentation of goods will mean a cancelling of selling privileges. Plans are being made for eventually having the market open every day in the week, with Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays occasions for retail trade especially.

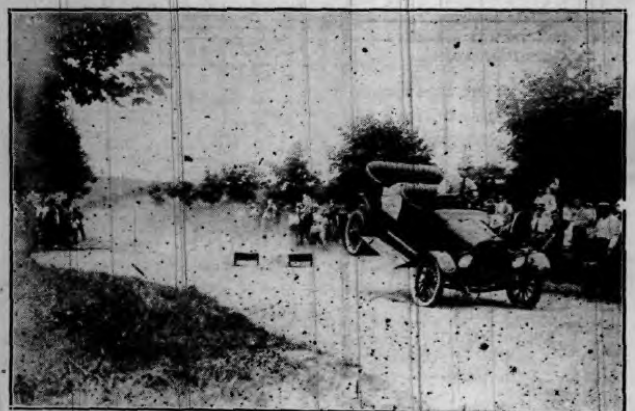
Maxwell Durability Is a Fact--Not a Claim



This Proves the Fact

To put beyond the MAXWELL'S never-wear-out durability, reliability and mechanical strength, a stock MAXWELL TOURING CAR was last week put through the most sensational and the most convincing test that this city ever has seen.

This stock MAXWELL touring car was made to leap 51 feet through the air.

It made this leap with scores of interested spectators watching, at Norwood and Manning Avenues, the borough, Thursday, August 9th.

Knowing motorists were amazed that an automobile could withstand such punishment as this. Their amazement became unbounded admiration for the sturdy MAXWELL when they witnessed, with their own eyes, the car come to a stop without the slightest injury to itself outside of breaking headlight glass—not a nut or a bolt was loosened.

The MAXWELL continued on its mission of uninterrupted service as well after the leap as it had before.

The MAXWELL Is Champion

—CHAMPION FOR DURABILITY
—CHAMPION FOR RELIABILITY
—CHAMPION IN UPKEEP ECONOMY

The MAXWELL is mechanically right.

This extraordinary performance has proved our assertion that the MAXWELL is the world's greatest motor car value.

Every MAXWELL owner knows how satisfying it is to realize that four years of MAXWELL standardization have given the car these superlative and unequalled qualities.

Economy of operation, in which the MAXWELL is the world's champion, is a tremendously important factor in MAXWELL ownership.

Mechanical durability and reliability—for which the MAXWELL is supreme, will make of your MAXWELL purchase an investment that will be lastingly satisfying.

Get in touch with us, at once, and arrange to have one of these champion endurance and economy MAXWELLS.

We can make delivery right now for a limited number of immediate buyers. Orders will be taken care of and deliveries made in the order of the acceptance of orders by us—as long as our present limited supply of cars lasts.

Delay will almost certainly lead to regret on your part—you know the condition of the material markets right now, and no one pretends to foresee the end of price increases.

NOTICE THIS SAME CAR CLIMBED MT. SAINT MARY'S HILL TUESDAY AFTERNOON, AUGUST 14, 1917, WITH 9 PASSENGERS; ALSO CLIMBED ON THE SAME DAY JOHNSTON'S DRIVE ON HILLSIDE UP THROUGH THE WOODS WITH 4 PASSENGERS. THIS FEAT WILL BE VERIFIED BY MOTION PICTURES TO BE SHOWN AT PROCTOR'S THEATRE IN A FEW WEEKS.

City Will Eventually Lose the Standard Plant

Persistent rumors current for several weeks that Plainfield was to lose the Standard Aero Corporation as an manufacturing industry were officially confirmed yesterday when President H. B. Mingle announced that the company had purchased the plant of the Stephenson car shops at Elizabethport and would immediately begin the work of making aeroplanes at that point. The two factories on North avenue, this city will be continued during the period of the war but after that they will undoubtedly be given up entirely as it is the desire of the Standard directors to have all the construction under one roof. Inducements are to be made to the present employes, many of whom have become experts in this particular line, to accept positions at the new plant and it is probable that the majority of them will accept, either removing to Elizabeth actively or commuting from Plainfield.

The Stephenson shop has a floor space of about 160,000 square feet, an amount sufficient to meet the needs of the Standard people for a long time to come. In addition there are open grounds about the building upon which more extensive shipping facilities can be had by either railroad or water. These advantages were all considered when the selection of the new location was made. At the present time the employes at the North avenue plants number about 700, of whom fifty are girls, President Mingle informed the reporter that it was his intention to have 1,000 hands at work in the Elizabethport factory within a short time and that before a very great while the number of employes might be brought up to 5,000.

"As you know," Mr. Mingle continued, "the Government has been very liberal with us in giving contracts for our makes of air machines and hydroplanes, principally because of their superiority and the fact that our organization is so well systematized that we have been turning out even a greater number of complete machines than we agreed to. However, the Federal authorities are anxious for more than we can build at Plainfield under present circumstances and the need of larger quarters became imperative. When we get things going right at Elizabethport we hope to turn out from 200 to 300 large sized planes every month. We realize it will be hard to get a sufficient number of men and for that reason we are instructing girls in nearly every department. If the war continues any great length of time the wisdom of this can be easily surmised. Those who remain with us and transfer their services to Elizabethport will be given every advantage as a great many new people will be brought in. We are very sorry to leave Plainfield but our company believes it was not given the proper encouragement in this city and that in no small degree it appeared that the development of the business here was not agreeable in certain quarters. We might have remained if a proper site could have been secured but we could find none that would meet our needs. The Stephenson shop fills the bill in every resepect and saves us the delay of building a new factory. We hope to begin operations there at once. It has been a very hard matter to carry on our work here the way we wanted to because of the various departments being separated, some of them being in the upper North avenue plant and the others in the lower plant at Berckman street. Beside we have had to do a great deal of trucking that will be obviated at the new place. As everything is to be done in the one building when we are fully located it will mean a better proposition for ourselves and the Government."

The removal of the Standard Aero Corporation will mean a big loss to Plainfield as it has become one of the principal industries in the city. Starting about two years ago in the former Kenney Vacuum machine plant it has developed rapidly and it continued here would have employed more hands than any other local concern. At the present time the only shop which carries a bigger force is the Pond Tool Works, considered Plainfield's biggest plant since it was started in 1887. Shortly before the declaration of war against Germany the Standard officials leased the old Chase shop at North avenue and Berckman street in order to meet the demands from the Government. Several additions were also made to the original plant and from a force of less than 100 the pay-roll has numbered over 700 for the past few months. The development of the business brought a large number of new families to Plainfield as many of the expert workers were drafted from aeroplane centres at Hammondsport, N. Y.; Dayton, O., and other places. President Mingle was one of the pioneers in the development of "heavier than air" flying machines and with the aid of Chief Designer Charles Day has brought the Standard aeroplanes to a high state of perfection. By many experts they are considered superior to any machine in the world, surpassing competitors in speed, ascending, carrying capacity and durability. When the Government gave out its first big order for seventeen million dollars worth of war planes last spring the Standard Company received the larger share. Since then numerous other orders have been received almost weekly, and scores of machines are being sent to the Mineola testing grounds every month.

Plan Send-Off For Soldier Boys

At a conference between Colonel Martin, of the Second Regiment, and a committee representing the Executive Committee of the Trenton Committee for War Emergencies yesterday, preliminary details were arranged for a great public demonstration in honor of the soldiers of the Second Regiment and the young men of Trenton who have been enrolled in the National Army under the conscription law. As one of the units of the regiment, 150 Plainfield boys in Company K will join in the demonstration.

Colonel Martin has informed Mayor Donnelly that the Second Regiment is ready to participate in any event that the citizens of Trenton choose to arrange for it and that he will be prepared to have the regiment on parade at half an hour's notice. He endorsed the plan of the Executive Committee to have the regiment parade with the conscripted soldiers, the soldiers to be headed by a detail of police and the Trenton Committee for War Emergencies as an escort of honor. The date for the demonstration has not been set, for it is proposed to have the farewell as near the time of departure of the troops from Trenton as possible. Colonel Martin will inform the Executive Committee of any order assigning his command to leave Trenton and the committee will be in a position to carry out the farewell demonstration on 24 hours' notice.

After the parade that is to be a part of the farewell demonstration, there will be presentations of suitable gifts to officers and men of the Second Regiment and to the conscripted men. These gifts will come from the citizens of Trenton as contributors to the Trenton War Emergency Fund. There will also be a special feast for the soldiers at the camp of the Second Regiment, this to be followed by an evening of high-class entertainment.

The entire Second Regiment has been invited by Crescent Temple of the Mystic Shrine to be its guests at a reception and entertainment to be given next Monday evening in Crescent Temple mosque on North Clinton avenue. The invitation was accepted by Colonel Martin, commander of the regiment. The program for this fine event for the soldiers is being arranged by Joseph R. Ashmore and Dr. John H. Murray, representing Crescent Temple.

Former Governor Stokes will make an address on "Our Boys." There will be a special moving picture feature, showing the arrival of American troops in France. Other numbers of the program will be vaudeville and music. The Hildebrecht Ice Cream Company and Manning & Brick have volunteered to serve refreshments to the soldiers, in the banquet hall of the mosque.

The Second Regiment will parade from its camp to Crescent Temple. The route will be from the Temple down Brunswick avenue to Broad street, to Perry street, to North Clinton Avenue to Crescent Temple.

Father McDonald To Be Chaplain in Foreign Service

Rev. Father Joseph S. MacDonald, former curate at St. Mary's church, this city, who was transferred to St. Patrick's church, Jersey City, last April, has been appointed a chaplain in the United States Army to begin duty at once. He was commissioned as first lieutenant Wednesday, following his physical examination at Governor's Island, the last step in the necessary routine following his offer of services. It is probable that he will be one of the first American priests sent to France for duty at the front. He was in Plainfield yesterday for the purpose of saying farewell to the hosts of friends before starting away.

Father MacDonald is a native of Paterson, where he was born thirty-four years ago, and was ordained to the priesthood in 1915, following his graduation from Seton Hall College. His first station was at St. Mary's church, where he did splendid work and became greatly beloved by the parishioners. His transferral to Jersey City was accepted in the spirit that it would be a broader field for his capabilities.

When the Government asked for volunteers from the priesthood, Father MacDonald was one of the first to respond in the Newark diocese. In the eliminating process which followed the army examinations he was included in the fourteen eligibles by Bishop O'Connor's jurisdiction. The appointments are now being conferred on these clergymen.

Father MacDonald has a mother and two brothers in Paterson and also a sister who is a Sister in the Dominican Order stationed at Greenville.

He will enter upon his duties with the best wishes of all who know him and who are confident that as chaplain he will win even more steadfast friendships than those he formed as a cleric.

Police Have to Aid Lawyer Crane Drive Off Rush of "Trade"

Seldom, indeed, is it that a Plainfield lawyer has so much business coming his way that he has to call in the police to help him drive the clients away, but Attorney Robert Newton Crane can claim this honor. The only drawback to the rush of trade, however, is the fact that it came in the night at Mr. Crane's home on Leland avenue, and not only disturbed his own slumbers but those of his family and all the fretful children in the neighborhood. It required a dose of castoria and other soothing concoctions to restore quiet on both sides of Leland avenue after the flurry passed ovel Wednesday night.

The first seeker after legal information was Edward Price, who claims to be a private detective living at 756 Berck street, New York. He pounded and kicked on the Crane front door at 12 o'clock Wednesday night and the lawyer's injunction to go away and report at his office the next morning only produced a lot of sassy remarks. It came to a point where all Leland avenue was either to get up for the rest of the night or Price was to go to the jail house and Mr. Crane decided upon the latter. The patrol wagon hustled him off, despite his remonstrances that it was simply making a business call.

The popular lawyer was getting in his beauty sleep at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, all forsetful of the racket six hours before when the second distressed man called. When he finally got an audience by way of the second story window he announced that he wanted to have a will drawn up. What Mr. Crane told him is not altogether clear but some of the neighbors say it sounded as though a crowd of the old-time West street horse car drivers were expressing their opinion of a truck blockade. The man went somewhere else to have the will matter attended to.

In the City Court this morning Price was fined $50 by Judge De Meza and was also told he was a disgrace to the profession he claimed to belong. After he had paid up Mr. Crane handed Price a card which stated that the lawyer paid office rent to do business from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and that he reserved his Leland avenue residence for his own personal needs.

No More New Men to be Called Before Local Board

Examination of 816 Registrants Yields a Total of 178 Conscripts--Hearing for Claims of Discharge Now Going On

First Contingent of 67 Men Will Leave Plainfield for Camp on September 5th--Councilman Charles Loizeaux Mentioned for Appointment as Leader

Official figures coming from the Plainfield District Exemption Board today make it certain that no more registrants have to be called to secure this community's contribution to the big National Army. The 450 men passed upon this week resulted in 87 acceptances and with those previously secured from the first sittings of the Board give a grand total of 178 accepted. Chairman Charles A. Reed and his assistants are now at work giving special hearings to claims for discharges and this work will not be concluded for several days.

Appeals are now being made direct to the District Board at Newark, the first step from Plainfield on the part of those who insist upon their claims for exemption. At yesterday's meeting at Newark four men who were accepted by the Plainfield Board were dismissed, the executives believing that their assertions were justifiable. Among the four men was David Wardrop, of 925 West Fourth street, who had the distinction of being the first man accepted in the Plainfield examinations. He is employed at the Pond Tool Works figure.

and claimed that he had a right to dismissal on the ground that he was engaged in important Government work. The others from the Plainfield district who secured discharges were the following: Harry E. Bronston, farmer; James Mackley, draftsman on government work; Walter Shanley, machinist on government work.

An important feature in today's local news of the draft is the announcement that the quota from Plainfield has been definitely fixed at 202. The original number called for by Washington was 183. Later a telegram came from General Crowder's office ordering the quota increased ten per cent. and at the same time another order came from Governor Edge at Trenton instructing the Board to make the increase twenty per cent. It was for this latter reason that Chairman Reed "played safe" by making the number 220, but yesterday the Washington authorities advised that ten per cent. would be sufficient. The quota in consequence was fixed at 202 and will undoubtedly remain at this figure.

According to General Crowder's orders, the first contingent of drafted men will leave their homes towns for camp on September 5. The number is to be thirty per cent. of the entire quota, which means sixty-seven will go from Plainfield on that date. The others will follow within ten days.

Although he was not included in the first thirty per cent. of acceptances, it is quite probable that Councilman Charles A. Loizeaux will be appointed leader of the Plainfield conscripts. The appointment rests with Chairman Reed and he has received numerous requests from leading citizens to confer the honor upon the young official who has sacrificed big business interests and waived his right to ask discharge in order to serve his country. He is possessed of executive ability and has had a wide experience in directing men. The leader of the conscripts corresponds to a captainey and places the appointee was in full charge of the contingent until it comes under the regular army officers. The leaders stand in line for an officer's rank and it is believed that Mr. Loiseaux would make a most excellent commissioned man.

The complete disposition of the 816 registrants examined at the various sittings of the Exemption Board to date is given below:

Parrot Not to Be in Surrogate Contest

Having efficiently filled the office of surrogate for a period of thirty years, George T. Parrot, of Elizabeth, has announced that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself, despite rumors to that effect which have been inerculation among his friends and in official circles for several days.

Surrogate Parrot expresses his appreciation at the confidence which people of Union county have shown in him during his incumbency, but because of advancing years does not wish to assume any longer the exacting duties of the office.

Howard Lapsley to Seek the Sheriff Nomination

Howard G. Lapsley, of this city, for years an active worker in the Democratic party, yesterday announced himself as a candidate for the shrievalty nomination. He will seek the support of the voters upon a platform pledging an economical, business administration of the sheriff's office and, it is understood, will receive the backing of the organization.

Mr. Lapsley was born in Plainfield, has lived here all his life and is well and favorably known throughout the county. He is a member of Union County Draft Exemption Board, No. 2, now sitting here.

Will Ask President To Exempt Her Son

The acceptance of F. Otto Linke as a conscript by the Exemption Board yesterday, following the hearing of his claim for discharge, will result in an appeal direct to President Wilson by the young man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Linke, of West Second street. The grounds for the petition are that two other sons from the same family are already voluntarily in the service and several cases are on record where the action of the executive has given a discharge to a third son called by the draft. Chairman Charles A. Reed informed Mrs. Linke yesterday that he had no power to act in the matter but expressed the opinion that her claim had merit and might be recognized by the President.

The two boys who previously entered the country's service are George Linke, who is a member of Troop D, and Gerald Linke, in training at the Annapolis Naval Academy for the post of ensign.

Howard Armstrong Weds Miss Hazel L. Hammeal

Miss Hazel L. Hammeal, daughter of Mrs. C. Hock, of 607 East Seventh street, and Howard J. Armstrong, of Washington avenue, were married last Saturday afternoon by Rev. F. J. Hubach, at the latter' residence at West Seventh street. Only the necessary witnesses were in attendance. Following the ceremony the couple left for Lake Hopatcong, where they will remain until next week. On returning they will make their home on Washington avenue. Mr. Armstrong has a wide acquaintance throughout this city and for a long time was prominent in local athletics. He holds a responsible position with the Vacuum Oil Company, acting as traveling salesman from the New York office. His bride is also widely known and was formerly a supervisor at the local telephone exchange.

CLARENCE LIGHTFOOT CALLED TO PORT MEYER.

Clarence Lightfoot, of Chatham street, who has held a responsible position in the drafting department at the Pond Tool Works for several years, left for Fort Meyer, Va., Wednesday in response to an order from the Army officials. Mr. Lightfoot has been a reservist in both the artillery and cavalry divisions and will undergo a three months' course before receiving a commissioned office. He was accompanied as far as Washington by Mrs. Lightfoot who will remain there for a few days, after which she will proceed to her former home at Kansas City, residing there during her husband's absence.

Mr. Lightfoot has been a valuable man at the Pond shop and his departure will be greatly felt. Both he and his wife have a wide acquaintance in Plainfield and Westfield, having resided in the latter place at one time. It is their intention to return to Plainfield after the close of the war.

Ralph Morrow, Former Editor of Press, Weds

Surprise was expressed here today when friends of Ralph Morrow, for twelve years editor of the Daily Press, learned of his marriage on Wednesday night to Miss Mary A. Morgan, of Macy Park, Harrison, N. Y., the ceremony being performed in the rectory of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York. A special dispensation being granted, Rev. Henry E. Hammer officiated.

Mr. Morrow was one of Plainfield's best known business men during his period as editor of the Daily Press. Three years ago he left this city to become editor of the Greenwich, Conn., Press, of which Rev. Charles F. Taylor, a former Plainfielder and "the fighting parson," was manager.

Senator "Jim" Will Celebrate His Sixty-Seventh Birthday Tomorrow

Former United States Senator James E. Martine will celebrate his sixty-seventh birthday tomorrow at his home on Watchung avenue, where he has been passing a quiet and uneventful summer as a country gentleman. Time rests lightly on the brow of the "Farmer-Orator" and he is still hale and hearty. Since he was defeated for re-election to the Senate last fall he has dropped entirely out of public life and busied himself around his farm, but this winter he expects to spend in Washington. Whether or not he will again run for an office is problematical, but when approached on the subject the Senator only smiles, and starts talking about his farm.

For all the fact that Senator "Jim" has had an active and on the whole an eventful life, he is one of those modest people who care not for paper writeups and for that reason he will give but a word to add to the description in "Who's Who in America." That little book, however, has this to say:

"Mr. Martine was born in New York city, August 25, 1850, and received his early education in the public schools of that city. His parents removed to Plainfield, where his father, Daniel W. Martine, purchased a farm of 160 acres surrounding a house which was built in 1717, and in which the Senator and his wife reside at the present time. Senator Martine's father died when he was still in his teens, and since that time he has been actively engaged in directing the affairs of the estate. For thirty years he has engaged in practical farming, but in more recent times he has combined farming with real estate operations. Of the original farm 10 acres have been developed into fine residential property under the personal supervision of the Senator, and is now intersected by numerous streets, along which are beautiful homes.

"It may truly be said that 'Jim' is a self-made man and one of Plainfield's most successful citizens. Knowledge of the fact that he has been vested in a high political office does not change him in the least, his disposition is friendly and cordial at all times. He was always free and ready to converse with anyone who attended him in Washington, and his door of all others in the Senatorial office building bore the welcome sign, 'Walk Right In.'

"Never a self-seeker for political office, but always willing to run as the party would have a candidate, Senator Martine, at the urgent request of friends, entered the race of 1910, and succeeded John Kean as one of the United States Senators from New Jersey. He also bears the distinction of being the first Senator from an Eastern State who obtained his election as a result of a direct vote of the people. Mr. Martine was elected at a joint session of Legislature on January 23, 1911, following an exciting and notable campaign resulting from a demand that the Legislature acquiesce in the choice made in the direct primaries on September 3, 1910. He received 47,458 votes, or four times as many as his opponent. Although the late Senator John Kean started the movement for the erection of the new postoffice in Plainfield, Senator Martine used his influence and secured a further appropriation for the building, which is to be one of the prize pieces of architecture in this city."

President Asked to Exempt Police and Firemen From Draft

Exemption of policemen, firemen and medical and dental students from the operations of the selective draft law was urged on President Wilson Tuesday in resolutions adopted at a meeting of the chairmen of the District Appeal Boards of the State of New York. Charles E. Hughes, who presided, was instructed to explain the action to Governor Whitman, through whom the request to the President was made.

The resolution concerning policemen and firemen asked the President to amend the draft rules so as to exclude all such men in cities and to permit local and district boards to reopen the case of any policeman or fireman already passed on.

In his letter to Governor Whitman Mr. Hughes directed attention to the fact that there are 10,760 policemen in New York city, and of this number between 2,000 and 3,500 are subject to the draft. In addition the city is employing 1,200 special policemen in guarding public utilities. It cannot, Mr. Hughes showed, employ men of mature years, since only men between the ages of 21 and 29 are eligible to the force.

Concerning firemen Mr. Hughes in his letter quoted the fire commissioner as saying that of 3,825 firemen, 1,461 were of draft age, and that at least three years are required to train a fireman. So great are the demands on the department because of the increasing manufacture of war munitions in New York and the shipment of military supplies thereon that, if any considerable number of firemen was drafted some companies, Mr. Hughes said, would either have to be discontinued or manned by inexperienced men.

The resolution dealing with medical and dental students asked the President to "detail all medical and dental students and interns in hospitals, after they have been drafted, to schools of instruction or hospitals, to continue their preparatory course until called for service."

In explaining the resolution to Governor Whitman, Mr. Hughes quoted Dr. S. S. Goldwater, of the New York city district board of appeals, as saying that fourteen years ago there were 27,615 medical students in this country, while last year there were only 13,121. About 4,000 interns are required annually by the hospitals while the available supply before the war was only 3,000. Hospital staffs also have suffered heavily by men entering the medical reserve corps. Thirty per cent. additional will be brought into the service under the second call.

Mr. Hughes quoted the central medical war committee of London as hoping that the lack of doctors in Great Britain could be made up in the supply of doctors from the United States, and added:

"The present prospect is that we shall neither be able to assist Great Britain nor have an adequate supply for our own needs."

What applied to medical students and internes in hospitals, wrote Mr. Hughes, also applied to dental students.

The committee also authorized standard forms for applicants claiming discharge because they were engaged in necessary industries, including agriculture. Owing to the wide diversity of those industries, the Government made no such provision. The form adopted today established a plan under which the Boards may have such information as they may deem necessary.

Recruiting for New Guard Nearing End

Recruiting for the new State military force to take the place of the National Guard that has been called into the Federal service will come to an end tomorrow night and until then anyone between the ages of 18 and 45 wishing to join will be received at the Elizabeth armory. Major Charles Irwin, of this city, who was commissioned by Governor Edge to gather the new guard in Union county, has been making a determined effort during the present week in the hope that he will obtain the full quota. It is likely he will be named to command the forces raised in this county.

The idea of raising a new force for home defense within the State has met with enthusiastic support by residents in practically every county and it is now certain that the desired strength of the new organization will be reached. The new body is to consist only of volunteers and will be subject to orders from the Governor in time of trouble in the State for any purpose that military forces are used for. While on duty the men will be paid, transported, subsisted and furnished attention by the State. Each recruit is required to take an oath to serve in the organization for the duration of the present war and for a year later. Thus far Plainfield has practically no representation in the body, although an invitation has been extended to members of the Home Defense League.

Plainfielders have experienced many delightful summer junkets in seasons past but it is doubtful if any one of them attained the success which crowned the first annual outing of the Standard Aero Corporation's employes to Bear Mountain on the Hudson River last Saturday. It surpassed anything of the kind that has yet gone out of this city and if anyone of the 850 attendants failed to have a good time no blame can be attached to the officers of the concern or the members of the general committee who exerted themselves to the utmost to make the affair one big round of pleasure. The old saying that "it is the little things in life that count" was never more better exemplified than on this excursion because those in charge had taken care of so many little things not encountered on a trip ordinarily that the happy gathering kept experiencing one surprise after another. Much of the credit is due Thomas J. Healey, chairman of the general committee, who forgot his own personal pleasure to help everyone else have a good time. An appreciation is also due President H. B. Mingle and General Manager C. V. Bradford, of the Standard Corporation, who joined in the fun with that spirit of democracy that makes everybody feel at home.

The excursionists left this city by regular train at noontime and started out from Jersey City on the steamer "Orient" shortly after 2 o'clock. Bear Mountain is sixty miles up the Hudson, a short distance South of West Point but the long sail was not the least bit tedious. The committee had seen to it that a fine program was in readiness to keep everyone busy when not viewing the beautiful scenery along the route. To many this was a distinct treat in itself because scores of the Standard working force have recently come from the West and South and never had a previous opportunity of seeing the wonderful Palisades.

The invitation also had a splendid chance to get a close look at the world' biggest boat, the "Vaterland," and the giant liner "Martha Washington," which were seized by the American government at the declaration of war against Germany. The two vessels are berthed at the Hoboken American piers in Hoboken and the captain of the "Orient" ran close up under the sterns of the interned ships to give the Plainfielders a chance to look them over. It was a sight appreciated by many and scores exchanged greetings with the crowded decks of the idle liners, the latter crowding to the rails as the "Orient" "swept" by.

Ferd Halbfoerster's orchestra of eight pieces from Elizabeth was located on the middle deck of the steamer and furnished music for the dancing, the big attraction for the young people. One of the members of the orchestra was Harry Brown, one of the famous six Brown brothers, whose saxaphone selections are familiar the world over through the medium of the phonograph. Mr. Brown is a wonderful cornetist and his work on the instrument occasioned much comment during the entire trip. His triple tongue manipulation had everybody "sitting up and taking notice." During intermissions in the dancing solos were sung by Miss Mary Donnelly, James Jamison and David Patterson, each of whom met with a big reception. The orchestra accompanied the singers under the direction of "Tony" Gloekler, the well-known Elizabeth leader, who has appeared in musical work in Plainfield on many occasions. Slips were distributed bearing the choruses of all popular songs and the crowd joined in singing them. Several times the music was wafted to the battleships and the score or more of Dutch steamers anchored in the upper Hudson and the crews of the various vessels took up the strain, thus providing an unexpected but welcome addition to the catchy strains.

There were plenty of refreshments on the boat during the upward trip and the crowd made away with thousands of sandwiches and great quantities of coffee, soda water, milk and other drinks. As an extra contribution from the Standard management, the ladies were given boxes of candy and the men corncob pipes and packages of tobacco. Then followed a series of events of various sorts. Each new gift served to make a further surprise that kept the big delegation interested all the time.

It was the intention of the committee to spend at least two hours at Bear Mountain, where an program of contests and athletic events were to be enjoyed. This was the only feature which went amiss. The steamer experienced several delays in getting up the river, and instead of reaching the Bear Mountain landing at 5:30 as was intended, the clock was until 7:35. As it was then quite dark and any stop-over would have meant too late an hour to getting back to Plainfield, it was decided to start on the return trip without anyone but President Mingle disembarking. He paid his respects to the Bear Mountain management, explaining what had happened and returned by train. The "Orient" sped down the Hudson in excellent time, making her slip at the Communipaw terminal at 11:45. The Jersey Central officials made up a special train which brought the excursionists home about 1 o'clock, somewhat tired but loud in their praises of the committee which had given them such a splendid day.

Bound Brook Man to Help Rebuild France

Professor D. Townsend Mason, son of W. R. Mason, of Bound Brook, and a graduate of the Plainfield High School, visited relatives in this city the past week previous to leaving for France on a very important Government commission. He has been given a captain's commission by President Wilson and will have full charge of all lumber purchases and erection of saw-mills to carry on the work of re-building railroads and bridges in Northern France. The American Government has undertaken this task and the reclaiming of the devastated territory will prove a big undertaking.

Professor Mason was graduated from the Plainfield High School in the class of 1900, and afterward completed his studies at Yale University. He made a special study of forestry and received an appointment as a Government forestry with headquarters in Montana. He became highly proficient in his profession and was honored by the University of California in being made professor of forestry in that institution. Because of the demand for his lectures the California University gave him permission each year to give special instruction in forestry to the classes at Yale, Harvard, Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania and other well known seats of learning. He has been given leave of absence from his professor's chair during the period of the war.

Professor Mason's brother, Fred Mason, also graduated from the Plainfield High School in the class of 1900 and is now a Government forester at Montana. He has been doing a wonderful work in maintaining the lumber resources of the State and is considered one of the country's experts on the subject.

Build By Plans

and avoid the expensive difficulties of haphazard construction.

Building by plans means that your buildings will be exactly as you intend them to be—every piece of lumber has its place—you know exactly where it belongs—you know in advance just how much lumber will be required.

Our plans, specifications and complete bills of material for all types of farm buildings are practical. The buildings have all been built time after time until all guesswork has been eliminated. They enable you to check up on the work at any stage in its progress and know that it is right.

We are making no charge for our plan service—it is a part of our new method of selling. We are offering it because it enables us to make pleased and satisfied customers.

We prefer to sell buildings rather than bills of lumber because we are then in better position to recommend the best wood and the proper grade for each use.

The responsibility of pleasing you rests with us.

If you plan any building for any time this year, see us at once.

Navy Seeks Jersey Men As Cooks, Bakers and Butchers

In accordance with orders from the Navy Department, a special effort is to be made to enlist cooks, bakers and butchers in New Jersey. Cooks are paid at the rate of $66.50 a month. Some have already been obtained by Chief Stewart Longsinger, but he means to get more. They are urgently needed, for Uncle Sam intends that his boys in the Navy shall not want for anything in the eating line and that they shall have it prepared for them in the best possible manner.

Will Seek British Recruits Here Soon

Lieutenant William Whitwell, in charge of recruiting for the British army in Newark, started this week plans for reaching every Englishman in New Jersey. He has copied from the records at the State house at Trenton the names of all his countrymen in Plainfield and other places and will see that each one is personally invited to fight for their motherland.

Lieutenant Whitwell is asking various fraternal organizations to aid him. The local Council of the Sons of St. George has already offered its aid.

A recruiting party left Newark for Trenton Wednesday and before completing its tour of the State will probably reach Plainfield.

Peter Mauger Weds Miss Florence Conroy

Miss Florence Conroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Conroy, of Fairview avenue, the borough, and Peter Mauger, of Compton avenue, this city, were married Monday night at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. S. Gillespie, of Grace M. E. church, of which both young people are members, assisted by Dr. H. K. Carroll. Mr. and Mrs. David D. Smalley, Jr., of the borough, who were married last Saturday, acted as best man and matron of honor.

A reception followed the ceremony and later Mr. and Mrs. Mauger left for a wedding trip in the South. They are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Smalley, who deferred their wedding trip for the purpose. On returning Mr. and Mrs. Mauger will make their home in New York as the former is employed in that city. The couple are widely known in the city and borough and received numerous presents.

NEW FIREMEN BEGIN WORK.

Joseph Carroll and Charles T. Southard, recently appointed by the councilmanic Fire Board as members of the City Fire Department, began their new duties this week. Carroll was assigned to No. 3 house on West Fourth street to take the place of Oliver R. Pearson, Jr., who has been called out as a member of Company K, and Southard is sent to No. 1 house on West Second street, where a temporary vacancy exists through the illness of Fireman William Gaub.

Squad No. 3 Gets Honor In Home Defense League

The Plainfield Home Defense League had a successful drill Wednesday night at the Horse Show Grounds, very well attended for a mid-summer drill, with so many of the men out of town. Lieutenant J. Whitney Baker announced that Squad No. 3, under command of Sergeant Howard Hammitt, was awarded the honor of position at the right of the line for having the largest number present. The men present from this squad were as follows: Sergeant Howard Hammitt, Corporal D. J. Attwood, E. A. Brown, H. H. Foster, H. J. Gaubiler, G. D. Herring, A. A. Hoeffler, J. H. Manning, H. E. Moore, C. B. Morse, L. Rothberg, S. J. Goetter.

The First Squad, commanded by Corporal Anderson, had the second best attendance; and the Second Squad, commanded by Corporal R. T. Phillips, the third best.

APPOINTED YARD MASTER.

John Traynor, Jr., of East Second street, has been appointed yard master at the North avenue freight yards of the Jersey Central. He began his new duties Monday. Mr. Traynor was formerly employed at the freight station but more recently has been connected with the local plant of the International Motor Company.

Miss Elizabeth Manning, of Grant avenue, will return home tomorrow after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Luther Anthony, of Kingston.

MISS FLORENCE ROTHER

Who comes here with "The Maids of America," at the Plainfield Theatre, Next Monday, Matinee and Night.

"Maids of America" Coming Next Week

A new twist has apparently been given to the presentation of burlesque in the production that will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre next Monday when the "Maids of America" will appear in an original two-act travesty called "Razzle Dazzleville." A coherent story of sustained interest is said to develope many scenes and incidents that are at once novel and intensely amusing with the result that an endless series of ingenious and intensely funny episodes is worked out greatly to the delight of the spectators. During the action of the travesty, vaudeville specialties and musical numbers that are said to have the advantage of newness are prodigally introduced and in a way that does not disturb the thread of the narrative. The principals in the cast embrace several popular and talented burlesque players, among them are K. Hall, Bobby Barry, Harvey Brooks, Percy Walling, Florence Rother, Dolores Leon, Mary Lee, John Rowland, Phil Apel, James Cunningham and Frank Leonard. Heading the vaudeville part of the program as "The World's Comedy Four," said to be the best singing male quartet at present touring the country. A large chorus of good looking, active girls assisted by a double quartet of male voices is announced as one of the most attractive elements of the show and the scenery and costumes and electrical effects are described as fully in keeping with the present day standards of advance burlesque.

Ford Gets a Lease For Meadow Lands

The State Board of Commerce and Navigation has granted to the Ford Realty Company a riparian lease for a tract of land 1525x180, in front of its property on the east shore of the Passaic River, Kearny. The land extends from the Newark and New York branch of the Jersey Central Railroad to the eighty-three acres belonging to Henry Ford in the Kearny meadows. The lease is for a term of fifteen years at a yearly rental of $5,338.20. It takes in the property on which the Government has established a shipyard for the building of wooden ships.

Under the terms of the agreement the realty company has the option of converting the lease into a fee estate, within five years, upon the payment of $76,260.

John C. Payne, of Jersey City, retired recently as chief engineer and secretary of the Board. Payne had been connected with the Board since it took over the powers of the State Riparian Commission. He was a member of the latter body for forty-one years. The annual salary was $5,000. The position may be filled at the next meeting of the Board.

FATHER CARRICK IMPROVING.

Rev. Father Charles Carrick, assistant at St. Mary's church for the summer season, who has been at Muhlenberg Hospital in a critical condition following an operation for appendicitis two weeks ago, was reported today as being slightly improved. Complications developed after the removal of the appendix and for several days grave fears were entertained that he would not rally. Dr. B. Van D. Hedges and Dr. Edward Krans are in charge of the patient.

LODGE MEETING.

Owing to the recent fire in Coward's Hall, the regular meeting of Court Union, No. 3227, Independent Order of Foresters, will be held in the Scheuer Building, 119 West Front street, Saturday evening, August 25.

Speed Up Program For Conducting War

With "speed" the watchword, the new industrial war board of the National Defense Council met Tuesday for the first time to prepare the Government's great buying campaign to supply her armies.

The close of the third year of the war finds the Allies depending on America to act quickly in delivering the blow that may bring peace within a year.

"The preliminary stage of our share in the war is over now," Chairman Scott said Tuesday. "We must produce, produce, produce. Days saved now in production of war needs will save lives in the field."

The spirit of the new "war board" was manifest in all official circles Tuesday. From the Capitol to the White House the Government was centering on pushing war plans. Secretary Baker, leaders in Congress, Chairman Coffin, of the Aircraft production committee, and Herbert Hoover all sounded the clear note of confidence in America's ability to deliver the punch in 1918.

House and Senate conferees on the $640,000,000 war bill resumed work at 10 o'clock, hopeful an agreement could be reached on the one disputed feature yet remaining in the bill—a Congressional committee to supervise Government contracts.

Committees of both branches were laboring with the problem of raising $2,000,000,000 in taxes to meet added needs of the war machine.

Suggest New Uniforms For Home Defenders

The War Department has issued specifications for a uniform for home guard organizations which would not conflict with statutes prohibiting the wearing of army uniforms or others approximating army equipment by any person not in the military service. It is an informal suggestion, as the department has no authority to prescribe the uniform to be worn by such organizations.

Forestry green or blue gray is suggested for color, and the coat proposed is a single-breasted jacket with lapels, bellows pockets and white metal buttons bearing the State coat of arms. Trousers and cap would be of the same material, the latter with the letters "H. G." set in a wreath as an ornament.

Officers would be distinguished by shoulder loops with one, two or three circles, designating second and first lieutenants and captain, respectively, and a similar series of diamonds for majors, lieutenant colonels and colonels.

Non-commissioned officers would wear on their arms horizontal bars enclosed in circles, three for sergeants and two for corporals. First sergeants' bars would be enclosed in a shield.

ENTIRE FREEHOLDER BOARD TO GO OUT.

The term of every member of the Union County Board of Freeholders will expire December 31 next. This means that twenty-one freeholders are to be elected in November. With the exception of those members who are aspirants for the sheriff's office and former Director John N. Cady, of Summit, all will seek re-election. S. P. T. Wilbur, of this city, is a Republican candidate for sheriff; so is Elias F. Applegate, of Elizabeth, and Peter H. Meisel, of Springfield. These four freeholders will not seek return to office, three because they desire higher honors and Mr. Cady because he is not anxious to serve again, having represented Summit on the Board for a long term of years. Usually there are plenty of Democrats in Elizabeth anxious to sit in on the freeholder sessions. To date, however, none has announced his candidacy.

$4,400 Limit Fixed For Furnishings at City Hall Building

At a meeting of the Common Council, Monday night, it was announced by Chairman Hylan, of the new City Hall committee, that $4,400 had been decided upon as the limit of expenditures for furnishings for the City Hall building. The architect in charge of the work has prepared specifications and bids are now being asked for. They will be opened at the next regular meeting of the Council on September 4.

The installation of electric fixtures in the new building is also not to cost more than $1,600. This figure has been placed at the limit and bids for furnishing the necessary equipment will be opened the same night as those for the furnishings. Mr. Hylan offered a resolution that the Newark Paving Company be given a contract for building the concrete walks about the grounds at a price of $1,630. It was explained that the previous lowest bid before the Newark concern submitted an estimate was about $4,000. The difference is due to the fact that the Newark people are working on one of the city's paving contracts and has all its men and equipment here, thus saving the expense another concern would have to undergo. The resolution was passed with only Mr. Smineck voting against it.

The Council received a petition from Ryder & Graves asking that two street lights be placed in Pryden's alley, between West Front street and West Second street. The petition was referred to the street lighting committee.

A. A. King, of 16 Grove street, petitioned for a permit to install a 500-gallon gasoline tank under the sidewalk in front of his premises, and a similar request was received from A. C. Belknap, of 122 East Second street. Both petitions were granted.

The request of John C. Cline and A. C. Belknap, both of East Second street, asking for permission to place a sign on their buildings, which project eight feet over the sidewalk, were denied.

Mrs. T. Sharp and others, of Emerson avenue, petitioned the Council for an extension of time within which the Council ordered to install new sidewalks on that street.

Mayor Calkins appointed the following special policemen to guard the building and grounds of the Standard Aeroplane Company: Geo. Massey, Thomas Lyons, Patrick J. Melvin, William Crowley, John Conway and Ernest Monteferrant. The appointments were confirmed.

The Fire and Buildings Committee reported to the Council that Charles Southard and Joseph A. Carroll had been appointed probationery members of the fire department, and asked that the committee's action be approved, it was approved.

A resolution offered by Mr. Condict, of the Third ward, accepted on the part of the city the invitation of the League of New Jersey Municipalities to join in a protest against the application of the Public Service Corporation to the Public Utilities Commission for permission to reduce the quality of gas now being furnished in this State, because of an increase in the cost of gas making materials, or to permit the company to increase its rates for gas service. The resolution also appropriated $250 to defray the costs of prosecuting the protest of the League of Municipalities. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

A resolution offered by Mr. Case, of the Fire and Buildings Committee, authorized the city clerk to advertise for proposals for furnishing a new motor and other appliances for the Nott engine, located at Fire Department Headquarters. The proposals will be received at the next meeting of the Council.

The Public Service Electric Company was directed to place a street light on Sheridan avenue, as directed by the chairman of the Street Lighting Committee.

State Action Saves Money for Armory

The unofficial information coming from military sources at Trenton that the State had decided to forego building several armories in various cities that provision had been made for until after the war, at least, means that Company K, of this city, will not go into new headquarters when they return from service as they had hoped to do. That plan if carried out, however, will mean that the local military unit will eventually have an armory.

Several months ago when the Common Council held a public hearing on the tax budget for the coming year Captain Peterson petitioned the city fathers to provide for an appropriation to help toward the construction of the building but it was refused. The Boice property, on East Front street, has already been purchased by the county, but since the State appropriated funds for the erection of the structure building costs had mounted until it was necessary to obtain more money. When this could not be obtained it looked as if the State appropriation would revert back and it would be lost for good. Before that has happened it seems that the State has decided to hold up the building of the armories planned for and when the time comes the money appropriated will still be available.

Governor Promises Troops at Asbury's "Jersey Day" Parade

Plans for Asbury Park's celebrated carnival now include a great military parade on the morning of Wednesday, August 29, which will be known as New Jersey Day.

Governor Edge has sanctioned the designation and has also, through General Charles W. Barber, promised the participation of the Third Regiment and other military forces now at Sea Girt encampment. The Third will receive a new regimental-standard, which will be the gift of the city of Asbury Park. It will be presented by Miss Liberty (Grazilla Taylor), who will make the presentation address. The speech of acceptance will be made by Colonel Thomas H. Landon, commander of the Third Regiment.

The military parade will include, besides the Third Infantry, representative companies of other branches of the service, cavalry, signal corps, engineers and artillery. Local organizations, the home guards, Red Cross auxiliaries and fraternal orders will also be reviewed by the Governor at the amphitheatre.

Merchants Planning Another Dollar Day

Another "Dollar Day," similar in many ways to those taking place previously, was decided upon by the Business Men's Association at a special meeting Tuesday night. The date has not been fixed as yet but it will be in the near future. A larger number of merchants than ever before will assist in making the day a success and it is believed that the coming one will eclipse all previous efforts. Further details will be announced next week.

The meeting was held at the store of M. C. Van Arsdale on East Front street and was largely attended. Beside the Dollar Day proposition, a number of important matters were brought up for discussion, among them the advisability or having the Public Service Corporation change the terminus of the Netherwood and Fourth street trolleys from the corner of Front and Somerset streets to Front and Grove streets. This could be easily done by installing a switch at Grove street before the new brick paving begins. The change would not only relieve the obnoxious congestion at Front and Somerset streets but would enable passengers to get to their destination on West Front street much quicker. It would be a decided help to shoppers who have to get off at the corner some distance away from many of the stores or else go to the trouble of transferring to a Union car. A committee composed of Henry Rosenbaum, W. A. Woodruff and George A. Clifford Applegate, Max Tepper and Herbert Schuldenfrei was appointed to take the matter up with the Common Council.

Another matter which came before the meeting was the advisability of holding a Fashion Show in the fall, similar to those which have become popular in Newark, New York and other prominent places. The idea is to have an especially elaborate display of the fall and winter fashions which would not only prove a great help to the buying public but also be of big benefit to the merchants. The proposition met with general favor and will be definitely decided upon at the next session.

Addison Swift Out For Surrogateship

The petition of former Prosecutor C. Addison Swift for the Republican nomination for surrogate is ready for circulation, according to a well-defined report in political circles today, and it is believed that the quest for signatures will be started in a short time.

A large band of workers has promised to work for Mr. Swift, and there are indications that he will make a strenuous campaign and further enliven the contest.

The race for surrogate now promises to be as interesting as the Republican contest for sheriff. George T. Parrot, the incumbent, is anxious to run again, it is said, but an attempt has been made by the organization to get him out of the race in favor of Mr. Swift. Whether this move was successful has not developed as yet, but indications now are that in any event Mr. Swift will make the run.

Other candidates for the Republican nomination are Sheriff George C. Otto and Peter J. Olde, secretary of the Union County Board of Taxation.

PLAINFIELD SISTER IS ASSIGNED TO TRENTON.

Sister M. Concepta of Mt. St. Mary's College has been named as the Sister Superior for St. Mary's school in Trenton to succeed the late Sister Concilio, who died several weeks ago. Sister Concepta is one of the brightest and most talented sisters in the order of Sisters of Mercy, which is the order stationed at St. Mary's school. Sister Concepta has been for twenty years an instructor in various branches of study, particularly art, painting and music, in which branch she is remarkably talented.

LACK OF ENTERPRISE TO BLAME FOR PLANT'S LOSS.

President H. B. Mingle's announcement that the Standard Aero Corporation had purchased a large factory at Elizabethport and would eventually remove its business to that point was received with deep regret by the citizens of Plainfield. It was hoped that this concern which has risen rapidly from a humble beginning would continue to make its headquarters in this community and there were fond beliefs that before many months the company would erect a plant of its own either in corporate limits or in the adjacent territory easily reached by trolley. The plant has meant a great deal to the business life of this community as the 700 employes now at work include many who came from other cities. They were destined to become permanent residents and more residents mean the building up of the town and a consequent increase of trade for the merchants. The force at the Elizabethport shop is to be 2,000 at the beginning and 5,000 if possible inside of a year, either figure being larger than that claimed by any other industrial plant in Plainfield.

The loss of the Standard Aero can be traced directly to one thing. This is the failure of Plainfield's civic organizations to show any enterprise in offering inducements to the company to remain. According to President Mingle's own statement, if the officials of his concern had received any encouragement whatsoever from either the community at large or individuals there might have been no change in location, instead, the feeling seemed to exist in certain quarters that the city cares more for the commuting element than the mechanic class and there was no special reason why the concern should overlook the excellent opportunities offered by the lower end of Elizabeth.

This is not the first time that the heads of a big industry have figured that Plainfield is not overly warm toward factories. Another instance is found in the removal of the Spicer Company to South Plainfield. Like the Standard Aero Corporation this organization had a small beginning but quickly developed into a big concern. When it became necessary to branch out obstacles were placed in the path of the management and no one outside of a few real estate dealers took the trouble to offer help or suggestions. Numerous complants were filed against the shop at Madison avenue and Third street and although it was admitted that the forge department annoyed the neighborhood by its noise and could be offset by removal of this part of the working force to South Plainfield or some other point, no encouragement was given for the company to secure a Plainfield site. The Lehigh Valley Railroad officials were among the first to step in and by showing the advantages of their freight facilities and the general advantage of South Plainfield at sight induced the company to go to that section.

Not long ago a certain Plainfielder was making up a descriptive booklet to advertise the beauties of this city. In his search for advertisements to defray the expense he visited C. S. Dana, then head of the Spicer organization, and asked for a contribution, stating that the idea of the booklet was to promote the civic growth of this community.

"If you can show me," said Mr. Dana, "where Plainfield as a whole has done any one thing to help itself I will give you a $200 advertisement. This company would have preferred to remain in Plainfield because of the convenience to employes but instead of giving us any encouragement some citizens placed every obstacle in our path. After we removed to South Plainfield they even went to the extent of trying to have our trucks stop using the streets and were guilty of other petty annoyances that places us in anything but an amiable frame of mind toward the community."

What Mr. Dana said seems to apply to the case of the Standard. Mr. Mingle has very much the same idea regarding Plainfield's feeling toward factories, an impression that is easily gained by the head of a big concern when he asks for certain concessions. Plainfield appreciates the commuting element but it does not represent the city as a whole and the skilled mechanical class is just as much desired. Too much of either one does not result in the best interest for a community. An equal division is always the best as can be seen by a study of nearby towns. We want good factories in this vicinity and it is to be deplored that the Business Men's Association, the Chamber of Commerce or other organizations for the promotion of civic welfare do not display real energy in getting new concerns to locate here. The Standard is not to be lost entirely for the time being as the two North avenue plants are to remain as at present during the period of the war but this is little consolation in itself for the loss of a plant that will eventually have 5,000 hands on its pay-roll. The concern could have been kept in town and it might be well for those who have the best interests of Plainfield at heart to make sure that no other company with good intentions slips through their fingers.

THE JERSEY CENTRAL GOING THE ERIE ONE BETTER.

Complaints have been pouring into the Record office of the poor service afforded local people by the New Jersey Central and from investigations it would seem that most of them are justifiable. There was a day when commuters got to their places of business on time and returned to Plainfield on time but recently this has been a rarity. Schdeule seems to be a thing of the past and all trains, express as well as local, are late practically all the time. This applies particularly to the 7:52 morning express, which takes more commuters out of the city than perhaps any other train. One man is authority for the statement that it has never reached Jersey City yet at the time set for it, since the new table went into effect. In the evening, one of the incoming trains which seems to have difficulty in making progress, is the 5:45 from Liberty street. A matter of five minutes behind time is quite regular and one night last week it pulled into the North avenue station nearly twenty minutes behind. Other cases are being reported every day.

Another matter which is producing a vigorous "kick" from the local public is the slowness of the excursion trains to Lake Hopateong. The trip was formerly made from Plainfield to the up-State resort in about two hours but this season it is taking nearly four. A week ago Sunday and the Sunday previous were both examples of this Erie-like rate of progress. The poor old much maligned Erie never had anything like this to its credit even in the darkest days of its lethargy. The main reason for the delay in getting to Lake Hopateong is the Central's idea of economy in trains. The first one out, if it is not filled to its capacity, is held at Dunellen or some other point, until another one comes up and a transfer is made to get one full load instead of two halves. This requires a lot of time and the passengers have to take their punishment or stay home. A trip on one of the excursions which were formerly very popular shows that most of them are staying home.

Another glaring instance of the railroad's inability to move passengers on time took place last Saturday and made a big difference to the 800 people who went from this city on the Standard Aero Corporation's outing up the Hudson River. The committee was unable to secure a special for the occasion and practically all of the crowd determined to take the 12:12 express or the 12:39 local. The latter came along behind time but at that was ahead of the 12:12, which did not show up until nearly 1 o'clock. As a result the boat was held at its slip until 2:30 instead of getting away at 1:30. It was intended to make a stop of about two hours at Bear Mountain, the Nortern terminus of the sail, but the steamer was so late in reaching this point that no landing could be made. It was a big disappointment to the excursionists as many of them had carried no eatables and were planning on dinner at the resort. If the Central trains had been on time the hour the boat lost at Jersey City would have been saved and the landing could have been made.

It is an injustice to the public to inflict these delays and the Jersey Central is only hurting itself by continuing the practice. A witty Plainfielder who has to use the Jersey Central trains every day made a remark recently which conveys the feeling of the public.

"The Central's slogan," he said, "used to be 'your watch is your time table: a train every hour on the hour.' The officials should change it now to read: 'a train arrived on the proper hour today: who knows the cause?'"

A CHANCE FOR EVERYONE TO ENTHUSE THE SOLDIERS.

Mayor Calkins' appointment of a committee to arrange a demonstration in behalf of the Plainfield men selected for the new National Army before they leave for camp is only the first step in what should be one of the most enthusiastic military displays Plainfield has ever seen. It becomes every man, woman and child in this community to lend his or her support to the undertaking. It is the people's affair, not that of a committee or official. The brave lads who are giving their services and their lives if need be to further the policy of liberty need the encouragement of the folks at home and a military procession is one thing that can create enthusiasm. Cities all over the country are arranging for receptions and processions and there is even a prospect that the day of leaving for all conscripts may become a holiday in this State. So far Plainfield has been sitting by quietly, allowing Troop D, Company K and other volunteers to go out of town without so much as a formal good-bye. To many of the citizens it comes hard to realize that there is a war and consequently they have been doing nothing to enthuse the men who are destined to continue America's fight on foreign shores. One big parade will do more to wake up the town than tons of newspaper print so let everybody get busy right now. Let the Grand Army veterans, who fought so hard in '61, lead the way, let the Spanish War veterans lend their aid, bring the regulars home from Sea Girt for the day if possible and let all the Home Defense, Boy Scout and other organizations fall in line. It only requires a combination of effort to make it a lasting remembrance. The American Government has realized that secrecy in some respects is for the best interests of the war plans but it has come to the conclusion that the sending of troops away in the night is not a good thing. England learned this lesson a good while ago as the following dispatch from London will show: "The Daily Mail makes a plea that American troops be given an opportunity to be seen in London before going to France. The papers say Londoners ought to have the chance of showing the Americans the feeling of enthusiasm their arrival excites. London needs a heartening spectacle as well as an opportunity to express its enthusiasm. It declares that a column of American regulars through the streets of the metropolis would have a rousing reception."

PERHAPS MR. PARROT SAW THE HANDWRITING

It is good to hear that Surrogate George T. Parrott has decided not to enter the race for another term. Perhaps he saw the handwriting on the wall and came to a full realization of the fact that people are getting tired of the perpetual office-holder. For thirty years he has held fast to this sinecure through his influence in the guiding powers of the county G. O. P. Several times it would have been for the best interests of the party if Mr. Parrot stepped down and out but no amount of persuasion on the part of the leaders could induce him to let go. At the beginning of political activity this season it was understood that he was again to be a candidate although he gave no definite answer to direct queries as to his stand. Younger men who have been giving faithfully of their services for many years were anxious to make a try for an office worth while and clamored loudly to be given recognition. Rumor has it that great pressure had to be brought to bear before the dean of Union county office-holders issued a formal statement in which he declared he would not be a candidate. It is probably a good time he did because it would be a rather ignominious end to be defeated after enjoying the gift of the people for so long a time. The voters were good to Mr. Parrot but there comes a time when the man in office must recognize the fact that there is such a thing as getting too big a share of political reward.

So far there are three candidates in the field for the nomination of surrogate on the Republican ticket. These are Sheriff George C. Otto, former Prosecutor Addison Swift and Peter J. Olde, secretary to the Union County Board for the Equalization of Taxes. All three are from Elizabeth. Mr. Olde is making a determined campaign and is usingthe slogan, "a lawyer for a lawyer's job." Sheriff Otto is not a lawyer while Mr. Olde and Mr. Swift are. Mr. Olde has been prominent in Elizabeth's politics for fifteen years and this is his first determination to seek a paying office for himself. He has the backing of the younger element in his home town as well as in other parts of the county and is expected to make a big run. Former Prosecutor Swift entered the race only the past week but is already pushing his candidacy vigorously. Sheriff Otto is not behind in either political strategy or friends and the three-cornered fight is being watched with close interest.

There were rumors that City Judge William G. DeMeza will be a candidate for the office but so far he has made no public declaration. He has every qualification for the office and in the event of his becoming an aspirant for the nomination he will receive the undivided support of this end of the county. With Mr. Parrot out of the running his chances of success would be just that much better.

Apartment Grands

These Grand Pianos are made specially for those people who live in apartments too small for the proper display of a large Grand.

And the same beautiful lines, the same careful adjustment of parts, the same high grade materials and the same tonal qualities are as much a part of the small Grand as they are of the expensive large Grands.

If you contemplate buying a good Upright, make it your duty to see our Apartment Grands first. We feel sure that their superior beauty will win your approval. Moderately priced—$485 up.

ADVERTISE IN THE PLAINFIELD RECORD.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

BENJAMIN JOHNSON SHREVE.

Following an illness of considerable duration, death came Monday afternoon to Benjamin Johnson Shreve, one of the oldest and best-known residents of North Plainfield. The demise occurred at his home at 19 Grove street and was due to the infirmities of age resulting in complications.

Mr. Shreve was born February 20, 1836, at Shreveville, near Mt. Holly, in this State. The place of his nativity was established by Mr. Shreve's father, whose ancestors were pioneer settlers in that section.

He began his banking career when a young man in Newark, and after years became identified with the Fifth Avenue Bank, which subsequently merged with the Citizens National Bank of Broadway, New York city. Owing to failing health Mr. Shreve retired from business six years ago. Mr. Shreve was one of the oldest members of the First Baptist church, this city, and a true and noble character.

In 1869, the deceased was married to Miss Mary E. Coon, of North Plainfield, who survives him. There are also surviving two daughters, Miss Harriet R. Shreve and Miss May Shreve, residing at home.

The funeral was held at the late home on Grove street yesterday afternoon and was in charge of Rev. Dr. Phillip B. Strong. The large gathering of relatives and friends in attendance included many former business associates from New York. Interment was in the family plot in Evergreen cemetery.

MRS. ROBERT L. PIERCE.

Mrs. Mary M. Pierce, wife of Robert L. Pierce, died Tuesday night at her home on New Market road, New Market, a few hours after she had been stricken with paralysis. She became ill while attending a meeting of the New Market Surgical Dressing Society at the home of Captain Van Winkle and sank rapidly. She was carried to her own residence and medical attention was secured but nothing could be done to restore her to consciousness.

Mrs. Pierce was born in Piscataway township on June 3, 1847, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Dunn, pioneer residents in that section. The homestead still stands on the Stelton road. The deceased was married to Mr. Pierce, who is Piscataway township's veteran constable on New Year's eve, forty-nine years ago, 1867, and she and her husband had been looking forward with great anticipation to the observance of their fiftieth anniversary. The couple has enjoyed a wide acquaintance in Plainfield and news of Mrs. Pierce's death was as greatly felt in this city in certain circles as in her home village.

Mrs. Pierce led a very active life and as a member of the New Market Baptist church was a devoted worker in all departments. She was one of the organizers of the New Market Surgical Dressing Society, which makes supplies for the soldiers in France, and she was busily at work when the fatal stroke came upon her. She was also a member of Lakeside Council, Daughters of Liberty, of New Market.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Pierce is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Nelson B. Giles and Miss Alice Pierce, both of New Market, also one son, Herbert Pierce, who resides in the West. The funeral will be held at the late home on New Market road tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 and burial will be in the Middlesex Hillside cemetery at Samptown.

MISS AGNES BABCOCK.

Miss Agnes Babcock, a prominent worker in the Seventh-Day Baptist denomination and sister of Mrs. Charles P. Titsworth, of Madison avenue, this city, died Sunday night at her home in Leonardsville, N. Y. She had been ill two weeks with hydroid fever, contracted either during a recent visit to California or in giving personal attention to a nephew and niece who were stricken with the disease while visiting at her father's home. News of the young woman's death came as a shock over the members of the Seventh-Day Baptist church assembled in conference in this city. She was greatly beloved by all who knew her.

Miss Babcock was forty years old and was the daughter of Henry Dwight Babcock, president of the Babcock Manufacturing Company of Leonardsville, in which concern she acted as secretary. She was talented in many ways and beside possessing rare business acumen was active in social and other circles in Leonardsville. The funeral and interment took place in that town. Beside her father and sister she is survived by three brothers, Robert Babcock, of Dallas, Texas; Fred Babcock and Allen Babcock, of Leonardsville. Mrs. Titsworth had been visiting at Leonardsville and was present at the time of her sister's death.

MRS. FRANK ZIMMERMAN.

Mrs. Cecile Helen Zimmerman, wife of Frank Zimmerman, of South Bound Brook, died in Muhlenberg Hospital Sunday afternoon. She was received at the institution on August 15 suffering a complication of troubles and was undergoing medical treatment when death came.

Mrs. Zimmerman was the daughter of George H. Rockefeller, of Liberty street, and was born in this city, residing here until her marriage to Mr. Zimmerman. She was twenty-four years old and had many acquaintances. For many years she was a member and regular attendant at Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school. Beside her father, she is survived by two sons and four brothers. The latter are: Harold, LeRoy and Kenneth Rockefeller, of this city, and Raymond Rockefeller, who is at present in the American Navy and is supposed to be on his way home from France.

The funeral was held at the late home in South Bound Brook Wednesday afternoon and was attended by many relatives and friends from this city as well as other places. Burial was in the Bound Brook cemetery.

MRS. C. CLARENCE MAXSON.

Mrs. C. Clarence Maxson, who had a wide acquaintance in this city, died recently at Westerly, R. I., after a long illness. She was sixty-five years old and was a talented musician. For many years she acted as organist in the Seventh-Day Baptist church at Westerly. Beside her husband, Mrs. Maxson is survived by two sons, Harry Maxson, of Montreal, and C. Clarence Maxson, Jr., of Florida, and also a sister, Miss Jessie M. Utter, formerly of Plainfield but now of Westerly. Miss Utter was organist of the Seventh-Day Baptist church in this city for many years. The funeral and interment took place at Westerly.

MRS. CHARLOTTE H. JIMERSON.

Mrs. Charlotte Hand Jimerson, widow of Aaron Little Jimerson, died Sunday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Marsh, of 11 Maple avenue, the month. Her death, which was caused by the infirmities of age, came just four months after the demise of her husband who passed away on April 20. Mrs. Jimerson had been in poor health for five years and during the last six weeks of her invalidism failed rapidly.

Mrs. Jimerson was born June 19, 1835, the daughter of the late William Hand and Nancy Terry Hand. Her birthplace was the old Hand homestead which still stands on Leland avenue, near Berkeley avenue. She was educated at the memorable Jackson schoolhouse on Terrill road and always made her home in this vicinity. Mrs. Jimerson was a sister to the late Captain William Hand, John Hand, Henry Hand and Thomas Hand, all of whom were well known Plainfielders. John Hand was the first New Jersey boy who met death in the Civil War. He was killed at Munson Hills, Va., on August 31, 1861, during a skirmish with a band of Rebel raiders. John Hand Camp, Sons of Veterans, which was one of Plainfield's strongest fraternal organizations at one time, was named in his honor. The deceased was a member of the Scotch Plains Baptist church and had a wide acquaintance throughout Plainfield and vicinity.

Surviving Mrs. Jimerson beside her daughter, Mrs. Marsh, are one other daughter, Mrs. J. T. Collins, of Rutherford, and a son, W. S. Jimerson, of Westfield. There are also twelve grandchildren and four great grandchildren and four brothers. The brothers are David Hand, of Berkeley avenue, and Hezekiah Hand, of Scotch Plains.

The funeral was held at Mrs. Marsh's home Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and was attended by many relatives and friends. Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, conducted the service. Burial was in the family plot in the Scotch Plains cemetery.

Warner in Line for Assembly Nomination

Arthur E. Warner, of Cranford, who recently announced himself as a candidate for Assembly on the Republican ticket, has issued a statement in his own behalf.

Mr. Warner says: "I desire to serve the county and State. I have given careful consideration to the matter of entering the primaries and have decided to do so. Requests that have affected my decision are from several parts of the county by men whose standing in the party and their communities command the respect of all.

"If I am honored with the nomination and subsequently am elected, I will give whole-hearted and conscientious service. I shall, if chosen, enter upon the duties of a legislator, free and untrammelled. I have made no pledges either to those who are desirous of appointments nor to anyone else."

Mr. Warner was a candidate for the Assembly three years ago, losing by less than a hundred votes. At that time, he carried every ward in Plainfield, the cities of Rahway and Summit, as well as a large number of the smaller municipalities. He is a graduate of Dartmouth College and a member of several organizations.

Failed to Heed Court Summons

Victor J. Merrill, executor and residuary legatee under the will of the late Mary Van Arden Parker, of this city, whom Chancellor Walker summoned to appear and answer to a charge of contempt of court following an offensive letter Merrill sent to the Chancellor in a Middlesex county will cast, failed to appear in court Tuesday. It is understood that Merrill is in New York State and consequently out of the jurisdiction of the New Jersey court.

The proceedings are of a most unusual character, but nore more so than the letter written by Mr. Merrill to Chancellor Walker, making charges against Judge Daly, of the Middlesex County Court and the lawyers who sought to prevent the probate of the Parker will.

Mr. Merrill, represented by Winfield S. Angleman, of this city, as counsel, appeared before Judge Daly as proponent of the will, which was successfully attacked on the ground that Mr. Merrill had used undue influence in inducing Mrs. Parker, who was the widow of a New York municipal judge, to make a will leaving him the bulk of an estate of about $23,000. The appeal from Judge Daly's decision upsetting the will was argued before Chancellor Walker about three weeks ago and has not been decided.

In his letter to the chancellor, Mr. Merrill asserted he was writing in obedience to "the irresistible impulse of my aching heart in its death throes." He declared it was not the gain of money, legally and morally belonging to him, which he was after, but the vindication of his character and of his motives toward Mrs. Parker. He asserted the lawyers who are trying to break the will and formed a conspiracy in order to get fifty per cent. of the estate, alleged to have been promised them by the grandson of Mrs. Parker in the event of the will being broken.

As proof of his sincerity, Mr. Merrill offered to sign an agreement to the effect that, if the will were admitted to probate, after payment of his lawyer and other expense, he would turn over every dollar to any church, charitable or benevolent institution the chancellor or any person selected by him might direct.

The letter also attacked the character and credibility of witnesses examined before Judge Daly and accused the court of admitting irrelevant testimony.

Dance for "Smoke Fund" September 19

Members of Troop D and Co. K, who have heard of the charity dance that will be staged at Columbus Hall, West Front street, Wednesday evening, September 19, by Eddie Marks and the members of his Jazz orchestra, for the benefit of the boys who will soon be on the firing line in the European battlefronts, are enthusiastic over the event. All regret that the war mobilization order of President Wilson will keep them away from such a patriotic function, but they express gratification that the younger set of Plainfield is doing its bit for the U. S. A.

Many unique features will be introduced at the charity dance, of more than passing interest being an original composition by Eddie Marks entitled "Smoke for Our Soldiers' Jazz." This patriotic number has a catchy melody that not only makes an excellent one-step, but one that is bound to be picked up by our boys in khaki and even sung while entrenched in France and Flanders. It will be rendered for the first time in public at the dance, the five piece jazz orchestra rendering the selection with eleven different instruments during the course of this particular number.

The talk of Plainfield, the charity dance is also being discussed by the young men and women of nearby townships, a great many of whom have already signified their intention of attending the affair. A reception committee will soon be named that will look after the out of town gatherings.

Present indications point that there will be a record attendance at Columbus Hall on the night of the event. The money realized, as everybody knows by this time, will be turned over to the New York Sun's Tobacco Fund. It is for such a noble and patriotic cause that unprecedented interest is being evinced by all.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

Miss Isabel Scarborough will go to the camp with the girls this week. Any young woman wishing to get a glimpse of camp life should make herself of this opportunity. The office should be notified not later than Friday night.

The delegates who are to attend the High School Council at Altamont will leave Plainfield on Thursday afternoon to be gone for 10 days. The Association here will have six representatives, Mrs. A. C. Wadley, chairman of the girls' work committee; Miss Lena Mae Jackson, girls' work society secretary; Miss Florence Ryder, president of the Marie F. Brake Bible Class; Miss Elsie Kurzhals, Miss Margaret Smith and Miss Mildred Wadley.

Miss Mann will be at the tennis court, corner of Madison avenue and West Eighth street, on Thursday and Saturday afternoons from 4 until 7 o'clock to play with, or coach any member who may wish to come.

Tentative Plans For Conscript Mobilization

During the past few days the members of the local Exemption Board have been besieged by men who have passed tests for the National Army to know about the method by which they are to be gathered from their homes and transported to training camp. Orders have been issued from General Crowder's office but they are not available for general distribution. They provide for the calling of thirty per cent. of the quota from each district on September 5, thirty per cent. on September 15 and thirty per cent. on September 19, with the remaining ten per cent. to follow later. "They will be called in the order examined. The remainder of the order may be summarized as follows:

Each District Board shall give notice to the members of each quota as early as possible to hold himself ready to report at a certain place at a certain time. These boards will mail copies of this notice to each man, post a notice in the office of the Board and turn a copy over to the newspapers. But the posting of this notice in the office of the Board is legal notice and failure to appear will not be excused on the ground that mail was not delivered or the selected man neglected to read that posted notice.

The Adjutant General of the State will notify the local board when it is desired that the quota for which the Board is responsible shall entrain for camp and to what camp they are to be sent. It will be for the local board to fix a place and time for the entraining. Every man in the quota shall be notified by posted notice and by mail to report at the office of the Board between 8 in the morning and 5 in the afternoon on the day set.

The hour for reporting shall not be more than twenty-four hours before the time set for entraining nor less than twelve.

On reporting the men will be held together and formed in line. The Board will have employed a number of assistants to direct the new soldiers; it will also have made contracts with lodging houses, hotels and restaurants in the neighborhood of the offices so that tickets issued by the Board will be accepted for the food and lodging of conscripts, these tickets to be cashed later by a disbursing officer of the Government.

In the discretion of the Board men living in the neighborhood of the offices will be allowed to sleep and eat at their homes. Each man is to be notified that from this moment on he is a soldier and subject to military discipline.

Conscripts will be accompanied to the lodgings by members of the Board and assistants who will see to it that there is a bed for each man and that he is assigned to it. The men will be notified to appear for retreat roll call at the office of the Board at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. They will be told when they are to report to entrain. The hour for reporting to entrain shall be forty-five minutes ahead of the time when the train is to depart, plus the time it takes to move the men from the office to the railroad station.

When the men are assembled at the office for entrainment one of their number will be selected by the Board as "the man in charge." He shall select an assistant. The men will be instructed to obey all instructions received from "the man in charge."

The quota, accompanied by the Board, will then move to the railroad station. The Board will present transportation requests and receive tickets for the men and also food tickets for their meals en route. These will be put in the care of "the man in charge," who will conduct all business with railroad employes and restaurants en route dividing his command, in moving in and out of the train and eating houses with his assistant.

"The man in charge" will also have in his custody all the papers, rolls and the like which accompany the troops and which are to be turned over to the adjutant of the training camp.

As soon as the train has left the local Board will telegraph, on a form provided to the adjutant of the camp, stating the number of men who have been sent, the time of their departure, their route and the probable time of their arrival. If the journey is of more than twelve hours "the man in charge" will send a telegram to the adjutant six hours before the arrival, telling when the quota is to be expected.

Besides filling out its quota, each Board must name five alternates. These alternates must accompany the quota to the station, but are not legally soldiers until it appears that there are absentees at the last roll call, fifteen minutes before train time. If there are absentees one alternate shall be taken for each man absent and then and there become subject to military law.

There are ample provisions for the arrest and punishment of absentees as deserters. The extreme penalty for desertion in time of war is death.

Freeholder Wilbur Gives Board's Side of Road Accidents

The Board of Freeholders does not hold itself "morally responsible" for accidents such as those which resulted in the death of Mrs. Louise Di Renzo and Helen Hedstrom, because of the condition of Westfield avenue. Answering the published protest directed to the board as well as to the Elizabeth Board of Works because the northerly side of the thoroughfare is not paved, Samuel P. T. Wilbur, of Plainfield, chairman of the county road committee, made this statement when the complaint of the El Mora Association was called to his attention:

"It isn't fair to put this matter up to the Board of Freeholders. The northerly side of the street is in good condition, although not paved, for we have kept it oiled and in good shape. I don't know why it isn't used for traffic. We certainly should not be blamed for persons insisting on using one side of the street. All vehicles seem to go over on the southerly side, which is paved with amiesite. Why, I don't know."

Mr. Wilbur, after expressing regret for the accidents, reverted to the efforts of the board members who were at the State Highway Department's conference at Somerville several weeks ago to have this road taken over by the State.

"We asked the Department to take this road over as part of the State highway system," he said, "and received assurances that this would be done, and Mr. Bauer (the county engineer), who was present, will bear me out in this."

Mr. Bauer corroborated the statement, and Mr. Wilbur added that the State would probably pave the thoroughfare next year. It developed that the apportionment of cost of the proposed improvement had much to do with the situation, as it affects the Board of Works. It has not yet been determined whether or not property-owners along the street will bear a portion of the assessment, should the improvements cost be borne in part by the city.

It is understood that a statement replying to the El Mora Association's charges of neglect will be presented at today's meeting of the board. Michael J. O'Hanlon and other members of the association have frequently protested to the board, either for the improvement of the street by the board or the paving between the tracks by the Public Service Railway Company, or the oiling of the tracks by the latter corporation.

Big Conference Closes Sunday

The annual national conference of the Seventh-Day Baptist churches, which opened in the Plainfield High School last Tuesday morning, will continue today, tomorrow and Sunday, when the several hundred delegates who have been in attendance will scatter to their homes in the various parts of the country. The conference opened yesterday morning with a prayer meeting in the Seventh-Day Baptist church. In the afternoon general business was transacted and a program of the historical society was enjoyed at the evening session.

This morning the conference was continued, starting with a prayer meeting at the church. This afternoon has been given over to rest, recreation and preparation for the Sabbath services tomorrow. Tonight there will be a prayer and conference meeting. Tomorrow morning there will be a prayer meeting and communion service in the church on Central avenue at 10:00, followed by the regular morning service. The greater part of the afternoon will be taken up with a patriotic and vesper service. Sunday, the closing day of the conference, will open with a prayer meeting at the church in the morning. The educational society will also give a program and there will be a devotional service. In the afternoon there will be the reports of committees and the transaction of unfinished business. A prayer and praise service and sermon will precede the closing services in the evening, and Monday the delegates will scatter for their homes.

AUTO SPEEDERS FINED IN BOROUGH COURT.

In the borough police court Wednesday, William Willis, proprietor of the Plainfield Taxi Company, and Arthur Moore, a driver for the Plainfield Cab Company, were fined $10 each for speeding their automobiles on Somerset street. In passing sentence Recorder Hand announced that he is determined to stop the practice of automobile drivers of using North Plainfield's main thoroughfare as a speedway and will hereafter impose heavy sentences. He also forwarded the names of Willis and Moore to Commissioner Dill in order that they may be properly warned against speeding or have their licenses taken away.

Mrs. Charlotte K. Trewin, of Orchard place, has returned home after a visit with relatives at Flemington.

Gives Dealers War Tax Notice

Dealers who will be affected by the war tax act, the passage of which by Congress is expected at any time, are much interested in its provisions. Collector Charles V. Duffy, of the local internal revenue district, has issued a statement by way of preparing those who will be affected by it.

In his statement, Mr. Duffy calls special attention to those who will have to stamp goods they have in their places for sale. The act probably will become effective the day it is signed by the President, and after that date none of the goods requiring stamps may be sold legally without a stamp on it. The collector is giving out the statement at this present time, so that as little inconvenience as possible may be entailed through operation of the prospective law.

The statement is addressed to those who are handling goods containing spirits and tobacco articles of all kinds. Such persons, firms and corporations, Mr. Duffy explains, "are informed that upon the day that this bill becomes effective they must immediately make an inventory of their stocks on hand, so that the same may be stamped up with the proper amount of tax as required by the bill."

On the basis of the inventory made, all dealers will have to purchase stamps from the internal revenue office in the postoffice building at Elizabeth, where Deputy Revenue Collector Jeremiah P. McNamara has his office, and place them on containers of the goods which may be subject to the tax. After that date none may be sold legally without the stamps. The bill contains heavy penalties for violations of the act.

The bill is still awaiting final action in Congress and may be voted upon in the Senate at the end of this week, or early next week, according to information received from Washington.

DRAFT HAS FIRST CALL OVER POLITICS

In view of the war talk and the draft talk Democratic and Republican candidates for county offices are finding it rather difficult to get their respective candidacies a hearing. Although the time is near for the filing of petitions and under normal conditions the political program should be all cut and dried, everything is pretty much topsy-turvy. The draft has the call on public attention, and so far as the politics situation is concerned it would seem as if the party leaders would have to wait for the finals before they can hope to rivet public interest on the

Restless Days At Sea Girt Camp

With word received from Anniston that the advance guard of Jersey soldiers have safely reached their Southern training camp and the Red Bank Ambulance Corps, scheduled to leave for the camp of the "Rainbow" Division tomorrow, the main body of the Federalized New Jersey National Guard is nearing the end of its fourth week in camp at Sea Girt with the opinion prevailing that this will be the last weekend they will spend in Northern climes. No official announcement has been forthcoming as to when they will move, nor is advance information expected, but officers as well as enlisted men seem to think that a change will come within the week.

Things have been moving along smoothly with the First Squadron Cavalry and all four troops have reached war strength. The month of drill has enabled the recruits to become accustomed to soldiering. Both drill as mounted units and infantry has been indulged in and work on the rifle ranges has served to make all the men fair shots. William J. Vail, of this city, was received into Troop D Wednesday as a rookie.

There is still considerable doubt among the men as to whether or not the four troops of the First Squadron are to remain mounted. Captain Wilbur Kyle, of Essex Troop, has expressed the opinion that they will eventually either be sent to the Mexican border or Panama Canal Zone for duty instead of seeing service in France, where cavalry is practically useless. Everyone, however, admits that they want to remain mounted but at the same time see active fighting.

PROGRAMS TO MARK PLAYGROUND CLOSING.

The closing of the playgrounds at the Irving and Franklin Schools will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when programs appropriate to the occasion and arranged by those in charge at each playground will be rendered. The parents and friends of the children who have spent an enjoyable summer have been asked to be present at the festivities that will continue until 5 o'clock.

Miss Marion Mair, who has been in charge at the Irving School playground, assisted by Miss Ruth Ralston, has arranged for an exhibit of craft and handiwork and folk dancing. There will be singing and games as well as races. The same activities will feature the exercises at the Franklin School.

Pave Contractors Speeding Up Work

Responding to urgings on the part of City Engineer A. J. Gavett, the Newark Paving Company, which is doing the greater part of the new paving work in this city, has placed an increased force of men on the East Fifth street portion of the contract in order to speed up the opening of that thoroughfare. Much delay has been occasioned by the double tracking of the trolley line from Watchung avenue to Richmond street but this is now well underway and the actual work of paving can be pushed with vigor. It will be at least three weeks, however, and possibly four, before East Fifth street can be thrown open to travel.

The Newark company, like many other concerns, has found it difficult to secure the proper laboring men and this is one reason why the street work has not progressed satisfactorily. Complaints have been pouring in upon the city officials from business men and others who have been hampered by the shutting off of certain portions of thoroughfares and the bad condition of others awaiting improvement. It is hoped that the addition of the new men and the consequent "speeding up" will prove satisfactory to all and that the contracts can be completed before cold weather sets in.

East Second street, between Park avenue and Watchung avenue, is the first block to be completed in the new brick work. It was thrown open to traffic a few days ago and has given every satisfaction, in many ways the new method of putting down the brick is superior to that of the old bricking of ten years ago. The Newark Paving Company is now at work on the curbing of North avenue and West Front street previous to beginning paving on those portions of the contract. It is quite possible that North avenue will be the next street to be dug up. As soon as the excavating machine has finished with East Fifth street it will be brought over to North avenue to start operations. This will probably take place in the latter part of next week. The New Jersey Central Railroad, which owns the strip of ground in front of the North avenue station where the cab men have their stand, has notified the street committee that it will have this portion paved to correspond with the rest of the thoroughfare. The railroad will bear the entire expense and also for the installation of new curbings. While the work is going on the cab men and American expressmen will have to devise their own way of taking care of their work as the street will be completely closed for perhaps several weeks.

After North avenue is underway, West Front street, from the present brick terminus at Madison avenue, to a point near Liberty street, will be given consideration. The work in this stretch will be hampered somewhat by the movements of the trolley cars but the contractors believe it will not be sufficient to make any great delay. One block will be closed at a time. Park avenue, from Fourth to Seventh streets, and Watchung avenue, from Fourth to Fifth streets, will be the last stretch which the Newark company is to do.

John P. Bentley, of Elizabeth, who has the contracts for the other streets to be improved, has gotten his work well underway and will be through on time. West Seventh street has been completed from Grant avenue to Central avenue and the remaining blocks to Park avenue are almost finished. This work is all concrete. Mr. Bentley's force is now pushing along East Seventh street to Watchung avenue and after that will turn its attention to Park avenue, between Seventh and Ninth streets. In turn later will come West Second street, between Park and Madison avenues, and Madison avenue, between Front street and Second street. The Madison avenue block will be of brick and is the only stretch of this kind that Mr. Bentley will do.

WORKMAN INJURED.

James Corato, of Westfield, a laborer employed on a sewer excavation on East Front street, near Jackson avenue, was caught in a cave-in yesterday and badly injured. He was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where it was found that he had sustained a broken shoulder, two broken ribs and numerous severe contusions and abrasions.

INJURED GIRL RESTING VERY COMFORTABLY.

Miss Helen Tamm, nine years old, and daughter of Charles E. Tamm, of Summit avenue, the borough, was reported at Muhlenberg Hospital this morning as resting comfortably. The child sustained a fractured leg and numerous bruises and contusions when she was struck by an automobile driven by Councilman John Cose while driving on Somerset street. Councilman Cose was exonerated of blame.

DRAFT REGISTRANT APPEARS AHEAD OF HIS TIME.

George Moore, Jr., of West Fourth street, one of the men eligible for the local draft but not included in the first 816 called, appeared before the Exemption Board at the Everett Avenue School this week and asked to be examined. He stated that he wanted to enlist. Chairman Reed ordered the physicians to pass upon Moore and as he was found physically fit he was placed among the accepted men. Moore's rotation number was 953.

Big "Send-Off" Being Planned For Local Men

In common with other executives in various parts of the State who are planning to give conscripted men a rousing farewell on the day they depart for training camp, Mayor Leighton Calkins has inaugurated a campaign for a big military procession in Plainfield in honor of the 200 or more local lads who will help make up the big national army. To this end the Mayor has appointed a committee of representative citizens who will assume the task of completing the details. Assemblyman William N. Runyon has been named as chairman of the committee, a selection that meets with the approbation of the entire city. With this able man at the head of the movement it goes without saying that the Plainfield lads will get a send-off second to none in New Jersey.

While no definite arrangements have been made as yet it is understood that Grand Army veterans, Spanish War veterans, home guards, Boy Scouts and all attached military or naval men who can get leave of absence on the day in question will help make up the procession. Lodges like the Elks, Knights of Columbus, Jr. O. U. A. M., and other fraternal organizations who have contributed many of their members are already talking of putting in floats. The possibilities of the demonstration are only just beginning to be realized but will be quickly gotten in shape when Chairman Runyon gets his committee working.

In naming the appointees for making the arrangements, Mayor Calkins sent the following letter to each man:

"Dear Sir:

"I am appointing a citizens' committee, as named below, and would appreciate your acceptance of membership thereon. The purpose is to make arrangements in advance in order that the young men from this vicinity who are being selected by the Government for the new National Army, and who shortly will leave their homes here to offer their service, and their lives if need be, in defence of country and for the maintenance of world order and Christian civilization, may know on the day they leave us that their patriotism is held in honor by the people of our city; that we are assured they will be worthy of the service upon which they enter; and that our thoughts and prayers will be for them and for the cause in which they have enlisted.

"Yours faithfully,
"LEIGHTON CALKINS,
"Mayor."

The citizens' committee is to meet on call of the chairman and is as follows: William N. Runyon, chairman; Marion S. Ackerman, Francis J. Blatz, J. Whitney Baker, Rev. B. M. Bogan, Elliot T. Barrows, Allen E. Beals, Archibald Cox, Samuel J. Carter, Jr., T. O. Crane, Charles H. Frost, Leslie R. Fort, C. J. Fisk, Alexander Gilbert, George H. Goddard, B. Van D. Hedges, M. D., Frank J. Hubbard, Rev. Charles E. Herring, A. E. Hoagland, Albert F. LaRocka, Edward H. Ladd, Charles W. McCutchen, Alexander Milne, G. W. V. Moy, John J. G. McLaughlin, William Newcorn, Rev. Edward S. Ralston, L. V. F. Randolph, Charles A. Reed, Percy H. Stewart, T. C. Vail, Morris C. Van Arsdale, Walter H. P. Veysey and James F. Buckle.

G. A. R. OFFICERS ARE ELECTED AT CONVENTION.

Orlando A. Somers, of Kokomo, Ind., was elected yesterday commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republican at the closing session of the annual encampment. Brigadier-General John L. Clem, U. S. A., retired, of Washington, who enlisted in the Twenty-second Michigan infantry, as a drummer boy at the age of eleven, was elected senior vice-commander-in-chief.

There was a three-cornered contest for the office of junior vice-commander-in-chief, to which John A. Vernin, of Chicago, was elected on the second ballot. John M. Adams, of Cincinnati, was elected surgeon-general and the Rev. C. H. Frady, of Helena, Mont., chaplain-in-chief. The appointment of Robert W. McBride, of Indianapolis, as adjutant-general was announced by Commander-in-chief Somers just before adjournment. Cola D. R. Stowits, of Buffalo, quartermaster-general, and J. Henry Holcomb, of Philadelphia, custodian of records, were reappointed.

MENTIONED FOR ASSEMBLY.

Walter I. Firebrook, sporting editor of the Courier-News, is being mentioned by the Prohibitionist party as a probable candidate for the Assembly nomination. Mr. Firebrook is well known in this city, where he has been a life-long resident, and has always been a staunch advocate of prohibition.

William C. Van Epps, of Netherwood avenue, who was recently discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital following an operation for appendicitis, has practically recovered and will shortly be able to resume work.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Baldwin, of West Fourth street, leave tomorrow for Montreal, Can., where they will spend several weeks with relatives.

City Fathers Considering Proposition To Make Park of Former Sewer Farm

The possibility of a recreation park being located on the city's abandoned sewage farm on Rock avenue is not altogether remote through action taken by the Council-manic finance committee at a meeting held this week. What to do with the property has been a topic for discussion among municipal officers since the new beds near Bound Brook were put into use and the park suggestion seems to be the best that has yet been offered. The finance committee has already secured a great deal of information on the plan and will take definite action as soon as a number of other points are cleared up.

The ground in question is located on both sides of Rock avenue between West Front street and Green brook. When purchased by the Common Council about twenty-five years ago it was known as the Smock farm and covered about fifty acres in all. With the addition of the grounds about the Industrial Home at Rock avenue and Front street the city now owns the entire frontage from Front street to the brook, making it possible to have a continuous stretch direct from one of the main arteries of travel. Only the lower portion of the acreage was developed for the sewage disposal beds and this can be easily converted to park purposes.

An expert landscape artist who made a study of the property at the request of a member of the Council is authority for the statement that approximately $10,000 would convert the premises into a most desirable park. The ground possesses numerous natural advantages, one of them being the ease with which an artificial lake could be made. On the east side of Rock avenue at the end nearest the brook there is a fine grove of trees and at another point there is ample space for a ball field and tennis courts. Again at another point it would be an easy matter to construct a swimming pool, a need that has been greatly felt in Plainfield for many years.

Councilman John H. Cose is one of the city officials who favor the park idea and on mentioning it to the finance committee at the meeting held for the purpose it received enthusiastic support. It was pointed out by Mr. Cose that the city has an option for the purchase of Parker Field which expires in about three years. The price to be paid for this small piece of ground on Randolph road will be in the neighborhood of $12,500. The plot is not big enough for an actual park nor does it possess the natural advantages to make even a small one. By spending $40,000 on the Rock avenue property the citizens will have a recreation centre that it can well be proud of and at the same time have it in a section where the most people are located who would use it. There are hundreds of families living in the West End especially which will find it convenient and those in other parts of the city could easily reach the grounds for a five-cent fare on the Main Line trolley. Parker Field is nearly as far out from the center of town as Rock avenue and is reached only by the Arlington avenue trolley. The location cannot be considered advantageous to either East or West End residents.

The finance committee decided to continue its investigations of the Rock avenue park idea and will discuss the matter at another meeting in the near future. As soon as the plan can be gotten into concise form, the matter will be presented to the people for final disposition.

Asks Candidates to Explain Their Stand

The following communication, which is self-explanatory, has been received at the Record office from Charles R. Banks, a well-known local resident:

"To the Plainfield Record:

"The coming November election offers the citizens of Plainfield an opportunity to place in nomination a candidate for sheriff of Union county for the term of three years. According to the present Primary Laws, any citizen properly endorsed, may be placed in nomination by his political party. Two candidates have presented themselves by circulating petitions for endorsement representing the Republican party of Plainfield. The writer and subscriber as well as many with whom he has come in contact, are desirous of knowing the public record of the two candidates now circulating petitions. These gentlemen are Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur and Councilman John H. Cose.

"It is of the utmost importance that the citizens should know the qualifications of these men as at this time the sheriff should be a man of the greatest integrity, most able and efficient. I ask in the name, and for the information of the voters of Plainfield, a full, free and authentic presentation of the public records of the above named men, through the columns of your paper.

"CHARLES R. BANKS.

Council Faces Serious Tie-Up On New City Hall

Financial difficulties besetting the F. F. Kenney Company, general contractors on the Plainfield City Hall, have resulted in a call for a special meeting of the City Hall committee to be held tonight, during which steps will be taken to protect the municipality's interests. It is alleged that payments due sub-contractors have not been forthcoming and if these under-men should begin legal proceedings or refuse to go ahead with their work it would produce a most serious complication. Mayor Leighton Calkins has been wired a full statement of facts and has sent word from East Gloucester, Mass., where he is spending his vacation, that he will make every attempt to be on hand at tonight's conference.

Representatives of the Kenney Company and the city met in the offices of the architects, Peck & Bottomley, on Fifth avenue, New York, yesterday afternoon. Those appearing for the municipality were Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, Councilman Thomas F. Hylan, chairman of the building committee, and Councilman G. Herbert Condict. Mr. Kenney gave a full statement of the concern's obligations and asserted that it time was given, the impending tie-up could be averted. He explained that only a few of the sub-contractors were inclined to be drastic. Others were aiding in every way to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion, among them being concerns which are furnishing materials. There is now a payment of about $12,500 due for work done and if the Council orders this paid at the regular meeting next Tuesday night, Mr. Kenney said practically every cent of it once be turned back to the job. His explanation is that the withholding of sub-contractors' money was due he has taken care of the most pressing claims at first and would care for the others as soon as possible.

The question of just what to do could not be decided upon by the officials at yesterday's conference but it is hoped that tonight's meeting will result in a satisfactory plan of action. If every effort is made to aid the company in emerging from the difficulties it is probable that the building can be completed on time. On the other hand if the job is taken away from the Kenney concern new contracts would have to be called for but as labor and materials are now from twenty to forty per cent. higher than they were when the original award was made fourteen months ago it would result in an increase of cost that is prohibited by the appropriation limit. In the event of the company suspending the city is supposed to be protected by a bonding concern, but by the time a bond was collected the municipality would be out of pocket.

The contract price for the Kenney portion of the City Hall job was $102,000. There are several other contracts made on the outside which do not figure in the present complication. Shortly after the work of erection was commenced, the Manhattan Engineering Company, which secured the electrical portion of the job, made an assignment and Ryder & Graves, of this city, are completing the work on a new figure. The increase in cost from the time the Manhattan Company offered its bid until Ryder & Graves took hold is one factor which makes the committee realize fully what it would mean to place the general contract in other hands at this time. According to estimates the hall should be completed and ready for occupancy the middle of November

Somerset Board Calls 100 More

In an effort to complete the district's quota of 209, the Draft Board of Somerset county sent out a call this week for 100 more men to appear at the court house in Somerville tomorrow for examination. Up to the present the board has called upon 516 men to appear and because they have fallen short sixteen men in securing the quota the extra call has become necessary. If the necessary men are obtained before all the men in this new call are reached examinations will be stopped, and as a hundred and fifty men can be passed on in a day the board expects to have the number by tomorrow night.

During the present week the Exemption Board has been busy considering exemption claims. It is possible that a number of the cases coming under the jurisdiction of the district board will be referred back to the local board sitting at Somerville for action and if that is so the certified list will be changed somewhat, making men who are scheduled to early come a little further on the list. Among those from North Plainfield included in the list certified to the district board are the following:

Harry Hartpence Schuck
Elmer Feildin
Marville M. Boylan
Harry P. Hansen
Theodore H. Hirschbein
Arthur Joseph W. Brady

CHANGE IN DAY OF ISSUE.

In order to give its readers a full and early account of the big conscript demonstration next Tuesday night and the details of the Business Men's Association "dollar day" next Thursday, the Record will appear next Wednesday afternoon instead of on Friday, the regular publication day. On the following week the issue will be on Friday as usual.

Uneventful Card for Labor Day

Labor Day so far as Plainfield is concerned will be one of the quietest holidays in years. The frightfulness of the world was that is making its presence felt more and more to those at home as each day passes and the postponing of the labor pageant leaves the holiday without any of the events that usually mark such a time. The postoffice, stores and other places of business in the city will be closed the entire day and a number of baseball tilts will provide amusement for those who are unable to leave the city over the week-end.

Monday will mark the official closing of the season for the City Baseball League, although the playing of postponed games will not wind up until the forepart of October. Tilts will be on tap in both the morning and afternoon, giving local fans one of the fullest cards of the season for that sport. In the morning St. Joseph's and the Century Club will clash, while the First Baptists and Hope Chapels are also trying conclusions. The afternoon series will be Hope Chapel vs. Century Club and St. Joseph's vs. First Baptists. Although they have not yet announced the opposing outfits, the Aeroplane team, T. A. B. S. and other local independent nines will be active on the holiday.

Labor Day will mark the resume of golf at the three clubs in this vicinity after a camparative lull in activities during the summer. At the Shackamaxson club, in the Willow Grove section, the second round of play for the President's cup will form the main part of the day's card. It marks the start of the fall program that will extend through until after Thanksgiving. At the Hywood Golf Club the qualifying round of the fall championships will take place. The conditions are to be the same as for the spring championship, except that the winner of the earlier competition will be excluded. There will also be a continuation of play for the Oakmont cup, 36 holes. The remainder of the day's events will include an approaching and putting contest, mixed couples, open to guests and members, to start at 2 o'clock, with a prize for the winning couple. Play at the Plainfield Country Club will be open to members and their guests. A program of events is being arranged.

NATIONAL ARMY CELEBRATION

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1917.

Parade moves promptly at 6 p. m. Organizations requested to be in line at 5:30 or as soon thereafter as possible. E. T. Barrows, Marshal.

Forms on East Seventh Street, with autos carrying members of National Army at right of line facing Richmond Street, with members of G. A. R. in automobiles as guard of honor.

All men of the army, navy, marine corps or National Guard who are in Plainfield on Tuesday are invited to be guests of the city. They are requested to meet at the postoffice at 5:30, where provision will be made for them.

Home Defense League immediately behind automobiles.

All other participating organizations will be assigned positions in the order in which they report to Marshal's Chief Aide. Circulars of further instruction will be mailed to each organization in the city.

Line of March—East Seventh street to Richmond street, to Front street, to Plainfield avenue, to Seventh street, to Madison avenue, to Eighth street, to College place, to Ninth street.

Dinner at High School for members of National Army at 7:15.

Mass Meeting at High School at 8:15.

Automobiles for guests of honor will meet on Second street with head of line facing south on Watchung avenue at 5:30 sharp and will proceed to East Seventh street as soon as loaded.

Residents are requested to decorate houses along the line of march and to illuminate after dark.

Subscriptions toward the $500 of necessary expense can be sent to Plainfield Trust Company. Any amount will be welcome.

Cut this out and keep for reference.

Plans Complete For Honoring the Army Conscripts

Many Organizations Will Take Part in the Big Parade Commencing Night's Program

In order to allow a large number of men to participate who were prevented from doing so because of the earlier hour previously set, the executive committee in charge of the celebration in honor of Plainfield's members of the National Army have changed the time of the parade to 6 o'clock next Tuesday night. This and many other important plans were decided upon at a meeting of the committee held at the City Building last night.

Elliot T. Barrows, chairman of the executive committee, will act as marshal of the parade, the line of march for which appears elsewhere in today's paper, and Assemblyman William N. Runyon, general chairman, will be the presiding officer at the meeting in the High School at 8:15. Leslie R. Fort, chairman of the ways and means committee, will act as marshal's aide. All organizations will report to him as they arrive at the gathering point.

While 6 o'clock has been set as the time for the parade to start all participating organizations are urged to arrive at East Seventh street at 5:30. They will be assigned positions in line in the order of their arrival, the only ones for whom a place will be saved being the guests of honor and the members of the G. A. R., who will be in automobiles.

All members of the army, navy, marine corps or National Guard who may be in Plainfield on Tuesday are also invited to be guests, although it will be impossible to send them a formal invitation. They are requested to appear at the postoffice at 5:30, when provision will be made for them.

In addition to Assemblyman William N. Runyon, the speakers at the mass meeting in the evening will include Dr. Charles A. Eaton and Rev. B. M. Bogan. The guests of honor will occupy seats on the platform with the speakers, and the 450 seats immediately in front of the platform will be reserved for relatives of the conscripted men and members of the G. A. R. Tickets will be issued for these seats in advance, two being allowed to each man in the National Army. The rest of the house will be thrown open to the public for as many people as the police will admit to the High School auditorium.

Music for the parade and mass meeting will be furnished by the Dutch Arms Band, and during the dinner an orchestra will play. In addition to the speaking there will be singing of patriotic songs.

Responses to the appeal for funds have been liberal, but more money is needed to make up the $500 which is required. To date $225 has been received by the Plainfield Trust Company, where additional funds should be sent. Contributors up to this morning were:

Judges Named For "Home Garden" Show

The Netherwood Residents' Association, which has practically completed all arrangements for the "Home Garden" show in St. Stephen's parish house on Saturday afternoon, September 8, today announced the judges for the exhibition. David Hand, who is considered one of the best agricultural authorities in this section, will award the prizes for all vegetables and also the home gardens planted and kept by juniors. Charles L. Stanley, the well-known florist, will award the prizes for floral displays.

Beside the cash prizes, gold printed blue and red ribbons are to be given for vegetables which are confined to the juniors. The "grown-ups" can enter the plant and flower display for which blue and red ribbons are to be awarded.

The show will be continuous from 3 o'clock until 6 and a cordial invitation is extended to all interested to attend. No admission fee is to be charged. The Netherwood Residents' Association has worked hard to make the show a success and if the people of Plainfield show they are interested by attending it is probable that the idea may be continued another year on a larger scale.

Borough "Send-Off" Big Success

North Plainfield's farewell to its conscripted men was given them last night in the form of a "send-off" dinner at the Park Club, under the auspices of the borough Home Defense League and attended by municipal officials, members of the Defense League, Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., and several of the most prominent citizens. The affair was one of the most patriotic affairs held in the borough in years, and was an unqualified success.

Preceding the dinner the conscripted men were met at Debele's Hall. A parade was formed with the Home Defense League leading the way, followed by the Civil War veterans and the drafted men, and a line of march was taken through the principal streets of the borough to the Park Club. Forming in Chatham street, the procession moved up Watchung avenue to Fairview avenue, to Somerset street, to Craig place, to Grove street, thence to Sycamore avenue, to Mercer avenue, to Sycamore avenue, and then from Willow avenue to the Park Club. The larger part of the residents were scattered along the line of march and cheered the men lustily.

Owing to the limited space and the desire to give all the drafted men a farewell at the same time, the general public could not be invited to the dinner, but as it was it was one of the largest gatherings ever held in the borough's famous rendezvous, over 160 diners enjoying the excellent repast. Considerable honor for the success of the affair is due Mayor William L. Smalley, who was toastmaster for the occasion. He injected that bit of witty humor and patriotic touch into the affair that everyone, including the men in question, enjoyed themselves to that extent where no trace of sorrow was in evidence.

The principal address of the evening was made by Judge William N. Runyon, who, responding to the spirit of the occasion, delivered an eloquent and stirring talk. He eulogized the young men that are soon to go forth in a few days to fight for their country. Andrew E. Kenney, chairman of the North Plainfield Home Defense League, and Allen Cowperthwait, of the same League, made brief addresses, as did several members of the Winfield Scott Post.

One of the moments during the evening when the solemnness of the occasion was brought home to everyone present was when Mayor Smalley, on behalf of the Defense League, presented each conscripted man with a bronze ring. On the inside of each ring was inscribed the name and serial number of the recipients, together with the date. During the evening Mrs. Elizabeth St. Ives Coddington rendered several solos, while a program of patriotic airs was contributed by Paronbek's orchestra.

VISITORS FROM CALIFORNIA.

Mrs. Joseph Boberg and daughter, Miss Helen Boberg, of Oakland, Cal., have been spending the past week in this city as the guests of Mrs. Boberg's aunt, Mrs. Mary Hines, of Liberty street. They have been East for several weeks and before coming to Plainfield visited at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Brooklyn. They will begin the return trip to the Pacific coast next week. Both Mrs. Boberg and her daughter have been delighted with Plainfield and declare they like it almost as much as their own beautiful city on picturesque Oakland Bay.

Local Board Will Not Discharge Men Whose Wives Possess Income

Articles appearing in the newspapers during the past week have led many persons to believe that President Wilson's ruling on the exemption of married men from conscription means that every registrant having a wife will not be called for service. Such however is not the interpretation of Chairman Charles A. Reed, of the local board, who has received his official notification of the Chief Executive's declaration. As far as Mr. Reed is concerned the matter remains the same as it did before, that is, that a drafted man whose wife is not absolutely dependent upon him for support is not to be excused. Numerous cases have arisen in Plainfield where it was found that the wife has a private income of her own easily sufficient to care for her financial needs while her husband is away. In matters of this kind discharge will not be granted. There has been other instances where the parents or other relatives of a wife are plentifully supplied with money but where they refuse to care for the woman and she alleges that she has only a husband to rely upon the board has no alternative' in giving the discharge claim. The government insists that the husband in a matter of this kind must not be taken.

The local board has been busy all the past week hearing claims for discharge but so far no information has been given out as to show many have been allowed or refused. It is believed this portion of the work will be completed the forepart of the week. As it stands now the number of accepted men toward the Plainfield quota of 202 is 174. The District Board at Newark has concluded the hearing of appeals out of the first panel of 266 Plainfield men. Of these only seven were given a discharge. Four were mentioned last week and the other three were announced yesterday. All were exempted for occupational reasons. The last three excuses are: George Trifilidis, Stanley L. Danner and Edward F. Farrell. Of the 266 men passed upon as the first panel, the District Board has certified fifty-four. The second call of 450 men is now under process of examination.

Thomas P. Lynch, of 652 South avenue, one of the accepted registrants who had filed a claim for discharge on the ground of dependent wife, informed a Record reporter today that he had voluntarily withdrawn his claim. He gave no explanation and as soon as he officially notifies the exemption board he will be placed among the certified men.

Chairman Charles A. Reed stated today that his board had not as yet been officially notified as to when the first contingent of Plainfield men should be started for the government camps. According to the newspaper reports five per cent. of the quota in each district is to entrain next Wednesday but Chairman Reed has no corroboration of this. He was informed by Adjutant-General Barber over the telephone last week that the first movement would take about one-third of the men but nothing further than this has been given to him. As soon as he receives his official orders the men affected will be duly notified.

The list of the 52 certified men forwarded to Chairman Reed by the District Board at Newark has resulted in postal cards being mailed to each one, notifying the man to hold himself in readiness for orders to assemble and to be ready to entrain. The 52 men are the following:

Lower Tax Rate Seen for County

A lower county tax rate, with a possible drop of two or three points in the city tax rate, is indicated by the big increase in county ratables, as shown in a statement prepared Wednesday by the County Tax Board. The increase is $13,703,140.86 more than last year, a $3,000,000 jump over the amount of increase expected.

Neither the city nor county officials were prepared yesterday to announce the specific tax rate drops for both. President John J. Collins, of the county board; Peter J. Olde, its secretary, were both confident that it would mean a lower rate. The county tax rate will be determined by dividing the total valuations into the amounts to be raised for the school and for the county. Last year's county rate was .37.

The increase, which includes not only the assessments on lands and buildings, but on personal and second-class railroad property as well, is $13,703,140.86 over 1916. Approximately $10,000,000 advance was looked for.

The total valuations for land and buildings in the county is $156,171,276; total personal valuation, $30,295,189.40; second-class railroad property valuations, $4,685,927; net valuations taxable, $191,152,339.40, as compared with net valuations taxable for the year, 1916, of $177,449,251.54.

Otto Transferred to Ft. Ogelthorpe

Rudolph Otto, German consul to Kingston, Jamaica, until the outbreak of the war in 1914 and more lately living in Fanwood and Plainfield, was taken from Ellis Island on Monday and in company with eighteen other German spies was sent under heavy guard to Fort Ogelthorpe, Ga. Included among the group were a number of prominent Teutons whose capture was affected during the Government's crusade to crush the spy system of the Central Powers.

Otto was taken into custody in this city by Secret Service men several months ago and since then had been under heavy guard at Ellis Island. He is accredited with being one of the leaders of the German propaganda in this country and facts disclosed by his arrest resulted in the capture of a large number of the others. His stay at Fort Ogelthorpe will undoubtedly be for the duration of the war.

MERCHANTS REQUESTED TO CLOSE EARLY.

A request has been made by the Plainfield Business Men's Association to its members that they close next Tuesday at 5 o'clock for the day, an hour earlier than usual, in order that those taking part in the parade to the conscripts and others may have a chance to reach their homes and return. It has also been suggested that those few merchants not belonging to the association close at the early hour in order that the move will be citywide.

READ THIS TALE OF WONDER FROM THE BOROUGH.
THEN ASK DAVE ALLEN WHEN THE WAR WILL END

Incensed at the story that came forth from Dunellen last week regarding the ability of the spiders in that burg to forecast the end of the world war, the borough, too, was armed out with such a wondrous tale Wednesday and ever since the story has been going the rounds and growing strength as it progressed.

The first intimation anyone had that prophets lurked within the borders of North Plainfield was when David Allen, of Harrison avenue, spread the story on Somerset street that a spider's web in his garden predicted the end of the war with the U. S. as the herald of victory. His listeners heard and marveled, then straightway adjourned to the garden patch to see for themselves. All day the pilgrims came, each one returning with different versions of what he saw. All, however, did not dispute the fact that the spider had the "inside track" on the war's issue. Allen was justly proud of his discovery until he went to take a second look at the marvel just as twilight was falling, but when he saw that his beans, potatoes and, in fact, his whole garden patch was trampled by the weight of many feet he wondered why the spider had chosen him to pick on.

Still at Work on Prison Farm Idea

While County Attorney Blatz is looking up the legal status under which the proposed new Union county prison farm may be operated, the freeholders' committee in charge of the matter of investigating the proposition, is busily engaged in studying the results obtained in similar institutions in other counties of the State. At the same time they are looking for a suitable site which may be obtained at a reasonable price, either by purchase or by rental.

Some contend that the institution might be advantageously located on the Bonnie Burn hospital grounds, where the county now owns about eighty-seven acres of land which might be utilised for farm purposes. Others think that the presence of so many prisoners on the grounds of the hospital would prove to be objectionable for various reasons. This the committee will investigate thoroughly before rendering its report to the board.

"The proposition, which will involve the expenditure of at least $20,000, calls for serious thought," a member of the committee said yesterday. "Apparently no one doubts the advisability of some form of prison labor for the county. The details, however, will have to be dealt with carefully."

While these matters have been under consideration, the prisoners have, many of them, been kept busy about the court house, and have also cultivated a good sized garden in the rear of the court house, supplying a crop of vegetables for the jail and other county institutions.

WHEELMEN GIVE MEMBERS BIG SEND-OFF TONIGHT

In honor of the six members who have either already joined the colors or are about to do so, the members of the Queen City Wheelmen's Association will hold a "stag" party at the home of George Simon, of South avenue, tonight. Members of the club will provide the entertainment and the affair will be in the nature of a patriotic send-off to those who are to serve their country. Sergeant Adam Miller, Alexander Campbell and Tom Mendell are the three who have already enlisted, while William Manning, Ned Forristel and Harry Meyer will help furnish Plainfield's draft quota.

But two more events remain on the season's sport card of the club, including the twenty-five mile open race. It is possible that both events will be run off on Sunday, as nothing has been scheduled for Labor Day.

ON GOVERNOR'S STAFF.

Captain Daniel Runkle, of Troop D, has been picked by Governor Walter E. Edge as a member of his staff and on Tuesday accompanied him from Sea Girt to Trenton, where the Second Regiment, including Co. K, of this city, was reviewed.

Richard's Circus Will Exhibit Here

The announcement that R. T. Richard's Supreme Show of the World will exhibit in North Plainfield Monday, September 10, should create interest because of the unstinted praise of the performance and equipment from places where it has been seen. It is an entirely new amusement enterprise and, according to all reports, its list of performers includes not only the best in their lines but the manner in which the show is presented is a new departure in the circus world likely to be widely copied because of its pronounced success.

The Supreme Show of the World is all that its name implies. Its equipment surpasses all others because it is of the most modern construction. Its beautiful wagons and superb horses alone will constiute an art exhibition of hand carving and a horse fair. Its paraphernalia is the last word not only from the viewpoint of beauty but from that of the safety and comfort of the audience as well. Its big show tent is more than 200 feet in length and is illuminated by a traveling power plant which furnishes 32,000 candle power, more lighting than has ever been used by a circus before. The "big top" will seat several thousand persons in a manner so comfortable that it will be a revelation to those who have endured other methods.

R. T. Richard, the new figure in the circus world, gave three years of his time and spent close to $1,000,000 in assembling the Supreme Show of the World before starting on the road to give public exhibitions. Every wagon, piece of canvas, pole, bunting and item of paraphernalia is brand new and spic and span. Some idea of the magnitude of the enterprise may be gleaned from the fact that the "big top," the menagerie, the side show, the "cook house" and various horse tents and small tops are only a part of the canvas equipment.

The menagerie which is shown in a 100 foot tent contains a more complete zoological exhibit than has been seen here before. There are herds of big elephants, caravans of camels, llamas, zebras, sacred cattle from India and various other tame animals besides many dens of lions, tigers, leopards, monkeys and various other wild beasts of the jungle.

The performance, which consumes more than two hours to present, includes some of the best known names in the circus world as well as many distinct novelties from Europe exhibited in this country for the first time because of the war conditions on the continent. There will be wonderful trained animal acts, bareback riding of thrilling skill and daring, many specialties on platforms and rings and a myriad of hair-raising acts on high trapezes and wires stretched from the topmost places of the big tent.

Aside from the excellence of the program the new circus bids for patronage on the grounds of the wholesomeness of its attitude toward its patrons. Perfect organization and attention to details assures not only comfort in seating and in the manner of entrances and exits, but it also provides cleanliness and absolute safety for women and children.

On the morning of circus day there will be a good chance to judge the performance beforehand when the parade is exhibited free on the main streets. The new and gayly painted wagons of red and gold, drawn by the big horses and marching to the music of a mounted military band, a band wagon and a compressed air calliope, will show better than words can tell that the Supreme Show of the World is in every respect a big show. There will be many clowns and fair girls in the parade and many of the wild animals will be drawn through the streets in their open steel cages. Elephants, camels and other rare animals will march in the line. The parade is nearly one mile in length.

There will be two performances, the matinee at 2 o'clock and the evening show at 8. The doors will be opened one hour earlier than the time set for each performance in order that patrons may inspect the big menagerie which, in the evening, will be brilliantly illuminated by electricity.

"Nemo," the World's Most Intelligent Educated Pony, with R. T. Richard's Circus, Exhibiting in North Plainfield September 10.

Scott Concern to Expand; Building Is Still Slumping

A large force of men was put to work this week clearing the ground to the east of the Walter Scott Printing Press factory, on South avenue, to make ready for the construction of three new buildings made necessary by the securing of large government contracts. On Monday the Levgar Structural Company, of Dunellen, expects to start actual work on the erection of the buildings and until they are complete will keep the job going continually. One of the structures to be used for offices will be 20x42 and another for storage purposes will be 63x86. The largest of the three, to be used as a workshop, will be 60x231. All three buildings will be one story in height.

The amount of the contract has not been made public, but it is understood to run over the $20,000 mark. An agreement has been reached whereby the work is to be completed by December 1. The contracts secured by the Scott concern are for anti-aircraft mounts and artillery carriages.

The month of August has seen but little activity in the building line in this city, the Scott contract being the only one of any size filed with Building Inspector Doane. Plans for a number of garages and several additions were approved. The approach of fall gives but little promise of an increase, according to local builders, who attribute the war to the decline.

Harriet Ware, known throughout the country as one of the foremost women composers, has received as a gift from her husband, Huge Montgomery Krumbhaar, the large estate on Terrill road owned for the past five years by Louis Hosson. The transaction was made through a large New York realty firm, and the property includes a tract of twenty-one acres with an old mansion standing for 150 years and a number of outbuildings. There is also a large pond on the premises and considerable woodland. The property will be extensively improved.

The Springfield road between Scotch Plains and Mountainside is yearly becoming more and more a section for large estates. Realty leaders of both Plainfield and Westfield have sold large tracts during the past summer to individuals who intend building homes. Roger Stevens, of Fanwood, is now having completed such a place for himself near the Cook estate and ground has been broken for another expensive dwelling on the adjoining property.

One of the contracts filed in the office of the county registrar this week was between Andy Cutillo, of North avenue, and Charles Bicknell for all the work on an addition to cost $2,750. Two of the transfers recorded were as follows:

Goodhue Realty Corp. to Valent Kigemet, lots 35-36, block A, map of Bountain View Heights, Fanwood $1

Goodhue Realty Corp. to Michael Haller et ux., lots 37-38, block A, map of Mountain View Heights, Fanwood $1

Plainfield Ambulanciers to Fight Under Own Flag

The American Field Ambulance Service, with 1,100 men in the ambulance branch and 800 in the transport, is to be taken over by the American army, the ambulance branch going under the control of the Medical Department and the transport under the direction of the Quartermaster General. The first step in the transfer was taken this week when representatives of the medical service left to visit the thirty-four ambulance sectors along the front and invite the men to enlist for the war under the same conditions as of the service now existing. Those who do not accept may return home and have their places filled by others.

Four Plainfielders will be affected by the change and all are expected to remain as they have expressed the wish that they were fighting under their own flag in letters home. They include Lyman Hibbard, the first to go aboard from this city and who has been serving continuously for nearly a year, is certain to enlist under the new arrangements and the others are C. Ames Brooks, Clement Bechtel and Arthur Ralston. All have been in active service for some time.

PLAINFIELD NURSES IN SERVICE BEHIND VERDUN

Among the glowing accounts of the work being accomplished by the American nurses in France prominent mention is made of the Presbyterian Hospital unit, of New York, that contingent, which includes in its membership Miss Grace Cahoone and Miss Elizabeth McClay, two local young women, is getting right into the thickest of the fight.

Although particulars have not been given, word has reached this country of the injury of Miss Beatrice MacDonald, one of the nurses of the unit, when German aviators dropped bombs on hospitals just beyond the Verdun front. The message says her ultimate recovery is assured, although the sight of one eye will be impaired. The remainder of the unit members nearby at the time escaped injury.

Mrs. Joseph E. Kelley, of North avenue, is greatly improved after a severe illness during the past week.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred B. Newman, of Tunkhannock, Pa., returned this week after a visit with Mr. Newman's father, H. Otis Newman, of West Fifth street. Mr. Newman was at one time prominent in young men's work in Hope Chapel but has been pastor of the Presbyterian church at Tunkhannock, near Wilkes Barre for the past ten years.

John J. Casey, of West Third street, will return to his duties at the Plainfield Board of Health office, next Tuesday after a two weeks' vacation. Most of the time was spent at Keansburg.

Chauncey F. Stout, of East Front street, who has been ill with typhoid fever and complications for the past sixteen weeks is now able to be out a short time each day for an automobile ride. It will be some time yet, however, before he is able to return to business.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gow of Park avenue, who have lived in Plainfield for the past twenty-eight years, will leave Labor Day for their new home at Winthrop Beach, Mass., a suburb of Boston. Mr. Gow has severed his connection with the Pond Tool Work to accept one with the Meade-Morrison Company at East Boston.

James M. Wherry, of Park place, who has been detained from his work as machinist at the Standard Aero plant through an accident which befell him at the factory last week, his hand was caught in a machine and Dr. W. H. Ankney found it necessary to amputate a portion of one finger in dressing his hurts.

Miss Amy L. Moore, of Park avenue, has been entertaining her sister, Miss Ruth Moore, of the Bronx, New York, during the past week.

Elmer Mantz, of Summit avenue, and Arthur Lederer, of Craig place, spent the past week-end at Atlantic City, making the trip in Mr. Lederer's new automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Krog and family, of Berckman street, will return home Sunday after spending two weeks in camp on Rainey Island, Lake Hopatcong.

William J. Breen, of the Hotel Kensington, commenced his annual two weeks' vacation Monday. He will spend the time at his former home at Point Pleasant and nearby shore resorts.

Miss Margaret Higgins, of West Front street, will return home Sunday after a week's stay with relatives at New London, Conn.

Mrs. Mary MacDonald and granddaughter, Miss Abbie MacDonald, of Paterson, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Lefler, of West Sixth street. Mrs. Herring Plainfield they went to Asbury Park for a week's stay. Mrs. MacDonald is the mother of Rev. Father Joseph MacDonald, former curate at St. Mary's church, who has been called by the Government for chaplain service in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Weil and daughters, Ruth and Eflees, of Martine avenue, will return home tomorrow, after a delightful sojourn at Mount Pocono. Master Ralph Weil returned yesterday after spending the summer in "Bob o' Moodna" camp in the Adirondack Mountains.

Robert Dentz, of Duer street, will return home tomorrow after a stay at Asbury Park as a portion of his vacation.

Miss Augusta Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Hoffman, of Califon, was married Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock to Abram Severs, Jr., of High Bridge. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents and following a reception the young couple left on an automobile trip through New York State. Both Mr. and Mrs. Severs have many friends in Plainfield. The former is employed at present at the Taylor steel plant at High Bridge but expects to remove to Philadelphia shortly to take a new position with the Midvale Steel Company.

Chester Hamilton and family, of Grove street, the borough, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, of Pluckemin.

Miss Mildred Harden, of Somerset street, has been entertaining Miss Eunice Towles, of Lebanon, during the past week.

Miss Beulah Boylan, of Bergen street, returned this week after a delightful two weeks' stay in camp near Rockville, Conn.

Miss Nellie Casey, of West Third street, has returned home from the Pocono Mountains, where she enjoyed a two weeks' stay.

Mrs. R. H. Keenan and family, of East Fifth street, will return home tomorrow from Keansburg, where they have been occupying a cottage during the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Lyons, of Summit avenue, have returned home after spending a two weeks' vacation at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Clifford Wharton, of Belvidere avenue, who has been spending the summer at the Thousand Islands, will return to her home shortly for the season.

Build By Plans

and avoid the expensive difficulties of haphazard construction.

Building by plans means that your buildings will be exactly as you intend them to be—every piece of lumber has its place—you know exactly where it belongs—you know in advance just how much lumber will be required.

Our plans, specifications and complete bills of material for all types of farm buildings are practical. The buildings have all been built time after time until all guesswork has been eliminated. They enable you to check up on the work at any stage in its progress and know that it is right.

We are making no charge for our plan service—it is a part of our new method of selling. We are offering it because it enables us to make pleased and satisfied customers.

We prefer to sell buildings rather than bills of lumber because we are then in better position to recommend the best wood and the proper grade for each use.

The responsibility of pleasing you rests with us.

Of Manufacturers

Plans for a State-wide association of manufacturers of New Jersey, to be known as the Manufacturers' Association of the State of New Jersey, were announced this week, when a call was sent to a limited number of leading manufacturers to attend a dinner and preliminary meeting for purposes of organization, to be held at the new Robert Treat Hotel, at Newark, on Wednesday evening, September 26, and at which it is expected, in addition to the manufacturers invited, there will be present Governor Edge and other prominent men of affairs.

The call was issued by Warren C. King, chairman of the Manufacturers' Association of the Board of Trade, at Bound Brook, and president of the King Chemical Company of that place. Among the manufacturers known both throughout the State and nationally, who have been invited to send representatives to the initial meeting, are: John A. Roebling Sons Company, Trenton; Weidman Silk Dyeing Company, Paterson; Standard Oil Company, Bayonne; H. W. Johns-Manville Company, Bound Brook; Colgate & Co., Jersey City; Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick; King Chemical Company, Bound Brook; Armstrong Cork Company, Camden; Wheeler Condenser and Engineering Company, Carteret; Chrome Steel Works, Chrome; Richardson & Boynton Company, Dover; Warner Sugar Refining Company, Edgewater; Diehl Manufacturing Company, Elizabeth; Singer Manufacturing Company, Elizabethport; Garfield Worsted Mills, Garfield; William Campbell Wallpaper Company, Hackensack; Crucible Steel Company, Harrison; Standard Aero Corporation, Plainfield; American Lead Pencil Company, Hoboken; National Fire Proofing Company, Kearny; Lambertville Rubebr Company, Lambertville; Michelin Tire Company, Milltown; Balbach Smelting and Refining Company, Newark; Clark Thread Company, Newark; Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, Newark; Spicer Manufacturing Company, Plainfield; New York Belting and Packing Company, Passaic; Botany Worsted Mills, Passaic Standard Underground Cable Company, Perth Amboy; Ingersoll-Rand Company, Phillipsburg; International Motor Company, Plainfield; Raritan Woolen Mills, Raritan; Keystone Watch Case Company, Riverside; Salem Glass Works, Salem; J. L. Mott Company, Trenton; Niles-Bement-Pond Company, Plainfield.

Raymond D. Hodge, of this city, is spending his vacation at Ocean Grove.

Season Next Week

Manager Michael L. Shannon announces next Tuesday afternoon, September 4, as the formal opening of the Plainfield Theatre's third season of vaudeville and moving pictures. For this occasion he has secured a splendid bill of six all star acts and the latest releases from the leading film agencies in the country, making a program that is certain to please everyone. Performances are to be given in the afternoon at 2:15 and in the evening continuous from 7 until 11 o'clock. As in previous years the vaudeville and pictures will hold the boards every day when the house is not given over to the legitimate plays.

The vaudeville portion of the program was made up of five acts but during the coming season it will be six at all times. Arrangements have been made with the United Booking Office and other agencies to supply the pick of the talent appearing in the metropolitan district. The program will be changed twice each week on Mondays and Thursdays.

The picture features this season will include the Pathe "animated newspaper," showing the latest happenings all over the world. This is to be changed twice a week keeping pace with the accounts as printed in the daily newspapers. The Pathe reviews have been shown at the Plainfield Theatre the past two years and have proven one of the management's biggest drawing cards. Charlie Chaplin will be shown regularly in his latest comedies and there will also be feature photoplays every day. Soon after the theatrical season gets underway Manager Shannon promises a serial picture that will eclipse anything of the kind ever shown in this city. It is now being completed by a big producing company and will be described in detail later on.

The music at all performances the coming season will be under the supervision of Professor Harry Wetton, who needs no introduction to Plainfield audiences. He has gathered together an orchestra of eight pieces, each performer being a solo artist, thus assuring delightful musical programs each afternoon and evening. A new addition to the orchestra is worthy of mention in the personage of Chris Sorenson, Jr., of this city, who will play trombone. Mr. Sorenson has a nation-wide reputation for excellence in trombone work, for six seasons having accompanied Miss Eva Tanguay on this instrument in all her vaudeville work. He was also manager and trombone soloist for several years with Arthur Pryor's concert band. He comes to the Plainfield Theatre direct from Henderson's Theatre at Coney Island, where he has been musical director during the present summer.

Memory of Husband

In memory of her husband, Captain Frederick W. Vogel, who died in the Mount Vernon, N. Y., hospital several weeks ago, Mrs. Vogel made a personal request yesterday to Mayor Mitchel, of New York, that he present a phonograph to the 71st Regiment, in which her husband was an officer at the time of his death. Mayor Mitchel has consented to make the presentation on behalf of Mrs. Vogel and will do so on Labor Day. The machine will be one of special military construction so that it may be carried on the march without injury.

Captain Vogel was one of the first Americans to die since war broke out. He had lived in this city for several years and conducted the Edison Diamond Disc studio, on West Front street. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War, having been brevetted for bravery at San Juan and Santiago. Joining the 71st as a private, he had risen to captain and if he had lived a few days longer would have received a major's commission.

Chancellor Upholds Will Case Decision of Judge

Chancellor Walker has affirmed on appeal the refusal of Judge Peter F. Daly, of Middlesex county, to probate the will of Mrs. Mary Van Orden Parker, widow of a New York judge and one time resident of Plainfield.

The Chancellor's decision nullifies Mrs. Parker's alleged will, which bequeathed an estate of $25,000 to Victor Merrill, of Middlesex county. Judge Daly refused the probate because the will was in Mr. Merrill's handwriting. It was shown too that he had induced her to remove from New York to Plainfield.

While the case was pending on appeal, Merrill wrote to Chancellor Walker asking an opinion in his favor. The Chancellor promptly called Merrill into court and adjudged him in contempt.

"Spiegel's Revue," the Big Attraction Labor Day

Not satisfied with the remarkable record made last year by his "Merry Rounders," Max Spiegel has entered the burlesque field this year with another production which is even more elaborate and pretentious than the first named show. He calls his latest endeavor "The Spiegel Revue," and it comes to the Plainfield Theatre, Monday, matinee and night, September 3.

Mr. Spiegel has gone the very limit in spending money on the wardrobe and the scenic appointment. The show is in two acts and ten scenes and so massive is the scenic equipment that it takes two sixty foot baggage cars to transport this part of the show alone. He has paid a great deal of attention to the electrical end of the production.

The curtain for the first act goes up on Soberville. Then follow a railroad station scene, Kid's restaurant, a setting which depicts 42nd street, New York, and a ladies' reducing parlor. A night court scene opens the second act and the following scenes are a street scene, a scene for Midgie Miller and the Callahan Brothers' big specialty and a setting which represents the Peacock room of the Gilsmore Hotel. The cast is headed by Midgie Miller, supported by Harry Shappell, Princess Luba Meraff, Johnnie Walker, Callahan Brothers, California Trio and others.

Max Spiegel gave his personal oversight to the staging of the production. The chorus is a typical Spiegel one, which means the girls are the very prettiest in burlesque. The whole show, in short, is the best thing Mr. Spiegel or any other burlesque producer has ever provided.

Following a conference of Democratic leaders at Elizabeth Tuesday afternoon the following slate of candidates for the primaries next month was made public:

For State Senator—Francis V. Dobbins, Rahway.

For Sheriff—Howard G. Lapsley, Plainfield.

For Surrogate—Leroy A. Gibbs, Summit.

For Assembly—Edward A. McGrath, Elizabeth; Francis A. Gordon, Elizabeth, and a third man, who will come from Westfield or Cranford.

For Coroner—Dr. J. Edward Rayne, Elizabeth.

From a geographical standpoint and the character of the candidates, the slate is regarded as one of the best submitted to Democratic voters in several years. State Committeeman Dennis F. Collins declared that the ticket is ideal and should invite the support of a large number of independent voters. Each candidate is well fitted for the position to which he aspires, General Collins declared.

Walter H. Taverner, of Westfield, and Kenyon Messick, of Cranford, have been mentioned for the third place on the Assembly ticket.

A blanket petition containing the names of these candidates will probably be filed in the county clerk's office this week. One hundred signatures, all that are required by law, have been secured for the petition up to this time.

IN "RAINBOW" DIVISION.

Albert Brynisrski and Charles Wendell, two local boys, will be among the first Plainfielders to reach France, although their positions as pharmacists will probably prevent them from ever reaching the firing line. They are now training at Camp Mills, L. I., as members of the Red Bank Ambulance Corps, the only Jersey unit that will be in the "Rainbow" Division. Both young men expect to make a short visit home over Sunday in order to be prepared to move at any moment.

"When Dreams Come True" At the Plainfield Tomorrow

From time to time during past theatrical seasons, stories have come to the newspapers regarding the successful engagement played by "When Dreams Come True" in New York, Chicago and Boston. Local theatregoers who have no doubt read these stories will now have an opportunity of seeing this widely discussed musical comedy when it comes here to the Plainfield Theatre on Saturday, matinee and night.

The play tells of the adventures of a wealthy New Yorker's spry young son, who becomes involved with a French dancer, while he is in Paris, has his allowance cut off by the irate parent, and thus is compelled to go home in steerage. In the first cabin there is a young girl whom he sees and with whom he falls in love from afar, but of course cannot meet until both are on shore, where trouble accumulates for them. In the course of the play, the young fellow finds himself simultaneously and unwillingly engaged to three or four females of varying ages and charms, and it is not until the last minute that he is free to marry the dream girl of the ocean liner.

The scenic investiture of the play is elaborate to the last degree. There are nearly a score of dancing numbers, showing the latest developments of the modern dances in addition to the dances that were popular a score of years back. The song numbers introduced in "When Dreams Come True" are all of the popular whistleable variety and were composed by Silvio Hein, who gained fame as the composer of some of Marie Cahill's most pronounced song hits.

Vacancies Occurring In Fire Department

Resignations, conscription and illness have made inroads on the membership of the Plainfield Fire Department, that the Fire Board has been having a hard job keeping the various companies up to their full strength. Within the present month there have existed six vacancies, of which only two were filled by new appointments.

The last to resign was Edward Mosher, who has been in the department several years serving most of the time as assistant chief's driver. He quit last Monday to accept a position at his trade of machinist with the Spicer Manufacturing Company. The arduous hours without a full equivalent of pay was his principal reason for leaving. Earlier in the month, Otto Gunther, one of the first motor drivers appointed to the department with the introduction of new apparatus, left for practically the same reason and is now working for a private family as chauffeur. William A. Seborb, Jr., who was appointed as a probationer on June 14, has also tendered his resignation and in addition vacancies exist as follows: Oliver R. Pearson, Jr., called into service as a member of Company K; William Gaub, convalescing after an illness and operation. The sixth will probably come shortly through the drafting of Paul Adams, who was accepted by the local Exemption Board last week and for whom no discharge has yet been claimed.

Adams is the only man in the Plainfield Fire Department listed as a conscript. William A. Schorb, Jr., was drawn for examination but was discharged because of a physical impairment of the feet, made prohibitive by the government but not coming under the ban of the city physician who examines for the Police and Fire departments. His complaint is what is commonly known as "flat feet". Although the Police department has a large percentage of young men in its ranks only two passed the draft Exemption Board's examination. These were John Worth and Thomas J. Bebout, both of whom have filed claims for discharge. Only two new appointments have been made this month to the Fire Department. These were Charles T. Southard and Joseph Carroll who reported for duty on August 20.

THESE THREE YOUTHS TRIED HARD TO FIGHT.

One case of where patriotism gripped American youths still too small to enlist came to notice in this city on Wednesday when a troop train going west stopped at the North avenue station long enough to put off three boys who had ridden "blind baggage" from Jersey City. Their desire to "take a shot" at the Germans and their inability to go as soldiers prompted them to steal a ride on the train in the hope that before they were discovered they would have reached a destination where they would not be sent home.

The train was nearing this city when they were found hiding between the coal tender and first car. They were taken off the train, despite their pleadings that knee pants would not hinder their fighting ability, and sent back home on the next passenger train.

Scoutmasters' School Will Open Tonight

As part of the plan formulated to make the approaching fall and winter one of the most active in Boy Scout circles that the city has ever known, a school of instruction will start tonight at the Scout headquarters, on East Front street, to fit young men for positions as Scoutmasters, assistant commissioners and other similar offices. The enlisting of a number who formerly occupied those positions and the desire to fill vacancies that have long existed has prompted Boy Scout Commissioner Duffy to start the school and he will be in direct charge of the experiment. A number have already signed to take the course of instruction, but there is still room, Commissioner Duffy says, for many more. Tonight's meeting will be limited to a rough outline of the course and the answering of questions and enrolling of late entrants.

Mr. Duffy plans to conduct the school every Friday night and by the time cold weather sets in in earnest those entered will be qualified to take their places as leaders of the Scouts. With well over 400 Boy Scouts organized into troops in various parts of the city there is plenty of opportunity for those not affected by the draft to do a patriotic duty and still not have it interfere with their business. Those wishing to enroll may do so at headquarters.

HONORING THE BOYS WHO HONOR PLAINFIELD.

All honor is due the citizens of North Plainfield who so nobly entertained the conscripted men from that district last night. It showed to them as could be done in no other way that they enjoyed the good-will and confidence of the people they are to represent in the coming National Army. The rousing cheers they received and each little demonstration of personal interest in their welfare and behalf will send them away with a much lighter heart than they would otherwise have carried. It will be a long time before any one of them can forget the ringing words of Assemblyman William N. Runyon or the kindly felicitations extended by Mayor William L. Smalley in behalf of his constituency. The North Plainfield boys are to be a factor in the Government's plan for the suppression of autocracy and as such they were worthy of the turn-out the borough gave them.

In Plainfield, we are now completing arrangements for a similar demonstration in honor of the conscripts who have been selected from this district. We trust that it will be even more enthusiastic than was last night's affair and the make-up of the citizens' committee assures us that no stone will be left unturned in arriving at a satisfactory conclusion. Plainfield tradition is rich in the sacrifices of her young manhood. Even as far back as the days of 1776 she contributed her quota to stem the advance of the invading foe. In 1812 she gave liberally of her sons and when freedom's call demanded the flower of her youth in 1861 the response was so hearty and so spontaneous that the town won recognition from the military authorities.

Now Plainfield is going to contribute more than 200 of her sons, selected according to the provisions of the draft act to the cause of perpetuating democracy. It is fitting and proper that every citizen within this community should do his or her little bit to make the proposed demonstration the greatest thing of the kind that has ever been attempted in this municipality. If personal time cannot be given there is a chance to contribute financial support. If either is an impossibility the mere presence of the individual with a heart full of enthusiasm and a ready cheer will help in making the boys feel happy.

Let the earlier days of the nation, when its struggle to exist was so hard, be an inspiration. Let the spirit of '76 be reawakened, and let Plainfield join in giving these young men a send-off that may, when they recall it at some future day while awaiting the order to go "Over the top," strengthen them with the resolve to do their best for the folks "back home," who will be waiting to give them even a more royal welcome when they come marching back again.

WHY COUNCILMANIC TIMBER IS SCARCE.

A member of the city committee whose duty it is to secure candidates for local offices is authority for the statement that not in all the years he has been active in political matters has there been such a dearth of Councilmanic timber as exists at the present time. It is now within a few days of the limit for filing petitions and yet aspirants for the honored title of "city father" are conspicuous by their absence. The expiration of terms the coming December will cause seven vacancies in the Councilmanic body, together with a possible eighth by the conscription of Charles A. Loizeaux, all of which means that this many men will have to be elected. Mr. Graves, from the Fouth ward, will seek renomination, there is still the other five to take care of and so far as is known only two possible nominees are in the field. These are John P. Stevens, who has been mentioned as Councilman-at-large from the Second ward, and William J. Boyd, Councilman-at-large from the Third ward. Both are possessed of every qualification for the office and would make admirable additions to the civic body.

Just why it is that Plainfielders are loath to become city solons is not a hard matter to figure out. The job is a thankless one at the best. A man is supposed to give up practically all of his evenings, be ready to drop his private affairs day or night to transact city business, receives no remuneration whatsoever and generally ends by incurring the displeasure of many of his constituents. The honor, such as it is, is far from comforting when the other side is considered.

The committeeman referred to in the opening paragraph mentioned the case of Councilman Hylan as an instance of what it means to accept the people's "gift." Mr. Hylan is chairman of the street committee, which is now supervising the most extensive improvements the city has ordered for its thoroughfares since permanent pavement was adopted. He is also chairman of the city hall building committee, a member of the finance committee and a member of the joint sewer commission. Although he has large business interests of his own in New York and frequently returns to Plainfield late in the evening very much fatigued, it is not an uncommon thing for him to be called upon to attend Councilmanic or committee meetings on four nights of the week. Beside these there are frequent conferences held with citizens and telephone calls are too numerous to count. The work Mr. Hylan has done as an official has occupied so much of his that that he had practically made up his mind that he would not ask renomination. Great pressure was brought to bear upon him, however, and he has finally consented to enter the primaries. To allow him to drop out when all the street work is going on with which he is so familiar would be like swapping horses in midstream, a fact that is fully realized by the citizens who have the community's interests at heart. Plainfield is the gainer by Mr. Hylan's decision and he deserves the support that should naturally be his.

The case of Mr. Hylan is not an individual one but has a duplicate with the other ten members of the Council organization. President Blatz has many times had to suffer financial loss to carry out his obligation to the citizens and Councilman Babcock has had to neglect business interests to be in this city for a meeting. The latter has absolutely declined to run again principally on this account. We might go all through the list and mention each councilman in turn to reveal instances of personal sacrifice that is given no credence or approbation.

During the coming year there will be numerous important questions brought before the city fathers and it behooves us now to fill the vacancies with men who will be capable and efficient. That the right kind are unwilling to assume the task makes it more apparent that the time is soon coming when the Council members will have to be recompensed. The honor might be considered a fair equivalent for the time and money expended but it is decidedly unequal when the people for whom it is done return only careless criticism and uncalled for animosity.

SHRIEVALTY CANDIDATE RESPONDS TO MR. BANKS.

In last week's issue of the Record, Charles R. Banks, an able and representative citizen, by means of an open letter asked Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur and Councilman John H. Cose to present their qualifications in seeking the nomination for sheriff of Union county on the regular Republican ticket. The invitation has met with a response from Mr. Cose. It explains his career as a citizen and official in such a concise manner and outlines his views of important offices so clearly that we believe it is worthy of editorial display. The letter in full is as follows:

"Editor, The Record:

"The open letter printed in your columns last week in which Charles R. Banks asks for the qualifications of myself and others as candidates for the nomination of sheriff on the regular Republican ticket, is one that meets with my hearty approbation and ready response. The information that Mr. Banks seeks should be in the possession of every voter in Union county and if more men were to take the trouble to secure more intimate knowledge of able but nevertheless a truthful fact that most men exercise the right of suffrage without first acquainting themselves with the merits or demerits of the men they are to trust with public office.

"I can state for the benefit of Mr. Banks and Plainfield or Union county in general that I seek the office of sheriff with the modest belief that should I be honored with election that I could fulfill the duties of the position in a manner satisfactory to all. Although I was born in Hunterdon county, I have lived in Plainfield thirty-five years, was educated in the Plainfield schools and the Coleman's Business College of Newark, have been in business in Plainfield for twenty-eight years and have had the honor to represent the citizens at large of this community as a member of the Common Council for the past four years. Previous to my entrance to the Council, I served as a member of both the city and county committees, taking an active part in numerous campaigns that placed dependable men in both county and municipal offices.

"The above facts detail my career as a citizen and as an official, but beyond that it remains for the voters themselves to decide whether or not I have capably discharged the obligations that have been conferred upon me. Modesty forbids that I should make claim to anything that is not justly mine. Being a taxpayer myself I have sought to put myself in the position of the man who pays the bills when voting for city appropriations and I can truthfully say that at all times I have endeavored to practice that economy which characterizes the conservative business man, although not adhering to a niggardly policy that might cause needless expense later on. As chairman of the Fire Board I have done my utmost to give the citizens the protection from fire that they have a reason to expect, basing most of my campaigns for improvements in the department on a knowledge of fire fighting matters gained by twenty years' experience as a call man. As a member of the alms and finance committee of the Common Council I gave many hours of hard work and deliberation in behalf of the constituency which placed me in office. My record so far as I know reveals nothing of a wasteful or incompetent nature.

"I am seeking the office of sheriff in the firm belief that I am able to meet its requirements with full justice to myself as well as to those who come within the jurisdiction of the office routine. I realize fully that the shrievalty position is one of the most important in the State; that a man who occupies it should have business acumen, integrity and a sense of justice. The courts are the dominating influence of every community and the sheriff is one official who stands between these courts and the people. To many of the citizens who have no occasion to come within the immediate pale of the bench, the sheriff is to them their representative in legal affairs. They have a right to know if the man who asks them for their votes is worthy of their implicit faith and I cheefully give these few words of information in their behalf. I wish to thank Mr. Banks for his frank communication and trust that what I have to say may be of advantage to himself and others in selecting a shrievalty candidate to represent the Republican party at the polls next November.

"JOHN H. COSE."

WHAT'S BECOME OF THE GOOD OLD DAYS—

When no dance in Plainfield was a complete success unless Sam Frazee played the fiddle and Tony Kreger romped over the piano keys by ear?

When every boy in town would willingly walk five miles to buy a cent's worth of taffy at Gerome Pack's?

When nobody knew anything about moving pictures but the genuine, good-old fashioned Southern camp meetings in Vail's woods furnished more entertainment than the biggest feature film ever shown at the local play-houses?

When it required the services of three policemen every Saturday night to make the residents of the "Boulevard" understand it was not a bit lady-like to throw Irish "calling cards" at one another?

When No. 2 Engine Company ran excursions up the Hudson or Long Island Sound and nobody counted how many times a respected citizen of the community visited that part of the boat where refreshments were served?

When the scheduled summer outings terminated with the Grocers' Association excusion to Boynton Beach, when the trip was made overland by a delivery wagon?

When grandmother on the street looked like grandmother and not like an eighteen-year-old "chicken?"

When Dennis O'Brien's deep sea-going cab did the best night business on North avenue because Dennis knew how to forget everything the next day?

When every boy in the West End knew the back way into Cadmus' orchard and how to get the sheep-nose apples without attracting the attention of Grant Pearson?

When the liveliest delegation ever gotten under one roof worked in the Van Deventer carpet mill on South avenue?

• • • • •

Anybody who believes that Plainfield boys are not good to their mothers and little sisters should get permission to attend one of the exemption board's sessions. Everyone so far who has made a claim for discharge is a model of parental caretaking.

Any time Congress passes the "bone dry" proposition the development of American music will suffer a fearful blow. Just imagine the "curbstone" quartets that will be put out of commission by the lack of liquor stimulent.

Fall County Slate For the Primaries

A few weeks ago, when it was impossible to find a Democrat in Union county who had enough optimism in his system to announce himself as a candidate for any one of the several county offices which are to be filled at the coming election, Ten Eyck R. Beardsley, of Fanwood, had the temerity to say that he would be a candidate for State Senator. His petitions were circulated and found many and willing signers.

That was all right as far as it went. The Democrats in Elizabeth and elsewhere who had not known Beardsley except that he was a member of the county committe and a few years ago made an unsuccessful attempt for an Assembly nomination, seemed pleased with the idea of having a man from up county announce himself as willing to try conclusions with Assemblyman William N. Runyon, who is going to have a clear field as the Republican candidate for Senator, the Incumbent, Carlton B. Pierce, being out of the race. Pierce is in line for the appointment of Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, to succeed Judge James C. Connolly, whose term expires next March. For about three weeks Beardsley was the only known Democratic candidate for a county office.

Then there came a call for a Democratic conference and another Democratic conference and still another. At this last named get-together a slate was decided upon and former Assemblyman Francis V. Dobbins, of Rahway, was picked as the Senatorial candidate. Up to this time it was generally believed that Dobbins would not consider going into the primaries, and it is understood that Beardsley was prompted in announcing himself as a candidate because he was assured Dobbins didn't care to make the run.

The conference has started something. Instead of the Democratic campaign being a cold, hopeless matter of fact arrangements, as it was surely destined to be, there is a lively battle looming between Dobbins and Beardsley. The latter says he is in the fight to stay and it would be quite in keeping with the order of things if the Fanwood man began to make the fur fly. Beardsley, like Dobbins, is a lawyer.

The conference which decided upon Dobbins as the man for Senator selected Howard Lapsley, a Plainfield man, as the party candidate for sheriff. Until Lapsley was announced it was believed that enough pressure could be brought to bear to have former County Clerk Abram P. Morris, of Hillside, run for sheriff. At the eleventh hour Morris declared he was not a candidate. Now Democrats and men of other political faiths in Hillside are circulating a freeholder petition for Morris. They believe he can find time to represent the township on the county board. He was elected a freeholder two years ago, but resigned when appointed county clerk by Governor Fielder. Lapsley is little known in the Elizabeth end of the county, but his selection seems to meet with favor, if for no other reason than that he is an up-county man. A great many Democrats believe it is high time candidates for some of the more remunerative county offices come from Plainfield or some of the towns near Plainfield. They contend that it has always been the rule for Elizabeth to get the lion's share, especially in years when the Republican party was not believed to be in the ascendancy.

The Democrats have not as yet completed their Assembly ticket. Edward McGrath, who was a candidate last year, will probably run. He was a choice of those at the slate-making conference. It is probable that a man from Rahway and another from Plainfield will make up the ticket along with McGrath.

The announcement last week by Surrogate George T. Parrot that he would not seek re-election threw the Surrogate fight wide open. The race is now a free-for-all, with Charles N. Codding, former clerk of the Supreme Court; Sheriff George C. Otto, former Prosecutor C. Addison Swift, Peter J. Olde and possibly William F. Groves battling for supremacy. Mr. Swift announced his candidacy the day before Mr. Parrot came out with a statement to the effect that he would not try again. In fact, it is believed that Mr. Swift would have remained out of the contest if Mr. Parrot decided to try for renomination.

Clambake Tomorrow

The fifth annual outing of the Ransome Concrete Machinery Company employes will be held tomorrow under the auspices of the Mutual Aid Society. It will be in the nature of a clambake to be held at Chimney Rock, and arrangements for the day's events include athletic events, a baseball game and other features.

The start from this city will be made by auto bus at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. During the morning there will be a baseball game between the shop and office employes and afterward the athletic meet will take place. Among the events will be the 100 yard dash, 440 yard dash, running and standing jumps, tug-of-war between iron workers and machinists, novelty race and wrestling. Prizes will be given the winners. Dinner will be served at 2:30 by Irwin Neighbor, who has promised one of his usual famous brand for the occasion.

The return home has been set for 7:30. The committee in charge of arrangements includes Elmer Koller, John Roman and Walter Bowden.

Camp Endear Closed Today for the Year

After affording vacations to more than 250 children from this city and Elizabeth during the past summer, Camp Endeavor, located on the mountain in back of Scotch Plains, closed this morning for the year, thus completing its seventh season. Infantile paralysis caused the children's haven of refuge to be closed last year after it had been opened for only two weeks and this summer it resulted in more of a success than ever before. Starting on July 8, the camp has run for eight weeks, accommodating between sixty and seventy youngsters at a time.

Following out the custom of other years, no exercises or other event marked the closing this morning. A departure from other times was made during the last two weeks in giving colored and Italian children of Plainfield and Elizabeth each a week vacation. It was also stated this morning and brought the colored youngsters, who had been there for the last week, away.

Miss Jennie Stoddard, assisted by three young Elizabeth women, was in charge of the camp again this year and to her is due most of the credit for the success. A new playground, shelter for rainy weather and other new improvements made things more enjoyable than ever for all and liberal support from various Christian Endeavor Societies about the county and Plainfield and Elizabeth business men more than made up for the increased cost of food and kept the camp almost entirely out of debt. Donations from well-wishers of the movement to give deserving children vacations, however, are very acceptable and will be gladly received by George W. Mingus, 92 Seabury avenue, Rahway, who is the treasurer.

"Doc" Hamilton Again With "Watch Your Step"

Walter F. Hamilton, Jr., of Verdon street, who is better known to his friends as "Doc," left this week to rejoin the "Watch Your Step" musical comedy production in which he was a dancing specialist nearly all of last season. The company opens in Scranton, Pa., tonight for a two nights' engagement and afterward makes a quick run to the Pacific coast, where it is booked for the biggest part of the coming winter. Stops on the way are to be made at Niagara Falls, Peoria, Ill., Cedar Rapids, Ia., Kansas City, Denver and Salt Lake City. The first presentation on the coast will be at Los Angeles opening on September 24 and remaining a week. The show will probably be in San Francisco a month and will also make long stays at Portland, Ore., and Vancouver, B. C. Mr. Hamilton has been in the theatrical game only three years but has made rapid strides in that time. He started originally with Laddie Cliff in "Tonight's the Night," remaining a full season. He opened with "Watch Your Step" last September and traveled over the eastern part of Canada and United States until March when the company closed. He finished up with John Cort's "The Masked Model," which played the Pacific coast until an unusually hot spell of weather brought an early termination of the bookings. Mr. Hamilton returned to Plainfield to spend his vacation and remained here until this week with the exception of a short stay at Lake Hopatcong.

During the coming season in "Watch Your Step" he will again be featured in his ball room dancing specialty, having for his partner Miss Dorothy Wilson, a well known favorite with New York audiences. "Doc" was given a send-off by his fellow members at the Plainfield Elks' Club Tuesday night and besides his season's work with the best wishes of his hundreds of friends in this city and borough.

FATHER CARRICK'S CONDITION.

The condition of Rev. Father Carrick, assistant at St. Mary's church, who has been at Muhlenberg Hospital the past three weeks suffering from complications, following an operation from appendicitis, was reported today as still being very serious. A second operation performed last Sunday left the patient in a greatly weakened condition, but every possible medical and surgical attention is being accorded in the hopes of restoring him to health.

Miss Marie Ringot

Miss Marie Ringot, of New York, and Harry Phillips, of South Plainfield, were married last Sunday morning at the latter's home in that village. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Martin, of Westfield, as uncle of the bridegroom, and was witnessed only by relatives and a few intimate friends. Miss Helen Blomberg, of New York, acted as bridesmaid and William A. Smith, of East Fifth street, this city, was best man. Following a wedding reception, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips left for an automobile trip to the Catskill Mountains.

Mr. Phillips is proprietor of the Phillips' general store at South Plainfield and is highly esteemed in that community. He has a wide acquaintance in Plainfield and both he and his bride received numerous gifts from friends in this city as well as those from others in South Plainfield.

Reaches North Carolina

The fame of City Judge William G. DeMeza as a marrying magistrate has gone beyond the confines of Plainfield and penetrated the mountainous districts of North Carolina. His ability to tie a hard and fast nuptial knot reached the ears of William James Campbell and Miss Mina Gertrude Lomax, colored, who live near Raleigh, N. C., and were engaged to be married. They were intending to come North and decided to have a Plainfield Judge to make their two hearts beat as one. A relative of the prospective bridegroom, who had been ushered into the Benedicts' ranks by the magistrate, was the one who carried the news to the South.

Mr. Campbell and Miss Lomax arrived in Plainfield Saturday morning and proceeded at once to Police Headquarters on Sycamore street. Judge DeMeza was in the midst of dispensing justice to a batch of defendants brought before him but on learning of the couple's mission adjourned proceedings to perform the marriage ceremony. Several of the court attaches said the knot was tied better than any they had ever witnessed before and South Carolina will in all probability ring with the praises of the "marrying justice."

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell liked Plainfield so much they decided to make their home here. The bridegroom will go to work in one of the local factories after returning from a wedding trip.

City Not Likely to Lose More Than One Employe

While other cities, especially New York, will be affected by the decision so far left unchanged that permits the drafting of firemen and policemen, Plainfield is likely to lose but one municipal employe and possibly none at all. Fireman Paul Adams, driver of the apparatus at the East End house, is the one most likely to be called, he having passed the examination successfully. He intends, however, to file a claim with the district exemption board at Newark on the strength of being a city employe.

Patrolmen John Wurth and Thomas Beboodt were the two members of the police department who were called for examination and although they both passed dependency claims will probably be allowed, as both men are married.

Coming of the Elks

Four thousand purple and white incandescent bulbs will illuminate the Elks' court of honor, in Broadway, Long Branch, beginning last night. The street will be illuminated nightly until after the departure of the New Jersey Elks on the evening of September 5, when street dancing and the Mardi Gras will put a climax to the fourth annual reunion.

Big preparations are being made to entertain Elks and members of their families. All of the thirty-eight New Jersey lodges of the B. P. O. E. are arranging to participate in the annual parade on the morning of September 5. Instead of the usual gold and tinsel effects of the floats they will be along patriotic lines, thus assuming a street demonstration similar to that of the National Association recently in Boston, Mass.

The women Elks will entertain the wives and daughters who come here for the convention with a program including a steamship trip down the Shrewsbury River and around Sandy Hook. They also will accompany the women to the Battle Monument grounds at Freehold, on Monday, when Champ Clark, Speaker of the National House of Representatives, will be the orator. The auxiliary members also are co-operating in the three days' carnival in the Elks' Clubhouse.

Plainfield's Lodge of Elks will not participate in the convention parade this year as it did at Newark in 1916 and Atlantic City in 1915. Many Plainfielders will attend however, most of them making the trip by automobile.

Train Service Here Held Up By Wreck at Somerville

Many Plainfielders were greatly inconvenienced by the freight wreck on the New Jersey Central at Somerville, Sunday, said by officials to be the worst of the kind the road has had in many years. Three passenger coaches standing on a siding were completely demolished and twenty-four freight cars were either demolished or damaged. Four tracks at the point where the trouble occurred were blocked many hours. Through service between Plainfield and Easton was maintained by sending trains over the Lehigh Valley Railroad both ways between Easton and Bound Brook, but local service was decidedly off schedule. The Lake Hopatcong excursions were given up entirely and scores from this vicinity who gathered at the various stations were greatly disappointed at having their plans for the day put to naught.

The "Cannonball" freight from Allentown was the main cause of the trouble in the smashup. It was passing through Sommerville in high speed shortly after 5 o'clock Sunday morning, when the trucks of a car pulled out throwing the upper part to one side just east of South Bridge street. Before the engineer was aware that anything was wrong half his train was strewn all over the tracks. The passenger coaches were caught in the crash and reduced to kindling wood and twisted masses of iron.

Wrecking crews from Elizabethport and Phillipsburg worked all day clearing up the debris but it was nearly midnight before they concluded their labors. The clearing was greatly hampered because of the tracks being between two high embankments, preventing the steam cranes from lifting the damaged cars away.

Friends Pawn Valuables to Get Bail for Grunzig

A conscientious objector still, he declares, Bruno Grunzig, the Scotch Plains man who refused to undergo a physical examination before the local exemption board, was released last week on the presentation of bail of $5,000, under which he was held to await grand jury action. Grunzig was taken from the county jail, where he had been since August 8, to the office of United States Commissioner Matthews, where were a number of his Socialist friends, headed by Edward Teufer, of 945 Grant avenue, the Bronx.

Teufer had $5,000 in money. There were one $1,000 bill, $3,000 in $100 bills and the rest in twenty-dollar bills. To gather together this amount of currency, Teufer told Mr. Matthews, Grunzig's sympathizers went into the highways and byways among their friends, who pawned their viable assets and even drew all they could get on their insurance policies. Grunzig, who wanted to go to jail when he was arrested, did not complain at the prospect of doing his conscientious objecting out in the open air pending his trial, but he informed Mr. Matthews that his opinion of the selective service law had not been changed in the least.

RANSOME COMPANY INCORPORATES FOR MILLION.

Incorporation papers have been filed in the county clerk's office by the Ransome Concrete Machine Company, capitalized at $1,000,000, divided into 10,000 shares of $100, half preferred. The office of the concern is to be at Rock avenue and Second street, Plainfield, with Frank L. Brown, agent. The incorporators all residents of Dunellen, and all holding one share, with the exception of the last named, who holds four, are: George T. Allen, Nathaniel Laird, John P. Faber, Elmer H. Kolter, Walter Muller, H. M. Brittan and Robert R. Moody.

At Toronto Kennel Show

A. Clinton Wilmerding, of Belvidere avenue, left today for Toronto, Ont., where he will act as one of the judges at the twenty-ninth annual international dog show held in connection with the Toronto exposition, Canada's greatest agricultural and industrial fair. The dog show will begin Monday and continue until September 6. The Plainfield man will award the prizes for all classes of spaniels, including the field spaniel, cockers spaniel, Irish water spaniel and clumber spaniel.

Mr. Wilmerding was formerly the head of the Plainfield Kennel Club and is considered one of the best authorities in the country in passing on the merits of spaniels. He has a splendid kennel of his own and has been an exhibitor for a number of years. His selection for the coming show is no small honor as the Toronto exposition is attended every year by nearly a million people, bringing in thousands of experts ready to criticise every decision. Before returning home Mr. Wilmerding will make brief stops at Niagara Falls, Buffalo and other points.

Resume Fight for Pollack Millions Next Wednesday

The fight over the Pollack millions, which was adjourned last month, will be resumed in the New York courts next Wednesday. Postponement was made necessary because of the inability to find Mrs. Sara McQuaide, Pollack's second wife, but if she appears in court at the reopening of the contest next week the controversy will be settled for good. The contest of the will is between Sara S. McQuaide and Gertrude McQuaide North, third wife of the deceased.

Following the death of McQuaide in the Pope Villa, at Twickenham, Middlesex county, England, Mrs. Sara McQuaide had herself appointed administratrix of his estate here upon allegations that he had died intestate and she was his widow. As McQuide left a will and codicil which Mrs. Reynolds McQuaide-North probated in England, she now, through one of her American representatives, is demanding the revocation of the administration letters granted to Mrs. Sara McQuaide.

Plainfield Women Will Help at Wrightstown

Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of this city, chairman, and Mrs. Robert S. Huse and Mrs. Edward Olmsted, of Elizabeth, and Mrs. Henry C. White, of North Plainfield; Mrs. A. D. Brearley, of Rahway, and Miss Katherine Smiack, of this city, are among the members of a committee named by the executive committee of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association to help the men to be trained at Camp Dix, Wrightstown.

The meeting of the committee was held in Atlantic City last week and it was announced that the $5,000 members of the organization have been effectively mobilized to assist the government, look after conservation propaganda and to take care of the soldier boys and jackies in training in their midst. The Wrightstown cantonment will be their special charge. The State association will look after recreation features for the lads and will in other ways aid in making camp life enjoyable.

Douglas Falconer, representative of the War Department at the Wrightstown camp, addressed the meeting. He impressed upon members the need of co-operation in looking to the social welfare and recreation work for the soldiers.

Camp Wayawanda Closes

This week saw the close of the most successful season Camp Wawayanda has ever had. In many ways the past summer was remarkable. Happiness permeated everything—everybody said so. Never has a season passed so quickly. A great deal for the future was accomplished. In a sense the summer was a transition stage from the older order of things to newer and greater things of the summer to come. Many difficulties presented themselves at the beginning of the year, but as usual they were overcome with happy results. One problem was that of leadership. Many of the former leaders were already in the service of their country and few could respond to the call of Wawayanda. Inasmuch as the camp authorities were unwilling to lower or modify their former standard of leadership, many of the camp officials assumed the responsibility of double work, so that no part of the summer's program was dropped. In fact there was much more activity this year than usual. In addition to the outdoor sports, hikes, overnight parties, campfires and stories, there were added dramatic sketches, new stories, new songs, lawn parties, Sunday evening lake carnivals, map making tours and minstrel shows.

One of the new camp features was the farm, which was able to supply the boys with vegetables. Another feature was the large orchestra and glee club, which contributed much toward the entertainment of the campers. Harold Sproul, of Passaic, was the leader of the orchestra, while Harold Hayward, of Ridgewood, was singing master.

The Hilton Bull cup, given to the highest point-winning athletic team, was won by the Passaic Association. They scored 2,036 points. Cranford was second and Plainfield third. Passaic now holds the cup permanently. About sixty boys of the local association enjoyed a few weeks in camp.

Will Occupy New Pittis Building and New Garage

The fine new modern garage, which the Hand Storage Co. is to erect on its property at 57-59 and 61 Somerset street, the borough, has already been leased through the realty firm of Buxton & Stewart to the Hudson Motor Car Company, which will occupy it as soon as completed. In addition to having this location as a service station, the Hudson Company has leased the new Pittis building at Front street and Watchung avenue as a display room. This deal was also made through Buxton & Stewart. The automobile concern has previously been represented in Plainfield by an agency but has decided to handle the local output and for that purpose is branching out as stated. It is believed possession can be had of the Pittis building by October 1 but the new garage will not be ready until the middle of November. As soon as everything is in shape for the reception of business, the Hudson Company will have one of the most complete salesrooms and the finest equipped service station to be found in N. New Jersey.

The garage which the Hand Company is to build will be a one-story brick affair measuring fifty feet front by 150 feet deep. In order to put it up the company will tear down the frame dwelling and the small one-story business structure now occupying the site directly next to the three story storage building at Somerset street and Somerset place. The razing of the dwelling will remove one of Somerset street's most familiar landmarks. Recorder Fred W. Hand is the head of the Hand Storage Company and has taken great pains to make the plans for the new building on the most improved scale. Not a single post will be within to interfere with the floor space and the general arrangement of the interior will be for the convenient handling of all the cars. William C. Smith, of the borough, has the contract for the mason work and the carpentering will be done by Charles L. Force.

SCHOOL OPENING WILL NOT HINDER WORK AT THE HOLLY PARK FARM

Although the opening of the schools of the city within the next ten days will take a number of the Boy Scouts who have been at Holly Park during the summer back to their studies, the members of the Boy Scout Council are planning to continue activities at the farm until well into the fall. Those boys who graduated from school last June will remain to harvest the late crops and will be assisted on Saturdays and in the afternoon by those who are to return to school.

The success of the project during its first summer has so pleased the Scout Council that it is likely to become an annual fixture in the summer program. Large crops have been realized and the selling of produce at the public market has defined bear the financial burden as well. The boys have spent the summer working under the direction of students of the Rutgers Agricultural School and are ready to resume their studies benefited in health and skilled farmers. After the camp is finally closed for the year reports of what has been accomplished will be sent to the State Commissioner of Education and to the leaders of the food conservation movement.

NEW STRUCTURE AT BONNIE BURN NEARLY COMPLETED

After undergoing construction since last November, the new $90,000 wing to Bonnie Burn Sanatorium is nearing completion at a rapid pace and in another month will be ready for the reception of children of the county who have shown a tendancy to be tubercular. The committee having charge of the improvements, including James F. Buckle, of this city, made an inspection of the structure several days ago and was more than pleased with what they found.

Built of hollow tile and stucco, carrying graceful lines and occupying an advantageous position, the new structure is attractive. Its central portion, with pleasing entrance, is 31x92 feet, outside measurement. At either end there is a wing 57x21 feet in size. It will accommodate 100 children. It has the open-air sleeping pavilions and a large assembly and playroom for the little patients.

The building will be equipped with all that goes to make such a structure valuable in the work of building up children predisposed to tuberculosis or in whom the disease has already manifested itself.

CITY LEAGUE RACE IS STILL UNDECIDED.

Standing to Date.

	W.	L.	P. C.
St. Joseph's	10	8	.556
Hope Chapel	7	9	.438
First Baptist	8	11	.421
Century Club	1	6	.142

Although the City League was scheduled to windup its season on Monday, the decision to play postponed games during September and October will prevent a winner being chosen for at least another month. Tomorrow the St. Joseph and Hope Chapel teams will lineup as opponents on Hyde Oval, while the Century and First Baptist aggregations are opponents on Crescent Oval. The St. Joseph outfit now has a pretty good hold on first place and is going strong.

American Friends' Unit To Help in France

The American Friends' reconstruction unit of 100 members, which has been in training at Haverford, Pa., since the middle of July, plans to leave for work in France early in September. With the unit go large supplies of equipment, including tractors, road-building machinery, trucks, motor cars, motorcycles, portable houses, agricultural machinery and a three months' food supply.

This represents the first step in the program of reconstruction and rehabilitation planned by the American Friends' (Quaker) National Service Committee. Two representatives of the committee, J. Henry Scattergood and Morris Leeds, of Philadelphia, are now in France, conferring with Red Cross officials there and surveying the field. Major Grayson Murphy, American Red Cross Commissioner in Paris, had urged the early despatch of the unit to France for standardization work.

The young Friends who make up the unit have been put through a very comprehensive and intensive course of instruction. Practical instructors, including six native French teachers, have had charge of their training, which has included instruction in mending roads, building portable houses, first aid, operation of automobiles, bricklaying and carpentry, the French language, and social service of various kinds.

The committee is planning to extend its war relief work to every community of Friends in the United States. The women will be organized to sew for the refugees in the stricken areas, using as patterns French, Belgian, Serbian and Russian garments made by English Friends. These will be shipped by the Red Cross Supply Service.

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

AUGUST PRUDHON.

The funeral of August Prudhon, whose death occurred Saturday morning at his home in Watchung, was held Monday afternoon at the mortuary chapel of J. J. & C. A. Higgins on West Fourth street. The service was conducted by Rev. Edward S. Ralston, of the Netherwood Reformed church, and was attended by many relatives and friends. Among the numerous floral tributes was a set piece from Plainfield Lodge of Elks of which Alfred A. Purdhon, a son of the deceased, is a past exalted ruler. Burial was made in Hillside cemetery, Torrington, Conn.

Mr. Prudhon was born in Alsace, France, in 1840 and came to this country thirty-seven years ago. In his native land he learned the trade of agateware manufacturing and continued it after locating in America. He secured employment with the Lalance and Grosjean Company of Woodhaven, L. I., with whom he continued until 1897. He retired at that time and removed to Watchung, [illegible] until his death occurred. Mr. Prudhon was considered an expert in his line of work, devising many improvements in the manufacture of agate products and increasing the durability of the ware.

The Franco-Prussian War broke out while Mr. Prudhon was living in France and he was one of the thousands of Alsatians who flocked to the country's defence. He took part in the memorable battle of Belfort and numerous other big engagements. He emerged from the conflict with only slight injuries. On making his home in Watchung, the deceased made use of his knowledge of plants and flowers to make a beautiful place about his residence and the grounds always attracted attention. He sold his original property there a few years ago to former Assemblyman W. de La F. Anderson and had since been making his home with his daughter, Mrs. Catherine Meyers, on Mountain boulevard. He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity of France but did not transfer his affiliations to this country.

Beside Mrs. Meyers, Mr. Prudhon is survived by the following sons: Charles Prudhon, of Torrington, Conn.; Eugene Prudhon, of Woodhaven, L. I., and Alfred Prudhon, of this city.

JOSEPH FREDERICK BERG, JR.

Joseph Frederick Berg, Jr., a resident of this city for nearly thirty years and widely known as a printer and pressman, died in Muhlenberg Hospital early Tuesday morning. He was removed to the institution from his home on North avenue on August 23, suffering from a complication of troubles brought on by a nervous affliction of the limbs. He had previously been ill for several weeks and his ailments were aggravated by the intense heat which prevailed the early part of the month.

Mr. Berg was the only son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Berg, of East Sixth street and was born at North Branch forty-two years ago. He came to this city with his parents in 1888, continuing to make his home here from that time. After completing his education in the local schools he took up the trade of pressmen, serving with several different firms. For a long time he was employed at the Baker Printing Plant on West Fifth street and while acting as pressman added composing to his knowledge of the printing business. In recent years he had devoted his time entirely to job printing conducting a shop at 181 North avenue, a few doors from his home in the building.

Mr. Berg possessed considerable musical talent, as do the other members of his parental family, and as a boy sang in the vested choir in Grace Episcopal church. He had numerous likeable traits and possessed a wide circle of friends. The sympathy of all these are extended to his bereaved wife and family and to his parents and sisters. Beside his wife, who was Miss Daisy Adams, of Netherwood avenue, the deceased leaves five small children, his parents, and five sisters, all living in this city.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 402 Park avenue, and was strictly private. The service was in charge of Rev. Dr. Frederick Berg, of Flatbush, L. I., a cousin of the deceased. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

HERMAN KATSCH.

Herman Katsch, a resident of this city for the past seventy-five years, died suddenly Wednesday night at his home at 302 East Second street. He had been ill recently but had recovered sufficiently to be about the house and was about to retire when he suffered a sudden attack of vertigo as he reached the top of the stair landing. He fell backward unconscious and although medical help was summoned immediately he was found to be beyond all aid.

Mr. Katsch was a native of Germany, where he was born seventy-two years ago. He came to this country when a young man and after a short stay in New York, made his home in Plainfield. For a long time he conducted a notion store on East Second street but for a number of years had been retired. He had a wide acquaintance in the East End of the city, to which his activities were confined. His only near surviving relatives are his wife, a stepdaughter and step-son. The latter are Mrs. John Mair, of Alton, and John Eberley, of this city.

The funeral will be held at the late residence at 8:30 tomorrow morning and in St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, where a requiem mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

MRS. MARY J. BUCKINGHAM.

Mrs. Mary Josephine Buckingham, aged 69 years, died Wednesday night at her home at 1860 Myrtle avenue. She had been ill a long time with a complication of troubles. She was a native of New York and had been a resident of this city for a number of years. The funeral will be held at the late home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

ALBERT CLAWSON.

Albert Clawson, a life-long resident of North Plainfield, died at his home on Brook avene Wednesday morning, following a long illness, [illegible] which was of a nervous nature, started about two years ago and gradually grew worse. Last winter complications developed which at one time threatened the loss of his sight and he underwent an operation at a New York hospital. It brought temporary relief but later the complications reasserted themselves to the extent of robbing him of his vitality.

Mr. Clawson was the son of the late Jonathan and Sarah Clawson and was born in the house in which he died. He had never at any time resided anywhere else. He was educated in the local schools and afterward entered the grocery business, remaining in it until his last illness began. For many years he was employed at Scheuer & Company's store on West Front street, now conducted by Schloss Brothers. Mr. Clawson was a member of the First Baptist church, where he attended services regularly. He was a man of quiet, unassuming disposition but readily made and kept friends. His acquaintanceship extended to every part of the city and borough.

Mr. Clawson's only near surviving relatives are his sister, Mrs. George M. Smith, and a cousin, Daniel T. Clawson, both of whom reside on Brook Avenue.

The funeral will be held at the late home this afternoon at 2 o'clock and will probably be in charge of Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong.

ARTHUR S. GASTON.

Arthur S. Gaston, for many years a trainman on one of the commuters' locals leaving this city shortly after 8 o'clock in the morning, and more recently ticket agent at the Netherwood station, died suddenly Wednesday morning at his home on Front street, Dunellen. He had apparently been enjoying his customary health and it is believed that heart failure was the cause of his demise.

Mr. Gaston was seventy-one years old and was a member of the Gaston family which has been prominent in Somerset and Hunterdon counties for the past century. He had resided in Dunellen for a long time and was highly respected in that community. Surviving him are his wife and three sisters, the Misses Anna, Ida and Minnie Gaston, all of Dunellen.

The funeral will be held at the late home on Front street, Dunellen, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

MARGARET A. FINIRTY.

Miss Margaret A. Finirty, daughter of the late Patrick Finirty, of this city, died Monday at Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, where she had been a patient for some time. She was fourteen years old and had always lived in Plainfield, living most of the time in the West End. She is survived by several brothers and sisters.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning at the home of the deceased's sister, Mrs. Frank Hall, of Elmwood place, and later in St. Mary's church, where a requiem mass was said by Rev. Father Mahoney. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, six of Miss Finirty's girl friends acting as pallbearers. These were the Misses Anna Nugent, Eleanor Wenzell, Anna Ward, Esther Bolsnd Rose Traynor and Rose McConnell.

MRS. AMELIA SANFORD.

Mrs. Amelia Sanford, widow of Charles Sanford, died Wednesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Metcalf, of 328 East Front street. She had been in failing health for several years, during which time she had been confined to the house in an invalided state.

Mrs. Sanford was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Laing, and was born on her father's farm near the present site of the Plainfield Country Club seventy years ago. She had resided in this city all her life. Her husband was a farmer by occupation and died in this city in 1892. Mrs. Sanford was a member of the Plainfield Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends, and was a Christian woman in every sense of the word.

Beside her daughter, Mrs. Metcalf, the deceased is survived by one other daughter, Miss Emily Sanford, of Philadelphia, and one son, Percy Sanford, of Englewood, who is now in California. She was also the mother of the late Fred Sanford, who died at his home on Sycamore avenue, North Plainfield, a few years ago.

The funeral will be held at the late home on East Front street tomorrow afternoon and will be strictly private. Burial will be in the family plot in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

NO CHANGE IN BOROUGH OFFICIALS THIS YEAR

Pre-election forecasters in the borough are finding a scarcity of political material to discuss this year, and indications are that primary day and the fall elections will pass with hardly a ripple. Although the terms of Mayor William L. Smalley and Councilmen John Mobus and J. J. Stahl expire, no opponents to their re-election have thus far shown above the horizon and with the time before petitions must be filed so near the possibility of there being any seems remote.

Since the announcement that he would not be a candidate for State Senator, Mayor Smalley has been urged by his friends to become the borough executive for another term and it is understood that he has agreed to run on the condition that he be unopposed. Both Mobus and Stahl have consented to return to the Council, leaving the borough government without any changes.

ON WESTERN TRIP.

Mrs. J. H. Cooley, of the borough, left several days ago on a trip to the Pacific coast, where she will stop at San Francisco, Los Angeles and other places.

Miss Bertha Swackhamer, of this city, is visiting relatives at Whitehouse.

LABOR DAY PAGEANT HAS BEEN POSTPONED.

Postponement has been made of the Labor Day pageant planned for Monday until September 20, in order that the various committees would have more time in which to prepare for the big event. The pageant will be staged at the grounds of the Plainfield Horse Show Association on Randolph road.

Rehearsals are now being held in order to make the affair a success. What promises to be one of the features of the pageant will be a tableau depicting the days of 1861. City Judge William G. DeMeza will take the part of Lincoln and prominent negroes will portray the Southern darky of Civil War times. All the large concerns of the city are helping for the event.

With patriotic features predominating, the tenth annual Monmouth fair will open on Labor Day and continue through September 6. There will be demonstrations and exhibitions by representatives of the U. S. Army and Navy, American Red Cross, American Red Star Animal Relief, the League to Enforce Peace and United States Government Conservation Department, in which is known at all fairs throughout the country as the Liberty Loan camp.

A company of Signal Corps men from the encampment, under the command of Major Mitchell, located at Little Silver, will be in camp at the fair grounds each day and will give demonstrations and drills of this branch of the U. S. Army service. In addition to the old methods of signalling, the modern system of war communication by telephone and the construction of these lines will be shown, as well as the setting up and operation of a modern war wireless station. The work will be supplemented by regular company drills.

The work of the publicity bureau of the United States Navy will be demonstrated by a specially constructed bulletin board, at which representatives of the recruiting branch of the service will be in attendance and answer questions, as well as be prepared to enroll and receive enlistments.

Society especially will be interested in the horse show, which will be larger than ever before. Labor Day will be known as polo day, as there will be four large classes for the best polo mounts in this county—light weight ponies, heavy ponies, pair of ponies, shown by owners, and the spectacular polo pony teams of four ponies, by men from a recognized club who must be members of the United States Polo Association. This event is most interesting, as it brings out the best players of this section in colors.

Tuesday, the second day of the show, will be farmers' day, with farm teams, breeding classes and athletic competition is keen among the farmers of the county. Wednesday will be specialized in the hunter classes and jumpers and will bring out a large field of all the many lovers of hunting and the events will be carefully watched, as there have been several new horses imported to this vicinity for hunting purposes and doubtless will furnish a close race for the prizes.

The one-day dog show which was inaugurated last year by Mr. Waters has been watched, as that event held on Labor Day has caused the management to set aside a special tent for the benching and judging of the dogs. Handsome trophies have been donated by the many lovers of the dog, and Mr. Foley, the superintendent, said this year's show will outclass any that has been given.

Horse racing on a half-mile track, with drivers and trainers from among the best known stables, and automobile races will be the speed attractions at the fair. There will be three harness races daily for a purse of $1,000 in each event, and on the last day of the fair six auto racing events will be the feature.

Fred A. Upton, of Rochester, will start the harness races and the judges will include James M. Beldon, of Newark; Dr. William E. Truex and George Randolph, both of Freehold, and James O'Donohue, of this city.

Horace F. Murphy, the racing secretary, has arranged a program that will attract many well known auto drivers and cars. There are six races on the program. The shortest distance is five miles, while the big race of the day goes twenty-five miles. There is also an Australian pursuit race included in the program. In this event, which is always one of the most interesting on an automobile program, the four cars compete which have made the best times in previous events. It is limited to ten miles. The cars are each started a certain distance apart. Whenever a car is passed it is out of the race.

Other attractions at the fair will include a volunteer firemen's carnival on September 3, in which entries have been received from many sections throughout the State; poultry, cattle, swine, fruit, vegetables, floriculture, domestic science and manufacturing shows.

Lapsley Holds Record For Age In Sheriff Race

Howard G. Lapsley, of Crescent avenue, this city, one of the youngest Democratic aspirants Union county has ever had for the shrievalty, has today announced his candidacy to come before the voters at the September primaries. Lapsley is practically unknown in political circles of the county, this being the first office of any consequence he has ever sought. The candidacy came to him entirely unsolicited. He has been more or less active in city politics at Plainfield and for the last few weeks has been a volunteer member of County Exemption Board No. 2, sitting in this city. It was only a short time ago that friends in both Democratic and Republican circles urged him to announce his intention of seeking the nomination. Then came the Democratic conference in Elizabeth and the announcement that he was stand as the sheriff candidate.

Graduated from the Plainfield High School with the class of 1905, Mr. Lapsley pursued two years of study abroad, specializing in history and political science. He is intimately versed on political problems of the day and his friends believe is capable of discharging the important duties of the office which they have urged him to seek. For nine years he was engaged in the insurance business, salesmanship and banking in New York, but maintained his residence in this city.

For the past year and a half he has been in the aviation service at Governor's Island under the Council of National Defense. Being of an inventive turn of mind, Lapsley offered himself to the experimental corps working there and has devoted his entire time to the problems the Government is trying to solve in the development of better aerial forces. Recently the particular branch of engineering in which he was engaged was suspended temporarily and he has been giving further gratuitous service to his country, in aiding with exemption work in this city.

"Though I am a Democrat in politics," said Mr. Lapsley in discussing his candidacy, "I am of the belief that to a certain extent party politics should be cast aside this year, and voters should bend their efforts in the direction that would best serve their country. They should see inducted into office the best man on the ticket.

"To the sheriff belongs a great responsibility especially at the present time—a greater responsibility than ever before, perhaps—and he will be called upon to handle even greater burdens if more draft quotas are called out. There is always the likelihood of disorder in a thing of this kind, though the present draft examinations have passed off without any marring incident, and it will require a man of decision and strong character to meet the requirements. Which man this shall be the voters must decide, and if they have not attached much importance to the election of sheriff in past years, they should consider it more thoroughly this year.

"I realize that I am little known to the voters of Union and can only refer the public to the people of Plainfield and my business associates, who have so earnestly urged that I be a candidate for the nomination, for any further facts concerning myself. I have prepared no statement for the public, but I want to assure the people of the district that I will always stand for fair dealing and a strict performance of the duties imposed upon the office for which I aspire."

Mr. Lapsley is 31 years of age and one of the best known of the younger Democrats in Plainfield, having been actively identified with municipal politics for a number of years.

Chevrolet Entered in Chicago Holiday Races

Louis Chevrolet left this city yesterday for Chicago, where he will take part in the annual Labor Day automobile races in the Windy City on Monday. He was optimistic as to the outcome of the meet, although he did not express much concern over the knowledge that he would be opposed by the best drivers in the country. His four especially constructed contenances that were assembled at the plant of the American Motors Corporation, of West Front street, were shipped to Chicago on Wednesday and Chevrolet hopes to arrive in time for a short workout before the race.

Labor Day will be his first start since the three-cornered meeting between him, DePalma and Oldfield at Sheepshead Bay two weeks ago. Then he came in second in all three events and won $7,500 as second money. His winning of the Cleveland and Chicago classics earlier in the season puts him near the top of the list.

According to announcement made yesterday Chevrolet will again compete with DePalma, Oldfield and other prominent racers at Sheepshead Bay on September 22. Barney Oldfield was greatly chagrined at being beaten by both DePalma and Chevrolet at their first meeting and has asked for another chance. The Harkness Cup will probably be put up as a prize.

Mrs. W. W. Warnock, of Craig place, returned home a few days ago after spending a month at the homee of her daughter, Mrs. William C. Egg, of Paterson.

THE REAL PROOF OF THE

Velie

After personal observation and first-hand knowledge of methods and materials employed in building the Velie "Biltwel" Six, your only unanswered query could be, "How does the car perform on the road?"

We can, of course, prove by demonstration its remarkable flexibility, power, riding quality and economy, but the spontaneous testimony of those who have driven Velie cars under all conditions of road and weather, on country highway and city boulevard, and in practically every nation of the earth, is your best proof of complete satisfaction.

Getting Ready For the Coming Primary Voting

Preparations have been started for the primary and general elections and the initial activity is underway in the offices of City Clerk John Carroll and County Clerk Neil McLeod. The work involves a mass of detail, one of the first items being arrangements for the polling places. In this city they will be the same as last year, with very few exceptions.

Another preliminary detail is the furnishing of the ballot boxes and booths, which is the duty of the elections committee of the Board of Freeholders. Members of the committee are busy learning the quantities needed by the different municipalities.

Under the election law, September 5 is the last day for the leasing of polling places. Provision must be made for their use on four days and evenings. September 11 is the first registry day, and September 25 is primary election day and also the second day for the registration of voters. October 23 is the third registry day, and November 6 is general election day.

The law requires the county clerk to certify to the city clerk the list of names of candidates on September 5, and on the same day the Board of Elections must be notified of the list of polling places. That date is also the last day for the filing of petitions by candidates with the city clerk. September 10 is the final day on which vacancies in the list of candidates caused by death or resignation can be recognized and on that date the poll-books and the primary books of the preceding year must be delivered to the registry boards and election notices must be formally advertised for the first time. The second advertisement must appear on September 17. Petitions for the filing of vacancies on tickets caused by death or withdrawal must be filed not later than September 13.

Sample ballots and envelopes must be delivered September 17 or 18, and on September 22 the city clerk must notify the county clerk of all city offices to be filled. The city clerk is required to deliver to the district elections boards on September 24 the ballots and boxes, for which receipts must be taken. This completes the preparations for the primary election to be held on the following day, September 25. Statements of money spent by candidates in the primary campaign must be filed October 1, and candidates nominated by the writing in of their names must file certificates of acceptance not later than October 5.

Vacancies on tickets caused by deaths or resignations subsequent to the primary must be filed on or before October 22. On October 27 the county clerk must furnish sample ballots and envelopes, which the city clerk must deliver to the district election boards on October 29 and 30. Delivery of the regular ballots by the county clerk to the city clerk must be done November 2 and 3, and on November 5 the city clerk must deliver the ballots and boxes to the election boards. Then everything will be in readiness for the opening of the polling places for the general election, November 6.

"MAYOR" BLATZ, IF YOU PLEASE.

In addressing Francis J. Blatz, president of the Common Council, he should be referred to during the next two weeks as "Mayor." He is now the city's chief executive, taking the place of Mayor Leighton Calkins, who is spending his customary summer sojourn at East Gloucester, Mass.

Hearing Called On Tax Question

Desiring to know whether municipalities of the county in certifying the amounts they are to raise by taxation have taken into consideration the revenues to be received from second-class railroad property tax, poll tax and bank stock tax, and whether they wish to have the County Tax Board deduct the amount of any of these revenues from the amount certified, Commissioner Lloyd B. Thompson has written the taxing officials advising them of a hearing on the matter at the Courthouse next Wednesday.

The letter follows:

"The amount certified by your municipality to be raised by taxation is $.....

"The board wishes to know whether in arriving at this amount you have taken into consideration the revenues to be received by your municipality from second-class railroad property tax, bank stock tax and poll tax, and whether you wish the board to deduct the amount of any of these revenues from the amount certified by your municipality before fixing the net amount to be raised by taxation. The inclusion or exclusion of these items may materially affect your tax rate.

"The board calls your attention to the fact that Section 9 of Chapter 195, Laws of 1917, known as the 'Budget Act,' provides that the miscellaneous revenues, as set forth in the budget, shall be classified according to their respective sources. If your budget has not classified these miscellaneous revenues as provided by the act, the board cannot determine whether you have included railroad tax, bank tax and poll tax under your anticipated revenues.

"It will be necessary for the board to have the above information promptly.

"The above will meet to consider the matter above mentioned at its office in the Courthouse on Wednesday, September 5, at 10 a. m."

THREE MEMBERS OF ACKERMAN FAMILY IN ACTIVE U. S. SERVICE

The story in last week's issue of the Record which told of the effort Mrs. Hannah Linke is to make in order to keep her third son from being taken in the draft has brought another case to notice where Plainfield parents have sent all three of their sons to war. Mrs. Linke already has two sons in the country's service and she thinks that her third son should be allowed to remain at home, but Mr. and Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman, of Crescent avenue, helped their sons to serve their country.

Marion S. Ackerman, Jr., is a member of the Naval Militia, while Mr. Ackerman's other two boys, Warren and James, are in the navy and aviation branches of service. The former, together with Reginald Rowland, raised $25,000 with which to construct a "submarine chaser." It has been turned over to the Government and is in service with the two young men in command. James Ackerman was a student at the first Fort Meyer officers' camp but was transferred to the aviation corps and is now training at Toronto. There are several other instances where two have gone from the same family and after the draft has taken its quota there will be even more.

Aviation circles have showed little discomfort at the charges appearing in a newspaper article published this week that the aeroplane manufacturers were demanding exorbitant prices for their product. The officials of the Standard Aero Corporation of this city were among those who met with scorn the allegations, saying that they were so vague and so little supported by testimony that they were valueless.

H. B. Mingle, president of the Plainfield concern, issued a categorical denial of the charges, but because of business pressure did not go into detail before his departure for Washington for a conference with Government officials. His vice president, Max J. Finkelstein, however, issued the following statement in his absence:

"It would be of no consequence if these charges were true, for the fact is that the Government canceled this whole contract. Not an aeroplane has been delivered under it, and not a penny has been paid to use on it by the Government. The only loser in this transaction has been ourself, for we paid several thousand dollars in fees for the bond which the Government required us to file, and we have lost this.

"However, it is not true that the price was raised without cause. The fact is that the Government ordered thirty-two machines of a certain type, and later decided it wanted machines of more power, with larger motors, and proportionately stronger frames. The difference in price between the new machines desired and the models under consideration was $2,100, just as differences in price exist between motor cars of different models and power.

"The Government finally decided it didn't want hydroaeroplanes at all and canceled the order, replacing it with one for several hundred machines of our training model. We are at work on these now. We offered our entire plant to the Government to do with as it would, and to say that our feelings have been wounded by these unjust charges is to express the situation lightly. Some of the men of our organization are completely sick at heart over the affair."

Work is going ahead at the Elizabeth plant of the Standard, where complete renovation is being made to meet the needs of the extensive manufacturing contemplated there, as told in the Record last week. It is a noteworthy fact that the Standard Aero Corporation is the first airplane corporation to use women on a large scale in the manufacture of planes. At the Elizabeth plant it is expected to employ hundreds of girls and young women.

The Standard has had a much greater growth than any other aeroplane company in the country during the past year, starting with some fifty men less than a year ago and at the present time employing upward of 1,600 men in the State of New Jersey, including a preliminary force at the new plant in course of construction at Elizabeth. The plant within three months expects to be operating with a force of at least 2,000 people.

Asked concerning the number of persons who will be put on at the opening of the new factory at Elizabeth, Herman Dayeh, employment agent of the corporation, said: "It is our intention to start operations in Elizabeth with a force of 1,000 and this will be gradually increased to meet the demands as the plant is developed.

"A large percentage of our force will be women. We find that we can use women on a great deal of the aeroplane making, including linen sewing, tacking and stitching. We will secure hundreds of women for work in the Elizabeth factory. The present floor space of the old Stephenson plant will permit the employment of more than 2,000 persons, but not that number will be taken on at the start. Under our program of development it is altogether likely that between 2,500 and 5,000 may be employed in a year or so, should the present demands of the plant continue.

"It is the plan of the corporation to make the Elizabeth plant a two story structure throughout, but you will readily see that this cannot be done in so short a time, as we have set for starting work there. At present the Standard Aero Corporation's plant is the second largest aircraft manufacturing establishment in the United States, and when the Elizabeth plant is developed it will outrank all others. The Elizabeth plant when it is opened will have at least 175,000 feet of floor space. The testing ground there will contain about sixty acres."

The Standard Aero concern is a New York corporation, with Harry Bowers Mingle as president. Mr. Mingle will have direct supervision of the Elizabeth plant, and the other officers will be: General manager, C. V. Bradford; plant superintendent, E. E. Pennewill; chief engineer, Charles H. Dey, and treasurer, Daniel L. Meenan.

The concern has been in operation at Plainfield about a year, but formerly had a plant at Bound Brook, which has been abandoned. The Plainfield and Elizabeth plants will be the only factories of the corporation. The executive offices of the Standard Aero Corporation are in the Woolworth Building, New York.

A new system of guarding will be inaugurated at both of the corporation's plants. Since it has a contract of several million dollars with the Government, the utmost precaution will be taken against attacks by cranks or enemy aliens. While a heavy guard is now on duty at the plant in this city, the new system will be even more efficient than the present one.

The contracting firm has a big force of men at work in the old car works making the necessary renovations preparatory to the installation of the aircraft-making machinery, and visitors are kept outside the high fence surrounding the grounds. The employment department of the company is now securing the needed force of men and women to start the plant in motion in October.

The capacity of the Elizabeth plant, it was announced by President Mingle, in admitting the purchase of the Stephenson Car Works for the purpose of manufacturing the aircraft, will be sixty planes per week. It will be the largest aeroplane factory in the country where the machines are entirely made under one roof.

The corporation has a water frontage on Staten Island Sound in connection with the Elizabeth plant, where hydro-airplanes may be tested out. The new plant has been planned so that the machines may be turned out in rapid succession, each operation following the last, so there will be a steady flow of machines. The factory will be thoroughly fireproof, the fire-prevention system allowing 12 1½ inch streams of water being turned on any building. Two artesian wells at the plant furnish a substantial water supply in addition to the city mains.

Harry Bowers Mingle, the president of the Standard Aero Corporation, will have charge of the new plant as well as the one in this city. He is sole stockholder in the concern which will establish the aero factory at Elizabeth at a cost estimated at $1,000,000. Mr. Mingle is president of the Aircraft Manufacturers' Association and has done much to standardize aeroplane production in this country. He is an attorney and counselor with offices at 233 Broadway, New York. A native of Lock Haven, Pa., Mr. Mingle was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and New York University Law School. He is a prominent clubman and aeronautic enthusiast. He has been identified with a number of public interests in and about New York, for a long time serving as president of the New York Central Water Company. He resides at Llewellyn Park, West Orange.

Trolleymen Outing to Seidler's Beach

The fifth annual outing of the motormen and conductors of the Central New Jersey Division of the Public Service Corporation was held yesterday afternoon at Seidler's Beach. The gathering was attended by over 150 employes of the trolley company from Westfield, Bound Brook, Dunellen, Perth Amboy, New Brunswick and this city, the trip being made in special cars.

The men left Plainfield shortly before 3 o'clock in the afternoon and a quick run was made to the shore, where one of the dinners that have made Seidler's the destination of all good outings was awaiting for them. Everything that would tempt the appetite, from soup to nuts, was on the laden tables and entertainment and speechmaking during the afternoon gave the necessary touch of fun to the occasion to make it a success. Beside two professional entertainers from New York the band of the American Motors Corporation furnished a program of the latest song hits and patriotic airs. Patrick Marron, well known to patrons of the Netherwood line and dean of the trolleymen, was at his best during the afternoon and by his Irish wit and songs drew applause from everyone.

As guests of the occasion, J. J. Cottings, of Elizabeth; N. W. Boldan of Newark, both company officials, and George Luhr, local division superintendent, and T. P. Burke, of the New Brunswick district, were present and during the dinner made appropriate addresses. Mr. Luhr also entertained with his justly famed songs. The return home was made late in the evening, the men arriving in this city shortly before midnight, after voting it one of the most pleasant gatherings they had ever had.

Miss Marguerite Byrnes, of New York city, is spending a week with her cousin, Miss Mary Donnelly, of West Fourth street. She will return home next Thursday.

Youth's Arrest Solves Bicycle Theft Mystery

Charged with stealing a bicycle belonging to Chas. Christiansen, of 1642 West Third street, Michael Saranga, aged 17 years, was arraigned before City Judge William G. De-Meza in the city court this morning and held for trial until next Tuesday. Saranga, the police say, has been responsible for the disappearance of over twenty wheels from various parts of the city during the past two months, four of which were exhibited in court this morning, and it was to give an opportunity for the department to recover more of them that Judge DeMeza remanded the youth.

The boy was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Welsh at South Plainfield, where he disposed of most of the bicycles. Two wheels were located at that place, one at Metuchen and one in this city, and during the day it is expected that others will be located. The youth said this morning that he had removed recently from New York to New Durham, near South Plainfield, and that he was in the custom of selling the wheels and going to New York to spend the money.

INTEREST KEEN IN COMING BENEFIT "SMOKE" DANCE

A large sum, it is expected, will be realized from the charity dance that will be held for the benefit of Uncle Sam's fighting men at Columbus Hall on the evening of Wednesday, September 19, under the auspices of Eddie Marks and the members of his Jazz orchestra. The entire sum will be turned over to the New York Sun's tobacco fund. M. C. Van Arsdale, J. J. Varley and F. J. Blatz have been named to comprise the finance committee.

Messrs. Doyle and McCormack have been named chairmen of the floor committee. Nat Dorfman, a New York newspaperman, is in charge of the publicity and advertising campaign.

Tickets can be obtained by mail from Edward Marks, of No. 426 Watchung avenue, or at Miller's drug store, Park avenue and Fourth street, and at the Quaker Shop, East Front street.

District Board Defines Status of Dependents

Chairman Charles A. Reed, of the local Exemption Draft Board, today received a communication from John O. H. Pitney, chairman of the Newark District Board, defining the absolute status of wives whose husbands ask for discharge on the ground that she is dependent upon him for support. Chairman Pitney states that absolute uniformity must be adhered to in either allowing or disallowing dependency claims if the work of the District Board is to be facilitated. The chairman declares that "A wife who has been supported mainly by the mental or physical labors of her husband is a dependent, unless her adequate support in his absence is assured either (a) from income from property or investments to her, her husband or both combined, or (b) by his or her parents or other relatives able, ready and willing to furnish it, or (c) by her own labors which she is both able and willing to exert, making allowance in each case for his compensation while in military service. This willingness of the wife or her relatives cannot be assumed, but must be directly expressed or clearly implied from unmistakable circumstances."

In his statement, Chairman Pitney also declares that wives who swear falsely to affidavits giving the amount of their income can be tried for perjury and where it is found that marriages took place after the enactment of the Selective Service Law for the purpose of avoiding the draft, the persons so doing are guilty of a misdemeanor. Other conditions are named in today's communication which will aid the local board in deciding Plainfield claims on an absolute uniform plan.

Chairman Reed yesterday announced the names of eight more Plainfielders who had been accepted, bringing his total up to 203 men for certification to Newark. The eight men are as follows:

Much at Stake In Mr. Mead's Appeal

One of the most interesting cases that has yet developed in connection with the workings of the local draft board is that of Lawrence M. Mead, of East Front street son of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, who has been prominent in Y. W. C. A. and other benevolent work in Plainfield for many years. Mr. Mead was not included in the first call of 516 men for examination but in order to establish his standing before returning to China, where he has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. development, he asked to be passed upon ahead of his time. His acceptance followed the physicians' declaration that the young man had no physical defects. His name and number were recorded for future reference as he would not be regularly listed until a second draft is called for his rotation figure being 936.

At the request of the International Board of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. Mead filed a claim for discharge as secretary for the association in the forcian field, considered one of the most important branches of the service. As the local board has no ruling permitting the recognition of such a petition, it had no alternative but to refuse. The claim was then taken to the district board at Newark where again it was refused for the same reason. The matter now rests in abeyance pending the International Board's determination to make a test case of the claim in its own behalf, as the decision of the nation's chief executive will effect scores of Y. M. C. A. secretaries in what is undeniably the furtherance of Christian progress. These workers are all young Americans who have undergone years of study and volunteer service in preparing themselves for this pursuit as their life work. The loss of their co-operation would mean the undoing of the great system of missionary and educational campaign which the United States has furthered for many decades.

In the case of Mr. Mead it would be wrong for any impression to gain standing that he made his original claim for personal motives. He has at all times declared his willingness to serve his country in this time of need, but the International Board promulgated the discharged claim as a "blanket" proposition. What would apply to the Plainfielder would serve as a standard for all later.

Mr. Mead first went to China in 1913. For one year he devoted himself to the study of the Chinese language after which he was assigned as assistant to secretary of the Y. M. C. A. branch in Changchow, province of Chekiang. This branch now has a membership of 1,000. The young Plainfielder labored zealously until the fall of 1916 at which time he returned to this country to marry Miss Machado of Montreal, who was to accompany him back to the Orient when the draft proposition made it necessary to remain.

GEO. WATTS CRITICALLY ILL.

George Watts, of Chatham street, who was knocked down by an automobile at the Front and Somerset streets on August 12 and has since been in Muhlenberg Hospital, was reported today as being in a critical condition. In the accident he sustained a fractured leg and internal injuries. Mr. Watts was in the butcher busines on West Front street for many years but has been retired some time.

County and State Petitions Filed

Friday was one of the busiest days of the year at the office of the County Clerk at Elizabeth, that being the last day on which petitions could be filed by candidates for State and county offices. Plainfield and, in fact, the whole end of Union was largely represented in the petitions handed in, especially in the Republican ranks. The contest among the G. O. P. men will be keener than in years, there being at least two for each office, and the filing of a blanket certification by the Democrats makes the coming primary election promise well.

The petition of Assemblyman William N. Runyon for Senator was the only one filed for that office, making the local man unopposed on the Republican ticket. For the Assembly, Charles L. Morgan and Arthur E. Pierson, seeking re-election, both filed petitions, while those after the sheriff nominations were S. P. T. Wilbur and John Cose, of this city; Eligs Applegate, of Elizabeth; Peter Meisel, of Springfield, and James E. Wiarmey, of Roselle, as well as Peter J. Olde, another Elizabeth man. For the surrogate berth only C. Addison Swift, of Elizabeth, and Charles Codding, of Westfield, filed petitions.

The Democrats on the blanket petition filed were as follows:

State Senator—Francis V. Dobbins, of Rahway.

Assembly—Edward A. McGrath, Elizabeth; Francis Gordon, Elizabeth, and Walter H. Tavernor, Westfield.

Sheriff—Howard G. Lapsley, of this city.

Surrogate—LeRoy A. Gibby, Summit.

Coroner—J. Edward Rayne.

The filing of a petition by Ten Eyck Beardsley, of Fanwood, as a candidate for Senator on the Democratic ticket ensures at least one contest.

JEREMIAH DUNN BROWN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Jeremiah Dunn Brown, a native and resident of this city for many years, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 1139 South Second street, following a long illness. He leaves his wife and the following daughters and sons: Mrs. C. H. Ramsdell, of San Angelo, Texas; the Misses L. Florence S. and Clara A. Brown, Walter S. and Lewis Denton Brown, all of this city. The deceased was a brother to Mrs. L. C. Hurpt, Mrs. L. J. Benton, Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Mary A. Brown, all of Plainfield.

The funeral will be held at the late home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and will be private. Rev. J. Flynn, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will officiate and burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Schools Reopen Early Next Week

Next week will see the reopening of the local schools for the fall and winter term. The schools of the city will hold their opening sessions Tuesday morning, while those of the borough will start on Monday morning. With but few changes in the teaching corps of any of the schools, Dr. Manzon, superintendent, has been preparing for several weeks for the resume and has given out the information that Lindsey Best, principal of the High School, and the principals of the other schools in the city will be in their offices from now until Tuesday morning ready to consult with parents and students regarding courses to be taken.

The enrollment for the coming year is not expected to be much greater in the city schools than last year. While a large freshman class will be entering the High School, the departure of a considerable number of students either to help their country or to enter business will offset that to a large extent. Dr. Manzon has not yet announced the new instructors secured to fill the few vacancies caused by resignation and marriage but will do so within the next few days.

The schools of the borough will open on Monday morning for the year of 1917-18 and Superintending Principal Angst and the entire corps of teachers have returned from their vacations and are preparing for the event. Mr. Angst and Principal Albert Early, of the High School, will be in their offices in the Somerset street school every day this week to consult with parents and scholars concerning courses of study.

The changes in teachers this coming year will be few and they have already been made by the Board of Education. Miss Sophia D. Bulow, of New York, has been selected as instructor in French and German to succeed Miss Hodges, resigned. She is a graduate of both Barnard and Columbia and formerly taught at the Friends' College at Wilmington, Del.

A. R. Sylvester, formerly located at Alfred University and at one time connected with the New York public school system, has been picked as physical director for the coming year and other appointments are as follows: Miss Lena Bohan, of this city, teacher third grade at Somerset school; Miss Lucile Ewart, transferred from third to sixth grade; Miss Rose Nash, transferred from sixth to seventh, and Miss Nellie Mantz from seventh to eight grade.

The enrollment in all the borough schools is expected to be an increase over last year. The seventy odd graduates of the grammar school last June will enter the High school as Freshmen, making one of the largest in the borough's history, and new residents and youngsters starting school for the first time will help swell the primary grades.

Herbert Parker at Wrightstown

Herbert E. Parker, general secretary of the Passaic Young Men's Christian Association, and for several years boiler of State secretaries at the local branch, will manage one of the Y. M. C. A. recreation centers at the National Army cantonment at Wrightstown, Burlington county. He will leave shortly, and will carry on the work until January 1.

According to the request of the war work council of the association, the board of directors of the Passaic association will release Mr. Parker for the balance of 1917. He will serve as executive secretary for one of the eight Y. M. C. A. buildings under construction in the cantonment.

Mr. Parker went to Wrightstown today for a conference with the other camp secretaries, at which plans will be made for the opening of the work, when the first 20 per cent. of the men called into the National Army from New Jersey, upper New York State and Delaware will begin training there.

Additions at Scott Plant to Cost $70,000

Plans were filed with Building Inspector Doane this week for the extensive building operations about to be undertaken at the plant of the Walter Scott Company on South avenue. Three separate structures are to be erected, to be used as offices, storage house and machine shop, at a total outlay of $77,000. The Lesge Steel Structural Company, of Dunellen, has the contract for the entire work.

Work on the building is to begin at once and pushed with all possible speed. The material used will be steel for the framework and brick for the remainder of the buildings. All will be one story in height, the *office building being 20x43, the stor*age house 63x86 and the machine shop 80x231.

REAL "SEND-OFF" FOR TROOP D MEN.

Plainfield had an unexpected chance to accord the members of Troop D a "send-off" Tuesday afternoon as they were on their way from Sea Girt to Aniston, Alabama, there to enter upon a period of intensive training. The train carrying the troopers was forced to stop at the local station for orders and it gave the hundreds of people who had gathered to see them go fast a chance for a last farewell to loved ones. Those in the crowd that had cigars, cigarettes or candy gladly gave them to the boys and when they pulled out after a ten minute delay gave them a rousing cheer that was heard several blocks away.

Blood Transfusion Resorted to in Two Scientific Battles

A scientific battle now being waged for the life of two Plainfielders is being watched with breathless interest by local people, especially those who are friends of the persons involved. The cases are those of Mrs. Vincent W. Nash, Jr., of Martine avenue, and Rev. Father Charles Carrick, assistant at St. Mary's church, both of whom are in a critical condition and with whom blood transfusions has been decided upon as the only possible chance of restoring them to health. Dr. Edward Lindeman, of New York, the foremost transfusion expert in the country, has been called in to conduct the operations in each instance.

With Mrs. Nash, the transfusions are already over, the first series having taken place last Wednesday. The precious fluid, a quart and a pint in all, was taken from William Blair, a New York man brought to this city for the purpose by Dr. Lindeman. Mrs. Nash rallied considerably after the transfer had been made and yesterday was somewhat improved. As soon as her strength becomes better other transfusions will follow. Numerous volunteers have offered themselves for furnishing blood and tests of these are now being made.

Father Carrick has been in Muhlenburg Hospital in a serious condition for several weeks following two operations resulting from appendicitis. The physicians in chage of his case decided that blood transfusion offered a possible chance for his recovery and called in Dr. Lindeman after an examination of the patient yesterday. Blood was taken from ten Plainfielders who are eager to help Father Carrick and the specimens are being examined in Dr. Lindeman's laboratory today. From these ten it is believed that a sufficient number will be secured whose blood is of the proper specific gravity and transfusion will start as soon as possible. Father Carrick was reported this morning as still being in a very critical condition.

Charles S. Dewey Dies at Bridgeport

Charles S. Dewey, a former Plainfielder and the last member of the well-known family of that name which resided in Plainfield for many years, died suddenly at his home in Bridgeport, Conn., yesterday. He was stricken by a physician was summoned but the sufferer was beyond medical aid.

Mr. Dewey was born in this city sixty years ago and lived with his parents in the Dewey homestead at Front street and Central avenue, the site now being occupied by the Bristol building. On completing his education he engaged in business in New York but in 1887 went to Bridgeport to take an executive po*sition with a large manufacturing* concern in that city. He remained with the company until the time of his death. During his residence in Bridgeport he was active in church work and leaves a host of acquaintances there as well as in Plainfield.

The deceased never married and his death takes away the last surviving member of the original family. His sister, the late Miss Carrie Dewey died four years ago. She was also an active church worker and had a wide acquaintance in the city and borough.

The body of Mr. Dewey will be brought to Plainfield today and the funeral service will be held at 402 Park avenue tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery.

All Petitions in City Are Filed

After remaining at his office in the City Building until a late hour Wednesday night and doing considerable scurrying about, City Clerk John J. Carroll had filed with him by Wednesday night all petitions for those who will run for municipal or county freeholder nominations at the coming primaries. Not a single Democratic petition was filed and as a result the only contest will be for the nomination for Council in the Second ward.

Among those petitions that have been turned in to Mr. Carroll are those of James F. Buckle and Elias H. Bird for the Board of Freeholders. Mr. Buckle will seek re-election, but Mr. Bird, who is relinquishing his seat in the Council, will try for the place vacated by Freeholder Samuel P. T. Wilbur. The petition of Athur E. Crone for city treasurer has also been filed, he being the present incumbent.

Because several members whose terms expire are not running again and because one whole ward ticket, there is bound to be a big change in the Common Council after election. Charles S. Sminck, from the First ward, and Charles S. Graves, from the Fourth ward, have handed in petitions and will run for re-election. Those of Thomas F. Hylan, of the Third ward, and E. M. Booth, of the Second ward, are ready for filing, as is that of John H. Dahl, also from the Second ward. Mr. Dahl is to run as a candidate for the Council that will abide by the decision of the voters in regard to the license question. Councilman Booth has repeatedly said that he would vote in the Council as he saw fit on the subject and as a result he will be the only candidate opposed.

The positions of councilmen-at-large are to be filled by three prominent residents, according to petitions which are now in circulation and which were filed Wednesday night. Leslie R. Fort, Peter J. McDonough and A. E. Force are the three mentioned for the berths and they are unopposed.

The positions of county and city Republican committeemen are not greatly sought after it would seem. In the First ward Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., will be out for the county committee and William L. Gloak for the city committee. In the First district of the Second ward William G. Mead will be on the ticket for both the local and county committees, while in the Second district Charles R. Banks will try for the county committee and Louis Wilson for the city committee. In the Fourth ward John Bowman will be up for both committees. George Lynch, present constable, has also filed his petition and is unopposed for re-election.

Borough Petitions Filed; No Contests

There will be no contest at the primaries in the borough for the simple reason that there will not be enough candidates to furnish any. Thus far only three petitions have been filed with Borough Clerk Martin and they are for William L. Smalley for mayor, and John Mobus and J. J. Stahl for Council. All three are out for re-election and are certain not to have opposition, as it would be an impossibility now at this late date to circulate a petition and file it in time.

In agreeing to become mayor for another term, Mr. Smalley said that if there was anyone else in North Plainfield who wanted the office he would be willing to step aside. "There are a number of residents who could be mayor with success and do much to help the borough. However, if they won't come forward I will take the office again," was the way Mayor "Bill" expressed the situation yesterday.

$30,000 Each Year Paid By Pliny Fisk to Ex-Wife

An agreement executed by Pliny Fisk, New York banker and one-time Plainfield resident, in favor of his wife and two children, was revealed yesterday in supplementary proceedings in the Supreme Court. The agreement shows Fisk promised Mrs. Fisk a wife at least $30,000 a year in lieu of alimony and her dower rights and has done so since February, 1903, when he was divorced.

The agreement was made known through proceedings to collect a $700 note from Mrs. Edith C. Fisk Stark, one of Fisk's daughters. Under the agreement between her parents she has been receiving $5,000 a year and her sister, Dorothy Fisk, has been receiving a similar amount.

The creditor is James C. Murray, formerly interested in the brokerage business with Lloyd Fisk Stark, husband of Edith C. Fisk Stark.

City's Farewell to Conscripts Huge Success

A demonstration that will go down through the succeeding years as one of the greatest in the history of the city and one that will cheer and comfort those in whose honor it was given through the succeeding months, wherever they may be took place Tuesday afternoon and night. Starting with a huge parade, the like of which has seldom occurred in the memory of Plainfielders, and winding up with a mass meeting in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School, at which the oratory of the speakers and the intense patriotism of all made the cause for which we are at war stand out in a new light, the "send-off" to Plainfield's members of the new National Army was a success in every way and showed the embryo soldiers as no other way could have done that those who remain at home appreciate them.

Although the parade that took place through the main streets of the city and the dinner in the gymnasium of the High School composed an small part of the day's events, the gathering in the auditorium of the High School proved to be the crowning event of the demonstration. Relatives and friends of the conscripted men and residents who wished to show their patriotism occupied practically every bit of available space in the flag draped hall, while the platform was crowded with the drafted men, speakers and guests of the occasion. With the exception of Post Commander Doane, who had a seat on the stage, the members of Winfield Scott Post occupied seats at the front of the auditorium, while the others present filled both the *main floor and the gallery to over*flowing. The members of the Dutch Arms Band furnished the music for the occasion.

Assemblyman William N. Runyon acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced the various speakers. The benediction was given by Rev. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, and his prayer to the Almighty God that victory might rest with the cause of righteousness and democracy was one that moved everyone in the big audience. The introductory address of the evening was made by Assemblyman Runyon, during the course of which he said that Plainfield's sendoff to its conscript soldiers was one of the greatest events in the history of the city and that it would long linger in the memory of all who helped to make it a success. He spoke, also, of those Americans who have already crossed to Europe and who are only awaiting the word before they enter the conflict. The spirit with which this country has entered the war and the reason for so doing he admirably explained when he recounted the words of that "unconquerable Pershing" at the tomb of Lafayette. "It is the spirit of that great man, who had two countries that he fought for and whose democracy he helped make possible, that is within us today," he said, "and with such an inspiration urging us on we can never lose."

Mayor Leighton Calkins, who was to have been present, was unavoidably detained by business but sent a letter of regret and a word of farewell and Godspeed to the men of the National Army, which was read by Assemblyman Runyon. Judge Runyon also read a message sent out by President Wilson yesterday and read at similar demonstrations all over the country last night in which the President bid those men who are to fight for America and the world to enter the conflict with that determination and patriotism that will result in victory.

Former Fire Chief T. C. Doane, on behalf of the G. A. R. veterans present, made a brief address to the men gathered about him on the stage in which he addressed them as "Comrades of 1917" and urged them to go out and fight for that most treasured of all things—freedom and democracy—that caused the lives of hundreds of thousands back in '61. "In behalf of Winfield Scott Post," he said in a voice that shook with emotion, "I say God bless you. Not goodbys, but au revoir."

Rev. Father B. M. Bogan, rector of St. Mary's church, was the next one to speak and he threw that intense patriotism into his words that stirred all. Taking that story in which a man said, "Damn the United States. I wish I may never hear the words again," as the text he launched into a eulogy of the flag, which he said was far more than a piece of bunting, the likes of which has seldom been heard in Plainfield and he sat down amid ringing cheers.

One of the features of the meeting and which was at the same time a pleasure was the presence of Colonel Gray, of the Eleventh Northumberland Fusiliers. A guest of Rev. Charles Eaton at his farm at Watchung, he was urged by Mr. Eaton to attend the meeting and accepted the invitation to say a few words.

Dr. Eaton was the last one to make an address and he, too, fired his hearers with patriotism. Commenting on the various types of citizen, he said that the man who wouldn't fight for his country was worse than a coward. "I don't want to have the friendship of a man that wouldn't fight for his women," said the preacher. "He can go to hell."

Dr. Eaton declared that American men had been having too good a time with dancing and the like and said now they would have to fight to keep their liberty. He expressed the opinion that after this war there would be a nation of men. "It makes no matter if you die," he said, in praising all who were going forth to fight. "It is but a small price to pay for freedom," Dr. Eaton is a Canadian by birth but his father and forefathers were Americans, he said, and he would like only too well to go out and fight but for his age and family. "I don't hate the Germans, but I do hate the things they stand for," he shouted and added above the cheers. "It's the toughest proposition the world ever faced, but we'll get to beat them. Make no mistake about that."

The big street parade that marked the start of the "send-off" was a success in every way and brought out the greater part of the patriotic and fraternal organizations of the city. The line formed on East Seventh street with the head at the corner of Richmond street. The police led the way, followed by a platoon of firemen and automobiles carrying the conscripts and members of Winfield Scott Post. Members of the city and borough Common Councils and other officials came next in line and the others in the order in which they arrived were as follows: Postmen, Italian Second Mutual Benefit Association, Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., American Mosiaikgan

Wardlaw School to Re-open on Sept. 24

Announcement was made several days ago that the Wardlaw School, located on lower Park avenue, will open for the fall and winter term on September 24. The beginning of the second year of the city's newest educational institution will be marked by several changes in the teaching corps as well as in the various courses of study and the school itself. Charles Wardlaw, the first principal of the school, will act again in that capacity and will be assisted by the following staff of teachers: William D. Hartshorne, Jr. A. B., A. M., associate principal, languages and physical training; George W. A. Lyon, A. B., M. D., English and history; Ernest E. Noonan, mathematics and public speaking; Andrew Krog, manual training; S. Frederick Smith, music; Charlotte C. Wardlaw, art; Abbie S. Hagne, A. B., elementary department; Edith S. Lieck, elementary department, and Maud Van Bockerck, piano instruction. Martin C. Benedict, M. A., Ph. D., formerly principal of St. Johnbury Academy, in Vermont, has been appointed a member of the faculty for 1917-18, and Allen D. Tanner, A. B., formerly of the Irving School, New York, has been secured for the coming year.

With the experience gained from a year's use of the structure, the directors have had several changes made in the building during the summer that make it even better adopted for a private school than before. The daily sessions will remain the same as last year.

WHEAT TIE-UP THREATENED BY SHORTAGE OF COAL

An alarming scarcity of coal in the Northwest which has not been satisfactorily remedied by the priority shipment orders recently issued by Judge Robert S. Lovett, of the War Industries Board has been disclosed by representatives of the mining and wheat industries. They asserted that it would be impossible to move their products in the quantities desired by the government unless large shipments of coal were started into that section at once.

Continued complaints are pouring in upon the Interstate Commerce Commission and other government departments over the situation which it was thought would be speedily corrected by the transportation priority order, which was issued under the direction of the President.

It is believed that Dr. Harry A. Garfield, the coal dictator, will be compelled to take action which will give the producers the right to fulfil their Northwestern contracts ahead of other demands.

Build By Plans

and avoid the expensive difficulties of haphazard construction.

Building by plans means that your buildings will be exactly as you intend them to be—every piece of lumber has its place—you know exactly where it belongs—you know in advance just how much lumber will be required.

Our plans, specifications and complete bills of material for all types of farm buildings are practical. The buildings have all been built time after time until all guesswork has been eliminated. They enable you to check up on the work at any stage in its progress and know that it is right.

We are making no charge for our plan service—it is a part of our new method of selling. We are offering it because it enables us to make pleased and satisfied customers.

We prefer to sell buildings rather than bills of lumber because we are then in better position to recommend the best wood and the proper grade for each use.

The responsibility of pleasing you rests with us.

PERSONAL

Joseph W. Gavett, of Watchung avenue, yesterday received word from Washington telling him of the safe arrival of his son, Joseph W. Gavett, Jr., in France. He is attached to an engineering corps, of which Colonel Mason W. Patrick, son-in-law of Mrs. Martin L. Cooley, of the borough, is one of the officers, and on the way to France Colonel Patrick was made a brigadier-general of the command. Gavett enlisted in the engineering corps several months before it was ordered to France.

The marriage of Miss Florence Debele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Debele, of Rock avenue, to Robert Mitchell, son of Mrs. Dianthe Mitchell, of Grant avenue, took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. Ernest R. Brown, of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bertha Debele, as maid of honor, and Theodore Martin, of this city, was best man. After a trip the couple will reside on Grant avenue. The bridegroom holds a position with the Guaranty Trust Company, of New York.

Mrs. James T. MacMurray, formerly, of this city, but now of Boston, has been visiting her father, Seaman Williams, of Sandford avenue.

Mrs. Frank McInerney, Jr., and daughter, of Park avenue, will return home next week after spending the summer with relatives in the Adirondacks.

Assemblyman and Mrs. William N. Runyon and children, of East Ninth street, returned home yesterday from Lake Hopatcong, where Mrs. Runyon sojourned during the month of August.

Captain and Mrs. George H. Mehl and family, of Madison avenue, returned yesterday after a two weeks' stay in camp at Lake Hopatcong.

Elmer Blimm, of Darrow avenue, will return home the latter part of this week from Asbury Park, where he has been spending the summer.

Miss Sadie Hanrahan and Miss Helen Cronin, of West Sixth street, and Miss Florence Russ, of West Fifth street, returned yesterday after a few days' stay at Asbury Park.

Kenneth E. Runyon, of Madison avenue, who has secured a commission as corporal in the Quartermaster's Enlisted Reserve Corps, is at present stationed at Fort Hamilton. He expects to be assigned to one of the Government cantonments within a short time. He was in Plainfield for a furlough Labor Day.

Miss Adele Kirby, of Grandview avenue, assistant treasurer, of the Plainfield Trust Company, has been enjoying a short stay at Point Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. William Nischwitz, of Park avenue, have returned from Wakefield, Mass., where they spent the past two weeks.

Councilman and Mrs. Levis M. Booth, of Cedarbrook road, have returned from Buckhill Falls, Pa., where they spent their vacation.

John O. O'Keefe, formerly of this city, but more recently of Boston and now living in Philadelphia, spent the past week-end with friends in this city and at Lake Hopatcong, making the trip by automobile. Mr. O'Keefe has been made district superintendent for the Spencer-Kellogg Company, one of the largest vegetable oil manufacturing concerns in the United States.

Frederick Zweifel, of Grant avenue, and Walter Droll, of East Seventh street, returned yesterday after a three days' trip by automobile to Bethlehem, Pa., and the Pocono Mountains.

Rev. Father John Butscher, formerly of this city, but now assistant rector in a Jersey City parish, has been spending a portion of his vacation at the home of his brother, Philip Butscher, of Spooner avenue.

Building Inspector T. O. Doane, who has been confined to his home on West Fifth street, with a severe attack of erysipelas, has practically recovered and will leave next week for Atlantic City, to enjoy a portion of his vacation.

Mrs. William C. Durrant and family, of West Fifth street, returned *home a few days ago after a delight*ful visit to New England, during which they visited Boothbay and other points in Maine and witnessed the G. A. R. convention parade in Boston.

Unique Animal Acts With Richard's Circus

Among the many wonderful and unique animals acts that will be shown by R. T. Richard's Supreme Show of the World when it exhibits in North Plainfield next Monday, September 10, will be a huge den of trained lions. These superb specimens of jungle supremacy will be seen in a steel arena erected in the centre of the spacious "big top" and it is promised that they will give an exhibition of surprising intelligence and training. Under the supervision of Joseph Manning, the most famous of all lion tamers, they will eat at tables like so many guests at a banquet, form with their shaggy bodies couches upon which their conqueror will repose and do many tricks never before attempted by the King of Beasts.

This performance takes place in a specially constructed arena of rigid steel links so placed that there is not the remotest possibility of the animals escaping. By a newly patented arrangement the big cage could settle down closely upon its inmates and hold them immovable and secure in case of the improbable necessity.

The performance of the Supreme Show of the World consumes more than two hours and during that time all of the spaces of the tent are alive with acts in air and in the rings. There is an army of clowns and a big *brass military band will furnish mu*sic.

The free street parade will start from the show lot at 10 a. m., and will display blocks and blocks of the most beautiful pageant wagons ever exhibited. A mounted military band, a band wagon and two compressed air calliopes will provide music for the marching throng, while clowns cavort along in line of march and many wild animals pace their cages in full view of the spectators.

C. AND B.'S OFFER TO AUTO TOURISTS.

Near the close of the summer season is the ideal time for a motor trip, and many motorists are now en route.

The ever popular "Motor-Steamer" trip for those traveling either East or West is again attracting a multitude of tourists. The reason for this is very apparent, for with the new $5.00 round trip rate and special service provided for automobilists between Cleveland and Buffalo by C. and B. Line steamers, the tourist can break the monotony of the land journey, enjoy a comfortable night's sleep on Lake Erie, make progress of 183 miles on his journey and awake refreshed and eager to resume his auto trip early the next morning.

This $5.00 round trip rate is made for automobiles 127 inches wheelbase or under (over 127 inches wheelbase, $9.00), good for return within two days.

C. and B. Line Steamers leave Cleveland and Buffalo daily at 9:00 p.m., reaching destination following morning at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Ward and family, of Clinton avenue, who have been sojourning at Asbury Park, will remain there during the present week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Armstrong, of Washington avenue, returned home Monday after a two weeks' stay at Lake Hopatcong.

PLAINFIELD'S DEMONSTRATION AN UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS.

There is no denying that Plainfield's demonstration in behalf of her boys who will help make up the National Army was a grand success. The response on the part of organizations and citizens was a grand tribute to the young men who in a short time will be the khaki-clad patriots marching to the grand music of integrity and honor. It seemed as though everyone was anxious to lend a hand and it was done with the absolute zeal that left no doubt as to its sincerity. Other cities may have had bigger send-offs and perhaps a more varied program but the Plainfield lads can claim for themselves the most sympathetic and warm-hearted spirit characterizing any farewell in New Jersey.

Every feature of the demonstration, beginning with the parade and ending with the speech-making at the Plainfield High School was enjoyed to the fullest extent. The hundred and one details necessary to bring the arrangements to a successful climax were not forgotten by the Mayor's committee and the members of this body are entitled to lasting thanks of the community. They worked early and late from the time of their appointment, but the fatigue is already forgotten and each one would be willing to go through the same labor again for the same purpose. Last night's affair did more to instill patriotism and enthusiasm in the breasts of Plainfielders in general than anything occurring since the war began. The full result will never be known but it is certain when the time for real action arrives the seed planted in the course of Plainfield's demonstration will produce bountiful fruit in the form of red-blooded, indomitable volunteers.

GETTING RID OF THE TROLLEY "TERMINAL" CONGESTION.

The Business Men's Association is to be congratulated on taking the initiative in making an effort to relieve the congestion at Front and Somerset streets caused by the Public Service Corporation using that point as a trolley transfer station. The Record has frequently pointed out what a detriment the practice is and how the growth of automobile traffic makes it worse each day. The city officials are fully aware of the imposition on the public but so far as we know no actual steps have been taken to bring about a remedy.

The Business Men's Association held a meeting a short time ago and devoted the major portion of the session to discussing ways and means of overcoming the blockades that occur each fifteen minutes while the trolleys are running. As the proposition is now, every time a Netherwood or Fourth street car reaches the Somerset street corner and spend several minutes preparing for the return trip, automobile and wagon traffic begins to pile up. The situation is made worse by cars stopping at Front street and Park avenue and the policemen at the fixed post is powerless to keep things going. On one occasion not many Saturday nights ago the blockade of vehicular traffic extended on East Front street from a point near Park avenue to Bank place. It is just such nuisances as this that impel the members of the Business Men's Association "to get busy."

The best suggestion offered at the meeting mentioned was to send the Fourth and Netherwood cars straight down Front street as far as Grove street. A cross-over switch could be installed at the present time without any great expense or trouble but if it is allowed to wait until after the new brick pavement is down it will prove vastly more expensive. By making the terminal of these two lines at Grove street the patrons of the trolley intending to go to the main business district of the city will find it much more convenient. They can get directly to all the intervening stores between Somerset and Grove streets without transferring to the Union Line or walking from one to two blocks. Thus would the change of terminals exemplify the killing of two birds with one stone.

The members of the Business Men's Association are the live, wide-awake men who are the heart and lungs of Plainfield's commercial life. They are the merchants who try to make shopping a convenience and not a task. They realize as no one else does what it means to impede the progress of people coming down town for buying purposes. A disgruntled autoist raving at the impudence of the Public Service in "hogging" the business thoroughfares spreads his displeasure to the inmates of his car and no one is in the mood to shop properly when out of sorts. In consequence the business men lose a sale and lost sales mean decreased profits. The betterment of conditions at Front and Somerset streets is a matter for the city Council to take up and carry to a successful issue but if this body does not do it on its own initiative the business men are not going to let the congestion continue if they can prevent. A committee appointed to further the plan of a new terminal is now busily at work and can be counted upon to start things going. We trust that the city officials will realize the importance of the matter and act accordingly.

While on the subject of traffic conditions it might be well to repeat at this time that something should be done regarding the parking of cars on the business streets Saturday nights. Complaints about the obstruction of curbs by "sightseers," thus keeping a legitimate machine away from the stores have been made at regular intervals but the officials who have the power to act continue to be apathetic. A change is needed and needed quick. New rules and regulations cannot come any too soon for the business men who have to tolerate the expensive nuisance.

PARK PROPOSITION WORTHY OF CONSIDERATION.

The question of using the abandoned sewer farm on Rock avenue as a nucleus for a recreation park should not be cast aside without slow and deliberate consideration. In its present form as presented at a recent meeting of the finance committee of the Common Council the real value of the suggestion is not apparent. There are many arguments in favor of the plan that can only be brought out by delving into the subjejct deeply and getting the opinions of the public at large. Two heads are better than one no matter whether it is in reference to a barrel or a transaction of city business.

It has been the dream of many Plainfield executives in the past to see a park in the city limits that would be a credit to the community instead of a butt for jokes. The late Mayor Jenkins was one of the men who advocated a commission with authority to purchase land and make the necessary improvements for the desired recreation centre but opposition arising from short-sighted taxpayers thwarted his purpose. He was a firm believer that the lowlands along Cedarbrook, between Park avenue and Randolph road, were just the ideal spot for development and in one of his messages to the Common Council he urged the purchase of all the necessary area. He spent many weeks going over the territory suggested with landscape gardeners and contractors. From the information thus gleamed he outlined what could be done and if his plan had been considered seriously Plainfield would have had a representative park today.

The property along Green brook, between Watchung avenue and Elm street, was also considered for park purposes several times. It borders on Tier's Lake and with co-operation from North Plainfield a most desirable breathing spot could have been had. The purchase price agreed upon on one occasion when the committee really got busy was very nominal, even for those days. At the present time it would be considered prohibitive. The Tier's Lake proposition fell through for the simple reason that the officials did not try to bring the matter to a successful conclusion.

It has been asserted that the Rock avenue farm, which the city now owns and which will not bring a good figure if sold, can be developed into a splendid recreation park for about $40,000. Parker Field has been offered for about $12,000 and the city years ago took an option on its purchase. If money is to be spent for a park it seems as though something better than Parker Field should be had and now is the time for the councilmen to consider the question from every angle. In later years they may regret that they did not take the proposition seriously.

Death Comes Suddenly to Harry E. Huff

Harry E. Huff, proprietor of the Ford Taxi and Express Company, died suddenly Sunday night at his home on East Seventh street. He had been ailing for several months with heart trouble and had been under treatment from the Doctors Hedges but had been able to attend to business. He was at his North avenue office Sunday night and made the remark shortly before going home at 10 o'clock that he was feeling better than he had been in a long time. He retired about 10:30 without stating that he suffered any unusual pain but shortly before 11 o'clock his housekeeper was attracted to his room by hearing repeated groans. She found him in a strangling condition and called Dr. Ellis Hedges but Mr. Huff was dead before the physician reached the house.

The deceased was born in this city forty-nine years ago and had resided here practically all his life. He was employed in local livery for a long time but for several years worked for M. R. Giles and other butchers. About ten years ago Mr. Huff bought the old Keeley livery stable on East Seventh street, where he started a cab business of his own. The venture grew rapidly and just at the time when it became apparent that taxi-cab service would eventually supplant horses and carriages he had one of the finest outfits in this county. He was quick to realize the change that was coming, however, and sacrificed his livery rigs to purchase automobiles. At the time of his death he was proprietor of the largest taxicab business in Plainfield, operating at times as many as sixteen cars.

Mr. Huff's wife died last spring and his surviving relatives are his mother, Mrs. Rose Huff, of Orchard place, two sisters and two brothers. The sisters are: Miss Agnes Huff, of this city, and Mrs. William Comstock, of Pittston, Pa. The brothers are: Fred J. Huff, of Pittston, and Arthur J. Huff, of this city.

The funeral will be held at the late home on East Seventh street this afternoon at 3 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. C. H. Mallery, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

War Hits Football Hard In Plainfield

Plainfield football devotees will have rather slim cards during the coming fall after enlistments and the draft have finished depleting the ranks of the players. Holy Cross, although definite announcement has not been forthcoming, is practically out of the running, while Plainfield High School is expected to have a team but will have to scout about for material to fill vacancies made by graduation and enlistments.

No less than half the Holy Cross squad would be missing if a call for practice was issued at the present time. Of the regular eleven John Caulfield, Moore and Margentino are with Troop D, Brown is with Company K, Carty in the Naval Reserve and Ruttledge and Tom Ricketts in the North Plainfield draft quota. Others on the squad have either offered their services or will be affected by the draft later on. It is possible, however, that a call of those left will be made within a short time and if enough respond to gather together any kind of an outfit a schedule will be prepared.

The problem at P. H. S. facing Coach Patch will not be much greater than in other years, as graduation is responsible for most of the vacancies. Mr. Patch will issue his first call for candidates shortly after the opening of school next week and not till then will he have a line on the possibilities for this year. The schedule has not yet been made public, but will include games mostly in the High School League, with South Side, Westfield, Battin and New Brunswick.

"President" Edge? Sounds Good, "But"

The Bayonne Review has nominated Governor Edge for the presidency in 1920 and already has all but elected him, expressing the belief that he has "qualifications for the office of President of the United States of far greater practical value than those possessed by any other man in public life." Furthermore, Governor Edge "is an idealist whose ideals are practical things. He is no theorist. He attempts no flights into strange fields He confines himself to everyday things, but these things he tries to raise on to heights never before attempted."

And if this were not enough, Governor Edge "has seized the Government of the State with the strong hands of a man aware of his own powers and ability. He has visualized legislation and legislative action with exalted perception of the dignity of the State and of its dominant possibilities."

And then again in the strenuous days when peace terms come to be made "Governor Edge could be depended upon to make those terms conform to justice as well as to the broadest view of humanity. There would be no attempt at phrase-making or guff. The guilty would be made to pay for the suffering of the innocent."

If Governor Edge is all this, if he has done all this and if he can do all this—if, we repeat—then by all means let us have him.

Says Peter J. Olde Is A "Live Wire" Secretary

The Republican State News, which is published by the Republican State Committee, has the following to say of Peter J. Olde, of Elizabeth, who is a candidate for the nomination of Surrogate in Union County on the regular Republican ticket:

"Peter J. Olde, Secretary of the Union County Board of Taxation, ranks high among the Republicans of New Jersey whose achievements are adding fame and glory to the party.

Mr. Olde is one of the most active G. O. P. organization men in Union County. He is Vice-Chairman of the Republican County Committee and has managed several successful campaigns in Elizabeth for the City Republican Committee.

In 1914 Mr. Olde was selected by Mayor Mraving to manage his now famous campaign against General Dennis P. Collins, the well known Democratic "Boss" of Union County and an independent candidate who received 1,500 votes.

The city of Elizabeth is normally Democratic by 1,200 votes, and with an independent candidate in the race who depended upon Republican help it looked like a certain victory for Collins. Despite the odds against all chance of Republican success, Mr. Olde accepted the responsible task and after a campaign so bitter and so brilliant that it will live long in the memories of the people of New Jersey's "Rail and Harbor City," Mraving was elected by a plurality of 450 votes.

Mr. Olde is a lawyer, with offices in Elizabeth. He was admitted to the New Jersey Bar in 1900 and has been engage in active practice ever since. He is recognized as an authority on all matters pertaining to real estate law and titles. He has been active in Republican politics for eighteen years and has served as a member of Union County Republican Committee for the last ten years, representing the 3rd district of the 9th Ward of Elizabeth.

In the last campaign, Mr. Olde organized the Charles E. Hughes Republican Club of Elizabeth. This organization was a potent factor in making possible a large plurality for the G. O. P. standard bearer in Union County and Mr. Olde was unanimously elected President of the club by its 500 members.

When Governor Edge was seeking support for the party gubernatorial honor in Union County he realized that the city of Elizabeth was one of the strongholds of his leading opponent and so it proved Col. Austen Colgate carried the city by 500 votes, and one of the few election districts to give Edge a plurality was Olde's precinct. Olde was one of the pioneer supporters of Edge in Union County.

Mr. Olde is a member of the Elizabeth B. P. O. E., 259, Tyrian Lodge of Masons, 134, Independent Order of Foresters, and several other social and fraternal orders.

Many Friends at Victim's Funeral

The funeral of Elmer Strandberg, of 319 Prescott place, who died in Muhlenberg Hospital from injuries received at the Pond Tool Works last Friday, was held at his late home Monday afternoon and was attended by a gathering which filled the house and overflowed to the porch. Rev. Dr. D. W. Prelsenger, of Hope chapel, was the officiating clergyman and in the course of the service took occasion to pay a tribute to the young man's many estimable traits, the speaker having known the deceased intimately for the past year. The numerous floral tributes included a large piece from the employes of the Pond shop. Burial was in the family plot in Hillside cemetery, the following close friends acting as pall-bearers: W. C. Slorah, H. L. Adams, John Kriney, Jr., J. E. Runyon, Ralph Ludgate and LeRoy Neilson.

The unfortunate young man was the son of John A. Strandberg, of 319 Prescott place, and had been employed at the Pond shop as an electrician's helper. He was in the act of repairing a break in the electrical wiring of the travelling crane when the accident occurred which cost him his life. It is said that he gave the usual notice to the crane drivers that he would be in a certain place but in some unexplained way the heavy apparatus was driven upon him before he could slide down the ladder on which he was standing. He was badly crushed about the abdomen and suffered great loss of blood before help could reach him.

The injured lad was given attention at the shop by Dr. Albert Pittis and afterward removed to Muhlenberg hospital, at the institution, an operation was performed in the hope of saving his life but he died within a few hours afterward.

Young Strandberg was eighteen years old and was to have participated in a farewell party to be given Labor Day night in honor of his brother, John Strandberg, one of the conscripts in the Plainfield district, who has since been discharged. He was a member of Hope Chapel Sunday school and the young men's organizations connected with the chapel. He was extremely popular with all his friends and his untimely death has occassioned deep regret. His mother died about five years ago. Beside his father and brother John, the deceased is survived by one other brother and four sisters.

Enormous Cost of the Great World War Could Have Made the Earth a Paradise

"War loans, $87,000,000,000; loss in dead and wounded, 24,000,000 men; killed, 7,000,000 men; crippled for life, 5,000,000 men; loss through decrease of birth-rate in all belligerent countries, 9,000,000 men.

"The gold production of the world during the last 500 years amounted to $15,000,000,000, or less than one-fifth of the cost of the awful world war," the paper continues. "In $5 gold pieces the $87,000,000 raised in war loans would form a belt that could be wound around the earth nine times.

"The funeral cortege of the 7,000,000 men killed would reach from Paris to Vladivostok, if one hearse followed the other.

"When the war began the combined public debt of all European States was a little over $25,000,000,000, and now it is over $112,000,000,000. The British merchant fleet in 1914 represented a value of about $950,000,000. That is less than the annual interest England now has to pay for her war debt. Before the war Germany exported goods to the amount of $113,000,000 per year to the British colonies. But cutting off this export England can eventually reimburse herself for her losses, but this will take more than 200 years.

"Germany, with the amount spent by her for the war, could have bought all the cotton fields, the copper mines and the whole petroleum industry of the United States and still would have had several billion dollars left over.

"Russia, with her war expenses, might have covered her immense territories with a net of railways as close as that of Belgium and France, whose losses in men are larger than the entire male population of Alsace-Lorraine, could have bought all the Portuguese and Dutch colonies with the money she sacrificed for the war.

"With the enormous wealth destroyed by the war Europe might have been made a paradise on earth instead of a howling wilderness. There is no doubt that the awful struggle would have been avoided if the nations had any idea of its enormity when it started."

Chevrolet Entered In Big Auto Classic

The only automobile race classic of the year will be contested at the Sheepshead Bay Speedway on Saturday afternoon, September 22. It will be the Harkness Trophy race, at 100 miles, for a prize valued at $10,000. The winning driver will also be crowned speed king for the season of 1917.

The Harkness Trophy is the most prized in the game of automobile racing, inasmuch as it is the most valuable, from a monetary viewpoint, and also because it carries with it the racing championship of the year. Johnny Aitken is the present possessor of the trophy, which he will defend this month. It is expected that thirty-five of the country's leading drivers will compete for the Harkness prize, which is donated by Harry Harkness, president of the Sheepshead Bay Speedway.

Aitken will have a hard time successfully defending his laurels, and the field against him will be the best ever assembled for a similar race. Ralph De Palma, the new speed king; Louis Chevrolet, of this city; Ralph Mulford, Ira Vail and possibly Barney Oldfield will be among the starters, and the record of 100 miles is certain to be shattered.

The Harkness Trophy is but one of a series of five races. There will be a handicap affair, the first to be contested on an Eastern race course. In this event some of the most prominent and most daring pilots will be opposed. It is likely that Ralph De Palma, who recently defeated Louis Chevrolet and Barney Oldfield in a match of three races, will start from scratch. The distance of this race has not yet been decided upon, but will be announced in a few days by William H. Wellman, promoter of the meet.

There will also be several short distance races. That the public approves of short distance races was evidenced by the enthusiasm displayed at the recent speed carnival. The 100-Mile Derby may also be listed in the category of short races, inasmuch as it will be run in less than one hour.

Besides these many features on track there will be aerial exploits by a champion of the air.

Tumulty Mentioned In Senatorial Talk

Speaking editorially in an issue recently, the Elizabeth Daily Journal gave the following opinion of the United States Senatorial nomination in New Jersey, relative to providing a successor for William Hughes, the present Democratic incumbent:

"It is said the Democrats of New Jersey are already looking about with eager longing for a candidate for United States Senator whose they may expect to elect. It will not be possible for the party, under present conditions, to designate the man who shall serve the State in the Senate as the successor of Senator Hughes. There is one individual, however, who stands the best chance of any Democrat of succeeding at the polls.

"The President's secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, rises head and shoulders above other possible candidates for the high office of Senator. He was reckoned to possess considerable ability before he entered the services of the Chief Executive. He has expanded greatly in ability and developed in character and service quality since he came in such close contact with the President. He is vastly broader in vision. It is generally conceded, and stronger in the qualities that make statesmen and his experience as the confidential aide and friend of Mr. Wilson has fitted him admirably to serve the State. Certainly the general public looks upon Secretary Tumulty as the very best choice of the Democrats."

"The services of Secretary Tumulty are almost indispensable to the President during the warcrisis. The Chief Executive is known to lean heavily upon him. If there is a turn in National affairs such as would make it possible to relieve him of his present duty to his country he, if chosen for the place, would become a very formidable opponent of whatever Republican candidate is named."

Case of Grunzig Is Before Grand Jury

One indictment for violation of the law against treasonable utterances and at least one indictment for violation of the conscription registration law were among the first cases decided by the Federal Grand Jury in session at Newark this week. Several other cases are to be taken up without delay.

Frederick Kraft, of Ridgefield, Bergen county, one time Socialist candidate for Governor of New Jersey, was arrested on the night of August 9, while addressing a crowd at Market and Washington streets, Newark. He was brought before United States Commissioner Matthews and charged with using treasonable language. Two soldiers in uniform made the complaint, and Kraft was held in $5,000 bail for the grand jury. The soldiers and other witnesses were heard yesterday.

Witnesses were also heard Tuesday in the case of Bruno Grunzig, of Scotch Plains, a Socialist, who had resisted registration for the selective draft. Grunzig will probably know the penalty for refusing to allow the local board to examine him sometime this week.

Miss Gertrude Johns Bride of Newark Man

Miss Gertrude Johns, daughter of Mrs. Maria Q. Johns and the late Harry M. Johns, of this city, and Augustus Justice, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Justice, of Trenton, were married at the home of the bride's mother, East Second street, at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The Rev. C. C. Cain, of Verona, former pastor of Grace M. E. church, North Plainfield, officiated. The bride was handsomely attired in cream silk, dress trimming of lace, the veil of silk net. The bride carried an arm bouquet of white asters, also an embroidered silk handkerchief, the work of a Japanese of Nagasaki, Japan. Attending the couple were the bride's sister, Miss Marie Johns, as bridesmaid. She was gowned in blue voile, her bouquet being of pink asters. Allen Justice, of Trenton, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were Marvin Young, of Philadelphia, and H. Lester Johns, brother of the bride, of Bridgeport, Conn.

The decorations in the parlor were palms and golden-rod, while in the dining room ferns and pink and white asters prevailed. The ceremony was witnessed by only the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

A wedding supper was served following the ceremony, after which the happy couple left amid showers of rice and old shoes.

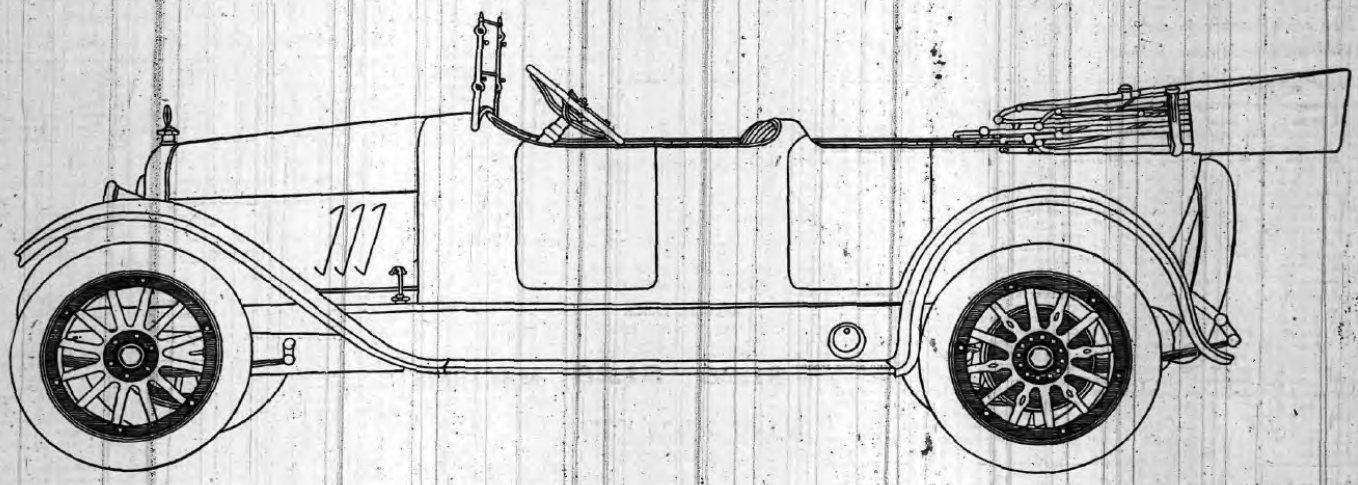
Mr. and Mrs. Justice will be at home to their friends after September 14 at 545 Orange street, Newark.

"SEND-OFF" FOR PLAINS CONSCRIPTS.

Under the auspices of the Home Defense League of that place, the conscripts for the new National Army from Scotch Plains were given a "send-off" in Excelsior Hall last night. Addresses were made by Rev. J. Madison Hare, of the Fourth Regiment, and several other residents. A dinner was also enjoyed and each man was presented with gifts that will be useful in camp. Anthony Grioletto, of Forest road, left today for Wrightstown as one of the first nine to go from the Plainfield district.

NOTICE.

An ordinance entitled "AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND AN ORDINANCE ENTITLED 'AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING A SANITARY CODE FOR THE CITY OF PLAINFIELD,' ADOPTED DECEMBER 18, 1902," having been passed on its second reading at a regular meeting of the Board of Health of the City of Plainfield, held on August 14, 1917, will be considered for final passage at the regular meeting to be held on the evening of Tuesday, October 2, 1917, at the office of the said Board, 104 East Front Street, at eight fifteen o'clock.



Horse Power 45 . Wheel Base 122"

AMERICAN SIX $1375

A Balanced Car

THE AMERICAN SIX possesses what few cars have—a Balanced Chassis.

It is not over-weighted on the rear, nor under-weighted on the front. Almost to a pound, each wheel carries an equal share of the load.

Through a scientific, rather than a haphazard distribution of weight, a balance that is remarkable is attained.

By reducing weight in the rear, it has been possible to set the motor a trifle farther back on the frame, which has an amazing effect on the car's roadibility—abflity to hold the road. You can take the AMERICAN SIX around corners at any sensible speed without any skidding or over-toppling tendency.

No car has better balance or safety on the road than the AMERICAN SIX.

Up-Keep Low

THE AVERAGE MILEAGE per gallon of gasolene is 16 to 18. In a big, roomy, comfortable, six-cylindered car this is very low fuel consumption, and the reasons are—(1) light weight—(about a thousand pounds less) (2) proper balance, which eliminates all "drag") —(3) good workmanship, which means absence of friction.

The car is exceptionally easy on tires, because of that same balance and distribution of weight.

The AMERICAN SIX is built to give long-time service—it is not a one-season car. Vibration, the greatest single enemy to long life in a motor car, is cut to a minimum by the small bore, long stroke motor (3¾"x5"). The car will not rack itself to pieces, but still you have Power—more than ample for all your needs.

A Car Of Real Comfort

COMFORT IS THE sum total of the things you contract for in an automobile—physical comfort for all passengers, and mental comfort as well, for the owner and driver. The mechanical soundness of the construction of the AMERICAN SIX takes care of the latter. The "hang" of the car insures the former—the self-snubbing quality of the long, semi-elliptic springs, the long wheel-base, the low center of gravity, and again that perfect distribution of weight. These things ARE Road Comfort. The cushions have the right pitch, the amount of leg-room, both front and rear, is unusual. Long tours have no terrors for AMERICAN SIX owners—you ride without fatigue—there are no "cramped positions."

O.K. Chevrolet

EVERY AMERICAN SIX bears the O. K. of Louis Chevrolet, who is known the world over as a designer, builder and driver of cars that "stand up." You find it on the dash when you raise the hood. That O. K. is your guarantee—your protection. It spells service in your hands. It assures you a fine car—PLUS. It tells you quickly and surely that here is a car that is all that other cars are—and a great deal in addition, in the way of sturdiness, distribution of weight (balance), economy of operation, comfort.

LOUIS CHEVROLET'S O. K. IS YOUR GUARANTEE.

GIVE THIS "HOME" CAR THE CONSIDERATION YOU WOULD GIVE ANOTHER

We'll gladly rest on your decision.

If it isn't "More Comfort"—"More Car"—"More Appearance"—"More Satisfaction" you don't want it.

Our claim is that THE AMERICAN SIX is a greater car for the money than you can get elsewhere.

You be the judge.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

HILLARD W. CONDIT.

Hillard W. Condit, colored, died Sunday night at his home at 318 Plainfield avenue, following an illness of four months. He was fifty-six years old and leaves a wife and one son. The funeral will be held this afternoon at the funeral chapel of Cole & High, 204 West Second street, at 3 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. P. F. W. Collier, of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery.

MRS. ELIZABETH FEE.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fee, aged 64 years, died yesterday morning at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Harry Shearer, of 315 Central avenue. She had been ill a long time. Mrs. Fee came to this city from New York a year ago and because of her illness did not have an opportunity to make many friends. She is survived by a sister and two daughters, the Misses Agnes and Harriet Fee, of this city. The funeral was held at Mrs. Shearer's home last night and burial was made today in the Arlington cemetery, Arlington.

MRS. EMILY SHARP.

The funeral of Mrs. Emily Sharp, widow of Joseph Sharp, whose death occured last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Lare of New Market, was held at the latter residence last Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock Rev. Mr. Ramsey of Dunellen was in charge of the service and burial was made Sunday at Lebanon.

Mrs. Sharp was a native of Lebanon but had lived in this vicinity a long time. She was seventy-three years old. When a young woman she became an accomplished musician and was the first organist at the United Presbyterian church at Jersey City. In recent years she had been a member of the Monroe avenue church in this city.

Beside Mrs. Lare, the deceased is survived by one other daughter, Mrs. Herman Ehrlich also two grandsons. Mrs. Clarence and Herbert Ehrlich, of Shearer's home last night and burial Dunellen.

Stresses Need of Attendance

Along the line of the suggestion recently made by Governor Edge that the Department of Public Instruction bend its efforts to the task of seeing that proper attendance is maintained in this coming school year, while war is in progress, and also to stimulate college attendance, State Commissioner of Education Kendall has sent to all school official teachers and to the general public a communication on the "Needs of Good School Attendance."

"At this time of National distress and crisis the school should do its great work in the preparation of our future citizens," said Dr. Kendall, "not less well than heretofore, but even better than in the past. It is a truly patriotic service for the boards of education, administrative officials and teachers to work to this end. It is like a patriotic service for parents and the public to help these administrative officials and teachers make the school more useful than ever before. After the war, or while the demand will be greater than ever that the great mass of our people be fitted to solve the problems and to meet the new conditions the future has in store for us. In times of war it is well to prepare for times of peace.

"Our young women should be encouraged to attend normal schools in order that we may have a sufficient number of trained teachers; our high school graduates—except so far as they may be actually needed for war or industrial service—to go to colleges, universities and technical schools, for there will be an enormous demand after the close of the war for trained and skilled men; our grammar school graduates to attend high schools or vocational schools, and men and women in the industries to avail themselves of vocational training by means of night and other classes.

"I confidently believe that the teachers of the State are ready to do their bit in teaching better schools than ever before. They, however, cannot do it all in these critical times. They need the support of parents and boards of education in the keeping of children in school. I ask in this the cooperation of parent-teacher asspciations, women's clubs, churches, labor organizations, grangees and other organizations."

Standard Aero Co. Seeks Quarters for Elizabeth Workers

The Standard Aero Company, which soon is to begin operations in making aeroplanes in the plant formerly occupied by the John Stephenson Company at Bayway, already has begun preparations for house the many employes it will have on its payroll. The fact that there is a scarcity of houses has prompted the officials to attempt at this time to get a list of the boarding houses in Elizabeth and its suburbs.

The rapid growth of that city in the northern and southern sections probably will be enhanced by the announcement that this firm is seeking places. For some time the Chamber of Commerce has been working on a plan to provide more homes for the workers of the city and the addition to the city's industrial plants of the Standard concern is expected to give impetus to the chamber's campaign.

That the location of the new plant, which will employ hundreds, will be a stimulus to the building activities is assured.

With the Standard Oil company and the Standard Aero plant in the southern section and the various factories in the northern section the industrial importance of Elizabeth is assuming proportions that vie with those of any city of its size, real estate men declare.

New Names Given to Seized German Ships

Secretary of the Navy Daniels yesterday issued a general order changing the names of ex-German vessels which have been transferred to the Navy as follows:

Vaterland to Leviathan.

Kronprinzessen Cecilie to Mount Vernon.

Kaiser Wilhelm II. to Agamemnon.

Amerika to America.

Hamburg to Powhattan.

Grosser Kurfurst to Adolus.

Koenig Wilhelm II. to Madawaska.

Neckar to Antigone.

Rhein to Susquehanna.

Princess Irene to Pocahontas.

Frederick der Grosse to Huron.

Barbarossa to Mercury.

The vessels President Grant and President Lincoln will not be renamed.

The names of the tugs Huron, Pocahontas and Powhattan are changed to Allegheny, Chemung and Cayuga respectively.

Coal Takes Jump To New High Mark

Coal prices have soared to a figure in excess of any retail quotation since the strike of 1902 when the "black diamonds" sold for from $10 to $15 a ton. The customary increase, which becomes effective September 1, was announced today.

The prices announced for the standard varieties of coal by local dealers are: Stove coal, $8; nut coal, $8; egg coal, $7.75; pea coal, $7. The latter brand varies slightly from the $7 mark, depending on quality.

That some dealers will demand cash on all coal orders was intimated when the additional fifty-cent a ton increase was announced. It is the general opinion among the dealers that the price now in effect will not raise any higher.

Interesting Facts About Army "Cities"

Within three months, Washington announces, the army has undertaken to build sixteen cities for the National Army. These totals summarize the job:

Sixteen cities of approximately 40,000 men each.

16,000 separate buildings.

4,000 street camps.

Cost, $150,000,000.

500,000,000 feet of lumber.

24,000 freight cars used to transport the lumber.

80,000 carloads of material.

From 5,000 to 10,000 workmen at each cantonment.

Weekly payrolls as high as $150,000.

In the construction was used 6,000 square feet of paper roofing, 93,600 kegs of nails driven, 140,000 doors, 686,000 sashes, 3,000,000 square feet of screens, 139,000 rolls of sheathing paper, 29,250,000 square feet of wall boarding, 320,000 inside lamps.

FIREMEN TO HELP RED CROSS CHAPTER.

The local branch of the Red Cross received an offer of help from an unexpected source, this week, when Fire Chief Andrew D. Jennings, speaking on behalf of his men, asked if it were not possible for them to do something for the chapter. The offer has been gladly accepted and arrangements are now being made to take advantage of the offer.

It is planned at first to supply the men with bandage-making machines and have them make bandages and later to furnish knitting machines. Chief Jennings has volunteered to have personal supervision over the enterprise and see that everything is done right.

Arrival at Camp to Be Quiet One

With five weeks of camp life at Sea Girt behind them and newer and stranger things lurking ahead for them, the members of Troop D are speeding southward today as the result of the first order directing the movement of the larger part of the Twenty-ninth division to Anniston, Alabama. The first rays of morning sun yesterday saw the departure of the advance guard from the State camp at Sea Girt and from several other points and by tomorrow the last of the units affected will be on their way to the huge training camp in northern Alabama, where they will undergo a period of intensive training before beginning the last lap for the trenches in France.

The first signs of daylight on the big reservation at Sea Girt yesterday marked the start of the movement. Within an hour the tents of the Brigade Headquarters, Divisional Headquarters and the First Squadron Cavalry were down and all the baggage and other equipment aboard the special trains. The members of the Third Regiment and the other troops that are still in camp lent willing hands and the work progressed without a hitch. The Headquarters troop was the first to pull out from camp, followed closely by the four troops of the First Equadron, including Troop D, of this city, and the several thousand mile trip to the South was on.

Other units that got under way yesterday included the First Regiment, which entrained from Newark, its home station, early in the afternoon, and the Fourth Virginia Infantry. This morning the Fourth Regiment made up of boys from Hoboken and Jersey City, boarded tourist coaches at Somerville, while the Second Infantry, First Squadron Cavalry, and the Headquarters from Virginia started the journey to Anniston at about the same time. Tomorrow will mark the completion of the three days' movement, when the Fifth Regiment leaves camp at Pompton Plains, followed by the last of the Virginia and Delaware troops later in the day.

The crowds of mothers, fathers, sisters and other loved ones that besieged the camp at Sea Girt ever since it became known on Saturday that the move South was to start yesterday has only been equaled on one or two previous occasions, according to the oldest residents of that place. There was little of the gayness that has marked other weekend visiting hordes since the boys have been in camp, and some of those who had loved ones going away stood on end til yesterday or returned in time to bid them a last farewell as they climbed into the cars. Over all, however, was that determined air to grim and bear that can only come when those who are giving up their sons, husbands or sweethearts believe that they are doing it in a righteous cause.

The coming of a holiday after the weekend gave Governor Edge a chance to review all the troops before they left for Anniston, he winding up the tours of inspection and farewell with this afternoon. The usual Sunday afternoon parade brought all the troops at Sea Girt out for inspection, and Monday he reviewed the Fifth Regiment at Pompton Plains. Yesterday as the troopers made their way to the trains at Sea Girt they passed before the Governor and the thousands who had gathered to see them off. In the afternoon Governor Edge inspected the First Regiment at Newark and today will complete his last visit to the troops by inspecting the Fourth Regiment at Somerville.

Unless some link in the transportation plans worked out goes astray it is expected that the first of the troops will arrive at Anniston sometime late tomorrow and from then on to Sunday they will keep flowing in till the entire 15,000 are in camp. Plans have already been made for putting into immediate effect the schedule of training and the beginning of another week should see all the boys at work under southern skies. The only troops now left in the State are the Third Regiment, First Artillery and First Hospital Corps, at Sea Girt, and the Second Regiment, with Company K, at Trenton. When they will move is not known.

NEW SECRETARY AT LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

William Baxley, at present secretary of the Cumberland, Md., Y. M. C. A., and secured by the directors of Plainfield Y. M. C. A., will arrive in this city sometime next week to take up his duties as secretary of the local association. It was only after a year's effort that Mr. Baxley was secured for the local branch and it is expected that he will do much to build up a larger membership and aid all other departments.

He has been secretary of the Cumberland Y. M. C. A., for several years and residents of that city tried hard to make him stay. The loss of members of his family, however, caused him to decide to enter a new field and he comes here with the best of references.

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP.

Richard Borden, of West Seventh street, has received word from Colgate College that he has been awarded a scholarship at that institution for the coming year. He is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, where he was a member of the class of 1915 and in his freshman year made an excellent record at the New York State seat of learning. He returns on October 4 to enter his second year.

"Sliding" Billy Watson Promises Many Laughs

Those who have been educated to real burlesque values will receive with interest the announcement that on next Monday "Sliding" Billy Watson and the Burlesque Wonder Show will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre The reason is that they will realize that the coming of "Sliding" Billy means the coming of a comedian who is in a class by himself. They will also know from experience that the show will be a superior one for this comedian always demands the best in the way of theatrical environment and the most clever of supporting artists. There may be some mediocre comedians who are so afraid of their own talents that they are glad to have an inferior production which will enable them to stand out, but "Sliding" Billy Watson knows he is an exceptional comedian and his declaration to his producers has always been, "Give me the best of everything." Watson's work as a comedian is not to be compared with the work of any comedian in burlesque. He stands alone and pre-eminent in his line. He has a thousand and one little eccentricities which convulse his audiences, but the funny little slide which he does is the big trick which has done more than anything else to win him his fame and which gave him, years ago, the name which has stuck to him like glue. When he does that slide of his the audience just roars from its funny. It looks easy enough but just ask the many comedians who have tried to imitate it whether or not it is in reality easy. There is not an instance on record where any other comedian has successfully copied this Watson eccentricity and those of them have had the good sense to stop trying. Watson has two almost excessively funny vehicles in "Cabaret de Pussee" and "The Man From Tiffany". Those who are looking for funny lines and amusing situations interpreted by a clever comedian will receive more than a full meal if they attend the Plainfield Theatre next Monday, matinee and night. Among those in the supporting cast are May Dix, soubrette; Katherine Pape, prima donna; Ownie Martin, Harris & Lyman and Lulu Coates and her Three Trocked Fairy. The organization is further augmented by a beauty chorus which is second to none in burlesque, both from a beauty standard and from the standpoint of real ability.

COMPENSATION AWARD UPHELD BY COURT

The Supreme Court has affirmed the action of the Union Common Pleas Court in awarding compensation to Patrick J. Purcell, a machinist, who was injured while in the employ of the International Motor Company.

When the accident occurred, October 15, 1915, Purcell was receiving a weekly wage of $18.36. After the accident he was continued in the employ of the International Motor Company as night watchman at one-half of his former wages until January 6, 1916, when he was discharged for "inefficiency."

The company paid Purcell $9.24 a week until $360.36 had been paid, when further payment was refused. Purcell then filed a petition under the Workmen's Compensation Act and was awarded $9.24 a week for 156 weeks, for permanent disability of his eyes and eight weeks and three days for temporary disability of his arms, making a total of 183 weeks and three days, subject to a credit for $360.36, paid after January 6, 1916.

The court held that this allowance was proper, notwithstanding that during the period for which the allowance was made Purcell was able to work and earned a part of his former wages.

Mrs. L. J. Denton, of Washington avenue, is spending a month with her son, Arthur Denton, of Reading, Massachusetts.

Plainfield Theatre Begins Vaudeville

Capacity houses were in evidence at the Plainfield Theatre yesterday afternoon and last night when the season of vaudeville and moving pictures was inaugurated. The initial bill as provided by Manager Shannon comprises six high class specialty acts and numerous pleasing pictures, among them the Pathe news weekly. The same show will be repeated this afternoon and tonight and the full change of vaudeville and pictures is announced for the last part of the week beginning Thursday.

The headliner on yesterday's bill is "The Strolling Singers" a delightful scenic production of entranmusic, presented by four people. Practically every number resulted in an encore. "The Strolling Singers" came direct to Plainfield from the Palace theatre, New York, and are booked for early appearance in the leading vaudeville houses of Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit and the bill formed a diversion of entertainment and each one met with generous applause. They included, Fields and Curtis, Presenting their musical act "At the Piano"; Fields and Regan, Comedians; Brooks and Company, presenting the Comedy Sketch "Opal Luck", The Chrysties, Pantomine Comedy and the three Regals, the funniest comedy acrobat of the day.

The new bill beginning Thursday will have for its headliner the latest animal act importation from Europe in Warner's "Dancing and Prancing" horses, said to be the greatest novelty of the time ever placed on the vaudeville stage. The act is so arranged as to delight both young and old and presents educated equines in displays of marvelous intelligence

"Good Gracious Annabelle" Coming to the Plainfield

On rare occasions a manager with "nerve" enough is found to send on tour a large company, but usually such a manager is one of discerning ability, who, judging from the success of the play in three of the largest cities, knows it will be successful on the road.

This is exactly what has happened to "Good Gracious Annabelle" a rollicking mysterious comedy which will be the offering at the Plainfield Theatre, Tuesday, matine and night, September 11.

The piece enjoyed a run of one year in New York, 6 months in Chicago and 3 months in Boston. In each of these cities, the newspaper critics said very pleasant things of Miss Clare Kummer, its author, for having given to the public such an infectious comedy so wholesome and clean, and lastly Miss Kummer has furnished a genuine novelty—the like of which has never been attempted on any stage—in a comedy way. A vein of mystery is tempered so adroitly with humor that the piece received the unstinted praise of those who judge productions solely upon their merit.

There are pretty girls in the cast with up-to-the minute gowns to lend that atmosphere of femininity without which no comedy would be a success.

HOME FROM FLORIDA.

Charles H. Hand, of Crescent avenue, returned yesterday after a two weeks' trip to Florida. While away he visited St. Petersburg, Tampa, Daytona and Sanford. The journey South was made by rail but the return trip was on the steamer "Comanche," of the Clyde line, on which Raymond Giles, of the borough, is wireless operator. Mr. Hand enjoyed good weather all the time he was away and reports a most excellent journey.

WORD FROM SERGT. MAGUIRE.

Friends in this city have received word from Sergeant William E. Maguire, of the Reserve Engineers, who sailed recently for Europe. His letters and cards are mailed from "Somewhere in England" and state that his regiment was given a tremendous ovation on arriving at an English seaport. Sergeant Maguire, who was employed as foreman on the new City Hall job on Watchung avenue, adds that he is well and happy and expects to be in France within a very short time.

that between 1,500 and 2,000 were in line and many thousands were scattered all along the line of march to witness the spectacle.

After the completion of the parade the conscripts were tendered a dinner in the gymnasium of the High School, at which 250 were present, including local boys who were in the city and had enlisted in any branch of the service. During the course of the dinner a number responded to the demand for a speech, and Theodore G. Davis sang several selections and A. A. Pirland, banjoist, entertained. The grace was said by Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, rector of Grace Episcopal church, and Post Commander Doane, of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., made a brief address.

At the banquet Miss Jessie Munger and a large corps of assistants from the local chapter of the Red Cross worked unceasingly.

Start Movement For Co. K Fund

Camp Richard A. Donnelly, Trenton, Sept. 5.—In an effort to have the citizens of Plainfield follow the footsteps of the people of Trenton and Freehold and establish a company fund for the Plainfield members of the Second Regiment that they may be able to procure luxuries and comforts not provided by the Government, Captain John H. Handley has placed the matter in the hands of Mayor Calkins with a hope that the citizens will contribute to the cause. Chaplain Handley visited Plainfield several days ago in the interest of the fund.

The need of such a fund is apparent from day to day when the comforts and luxuries enjoyed by the other companies are observed by the casual visitor in camp. The Government allows only a certain amount of money to each company over the living allowance. Thus little can be had from this source. The people of the city of Trenton gave to the Second battalion more than $2,500, and from this cook houses and other comforts were obtained, and dainties were secured for the boys and there is still a good balance remaining from which they may obtain other necessities. Once this fund is established the boys will keep it going themselves from the saving of food allowed by the Government. Uncle Sam allows each soldier forty cents per day for rations and by judicious handling of the food a saving of from four to seven cents per day on the man can be shown and all this would go into the company fund.

It is the idea of Chaplain Handley that Mayor Calkins call a meeting of the charitably disposed persons of the city, as well as the patriotic organizations and business men, and establish such a fund by subscription. This fund will be under the care and guidance of the commissioned officers of the company, who are made responsible, and should there be a shortage at any time these officers are held responsible and must make good such shortage. The accounts would be audited frequently. Being away on his vacation for this week, the Mayor has as yet done nothing on the matter.

It is thought that the citizens of Plainfield might contribute at least $500. The city of Bayonne, through its citizens, gave its company of the Fourth Regiment $3,000, and Jersey City gave to its companies $8,000.

All Company K boys are well and enjoying themselves and are awaiting the orders to move. Many rumors are afloat in the camp grounds daily, one in particular is to the effect that the Second Regiment is slated for the Atlantic Ocean rather than a Southern camp. There rumors cannot be confirmed, although it has been stated that Company E, of the Second Regiment, which was sent to Anniston when the regiment was ordered to Camp Richard A. Donnelly here, has been ordered to hold itself in readiness to be moved at a moment's notice.

The sending of Company E to Anniston is thought to have been a mistake, as it was learned that one company was taken from each of the three regiments making up the provisional brigade and sent to Anniston. The three regiments in this brigade are the Second regiment, New Jersey infantry; the First regiment, Delaware infantry, and the Third regiment, District of Columbia infantry.

The mistake, if such it was, will be rectified by the sending of the entire brigade abroad, it is thought, and therefore when the three companies are ordered to move, it will be to join their regiment at Hoboken, where they will all board a transport for France.

Vacation Romance Changed Her Career

A summer vacation in the Rockies served as a potent agency to change the course of the career of a young woman who will be seen here with the R. T. Richard's Supreme Show of the World on September, showing in North Plainfield.

Madam Johanning, trainer of bears, might have been plain Miss Elizabeth Jordan, artist, had not the fates given evidence of an entirely different purpose for the girl's life during the balmy August days of the year 1914 when she was busy with her brushes and paints at the foot of Pike's Peak. Miss Jordan had gone to the Rockies to paint wild life as she found it. Another visitor, Paul Johanning, was there to capture and tame grizzly bears to be exhibited in circuses. They became great friends and when Miss Jordan admired a very small grizzly cub captured by the animal trainer, the chubby little vixen was presented to her. She reproduced his cute antics on canvas and the most interested witness of her art was Paul Johanning.

Many a romance had less chance at the start. They were married and in two years art had become a pleasant pastime with the bride and bear training was the serious business of her life. Her first appearance in public was in a big circus act organized by her husband last year. Today she is said to have more control over wild animals than any man or woman in her line. She will attempt to prove this claim on circus day when she will put a troupe of wonderfully intelligent grizzly and black bears through original tricks. They will do things that usually are considered possible only to the human mind.

Madam Johanning's act is only a small part of the wonderful exhibition of animal training to be seen in the Supreme Show of the World. There will be a parade at 10 o'clock in the morning and two performances will follow, afternoon at 2 o'clock and evening at 8 o'clock.

New State Guard Force Ready for Any Duty

Their quota of seventy-five men complete, the new organization of State Militia in Union county was mustered into service last week at the Elizabeth armory. Nearly all of the men were present to take the oath of office at that time; some who were unable to attend will receive it later.

The work was in charge of Lieut. George Coyne, of the State Militia. Officers elected by the men after the roll had been made up are: Captain, Ralph Shaw; first lieutenant, Wrightson Christopher; second lieutenant, Robert Dick.

The company will start drill in a few days and as soon as they have reached a satisfactory stage in their training, application will be made for uniforms and equipment. At the organization meeting the men showed a lot of enthusiasm. At the close of the mustering in Lieut. Coyne urged the men to show full co-operation in the work, that the officers elected, all of them men of military experience, may accomplish the results desired. Non-commissioned officers will be chosen by the commissioned men and an order will be issued at an early date asking the men to report for their initial duty.

Major Charles Travis, of this city, is in charge of recruiting in the county and is scheduled for a high berth in the new militia.

Standard Plant Soon To Be a Thing of the Past Here

Preparations commenced the forepart of the week are now well under way for the complete removal of the Standard Aero Corporation's manufacturing interest from this city to the recently acquired plant at Elizabethport. The 700 or more employes of the concern have been asked to continue working in the new location and a great many of them have accepted. Some of them will remove to Elizabeth, while others have stated that they will try commuting, the company having very kindly agreed to adjust working hours to conform with the best train service on the New Jersey Central.

The removal of the plant is to be absolutely complete. Workmen are now hurrying up the alterations at the Elizabethport shop and when these are completed, probably by October 1, the additions made to the two Plainfield factories on North avenue, during the past summer, will be torn down, leaving the two buildings just as they were when the corporation took possession a little more than a year ago. The materials secured from the additions are to be shipped to Elizabethport for use, later on. According to a statement from the office of the corporation, it is hoped to have everything in "apple pie" order at Elizabethport not later than October 15. The working force is to be increased if possible to 2,000 hands. An appeal has been made to the Elizabeth realty men and the Elizabeth Board of Trade to aid in furnishing housing facilities for the great number of new families that will invade the territory adjacent to the Standard plant. The majority of them will come from Plainfield as a result of the close-down here.

In a statement made to a Record reporter several weeks ago, President Mingle told how the corporation had purchased the former John Stephenson car works in the Bayway section of Elizabethport because of inadequate quarters in Plainfield but asserted that the two factories in this city would be continued at least during the period of the war. This announcement was made to the employes but on Monday of this week every one of the men or women working at the North avenue shops were handed this notice, signed by E. E. Pennewell, the shop's superintendent:

"It has been decided, after conferring with the Government authorities at Washington, that the Plainfield plant will be shut down entirely when operations are started at the new Elizabeth plant. It is our desire to have all those now employed by the company accompany us in the move to Elizabeth. Please let us know whether or not you intend to continue in the employ of the company by completing the attached stub, filling out the blank spaces 'yes' or 'no,' and depositing same in the Suggestion Box at the door of this building."

Of the 700 of more people employed at the Standard plant now more than 600 are men. The remainder are girls whose homes are in this city or vicinity. Many of the girls had their experience workmen came here from other cities and their loss will be especially felt. The majority of them had leased local residences and were rapidly becoming interested in social and civic affairs. In business circles the loss of the plant will be especially felt as the payroll at the shop amounted to many thousands of dollars a week, practically all of which was spent directly in Plainfield.

In his original announcement of the removal, President Mingle stated that within the next two years the Standard corporation expected to employ 5,000 people. This would have been by far the largest manufacturing plant in this vicinity and at Elizabethport will rank next in magnitude to the Singer Sewing Machine Company, which has a force of nearly 10,000 hands.

New Concern Takes Over Potter Shop

A further step toward terminating the existence of Plainfield's oldest industrial firm was taken this week when the Wood Printing Machinery Corporation of New York assumed possession of the Potter Printing Press Company's plant on South Second street. For the time being the old firm will continue work in the various departments completing its contracts but at the expiration of these it is quite probable that all the patents, rights and title to the Potter Company will be sold or disposed of to the best advantage. All that remains after that, before the concern, which has meant so much to this city since its entrance here in 1879, becomes a thing of the past, is the final dissolving of the official staff by mutual consent.

Henry A. Wise Wood, who is one of the original members of the National Defense Board, appointed by President Wilson but who has since resigned, is the president of the Wood corporation. He is not a stranger in Plainfield as he has been here many times in years past, particularly during the time when the Potter people built machines for his company on contract. The firm had offices at the Potter shop until its removal from here to Taunton, Mass., where most of the Campbell Autoplate machine, controlled by the Wood corporation, were manufactured. The concern has always had offices in New York, which will be maintained.

The Wood corporation controls the patents and manufacturing rights to numerous machines used in the printing trade but has never had a factory of its own. The work has always been "farmed out," as the trade expresses it, that is, offering the work on a contract basis and accepting the most favorable bid. At one period, twenty years ago, the Potter company did a great deal of press building for the firm and also turned out the first auto plates that were placed on the market. These auto plates revolutionized the stereotyping process for turning out the plates from which newspapers are printed. Although the cost of the original machines was $25,000 each, the big newspapers in every part of

Big Labor Pageant On Thursday Night

Under the auspices of the Americanization Committee of this city, a pageant meant to portray "The Democracy of Labor" will be staged at the grounds of the Horse Show Association, on Randolph road, next Thursday night. Several hundred people will take part in it, including representatives from various local industries and fraternal and labor organizations.

The pageant will consist in the main of a series of tableaux depicting the evolution of labor from medieval days, through the Civil War to the present date. Mrs. Maxwell Perkins, well known in local amateur theatricals, constructed the general idea for the pageant and at the rehearsals that have been going on for several weeks the details have been worked out. The principal characters in the pageant will be portrayed by the following local people: "Civilization," Mrs. Dorothea Wells; "America," Mrs. Archibald Cox; "Democracy," Paul B. Welles; "Mother Earth," Mrs. Morris J. Dumont; "Lincoln," Judge William G. DeMeza, and "John Bull," leader of the sheriffs.

The tableau in which the days of the Civil War will be brought to mind will be one of the features of the pageant. Local colored people will take the part of slaves and Judge DeMeza, who bears a striking resemblance to the "great emancipator," will depict Lincoln protecting them.

DAHLIA EXHIBIT.

Under the auspices of the Plainfield Garden Club, a dahlia exhibit will be held at the "Rookery," on Sycamore street, on the afternoon of September 28. All interested in flowers, whether they are members of the club or not, are invited to enter the exhibit, the only qualification being that it be made up of amateurs. All entries must be in the hands of Mrs. W. F. Taliaferro, 502 West Seventh street, by September 26, and exhibits must be at the "Rookery" by 1 o'clock on the date set. Tea will be served during the afternoon and the public is invited.

Miss McCarthy a September Bride

St. Mary's church was the scene of a most attractive wedding Wednesday evening, when Miss Margaret Mary McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. McCarthy, of Lee place, was made the wife of Garrett A. Keating, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Keating, of Essex street. The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock by the rector, Rev. Father B. M. Bogan, assisted by the curate, Rev. Father Walter Hennessey and Reverend Father George Barry Ford, of Monticello, New York, a cousin of the bridegroom. A gathering of relatives and friends which filled the edifice to its capacity was in attendance.

Miss McCarthy, who was gowned in white bridal satin with net to match, and carried a bouquet of bride roses, was attended by her sister, Miss Elinore E. McCarthy, as bridesmaid. The latter was becomingly attired in pink satin with hat to match and carried pink roses. Lee Keating, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers who were all classmates of the bridegroom in St. Mary's School, were: William J. Sullivan, Frank J. Donnally, Cornelius F. Regan and Jack McCarthy, all of this city.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and as the bridal party proceeded to the altar Miss Mary Donnelly, soprano soloist of St. Mary's choir, sang in beautiful voice "O Promise Me."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, during which an elaborate supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Johnson as caterer.

Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Keating left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., the departure being amid a shower of rice and confetti. On returning they will make their home at 662 Lee place, which the bridegroom has completely furnished and where they will be at home to their friends after October 1st.

The wedding of the young couple is the culmination of a romance which began during their school days. They were classmates from the time they studied their first lessons and graduated from St. Mary's in the class of 1909. Both have always lived in Plainfield and the large circle of friends they possess was evidenced by the many appropriate gifts they received. The assortment included silverware, cut glass, furniture and checks. The bridegroom's gift to the bride and bridesmaid was a diamond bar pin. To each of the ushers the bridegroom presented a stick pin.

Mr. Keating is employed by the New York Telephone Company as chief clerk in the Newark office, being promoted to the position from the local exchange with which he was connected a number of years.

C. Ames Brooks Back from France

After serving three months in the Paris section of the American Field Ambulance Service, C. Ames Brooks, son of Mrs. Henry D. Hibbard, arrived in Plainfield this week from France. He sailed from Bordeaux on September 2 and arrived at an Atlantic Port last Tuesday. The trip was uneventful, not a U-boat being seen. The liner he was a passenger on was convoyed through the danger zone by a French cruiser.

Although he was kept busy night and day and saw plenty traces left by the war, as well as maimed and crippled, Mr. Brooks did not set up to the first line trenches during his period of service. His section devoted its entire time to making trips from base hospitals within a radius of forty miles of Paris to the big hospitals in that city.

On several occasions he had short meetings with his brother, Lyman Hibbard, who for over a year has been in the Ambulance Service. In speaking to a Record reporter, Mr. Brooks said that his brother was now a "chef", which in English means chief of a section. Mr. Hibbard has also received the Croix de Guierre, he receiving that honor three months ago, and is now one of the most prominent figures in the Service. The American army is now in the act of taking over the American Ambulance Service and whether or not Mr. Hibbard will join that branch of service or not he plans to keep actively engaged in the struggle until the end.

FALL FESTIVAL.

Under the auspices of the American Motors Band, a two days' festival started today at Wayside Park, Dunellen, and will conclude tomorrow night. Many features have been planned to make the affair a success. This afternoon there is to be a program of sporting events. Music is to be furnished by Dufford's orchestra of thirty pieces.

Motorman Jonas Held for Trial In $1,500 Bail

Jacob Jonas, of Dewey Park, motorman of the Public Service trolley car which crashed into Joseph Birkwell's "jitney" bush on West Front street at 10:40 last Saturday night, killing Jeremiah Lant, of 1132 West Third street, and injuring twelve persons, was arraigned before Judge James J. Connolly at Elizabeth this morning. A technical charge of manslaughter was made against him and he was held in $1,500 bail for appearance before the October Grand Jury. The amount was furnished by the Maryland Casualty Co.

Jonas was quite badly injured in the collision and was released from Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon. Besides shock and bruises he suffered three fractured ribs. There are now only four of the injured persons remaining at Muhlenberg out of the thirteen who were first taken there. These are John Silvester, of Dunellen, whose foot was so badly crushed that two toes will be amputated; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Marienschenck, of 1429 Willever street, cuts, shock and bruises, and Miss Iona Hope, colored, of Willow avenue, the borough, severe body bruises and contused wounds. All four are "doing nicely" and with the exception of Silvester will be discharged during the next few days.

The other persons injured who were discharged earlier in the week and who have practically recovered

Councilman Writes of Excise Matters

The following communication, which is self-explanatory, has been received from Councilman L. M. Booth, who is a candidate for re-election from the Second ward:

This year the contest for the councilmanic nomination in the Second ward centers around the attitude of the candidates on the liquor question. The political interests have decided to endorse only candidates who have agreed to abide by the answer of the voters of Plainfield to this question, which they will be asked on November 6th.

"Do you favor abandoning the present Plainfield policy of granting a limited number of liquor licenses in a limited zone and adopting a new policy of not granting any liquor licenses at all?"

To the forward looking voters of the Second ward a vote on such a proposition comes a year or so late. They had their say last year. A vote now which may result in favor of the sale of whiskey, even under our present restrictions, at a time when all patriotic and thoughtful citizens are endeavoring to endorse the National Government action, seems especially inopportune.

The whole proposition boils down to this: Shall the Second ward representative, to be elected this year, in response to the voice of the voters of Plainfield, which of course is dominated by the wet and populous First and Fourth wards, or shall he vote to oppose whiskey? The Second ward has spoken already—the nomination and election of Mr. Colman last year removes all doubt that their councilman to be elected this year must be willing to represent the sentiment of the Second ward.

This year "the powers that be" assured me of their support as a candidate for renomination. If I would in turn agree to commit myself to a favorable vote for whiskey in case the wet interests of the First and Fourth wards predominate. While I may not be an expert at interpreting the sentiment of the voters of the Second ward on all subjects, I certainly do wish to sell them out on a proposition like this one, on which they have already spoken. Personally I am opposed to granting licenses for the sale of whiskey in Plainfield, and if elected for the coming term, I shall oppose the renewal of our present whiskey licenses.

During the 1916 and 1917 Councils, I have offered the opportunity of considering substantial progress toward the elimination of the evils of liquor traffic. The meat of the proposed ordinance which a majority of the 1917 Council favor, but failed to support, is as follows:

"That from and after the adoption and approval of this ordinance, no license shall be granted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield for the sale of spirituous or fermented liquors which contain more than five (5) per cent. by weight of alcohol."

Now Open.

Seventy-Three Conscripts Off to Camp September 22

Local Board Condemns Anonymous Letters But Solicits Honest Information Concerning Application for Discharge or Exemption

Chairman Charles A. Reed, of the local Exemption Board, announced officially today that seventy-three conscripted men from this district would leave Plainfield on Saturday, September 22, on the 8:38 train. They will proceed to Elizabeth from which point they will go over the Pennsylvania Railroad to Camp Dix at Wrightstown. No other men will be sent out in the meantime.

Chairman Reed today also made known to newspaper men that he and his Board had been subjected to great annoyance by anonymous letter writers. Unsigned communications are received every day, the writers asserting that certain men had been exempted who should not be and that others were drafted who should be discharged. The letters have frequently accused certain persons of perjury in making out affidavits or answering the Board's questions. Mr. Reed stated that if people who have information to this effect will sign their names to the communications they will be treated as confidential and fully investigated. The Board, he said, has gone to great extreme to secure the conscript quota in an absolutely fair and impartial manner and if it has been falsified to drastic measures will be adopted where proof is secured. Bonfade information in any case is solicited but unsigned letters written through spite because some relative or close friend has been drafted neither have or will carry any weight.

During the past week the Board has been considering exemption and discharge claims filed by registrants and today announced a list of about 1,200 men from a panel of 450 examined who are not eligible for draft. These are as follows:

SUBSCRIBE TO RECORD FOR A SOLDIER BOY.

Plainfield now has over 600 of her young men in the country's service and more are being added to that number each day. Already the Record is sent to a number in France, at Anniston, Ala., at Wrightstown and Trenton. The boys are yearning for news from home and the Record is the best medium for securing it, so why not do your bit and have the paper sent to one who does not already get it? If you do not have a member of your family or a son in the service just send us the subscription anyway and we will see that some boy far from home gets the benefit of it.

The Record has made special arrangements for taking care of these subscriptions. You can either send us the money in advance or we can mail you a bill by the month. For the return for the outlay the rates are exceedingly low—$2 per year, $1 for six months, 50c for three months, or 20c a month. Do your bit today.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS TO HOLD CONVENTION.

Practically all of the Christian Endeavor Societies throughout the State, especially those which during the summer discontinued their services, have taken up the work and are outlining their activities for the fall and winter. The first big event to command general attention among the thousands of Endeavorers in New Jersey, and the many friends interested in the movement, is the annual State Christian Endeavor convention, which will be held in Bridgeton, October 3, 4 and 5. Local delegates are planning to attend.

Voters Signing For Two Platoon System

Members of the local fire department have been busy during the past week securing the necessary signatures to a petition that will enable them to bring the two-platoon system before the voters next November. As more than 4,000 ballots were cast at the last general election the number of signers necessary is about 342, this being twenty per cent. of the total as required by law. Practically the full number has been obtained at the present time.

The two platoon idea divides the fire fighting force of a city into two shifts of twelve hours each, thus allowing the men to sleep at their own homes. Five cities in New Jersey have already adopted the plan and it seems to be giving every satisfaction. These cities are Newark, Paterson, Bayonne, Atlantic City and East Orange. The first city in the United States to adopt it was Yonkers, N. Y., where it has been in vogue for nearly ten years.

The present number of men in the Plainfield department is thirty-seven, of which thirty-one are privates. If the voters sanction the proposition for this city it will necessitate the addition of about twelve men. The expense of these during the first year would amount to about $9,000. It the decision of the community is in favor of the plan it becomes mandatory for the Common Council to devise ways and means for installing the project.

Need More Funds for "Send-off" Expenses

Through the generous contributions of Plainfield citizens $575 was provided for properly showing local National Army men that the city wishes them success and a safe return. The committee needs $25 more to pay all bills, and contributions of this will be received at the Plainfield Trust Company.

In addition to the celebration last Tuesday night, the $600 will cover payment for excellent Plattsburg tool knives, which have been found very useful by men in the army. Each man has received or will receive as he leaves town one of these knives and a supply of tobacco which will act as a reminder of home after he reaches Camp Dix. The work of delivering these to the men is being taken care of by the canteen and motor squad committees in the local Red Cross, under the chairmanship of Miss Jessie D. Munger.

The committee in charge of the farewell has completed its work and made report to Mayor Calkins, E. T. Barrows, chairman of the committee, said this morning:

"The committee wishes to take this opportunity through the Plainfield Record to thank the public for their generous response. They also wish to express their thanks to the speakers, those who furnished automobiles, the Board of Education, Lady Greene, who decorated the hall, the Home Defense League and other parading organizations, the Dutch Arms band and other musical organizations, the police and fire departments, the newspapers and all others who made the afternoon and evening such a glorious success."

Nuggets of Church News

The past week has seen the return to the city of the pastors of the various churches who have been away on their annual vacations, and many of the most earnest workers. The approach of fall means the resume of religious activities that were discontinued during the hot weather, societies will again hold their weekly meetings and other plans for an active winter will be made. The Record will be pleased to accept notices for this column telling of activities in the various churches, but copy must be in by noon on Thursday.

PARK AVENUE BAPTIST.

The pulpit committee appointed last spring is still looking about for a possible choice as rector to replace Rev. Birney Hudson. There are several probable candidates and some definite announcement may be expected in the near future. Until then, however, supplies will fill the pulpit. Those secured for the remainder of the month are as follows: September 23, Rev. M. T. Shelford, Hoboken; September 30, Rev. Walter J. Swaffield.

Plans are being made for the holding of a general rally by the various organizations of the church. A more definite announcement will be made within the next few days.

HOLY CROSS.

Rev. H. St. G. Burrill, the rector, will be in charge of the services in the church on Sunday, which will be at the usual hours.

NETHERWOOD REFORMED.

Rev. Edward S. Ralston will preach at both the morning and evening services in the Netherwood Reformed church on Sunday.

MONROE AVENUE M. E.

At the Monroe Avenue M. E. church on Sunday the usual services will be conducted by Rev. J. J. Flynn, the pastor.

GRACE EPISCOPAL.

Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, rector, will be in charge of the morning service on Sunday and will be in charge of the evensong service in the late afternoon.

HEAVENLY REST.

The Men's Club of the church held its first meeting of the season last night, at which time plans for the fall activities were made.

Rev. Cortland H. Mallery will officiate at the service on Sunday. The evening service will be resumed, as will the Sunday-school sessions.

A meeting of the St. Hilda Girls' Guild will be held in the parish house Monday afternoon at 3:30. On September 27 the Women's Guild will meet in the parish house to organize for the fall and winter work and to elect officers. The Guild is planning to devote a part of its time to working for the Red Cross.

ALL SOUL'S.

Services at All Soul's Unitarian church will be resumed on Sunday with Rev. John Baltzly in charge. The morning preaching service will be at 10:45, preceded by the Sunday-school session.

GRACE M. E.

The usual services will be held at the Grace Episcopal church on Sunday, with Rev. Charles Gillespie preaching at both the morning and evening services.

ST. STEPHEN'S.

The services at St. Stephen's church on Sunday will be in charge of Rev. J. Atwood Stansfield.

PAVING PROGRESSING.

The Newark Paving Company started work this week on the paving of Watchung avenue from East Fourth street to East Seventh street. Work on Fifth street is progressing favorably, and the paving of North avenue will be started shortly.

GUILD MEETING.

A meeting of the Fruit and Flower Guild will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Friends' meeting house, corner Third street and Watchung avenue. Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, rector of Grace church, will make an address and a delegation of young people from the Park Avenue Baptist church will be present.

Y. M. C. A. BOARD MEETING.

The September meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held last night in the association building, at which time William Baxley, formerly general secretary at the Cumberland, Md., branch, was officially installed in the same position in the local branch. Routine business was transacted and plans for the fall activities were made. Nothing was done regarding the new site for the erection of the building for which the campaign was held last year, but the committee appointed to take charge of the matter reported progress.

JAMES E. WARNER

Respectfully solicits your vote and support in the Primary, September 25, for the REPUBLICAN NOMINATION
—FOR—
Sheriff of Union County
"He knows the work, has made good as Under-Sheriff and deserves the promotion."
PRIMARY, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 25th
Always a Republican, JAMES E. WARNER has made good as Under-Sheriff. He will, beyond question, make good as Sheriff of Union County, with three years' experience under Sheriff George C. Otto (who by law cannot succeed himself) to guide him, during which time every kind of service that may fall to the lot of a Sheriff has been demanded.

Autumn Outing Wear for Particular Women
Unusual and attractive models, for every occasion, are on display at the FACTORY right now. You will find that the Krauthamer assortments of Suits, Coats, Dresses and Skirts is superior in style, and affords far greater value, to any in Plainfield's retail stores.
There are reasons, of course; the main one is that you buy from the maker when you buy here, and you save the retailer's profit. Compare prices, and see!

Smart Fall Suits
Correctly styled suits, at prices unbelieveably low. That is the story in a nutshell. In spite of the tremendously increased cost of every single thing that goes into a garment, you will find that you can still buy here at the same low prices as before. Seasonable shades and fabrics, in sizes to fit everyone.
Jaunty Comfy Coats
You had best buy your Fall coat early this year. Why? One very good reason is that it looks like an early Winter—another is that you will save money by doing so. You will want to look here before making your decision, of course; whether you see the Krauthamer coats first or last does not matter—once you have seen, tried on and priced them, here is where you will buy.
For Girls of All Ages
A woman's age is her own business, and no one else's. Nevertheless, it is ever her duty to herself and to the world in general to appear as young, and as charming as may be possible. Krauthamer Dresses and Skirts are made to keep you youthful—try them, and you will see how well they serve their ends. Prices are away down here, too—you save a third at the FACTORY.

Miss Loretta Dunny, of East Seventh street, has returned home from Windsor, Vt., where she spent the Summer with relatives.

Albert Rennie, of Crescent avenue, returned Wednesday after a week's camping trip on Halsey Island, Lake Hopatcong.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Freed and Miss Irene Day, of Watchung avenue, left Monday for a trip to Washington, D. C. They will visit Mount Vernon and other points of interest near the Capitol before returning.

Percy Vail, a former resident of this city, who has been living at Reading, Pa., for the past few years, has been spending the present week with his mother, Mrs. Adelbert Vail, of Washington street.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davis, of Guthrie, Oklahoma, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Newton Drake, of Somerset place.

Mrs. Edward A. Feiring and son, of Orchard place, returned home after a pleasant stay at Belmar.

Miss Jessie Phelps, of East Sixth street, has resigned her position as teacher in the Emerson School for the purpose of taking up a special course in nursing previous to enlisting in the Red Cross foreign corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rothberg, of Park avenue, are enjoying a vacation trip to the Middle West. They have already visited Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Kellogg, of Tappen avenue, the borough, formerly of Glen Ridge, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Martha Easton, to Sloane B. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew K. Miller, of New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Harding, Jr., and daughter, of Laramie road, left a few days ago for Washington, D. C., where they will make their home in the future. Mr. Harding was formerly with the Hudson Tunnels Company in New York but has been appointed to a responsible position in the office of Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burke, of West Fifth street, have returned home after spending the summer at their bungalow at Wildwood.

Gustave Frederick, formerly of the Hotel Kensington, but more recently of East Front street, has returned to New York for a short stay previous to assuming an engagement as orchestra leader for an operatic company. Mr. Frederick has been in Plainfield for the past two years during which he has formed a circle of friends who greatly regret his departure.

Miss Millian Gormas, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., who has been spending the summer with her grandmother, Mrs. E. S. Ahern, of North avenue, returned to her home a few days ago. She was accompanied by Miss Lillian Ahern, who will spend a week at Wilkes-Barre.

Miss Helen Roberts, of Oakland, Cal., will leave for home within a few days, after a three weeks' visit with her aunt, Mrs. Mary Hines, of Liberty street.

Mayor Leighton Calkins and family, of Central avenue, returned home this week after an outing of two weeks at East Gloucester, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Finck, of New York, have returned home after a visit with Mrs. Finck's cousin, Mrs. Thomas Fay, of North avenue. While there Mr. and Mrs. Finck enjoyed a meeting with Howard Manning, of Grant avenue, who they knew many years ago but who they had not seen in a long time.

Daniel J. Shea, of West Fourth street, will return to his duties at the local post office tomorrow after a two weeks' vacation.

Miss Veronica Meade, of Long Island City, is visiting her sisters, Mrs. John Brown, of West Fourth street, and Mrs. Frank Hill, of John street.

Miss Amy L. Moore, of Park avenue, has been critically ill during the past two weeks with pleuro-pneumonia. She is under the care of Dr. Frederick J. Hughes and her sister, Miss Elsie Moore, the latter a pupil nurse in a hospital at Yonkers, N. Y.

James Pratt Streeter, of Church street, who is known as Plainfield's "young old man," returned the forepart of the week after a combined business and pleasure trip to Buffalo, Toronto and Cobalt, Ont. He was accompanied by Dr. Warford Nixon and his daughter, Miss Edna Nixon, of Raritan, and John Hall, of Somerville. Despite his eighty-three years of age, Mr. Streeter returned from the trip as fresh as when he went away and declared that he felt no fatigue at any time. Next Monday Mr. Streeter, Dr. Nixon and W. C. Wilcox, the last named of this city, will leave for another trip for Washington, D. C., and Vesuvius. They will be gone for about a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Guinee, of West Fifth street, are the parents of a young son born to them a few days ago.

Mrs. Vincent W. Nash, Jr., of Mettine avenue, who has been seriously ill during the past two weeks and who underwent a blood transfusion last week, was reported today as being greatly improved. It is believed by Doctor Lindeman, the New York specialist, that no more transfusions will be necessary.

Miss B. McCue, of West Fourth street, returned home Tuesday after a week's stay at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Harriot, of Mamaroneck, have returned home after a visit with their daughter, Mrs. L. F. Barrett, of Mountain avenue.

William Breen, of the Hotel Kensington, returned a few days ago after a two weeks' sojourn at Point Pleasant and Jamesburg.

French Government Confers War Cross On "Clem" Bechtel for Valiant Service

Word has come to this city that Clement Bechtel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bechtel, of Carlton avenue, who is a member of the American Ambulance Corps in France, has been honored by the French Government in conferring upon him the French War Cross, the Croix de Guerre. This is awarded only for deeds of bravery or valiant service, but the nature of the young Plainfielder's act has not been made known either in the official dispatches or personal letters to parents and friends. This is probably due to the fact that great secrecy is maintained in the doings of the allied forces on the French front.

Mr. Bechtel was formerly a tire salesman and went to France last spring in company with a contingent recruited from the concern by which he was employed. He is an expert automobile driver and soon after his active service began was placed in charge of the touring car used by staff officers. His work required him to keep close to the lines at all times, thus being in the zone where danger is on every hand. A few weeks ago letters were received from him in which he told of numerous narrow escapes from German shells, some of them bursting as near as 100 yards from his car. Several of his associates have met death while transporting wounded from the rear lines to the base hospital and some of Mr. Bechtel's local friends entertained the idea the Croix de Guerie was awarded him for bravery in aiding members of his corps. No matter how it came about, however, the conferring of the cross is as greatly appreciated by everybody in Plainfield as much as by "Clem" himself.

Mr. Bechtel is the second Plainfielder to receive this coveted mark of honor from the French Government. The first was Lyman Hibbard, of East Seventh street, who has been in the American Ambulance Corps for the past three months.

MUNICIPAL CLERKS HELD MEETING.

At the meeting last night at the county clerk's office, in the Courthouse, of the municipal clerks of the county, the matter of the conduct of the coming election was taken up. The clerks are endeavoring to adopt some uniform method of conducting the election, so that there will be less confusion than in former years.

The Secretary of State has been sending supplies to the various clerks and the county clerk's office has been in receipt of the oaths of the various election officers named. The clerks' conference took up the matter of the filling out of these blanks, so that a uniform system may be adopted to facilitate the election work.

Charles Clark, of Westfield, was chairman of the meeting.

City May Adopt New Building Code; Half Million Mark Passed

Preparations are under way for the changing of the building code in this city. The matter has not as yet been taken up by the Common Council, but it is expected that a meeting of that body will be held in the near future, at which the various provisions and sections of the proposed code will be gone over. It is possible that a public meeting may be held to give the various builders in the city a chance to pass on the merits of the code.

The new code, which thus far has not gotten beyond the typewritten stage, is the work of Arthur E. Smith, the local building contractor. To wade through the numerous pages would be a considerable task, but a hasty perusal shows that it will be a decided improvement over the present code if adopted. The one now in use has really been outgrown by the city in the rapid strides Plainfield has taken in the past few years, and every now and then a building venture comes up that is not provided in the old code. Mr. Smith's intention in drawing up the code was to cover every possible phase of building in the city for years to come.

Although plans for a City Hall or other big structures are not filed in Plainfield with anything like regularity, it would seem from present indications that building figures for the year of 1917 are to come very near and possibly eclipse those for last year. In 1916, with the City Hall and other large contracts to boost the mark, the total number of permits filed represented an outlay of shortly below the million dollar mark. Thus far this year the figure is $530,141.00. Of this amount $402,291.00 was for the first six months, $25,000.00 for July and $100,115.00 for August. September has started in rather slowly, as thus far seven permits have been issued aggregating only $1,635.00.

Indications are, however, that the approach of fall will, if anything, quicken the building field. The coming here of the Aero Alarm Company and the changing hands of the Potter Press Works will mean changes in at least two factory buildings, the cost of which cannot even be approximated at the present time. Other rumors of building projects are prevalent in local construction circles and it would not be surprising if the million dollar mark was again reached.

The permits granted by Building Inspector Doane thus far in September are as follows:

J. W. Fenton, 644 South avenue, lunch room at North avenue and Berckman street to cost $40. Builder, himself.

Albert Pittis, 147 East Front street, addition onto building at same address, to be one story high and of brick. Dimensions, 12x15. Contractor, Cohen & Israisky. Cost, $445.

G. W. Gary, 117 Lafayette place, garage 8x12. Of frame construction and one story high. Cost, $25. Builder, himself.

Mary E. Allen, 415 West Second street, alteration to building at 412 West Second street, to be 9x14 and two stories high. Cost, $550.

J. Irvin Taylor, 835 West Eighth street, one story frame garage to cost $575 and to be 20x22. Contractor, George Wilson.

Matteo Manro, 307 East Second street, one story terra cotta structure to be used as a store room. Dimensions, 21x18. Cost, $400. Contractor, Frank Sherriff.

Packard Motor Car Company, lessee of store at 214 Park avenue, permission to install a fifty gallon gasoline tank on premises.

Champions to Shoot For County Title

A meet for the trapshooting championship of Union county will be held Sunday afternoon at the traps of the Duane Gun Club, at which time Robert Maurer, the present champion, will have to defend his title against a number of claimants. The meet is open to any gunner who is a member of an organized gun club in the county.

Among those who will take a crack at Maurer's title is George Ord, a member of the Climax Gun Club. Ord won the title from Johnny Anthes in a match on the Climax traps last Decoration Day but was defeated by Maurer in a Fourth of July shoot. John Terry, a clubmate of Ord's, also has aspirations for the county title, while practically every other trapshooter of any prominence in the county will compete.

The championship events calls for a fifty bird shoot and a sixteen foot rise. Following the main event of the day, there will be a fifty bird merchandise shoot, which will be conducted with an added handicap.

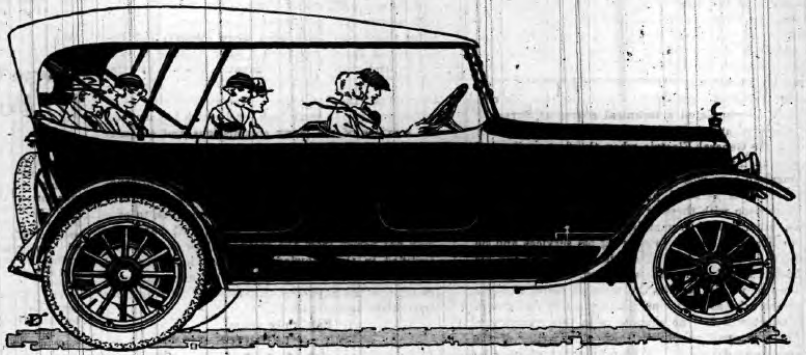
THE MOON CAR



Like All Moon Cars—
NOTABLE FOR ITS CAREFUL MANUFACTURE BY THE MOST EXPERIENCED AUTOMOBILE ENGINEERS AND COACH BUILDERS.

Priced So Reasonably
And when you realize that the price of this big, beautiful and dependable 7-passenger touring car is $1575, you're certain to make it your car.
Prices subject to withdrawal without notice.

Is true to its name. The charm of its European design distinguishes it from all other cars of any price. Its seats are just as comfortable and inviting as those big chairs at the club and are finished in real tan Spanish leather. The backs of the former are upholstered all the way down to the floor—in keeping with the refinements of a handsomely appointed family car.

Moon Cars have surplus power. Year after year they serve their owners silently and faithfully. Surprisingly low-priced, they combine a soundly constituted chassis with a distinctively comfortable and comely body.

The Moon Six 45 Roadster
(Four-passenger) is now offered as a further exemplification of this fact. It will appeal to those whose good taste seeks expression in the things with which they surround themselves. It has an additional appeal in the friendly arrangement of the seats—roomy, yet sufficiently close together for neighborly conversation during the ride. And, because of its thoughtful designing, it is the ideal car to drive without passengers as well as with them.

Despite its beautiful lines, its great power, and its general desirability, the price of the Moon Six-45 Roadster is but $1575.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., FRIDAY, SEPT. 14, 1917.

FIREMEN AWAITING THE CITIZEN'S ANSWER.

As predicted in the columns of the Record last fall, the two-platoon system for the firemen of Plainfield has come to the point where the voters are to be asked for a decision on the proposition. Petitions have been circulated during the past week calling for the necessary number of signatures from voters to allow the matter to be balloted upon at the polls next November. The readiness with which the names were appended shows that this movement, which is sweeping over the country, is looked upon with considerable favor by the local population. All that remains before the system is put into effect is for a majority of the voters to say "yes." From that point the proposition is compulsory and the Common Council must devise ways and means to meet the necessary expense.

At this time when the city is looking ahead to the goal of big things this is without doubt a good time for the people to give a little serious thought to the conditions of life surrounding the brave men who guard the community against the fire menace. Under the present system the firemen of Plainfield are on duty practically twenty-four hours each day. They are given time off for meals, but the rest of the day and night is spent in the fire houses. Thus, the home life of the men is absolutely destroyed, the home is robbed of the father's influence, and there is no denying the fact that the present method with the men confined for five days and nights followed by a day off with its absolute freedom not only breaks up the habits of living but results in a serious impairment of the efficiency of the men.

Many other cities of the country, some of them much smaller than Plainfield, have faced the two-platoon system question and in practically every case the final outcome has been a victory for the firemen and an immediate improvement in the general service. The only argument is that it will cost the city some money to accomplish the reform. True, and the Record would like to know if there is any better way in which Plainfield could spend a little more money each year than in treating its firemen like human beings, instead of locking them up in the firehouse like horses in a stall, ready to be called at a moment's notice any hour of the day or night? These are the days when great changes have been effected in improving the working conditions of those who toil.

Within recent years the eight-hour day has become a fixed principle of labor in most of the trades and the idea is now spreading to the factories and the store. In our own city where the union holds sway, eight hours as a day's work is the rule. Our department stores have very recently shown a commendable regard for the welfare of their employes by shortening the hours of work. Our Police Department has for a long time operated on the eight or nine hour shift, and while all this reform has been going on all about us, the firemen of the city, the men with their ears close to the bell tapper and with their eyes ever watchful for the outbreak of the fire demon, have uncomplainingly sacrified their home life with all its tender relations, locking themselves up in the engine houses twenty-four hours a day that they may be ready for the call of duty no matter at what moment it may sound.

The time has come for Plainfield to treat its firemen better. Plainfield cannot insist upon better working conditions for those who toil in its factories and stores while, it, as a community, keeps its firemen on duty twenty-four hours a day. By this it is not meant that the reform can come within a month, or three months, or even six months. But it is an undeniable proposition that this city should forthwith give this matter immediate consideration with the end in view of ending the present conditions at the earliest possible moment. Justice, humanity and increased efficiency for the fire department demand the inauguration of the two-platoon system here.

"POISONED PEN" FAILS IN COWARDLY ATTACK.

A despicable bit of anonymous letter writing that will meet with condemnation from every Plainfielder with a sense of fairness has come to light locally within the past few days. The cowardly author singled out Emil Jahn, a Scotch Plains young man, for his target and not only placed his coming position in the United States Army in jeopardy but also cast aspersions on a family which has always been held in the highest regard in this community. Mr. Jahn held an excellent position with the General Electric Company at Schenectady, N. Y., when war was declared on April 6. He immediately applied for enlistment in the Officers' Reserve Corps, an action prompted by a sense of patriotism and duty toward the country in which he was born. Last month the young man was notified to report at Fort Niagara, near Buffalo, where he is now in training for a lieutenant's commission.

One day last week Jahn was ordered to report before his commanding officer and upon entering the latter's quarters was handed a letter which had been mailed from this vicinity to the War Department at Washington. The communication held a newspaper clipping, announcing Jahn's enlistment and was followed by a scurrilous attack on the young man's patriotism. The writer, who signed himself "A Patriot," asserted that Jahn was "to pro-German to be an American soldier." As if this was not enough the miserable coward who slurred the word "patriot" in using it as he did went further and alleged that "the whole Jahn family was pro-German." The authorities at Washington made no comment in forwarding the communication to Fort Niagara and the commanding officer was broad-minded enough to go no further than to hand it to the young recruit. As far as official circles were concerned that was the end of the affair.

It might have been a different matter, however, if there had been one little circumstance which could have led the War Department to believe that the cowardly villifier was telling the truth. No matter how innocent Jahn might be if circumstances prevented him from fully establishing his loyalty it would have cost him the appointment he has sacrificed so much to get. Further than this he might have been interned with all the disgrace that goes with traitorous conduct and a stigma cast upon his family from which it would never recover. As the matter stands, the only thing that could in any possible way bear out the assertion of Teutonic sympathy is the German origin of the Jahn name. Although the elder Jahn, now deceased, was born abroad his children are all natives of this country and are as sincere in their support of President Wilson and his policies as the offspring of families who can trace their ancestry back to the Pilgrim fathers. To cast the finger of suspicion upon any member of the Jahn household is a deliberate attempt to wrong loyal, faithful and true patriotis who stand ready and willing to shed their last drop of blood in the overthrow of Prussian autocracy and the upholding of American democracy. Emil Jahn was graduated from the Plainfield High School when only seventeen years old. When just past his majority he completed a technical course at Syracuse University and held a highly responsible position with the General Electric when the first realization came to him that he was one of the thousands of American boys who would have to fight for national honor. His personal prospects meant nothing in comparison with those of the nation. The fact that his father was of German birth meant not the slightest difference to him in offering his services and he did so in the full belief that his government and his friends would appreciate his action. That they have done so we do not for the moment doubt and the person who so maliciously attempted to falsify his conduct will find no supporters in this community. There is small possibility that the writer of the anonymous letter will be found out but whether he is or not his poison shaft fell far short of its mark. The people of Scotch Plains and of Plainfield know that the Jahn family has not the slightest tinge of disloyal blood in their veins and when the war is over a record of each one will overshadow that of the first side warrior who misappropriated the title of "A Patriot."

RECKLESS TROLLEYING WORSE THAN AUTO SPEEDING.

All that can be said now cannot undo the damage that was occasioned by the trolley car-"jitney bus" collision on West Front street last Saturday night, but the deplorable affair has brought home to the city officials a practice that should be stopped. This is the reckless running of trolleys in the stretch between Plainfield and Grant avenue. Many of the motormen in the employ of the Public Service Corporation consider it an individual privilege to disrgard the safety of life and limb by shoving their conveyances along at their utmost limit of speed. The same idea applies somewhat to other parts of the trolley system in Plainfield but in the stretch mentioned the dangerous practice has been especially pernicious. Numerous accidents of a less serious nature have occurred frequently beyond Plainfield avenue and it remained for last Saturday night's disaster to cap the climax.

The versions of witnesses agreed that the motorman of the trolley car was traveling along at a very fast rate. They also agree that the lights of the smaller vehicle were shining brightly and no genuine excuse can be advanced for not seeing it. The fact that the trolley continued to shove forward for nearly a block before coming to a standstill is further evidence that it was proceeding at a rate of speed beyond the safety mark. The authorities are now collecting evidence to prosecute the case against the Public Service Corporation but the chances are it will end up as affairs of these kind generally do.

No amount of legal procedure can restore the one victim to his life or soothe the aching hearts of the parents and friends. And neither can it relieve the pain of those who suffer injuries but, if the Plainfield officials make it known once and for all trolley cars have no more right to use Front street as a speedway than an automobile has, some other life may be saved in the future. The arrest of the next offending motorman might have a far more reaching effect than pages of court reports following civil cases.

OFFICIAL PRAISE FOR DEMONSTRATION COMMITTEE.

In grateful acknowledgement of the good work accomplished by Chairman William N. Runyon and the members of his committee conducting the recent demonstration in behalf of Plainfield's quota to the National Army, Mayor Leighton Calkins has written a commendatory letter to the popular Assemblyman. In it he congratulates the chairman on the undeniable success of the affair in very warm terms. The executive's appreciation of what was done is so characteristically expressed that we publish it in full, believing the citizens of the community will sound enthusiastic corroboration after reading it:

"September 12, 1917.

"Hon. William N. Runyon,
"Chairman, Citizens' Committee,
"Plainfield, N. J.

"My dear Judge Runyon:

"Will you please accept, for yourself and for the chairmen and members of the several sub-committees, my grateful acknowledgement of your splendid services in arranging the community farewell by which Plainfield honored the men who have been selected for the new national army. In other cities there may have been more display, but nowhere can there have been a finer balance of simplicity and enthusiasm, or greater dignity, in celebrating an event which touches the lives and aspirations of all true Americans. The work of your committee was on the same high level which has marked the services of the many commissions and committees which I have had the honor to name during the last few months, and through which our city has shown its zeal and loyalty in the cause of international good faith and right-dealing among men. The young men who now go out from among us, to give their lives if need be that justice and happiness may not perish from the earth, will be cheered and fortified in the knowledge that we not only hold them in affectionate regard but that our confidence in them is the unshaken confidence of faith in their patriotism and manhood.

"Faithfully yours
"LEIGHTON CALKINS."

WHAT'S BECOME OF THE GOOD OLD DAYS—

When "Ted" Dunn introduced the quick lunch idea to Plainfield night-hawks and opened his emporium on North avenue with "Ted" Clevely as chief mogul?

When Plainfield had no theatre but Van Deventer's Hall on East Front street drew a packed house every time a phrenologist or mesmerist came to town?

When street fakers lined the curb on Somerset street every Saturday night and banjo musie induced the gullible Plainfielders to buy razor strops they didn't need or patent medicine good for everything except what it was really intended to cure?

When a man driving a horse and steel tired buggy had as much right on the road as a Packard or Pierce-Arrow?

When the young men anxious to become members of the volunteer fire department had to serve their apprenticeship in the "children's home" hose company?

When Jersey Central commuter trains arrived in Jersey City on time at least once a week?

When the young fellows and their best girls made dates to meet in the skating rink at Grove street and Craig place?

When every man, women and child in town thought it impossible to get along without a bicycle and great gaps occurred in the Sunday morning church congregations because of the "century run" mania prevailing among the parishioners.

Warner Is Active In Sheriff Fight

James E. Warner, since filing his petition for sheriff to succeed George C. Otto, has bee waging an active campaign. Mr. Warner believes the people of Union county will prefer for the important office of sheriff a man of experience. This, Mr. Warner says, with reason, he has gained as under-sheriff during the whole of Sheriff Otto's term, in which time every kind of service that may fall to the lot of a sheriff has been demanded.

Mr. Warner's "business card" as candidate for sheriff says, "He knows the work, has made good as under-sheriff and deserves the promotion."

Mr. Warner was born in Morris county near Chatham, lived in Elizabeth from eight years of age until he was twenty-six, when he moved to Cranford, residing there since that time. He has always been a Republican and an active worker for the party.

He was one of the organizers of the Cranford Citizen, and is at present editor and manager. He is one of the original members of the Cranford Golf Club, a member of the Cranford Casino and a member of several lodges.

Elks' Service at MacDuff Funeral

Members of Plainfield Lodge of Elks will have full charge of the funeral of Alexander MacDuff, whose death occurred suddenly at his home on Division street yesterday morning, following injuries received the night before in a fall down stairs. He sustained a fractured skull and severe internal hurts. The members of the Elks will assemble at the clubhouse at 1:45 and will proceed to the late home in a body. Assemblyman William N. Runyon will deliver the eulogy and the Elks quartet, in charge of Elmer D. Cutting, will render several selections. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Mr. MacDuff was born in Scotland on June 20, 1844, but had made his home in this country since a young man. He was an expert gardener and for nearly twenty-five years had been in charge of the beautiful grounds about the residence of H. G. Runkle on West Eighth street.

Mr. MacDuff was a splendid specimen of physical manhood, standing more than six feet in height and built in proportion. Because of his majestic appearance he was dubbed "chief" in the sense of the term as it is applied to the head of a Scottish clan. He was an ardent member of the local Elks lodge and always marched at the head of the column when the organization took part in parades. He acted in this capacity last week when the demonstration in behalf of the conscripted men took place. The deceased is also a member of the "get-together" club. His only near surviving relative is his widow.

Embryo Officers at Ft. Meyer Commended

Army officers in charge of the second officers' training camp at Fort Meyer have already gone a long way toward whipping the thousand odd men into fit shape to become officers. With a little military training now in their systems, practically all the embryo officers have shown a decided preference for some certain branch of the service and as a result a chance has been given them to choose.

The Plainfield men in the second camp are making as good, if not better, mark than those who gained commissions at the first camp. The branches of service they have chosen are as follows: Edward Carty, infantry; William D. Conrad, artillery; Thomas M. Day, artillery; John H. Greene, infantry; Dwight J. Harris, infantry; Clarence W. Lightfoot, artillery; William S. Lyon, artillery; John C. Martin, artillery; Roger D. Mellick, artillery; Frank Neal, artillery; Edward F. Stevenson, artillery; Roger Stewart, artillery; Richard Strong, infantry; Randall Trumpe, artillery; Joseph Van Deventer, artillery; Philip Van Deventer, artillery.

It would seem from a glance at the list that the majority of the boys favor the artillery, although the infantry obtained a few. A number have already been mentioned for their excellent showing, including William D. Conrad, who thus early has practically cinched his commission.

SERGEANT AYER'S SQUAD WINS HONORS AT DRILL.

Sergeant Luther S. Ayer's squad was awarded the right of line because of having the largest number of men present at the weekly drill of the Home Defense League, Wednesday night. The squad had twelve men out. Corporal Phillips' squad won second place with ten men and third place was a tie between Sergeant Hammet's squad and Corporal Collier's squad, each having nine men.

The drill was one of the best the League has yet held and the members were congratulated by Captain J. Whitney Baker. There were about seventy men present in all.

Valuation Rate Stays Same Here

The final equalization table as certified to the State Board of Taxation by the Union County Tax Board was made public this week. Increases in the assessed valuations were made in Fanwood Borough of three per cent., in Linden Borough of three per cent., in New Providence Borough of ten per cent., and in New Providence Township of five per cent.

From this table the rate for State, school and county taxes will be determined. The increases in personal tax and real estate tax in the various places has not as yet been compiled.

The districts and the equalized values follow:

Clark	$ 813,975
Cranford	6,260,245
Elizabeth	50,858,152
Fanwood Borough	536,380

Grand total, including increases noted above, $156,342,968.

Second Expects to Move Today

The Second Regiment, after being mobilized at Camp Donnelly, Trenton, for the past three weeks, expects to leave that point today, although the destination had not been announced up until a late hour last night. No orders have been issued either from Governor's Island or Anniston as yet which would indicate that the regiment is to go southward. It is likely that the Second will be sent to Sea Girt, where the Third Regiment, First Artillery Regiment and Hospital Corps are located, there to wait for the order that will start the remainder of the Jersey troops toward Anniston. It is expected that the regiment will parade at Elizabeth tomorrow.

The "send-off" to the Second Regiment and Trenton conscripts, which was postponed from last week, was given on Tuesday night and Wednesday. The festivities started off with a dance in the armory on Tuesday night, during which a vaudeville bill of excellent entertaining qualities was furnished by stage folk at various theatres in the city. On Wednesday the big event was a big parade in which the entire regiment, including the wagon train, and the conscripts, were in line. Major General Kenney, commander at Wrightstown, Mayor Donnelly and city officials reviewed the marchers and all along the path trod by the soldiers flowers were strewn.

Soldiers' Ballot Plans Are Made

In order to secure the approval of the War Department for the establishment of election headquarters at the various military training camps where New Jersey men, eligible to vote at the coming election, are stationed, Secretary of State Thomas F. Martin has made a trip to Washington within the past few days.

It was necessary for Mr. Martin to go to the Capitol because his representative who recently went to Wrightstown to arrange for the establishment of election offices there was informed that permission to do so could not be given by the camp authorities unless ordered from the War Department. The Secretary of State left on Monday evening for Washington to arrange for the order. As a result of his trip it is anticipated that no trouble will be experienced in carrying out the plans which the department, over which Mr. Martin presides, has perfected for the enabling of the soldiers to participate in the coming balloting.

Charles A. Robinson, of Union Hill, represented the Secretary of State in the Wrightstown negotiations, and within a few days he will go to Anniston, Ala., where the National Guardsmen from New Jersey are being mobilized. At the Southern camp Mr. Robinson will arrange for the voting of the New Jersey soldiers stationed there.

Pursuant to the plans for the voting of the soldiers, the Secretary of State is requesting all municipal heads to forward information as to the candidates in their respective jurisdiction to be voted for, so that this information may be supplied the guardsmen, and the National army men. This will enable the soldiers to vote for every office, down to the most minor positions, in their particular localities, which is to be filled as the result of the fall elections. City Clerk John J. Carroll has forwarded a list of the local candidates to Secretary Martin, who will forward them to the soldier boys. The State will take care of the election details.

Change at Potter's

the country were quick to realize their advantage. In some New York and Chicago concerns there are as many as four of them, a mechanical equipment that makes the numerous editions of the evening papers possible. The Wood company will continue the manufacture of the auto plates at the Potter shop in addition to a "junior" machine suitable for smaller newspapers. Beside the auto plates, the company will invade the printing press field in a more vigorous manner than it has done in the past. The corporation's draughtsmen have perfected a web press that bids fair to take the lead in this important branch of printing machinery. One of them has already been installed in the press room of the New York Herald and another one which has been on exhibition in Philadelphia is shortly to be shipped to Chicago. It is quite probable that numerous orders for these webs will be received as soon as the Plainfield shop is gotten under way.

While no announcement of the fact has been made as yet, it is not at all unlikely that the present plant on South Second street will be either enlarged or completely rebuilt. The main building as it stands is of only ordinary height and is paralelled on the south side by a strip of ground ten feet wide, all the way from the office door on South Second street to the Western limit of the shop near Grant avenue. There is also plenty of space at the Grant avenue end and on the side nearest the Jersey Central Railroad. A proposition under consideration is the erection of a modern shop, similar to the additions now being built at the Pond plant. This can be done by working over and about the old building, thus permitting the work to go on unhampered until the last chances become necessary. The construction of this building depends largely on whether or not the Wood corporation assumes certain Government contracts which the authorities at Washington have asked President Wood to consider. At any rate when the Potter company withdraws the present equipment the plant will be completely modernized.

Otto Meor, of West Front street, who has been general superintendent for the Potter company, will act as general manager for the Wood concern when it gets under way. Practically all the Potter men, a number of whom have been with the firm since it first came to Plainfield, will be retained in their present positions. For many years the old shop had a working force of 300, but since industrial conditions underwent the great change that followed the beginning of the European war, the number has been cut to about 150. If the present plans of the Wood corporation are carried out the total of the employed staff will be in the neighborhood of 500.

The Potter Printing Press Company was originally started at Hope Valley, R. I., shortly after the Civil War by the late Charles Potter. The "off-set" presses he designed had so many superior points that the business grew rapidly and in 1878 it became necessary to secure larger quarters. Plainfield was selected as the most advantageous location for a fine big factory and work was commenced on the present plant late in the year mentioned. The coming of the concern marked the first of this city's industrial enterprises, its manufacturing field previous to the commencement of operations having been limited to hats, oil cloths and molding mill products. The Potter shop was fully launched on August 26, 1879, with a force of about 300 men. A large number came down from Hope Valley and their removal here with their families began the original development of the West End beyond Plainfield avenue. It was continued on a much larger scale when the Pond company built the big plant below Grant avenue in 1887. While most of the original employes have since passed away, members of their family are still on the Potter pay roll and not a few of those who went to work in the shop in its early Plainfield days are still counted among the faithful mechanics.

The late Walter Scott, who afterward founded the Scott Press Works, was connected with the Potter concern when it first located here.

They not only designed machines at that time but supervised their construction and afterward went on the road and sold them. He organized his own company and built the shop on South avenue in 1881. The late John Brooks was another Potter man who became widely known in the printing press world. He was superintendent for many years but resigned in 1897 to organize the aluminum plate and press works which began work in the building at North avenue and Berckman streets, now occupied by the Standard Aero Corporation. The aluminum shop was always referred to as the "Klondike," because of the promises that were held out for it just as the big rush for the Klondike gold field in Alaska began. After various stages the company reached its present form at the Hall Press Works at West Dunellen. Many of the old Potter men went to various parts of the country and are today in high positions in big manufacturing concerns. To trace each one individually would be a difficult task as the number has been so great in forty years that it has been an impossibility to keep in touch with them individually.

The executive staff of the Potter Printing Press Company at the present time is composed of the following: President, Horace W. Fish; vice president, W. C. Hubbard; secretary, Charles Potter Titsworth, and treasurer, C. H. Dunham.

PLAINFIELD'S SONS HAVE ALREADY TAKEN ACTIVE PART IN BIG STRUGGLE, SERVING WITH GLORY

Although American forces have not yet been reported to have actively engaged in fighting in Europe and although thus far a comparatively few troops have been sent to France, Plainfield has an excellent representation in back of the first line trenches, and according to reports coming to relatives and friends from them they are making themselves right at home.

The American Field Ambulance Service claims the largest number of local boys. With the return of C. Ames Brooks, there remains Lyman Hibbard, Arthur Ralston and Clement Bechtel, all of whom are in active service. The U. S. Engineers who have been sent to France to complete their intensive training include David Clarin, Frank Webster and William E. McGuire. Miss Elizabeth MacClay and Miss Grace Cahoun are members of the Presbyterian Hospital Unit, of New York, which is now directly behind the Verdun front. Dr. Chalmers H. Crist has sent back word to Plainfield of his arrival with a detachment from the U. S. Dental Corps, while Henry Swalbach is a private in an infantry regiment back of the front. Frank Kenney has been fighting in Europe for some time, but with the English forces.

One Plainfielder has given his life for the cause since the United States entered the war and one other has been crippled for life, while two local men have lost their lives fighting with British forces before their homeland took up the struggle. Captain Frederick Vogel, while his death did not come as the result of being in the conflict, died while he was on active service commanding troops on guard duty in New York State. Charles Drake, a member of Company K, was also on guard duty when a train cut off a leg while he was patrolling a bridge near Lake Hopatcong. George Weller and Edward Forgueson, the former in the British army and the latter in the Canadian overseas contingent, have both lost their lives "somewhere in France."

RED CROSS PLANNING FOR FALL ACTIVITIES

Activities at the headquarters of the local chapter of the Red Cross are becoming even greater than during the past summer, with the return of many members from summer trips and plans for an active winter have already been made. Next Tuesday a class will start in first aid to the injured and will be under the direction of Dr. C. B. Lufburrow. The course will include ten lessons to be given on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and to cover expenses a fee of $5 for the course will be charged.

With the completion of the seventy-five knitted sets for the battleship Maine, the local chapter has turned its full attention to the making of 500 knitted sets for use in Europe. That is the quota assigned to the Plainfield chapter by the national chapter in making arrangements to supply the Allied and American troops with winter wraps. A set includes a sweater, wristlets and helmet and the wool for making them has already arrived at the local headquarters and is ready for distribution.

WILLIAM H. BUNN.

William H. Bunn, thirty-two years old, died in Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon from pneumonia. He was taken from his rooming place at 117 East Front street Wednesday morning after only a few days' illness.

Bunn was a carpenter and formerly resided at Fifth and New streets. He is survived by his wife. The body was taken to the undertaking parlors of J. J. & C. A. Higgins and tomorrow will be sent to the home of the deceased's father, Matthias Bunn, of Lebanon. The funeral will be held in the Lebanon Methodist church Sunday morning at 10:30, and burial will be in the family plot at Cokesbury.

Accepted Jap Dropped By Local Draft Board

Acting on instructions emanating from Provost Marshal General Crowder, the Plainfield Exemption Board and the Newark District Board have dropped Itotsyawa Takayoshi, of this city, from the list of certified conscripts. When Takayoshi, who lives on Watchung avenue and is employed at a local factory, was called before Chairman Reed's Board, he asserted that he understood the circumstances fully and was eager to go to war. He was accordingly accepted but later declared he did not understand the full import of the examination and asked for a discharge. This was denied by both the local and the District Boards.

Takayoshi then applied to the Japanese Consul at New York through whom the Plainfielder's case was submitted to the War Department at Washington. In the course of time it came before General Crowder and last Saturday the latter wired Adjutant Gilkyson at Trenton to "protest" the certification of either Takayoshi or any other Japanese. This was accordingly done by the two Boards mentioned.

DRAFTED MEN'S FAREWELL.

Edward Heath, of Scotch Plains, who is one of the conscripts in the Plainfield district, entertained fourteen friends at a farewell gathering Wednesday night. The affair was held at the Maple Tree Inn and a chicken dinner was a feature. The meal was served by the proprietor, William Frech. At the conclusion of the repast an informal program of music and addresses was enjoyed. "Allie" Maden presided at the piano and vocal solos were rendered by Peter Colucci, "Tut" Van Nest, J. Leslie Farlee, James A. Davie and Christopher Mobus.

Motorman Held

are the following: George O. Stevens, West Front street, cuts and bruises; Raymond Medick, Hunter avenue, contused wounds of right arm; Mrs. William Crumbeck, Clinton avenue, lacerated wounds of scalp wounds and contusions of left side; Frank Becker, Dunellen, fracture of collar-bone; Julius Zeigler, Dunellen, compound fracture of big toe on right foot. Mrs. Lloyd Hampton, of Clinton avenue, sustained a fractured collar bone but refused to go to the hospital. She was taken to her home where she is still confined to her bed. Mrs. Hampton was in the company of Mrs. and Miss Crumbeck, to whom she is related and who are on a visit from their home in the Middle West.

The accident was the worst that has occurred at any time during the twenty-five years that trolleys have been operated in Plainfield and officials declare it is a miracle that more lives were not lost. Fourteen persons were riding in the "jitney," which was owned by Joseph Birkwell, of Watchung avenue, but which was driven by Harold Rockefeller, of Liberty street. The vehicle had just started up after letting Mr. and Mrs. George Rogert off at Lafayette place, when the trolley, in charge of Motorman Jacob Jones, crashed into its rear. An indescribable scene of pandemonium followed the impact as the lighter vehicle was reduced to a mass of twisted steel and iron and shoved over the ground with its load of human freight for nearly a block. The terrified screams of women and the shouts of the men roused the entire neighborhood, bringing a score of persons to the street.

Men and women were strewn on either side of the roadway more or less injured, but as it developed later Lant was the only one who had been killed. He was riding on the running board of the bus and when the collision occurred was thrown beneath the wheels of the trolley. They passed over his form, crushing both limbs and mangling the upper part of the body. Hurry calls were sent for doctors and ambulances while "first aid" was given by the first to arrive on the scene. A number of those more seriously hurt at first refused to go to the hospital but afterward listened to persuasions and went to the institution to make sure that no internal injuries had been sustained.

Jones was caught amid the debris of the car vestibule. When he was extricated it was found that he had suffered three broken ribs and bad body bruises. He was first taken to the home of George Luhr, trolley superintendent, a short distance from the scene of the accident. In a preliminary statement to Chief of Police Kiely, he declared he had seen no light on the "jitney" and was unaware of the impending danger until the crash occurred. He reversed his power but the speed of the car was so great that it ran for nearly 200 feet before coming to a stand-still. Harold Rockefeller and Benjamin Dauncey, the latter conductor of the trolley car, were arraigned before Judge DeMeza and held as material witnesses. The trolley was what is known as a "tripper," an extra car run in between the regular schedule on Saturdays nights to take care of the heavy traffic between this city and Dunellen.

A sad circumstance in connection with Lant's death is the fact that his brother, Raymond Lant, was a passenger on the trolley which ran over the victim. The two young men had been down town together and were waiting for a car when the "jitney" came along. Although the latter was already filled, Jeremiah jumped on the running board, calling to his brother to follow. The latter demurred, stating that he would rather wait for the other conveyance. Although he was in and about among the injured persons it was not until sometime after the accident that Raymond knew that it was his brother who had been killed.

The unfortunate young man was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lant, of 1142 West Third street, and was employed at the International Motor Works. He was a model youth in every respect and his untimely death cast a deep gloom over his many acquaintances. Besides his parents and brother Raymond, he is survived by one other brother, Corporal Chauncey Lant, of Company K, and two sisters, the Misses Mabel and Florence Lant.

The funeral of the young man was held at the parents' home Tuesday afternoon and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. J. W. Flynn, pastor of the Monroe Avenue Methodist church, was the officiating clergyman. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, one of the set pieces coming from the deceased's department at the International Motor Works. Burial was in the family plot in the Bound Brook cemetery, the following intimate friends acting as pall-bearers: Lewis Jeffrey, George Weber, Ralph Jacobs, Theodore Schwarz, Harold Zeek and William Egel.

POSTPONE MASS MEETING.

Announcement was made this week by the Armenian and Syrian Committee of the local chapter of Red Cross that Ambassador Abram I. Elkus, who was to have spoken here the latter part of the month, has asked that the proposed mass meeting be postponed until sometime in October. It had been planned to hold the meeting in the High School Auditorium on September 28, but Mr. Elkus' departure for a speaking tour of the West made it impossible for him to be present.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

GEORGE WATTS.

George Watts, for many years proprietor of one of the leading meat markets in the city, died early Sunday morning in Muhlenberg Hospital, where he had been a patient since August 12, following injuries received in an automobile accident at Park avenue and Front street. He was about to cross the thoroughfare when an automobile owned and driven by Louis Levine, of Westervelt avenue, struck him a glancing blow and knocked him to the pavement. He was found to have sustained a fractured hip and a severe internal shock that produced the fatal complications. The patient had been sinking steadily for a week previous to the end and it was realized by his relatives and friends several days before that medical or surgical aid could not prevent his death. Mr. Watts' advanced age, 71 years, aggravated the general conditions, making it an impossibility to adopt method that might have proved successful had the patient been a younger man.

George Watts was born at Green brook in 1846, his parents having been among the early settlers in that section. He came to Plainfield when about thirty years old, residing here continuously since that time. He had previously acquired the trade of butcher and worked for various local firms. He afterward formed a partnership with the late Asa Gardner and under the firm name of Gardner & Watts conducted a market on Somerset street. The firm was afterward dissolved and Mr. Watts purchased a similar business conducted by the late Wallace W. Coriell in the Coriell building at 325 West Front street. This he conducted for many years and the stand became one of the leading enterprises of the kind in Plainfield. The market was complete in every detail and a large number of local butchers and market men in Plainfield today served their apprenticeship at the Watts place. Changing conditions in the realty values and sales in the main business district made it profitable for the owners of the Coriell building to dispose of the premises about ten years ago and Mr. Watts was forced to move his business further down on West Front street, opposite Grove street. After continuing only a short time he decided to retire, since which time he had enjoyed the freedom from business cares that comes after a long and successful career.

Mr. Watts was never a man of social ostentations and affiliated with no organizations but his friends in the city and borough were numbered in the many hundreds. In business he had a courteous and obliging manner that was a big factor in building up his trade and in private life those who knew him considered it a pleasure to be numbered among his acquaintances. As a butcher he had a thorough knowledge of every branch of the trade, imparting it to those in his employ with such patient exactness that they were absolutely competent when completing their apprenticeship. Butchering as a trade has undergone great changes through the transportation facilities connecting the East with the big Western packing houses but all of George Watts' men today are confident of going back to the "game" as it once flourished when Plainfield had its own slaughter houses.

Mr. Watts' only surviving relatives are one sister, Mrs. Andrew Huff, of Chatham street, with whom he had been making his home, and several nephews and nieces, residing either in the city or borough.

The funeral was held at Mrs. Huff's home on Chatham street, Tuesday afternoon and burial was in the family plot in the Bound Brook cemetery.

MRS. HENRY JAEGER.

Mrs. Henry Jaeger, a former resident of this city, died suddenly last Friday afternoon at her home in Aeolian Park following a stroke of apoplexy. Her lifeless form was discovered by her husband lying upon the floor on his return from work. She had been in the act of preparing supper and was alone when the fatal stroke came upon her.

Mrs. Jaeger was a native of Switzerland but had lived in this country since a young girl. She removed from Plainfield to Aeolian Park about ten years ago. Beside her husband, she leaves the following sons and daughters: Mrs. S. B. Macauley, of Scotch Plains; Mrs. Clarence Chesshire and Miss Lena Jaeger, living at the parental home; Charles Jaeger, of West Third street; William Jaeger, of West Fourth street, this city; Henry Jaeger, of North Plainfield, and Fred Jaeger, of Aeolian Park.

The funeral was held at the late home Monday night and was attended by many friends from Plainfield. Burial took place Tuesday afternoon in Fairview cemetery, Westfield, six grandsons acting as pall bearers.

LEONARD CULLEN.

Leonard Cullen, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cullen, of South Second street, died early Sunday morning after a brief illness with diphtheria. The child was four years old and the sympathy of the neighbors, with whom he was a great favorite, favorite, has been extended the bereaved parents. A private funeral service was held Monday and burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Congestion, Especially in Borough, Marked Reopening of Local Schools

Enrollment figures prepared by Superintendent of Schools Dr. Henry Maxson show that at the opening of the schools of the city on Monday the total number of pupils was 3,627, an increase of nearly 600 over last year's fall opening figures. This jump in attendance, the largest in the history of Plainfield for a like period, has filled every bit of available space in every school, and in order to avoid any congestion two rooms in the Everson Avenue School, located in the East End of the city, are to be immediately fitted up for class rooms. A room will also be put into use in the Jefferson School.

Dr. Maxson attributes the greatly increased enrollment to the fact that many children were kept home last year on account of the prevalence of infantile paralysis. Preparations for taking care of the new students has already been made by the starting of new classes in the Evergreen, Bryant and Jefferson Schools. The decision to put two more rooms into use at the East End school was reached after a delegation of residents from that section appealed to the Board of Education at a meeting on Tuesday night. The new room in the Jefferson School will be in the cellar. When the building was erected it was with the idea that the basement could be used at some future date for class rooms and the move is approved by the school authorities.

The enrollment in the various schools on the second day of school were as follows: High School, 663; eighth grades, 272; Emerson School, 226; Evergreen School, 423; Washington School, 488; Whittier, 136; Lincoln, 327; Irving, 429; Opportunity Class, Stillman School, 62; Bryant, 363; Franklin School, 416, and Jefferson School, 322.

The schools in the borough opened on Monday with a considerably increased enrollment and as a result crowded conditions have made themselves felt in several of the schools. Especially is this so in the Somerset Street School, where the classes have become so cramped in the grammar and primary rooms that it has been necessary to put the pupils on part time. In talking with a Record reporter yesterday, Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst was emphatic in his statement that something must be done. An addition will be necessary to relieve conditions, and it is probable that such a recommendation will be made to the Board of Education at its next meeting.

Another new condition that will have to be met at once has been occasioned by the necessity of giving every pupil above the starting of grades at least a half hour of physical training each day. In previous years there has been no gymnasium work, but the passing of a law by the last Legislature making it compulsory has brought up the question of providing the room for; classes. This problem, also, will have to be solved by the Board of Education. Mr. Aungst has suggested that the recreation hall proposed by many borough people would be suitable for both purposes.

According to statistics compiled by the various school principals in the borough, there is a total of 1,204 pupils enrolled in all the schools, divided as follows: High School, 205; Somerset, 605; Harrison, 190, and Watchung, 204.

TWO LOCAL PLOTS SOLD BY SHERIFF.

At a sale conducted by Sheriff George C. Otto Wednesday afternoon, Adrian Riker, complainant, purchased a tract of land beginning at East Front street, and a second tract beginning on East Second street. The case in chancery was brought by Riker against the Highland Park Realty Company, the purchase price being $7,500.

The sheriff also conducted a sale in chancery between Lila Pauline Duy, complainant, and Gertrude S. Butler, et als. The tract was situated on the line of Watchung avenue. The tract was sold to the complainant for $1,000.

Planning to Make Garden Exhibition An Annual Affair

So great was the success attending the Netherwood Residents' Association's "home gardens" show in St. Stephen's parish house last Saturday afternoon that plans are already under way to make it an annual affair. Started originally for the purpose of stimulating interest in the Government's plan to overcome the food shortage, the proposition of an exhibition appealed so strongly to the junior element of the Netherwood district that scores of them vied with each other in starting gardens. The prospect of having their products examined by the older folks and the chances for one of the many prizes offered for the best result spelled death for the weeds and assured each patch careful attention amounting almost to tenderness.

President A. C. Wilmerding, one of the leading enthusiasts in the home garden idea, encouraged the juvenile gardeners a few weeks ago by making a personal inspection of their various "acres." It capped the climax in keeping up the youngsters' determination to take part in the show and the result was demonstrated when the exhibition began on Saturday night.

Four big tables, each one twenty feet long and three feet wide, were required to display the numerous exhibits. There was practically everything in the garden variety of vegetables that is in season at the present time. Beside this there was a profusion of plants and flowers, a special class having been arranged for these. The groups included robust potatoes, substantial heads of cabbage, good big and healthy bunches of beets, mangels and carrots, squash and Swiss chard that looked as though they might have been nurtured into being by the graduate of an agricultural college. An appearance of county fair days was lent the scene by big shocks of corn, wheat and barley and stately sun flowers standing on stalks ten feet high.

The visitors, of whom there were more than 150 between the hours of 7 and 8, enjoyed the show hugely. The folks were so full of it, and more, interested than the children and more than one man who had been chaperoning a garden for years admitted that the Netherwood youngsters could give them pointers on producing vegetables.

Previous to the judging and awarding of prizes, President A. C. Wilmerding made an address in which he detailed the purposes of the exhibition. He directed a portion of his remarks to the juniors, congratulating them on the good work they had done and declaring they were entitled to the thanks of the committee even if they had only raised one beet or one potato. They had done their best, he said, and that is all that could be expected.

In the absence of David Hand, Lewis J. Geary made the awards for the juniors' exhibits of vegetables, and Matt C. Stewart the awards for the green-sward exhibits of vegetables and fruits. On the stage at the end of the hall was a delightful display of home-raised flowers, which were awarded blue and red ribbons in accordance with their merit. These ribbons were large and very handsome, being of heavy silk imprinted with gold lettering, stating the occasion, with the date, and the name of the association upon them.

Aside from the cash prizes offered in addition to the ribbons for the juniors' exhibits, there were 4 prizes awarded a week previously, in two classes—$2.00 to first and $1.00 to second in each, for the best home gardens conducted by the youngsters, neatness and productiveness being the prime features considered. As in the juniors' competition all the exhibits, flowers were divided into classes for those who received no assistance and those who had received assistance. Cash awards and ribbons were paid promptly before the show was over.

The awards were as follows:

Class A, Corn—First prize, second prize, James Wernig. Class B, Corn—First prize, Vinton Lawrence, Jr.

Class A, Potatoes—First prize, Elmer Emmons; second prize, Frederick Lockwood. Class B, Potatoes—First prize, Graham Carver.

News of the Theatres

Many Features In "Burlesque Review"

What promises to prove a genuine revelation in burlesque is announced for next Monday at the Plainfield Theatre with the first appearance here of Jacobs and Jermon's latest contribution to the amusement field. It is entitled "The Burlesque Review" and is all that the title implies, in that during the presentation of the sparkling program many sketches from the recognized dramatic and musical comedy successes of New York have been included. These are given with marked fidelity to the original except that, perhaps, the humor has been somewhat accentuated to appeal more to the patron who prefers light and breezy entertainment rather than the more serious. The various characters employed in the imitations are in the hands of capable players who have studied the mannerisms and peculiarities of the actors who originated them, with the result that almost an exact counterpart is revealed. There are many choice musical numbers, including some that have never been heard here, and an abundance of comedy, together with dancing that is fascinating and artistic.

For those who revel in art there will be a series of Living Pictures in which twenty-eight real models appear in single and group studies. These have been culled from the most pronounced masterpieces now hanging in the galleries of this country and in Europe and include many which have but recently been awarded prizes and have therefore never been exposed to view in America. With marvelous color and light effects they come pretty nearly to being a reproduction of the originals, except that instead of being inanimate they are interpreted by these beautiful women. Harry Morton, Danny Murphy, Flossie Everette, Zella Russell, Julia DeKelety, Roy Peck and Harry O'Neal are among the well known players in the cast.

New Vaudeville at the Plainfield Theatre

Wilbur Sweatman's original "Jass" band, which made such a tremendous hit at the Plainfield Theatre last season, repeated its former triumph this week when it came back to the Second street playhouse yesterday in connection with the new vaudeville bill for the last half of the week. Mr. Sweatman and his band are featured in an original novelty entitled, "Jass, Past and Present." The number is one of the best in the vaudeville line that has yet appeared locally and will undoubtedly draw capacity houses during the remainder of its stay. The act is full of action from start to finish and the musical numbers are intermingled with Mr. Sweatman's own peculiar style of humor.

Other numbers on the new bill which is to be continued today and tomorrow are: Keit and Harrison, singers and dancers; Gardner and Company in the comedy playlet, "The Ghost's Return;" Carney and Weber, offering a novelty act which introduces piano numbers, whistling solos and popular songs; Dave Genaro and Ann Gold, the original cake walkers, and Dikeman and Parker, comedians who can sing and dance as no other comedians can.

Every bill at the Plainfield now includes splendid moving pictures, Manager Shannon having made contracts with the largest New York agencies for their latest releases. The Pathe News Weekly is shown every day with changes Monday and Thursday and there is always a variety of one reel comedies and dramas certain to please everybody.

Columbus Hall Scene of Big "Smoke Fund" Dance

For the purpose of raising funds for the purchasing of tobacco to give to American soldiers, a dance will be given in Columbus Auditorium on West Front street next Wednesday night under the auspices of Eddie Marks' Jazz Band. A large number of tickets for the affair have already been sold and it is expected that many more will be disposed of at the door the night of the dance.

Elaborate plans for making the affair a success have been made and city officials and other people prominent in the city have cheerfully consented to act on the numerous committees and that fact alone should insure the success of the dance. A number of dancing specialties and other features have been arranged for during the evening and music will be furnished by a twelve-piece orchestra.

HARKNESS TROPHY RACES ATTRACT GREAT FIELD.

With a probable field of thirty-two starters the coming Harkness Trophy races at the Sheepshead Bay speedway on September 22 promises to thunder down through motor history as the greatest race meeting of the 1917 season.

Already Ralph De Palma, Louis Chevrolet, of this city, and Ira Vail have entered their speed mounts; Barney Oldfield, Frank Elliott, winner of the Uniontown Speedway Derby on Labor Day; Dave Lewis, Gaston Chevrolet, also of Plainfield; Eddie Hearne, and in fact every other star driver in the country, have signified their intention of starting, and the limit of the course will be met long before post time.

Seminary Starts Fiftieth Year on September 20

When the Plainfield Seminary reopens on September 20 for the fall and winter term of 1917-8 that institution will have started upon its fiftieth year as one of Plainfield's leading educational schools for young ladies. Few changes will mark the reopening, the teaching corps remaining practically the same. The curriculum will have a few minor changes and preparations for a somewhat larger enrollment have been made.

The Plainfield Seminary is the oldest private school in the city and numbers among its graduates many Plainfielders, as well as others who have made names for themselves in college and after life. Miss Isabel Arnold, principal and one of the founders of the school, has endeavored to give those who enroll there an education that will fit them for any line of endeavor in life and the record of graduates is significant of her success.

FALL CHAMPION PLAY AT THE GOLF CLUBS.

Fall has brought a quickening of activities at the three golf clubs in this vicinity and all will have some sort of a program as an attraction for members over the coming week-end. At the Plainfield Country Club tennis will be the principal feature, the men's championship singles being continued at 2:30 tomorrow. At the Hydewood Golf Club the second round of play of eighteen holes for the fall championship will be played, while at Shackamaxon there will be a qualifying round for the club championship.

THIRTIETH N. J. REUNION.

The 30th New Jersey, the volunteer Civil War Regiment, will hold its annual reunion in Company M armory, Somerville, on October 3. There are still about 150 survivors of the regiment which was recruited in this vicinity. It is expected that forty or fifty of the members will attend the reunion next month, of whom there will be several from Plainfield.

Meisel Withdraws From Sheriff's Race In Coming Primaries

Peter H. Meisel, of Springfield, member of the Board of Freeholders and candidate on the Republican ticket for the nomination for sheriff, has withdrawn from the race for that office. Mr. Meisel gives no reasons, nor has anyone hazarded a guess as to why he left the race. He desires his supporters to ignore his name and "to use their own judgment as to what other candidate to vote for."

His decision will leave in the contest James E. Warner, under-sheriff, of Cranford; Freeholder Elias F. Applegate and Joseph H. Neill, both of Elizabeth, and Freeholder Samuel P. T. Wilbur and John H. Cose, both of Plainfield.

The Springfield freeholder has a reputation as an efficient worker and as one who speaks plainly when the occasion demands. Just what effect his action will have on the strength of the other candidates is problematical, as it will leave that section of the county without a candidate, and, presumably, a fair field for the strongest man and best campaigner.

Mr. Meisel has sent the following letter to the Record announcing his retirement:

"I have decided to withdraw my candidacy for the office of sheriff at the approaching primaries, although I signed the acceptance and my name will be printed on the ballots.

"I sincerely thank all my friends for their zealous support, and ask them to use their own judgment as to what other candidate to vote for."

ALL TAXES COLLECTED.

Charles Sheelen, tax collector of Fanwood borough, announced this week that there would be no tax sale this year, thus adding another link to his chain of an eighteen years' perfect record. One unique feature of this year over those preceding is that it will not even be necessary to advertise delinquents as they have all paid their taxes before the date when that step is necessary. There are 450 taxpayers in Fanwood.

SENTENCE FORGER TODAY.

Pleading guilty last week in the Court of Special Sessions to forging a check in this city for $50, Ray W. Corey will be sentenced today by Judge Connolly. He also pleaded guilty to a similar charge preferred against him by a Flemington man.

Vice Chancellor Warns Receivers For Vitaphone

"For the special benefit of the younger members of the bar in particular," as he put it in a prefatory explanation, Vice Chancellor Stevens Tuesday read an opinion criticising the practice of receivers of insolvent corporations, who are themselves lawyers, of appointing the solicitor who filed the insolvency bill as their counsel. The vice chancellor gave additional weight to his denunciation of the practice by the statement that he had not only deemed it exigent to put his views in the form of a written opinin, although only a question of allowances was primarily involved, but he had also gone to the length of obtaining the indorsement of Chancellor Walker of the opinion he was about to read.

The occasion of the vice chancellor's reproof was an application for allowances for services rendered in the short-lived administration of the insolvency receivership to which the Vitaphone Company, a talking machine concern, with factory on North avenue, this city, was last spring subjected, the insolvency proceedings having been superseded by a bankruptcy proceeding, which is still pending.

By way of concretely expressing his disapproval of the practice, the vice chancellor granted an allowance of $50 to Furst & Furst, Newark lawyers, who had asked for one of $560 for services rendered to William Newcorn, receiver for the Vitaphone concern. Mr. Newcorn got an allowance of $100 for his services, which were undoubtedly valuable." He had asked for an allowance of $750.

The appointment of a layman—necessarily guided and directed by counsel—involves unnecessary expense unless something more is to be done than to collect outstanding claims, adjust controversies, sell the assets and distribute the money," said the court. "If a lawyer be appointed it is, unless the case be out of the ordinary and he, by special order, be permitted to retain counsel, obviously improper for him to employ another to do the work that he is expected to do himself. In the case in hand, as far as I can see, the receiver's task was simple and limited. He did not need counsel's assistance."

The original bill in the case was filed on May 23 by Robert Newton Crane, of this city, as solicitor. A second bill was filed by Furst & Furst six days later on a claim of $67.50. This bill, the vice chancellor says, "was unnecessary," but the receiver had stated to the court that Furst & Furst did not know of the filing of the first bill when they filed theirs. Two days after the filing of the second bill other counsel filed a petition in bankruptcy against the Vitaphone Company, and on it a restraining order was made by United States District Court Judge Haight, directing the receiver and his counsel to refrain from taking any action in the receivership other than to preserve the assets.

On June 9 Furst & Furst made an application before Vice Chancellor Stevens for an order directing the solicitor who instituted the bankruptcy proceeding to show cause why he should not be directed to pay to Mrs Newcorn $526.36 received by him, it was said, from a chattel mortgage foreclosure. "The application," the vice chancellor said, "if not in violation of the order in bankruptcy, was irregular and was subsequently discharged.

"I do not find in the record that any other action was taken on the receiver's behalf. Indeed, no other action could have been taken without violating the order of the Bankruptcy Court. The duty of the receiver was by that order strictly limited to the preservation of the assets until the appointment of a trustee in bankruptcy. Under these circumstances I fail to see any justification for a counsel fee such as that asked for. A counsel fee is given for service by counsel in this court. If the solicitors have rendered valuable service, redounding to the benefit of the creditors in the Bankruptcy Court it will, I presume, be allowed for them."

George Furst, of the law firm mentioned, was in court when the opinion was read.

Plainfielder Hart When Motor Car Strikes Locomotive

William Jaeger, of West Fourth street, was slightly injured about the shoulder and left leg and Gideon Hewitt, of West Third street, was badly shaken up when an automobile in which they were riding Wednesday morning collided with a Lehigh Valley passenger train at Flemington junction. The machine, which was a White touring car, owned by Councilman John H. Cose, of Spooner avenue, was almost completely demolished. It was brought to Cline's garage in this city later but is practically beyond repair.

Mr. Cose has a roofing contract at Flemington, and Jaeger, who is on a vacation from his duties in the West End fire house, volunteered to drive Hewitt to work. The machine was proceeding along the road at a moderate rate of speed just before the railroad crossing was reached. The train, which was running backward from Flemington junction to Flemington, was hidden from view by a cornfield and appeared in front of Jaeger almost before he had time to apply the brakes. He was unable to turn to either side because of a deep ditch. The automobile crashed head on into the side of the locomotive just as the driving rod was coming down. It caught the hood of the car and twisted the entire mechanism into a tangled mass.

Jaeger was thrown against the steering wheel but was able to extricate himself without assistance. Hewitt was also thrown forward although he emerged from the collision with only a shaking up. Passengers on the train helped pull the automobile off the track and Jaeger later sent word to this city by telephone.

Women Golfers Assigned Dates

With the teams grouped in two divisions, the New Jersey district club matches, conducted annually under the auspices of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, starts today. The divisions will be known as northern and southern, the latter section embodying Cranford, the Plainfield Country Club and Baltusrol, the three Union county clubs entered. Trenton Country Club, which is taking the place of the Westfield Club with Hollywood, will complete the southern group. Englewood, Forest Hill, Hackensack, Montclair and Glen Ridge will make up the northern division.

Besides Westfield, two other 1916 contenders missing from this year's list are Arcola and Norwood, and because of their withdrawal two clubs will draw byes on each of the playing days. To enforce a strict adherence to the schedule no credit will be given for any matches played on days other than those set down in the program announced.

The teams will compete under the following captains: Cranford, Mrs. S. Weatherill; Plainfield, Mrs. G. B. Lawrence; Baltusrol, Mrs. S. P. Nash Trenton, Mrs. R. Stockton, 3rd; Hollywood, Mrs. C. Seasongood; Englewood, Miss Gertrude Wood; Hackensack, Mrs. T. H. Thomas; Montclair, Mrs. W. H. Loftus; Glen Ridge, Mrs. F. C. Koempel; Forest Hill, Mrs. C. H. Blood. The schedule:

Gridiron Outlook at P. H. S. Bright

The initial workout of football candidates for berths on the Red and Blue eleven of P. H. S. was held at Parker field yesterday afternoon. Five veterans, all that are left of last year's excellent team, and some thirty new men reported to Coach Patch and, although no line could be gotten on the material in so short a time, Mr. Patch has visions of another good year.

The team this year will be led by Theodore Snyder, who has already had two brilliant seasons on the gridiron for P. H. S. "Polly" is a hard worker and deserves to have good results. The old men who have returned to school and on whom Coach Patch will have to rely chiefly are: Kline, center; Mills and Hand, halfbacks; "Polly" Snyder, fullback, and M. Snyder, end. Practice will be held every weekday from now on in preparation for the first game on September 29, and scrimmage will probably start sometime next week.

Mr. Patch yesterday announced the schedule, with three dates still open, which is as follows:

September

29—Glen Ridge at Plainfield.

October

6—Morris High at Plainfield.
13—South Side at Newark.
20—Battin at Elizabeth.
27—Open.

November

3—New Brunswick at Plainfield.
6—Westfield at Westfield.
10—Open.
17—Open.
29—Rahway at Plainfield.

Plainfield Farmers Made Good Showing

County Superintendent of Schools Dr. A. L. Johnson has received from the State Board of Education the report of the work of the Junior Agricultural Army, composed of boys of the various State high schools and the higher grades in the grammar schools, performed by them on the farms of the State this summer.

Union county boys made a most excellent showing, their percentage being ninety-seven. Nearly all the boys of Union county made good at farm work and aided materially in producing this year's banner crops in the State. The percentage gained by the Union county boys is considerably better than the average in the State, which was between forty and forty-one per cent. Most of the boys of the other counties failed to make good, or else left the work before they were of any value to the farmer.

It is estimated that about 140 boys from Union county assisted in farm work during the past summer, and of this nearly half were from Plainfield. The thirty High School boys who have been at Bernardsville all summer will not return for several weeks yet, nor will those at Holly Park.

A meeting of the school principals of the county will be held at the office of County Superintendent of Schools Dr. A. L. Johnson, in the County Courthouse, next week for the purpose of having Dr. Johnson explain the new physical training act, which goes into effect in the State schools during the present term. The act provides that at least thirty minutes each day must be devoted to the physical training of the pupils.

ST. JOSEPH'S CLUB HOLDS FIRST FALL MEETING.

The first fall meeting of the St. Joseph's Club was held last Tuesday night, when matters for the coming season was discussed. The large number of members who attended the meeting were well pleased with the success of the baseball team, which is leading the City League, and congratulated each member for his work, for they realized that it was no easy task to win nine successive games, especially from the teams composing the City League. As soon as the pennant is cinced President Moran will make plans for a banquet to honor his team-mates.

The next meeting will be held next Tuesday evening, at which time a social function will be the topic of discussion. On Saturday the St. Joseph's will meet the strong Hope Chapel team at Hyde's Oval at 3:30 o'clock.

Plan Patriotic Service League

Co-operating with the national headquarters of the association, the local branch of the Y. M. C. A. is making preparations for launching within the next few weeks a campaign for members for a Patriotic Service League. The same thing is being done at every Y. M. C. A. in the country and when the league is fully organized it will have, it is expected, hundreds of thousands of boys enrolled, all eager to help their country and only waiting to be told and directed how to.

Arrangements for effecting a branch of the league in Plainfield are in the hands of Boys' Secretary Center. He is now perfecting plans for starting the movement and expects to have as members every boy in the city who is just below the enlistment age and yet wants to do something to help. Pamphlets explaining the new idea in full have been prepared and will be ready for distribution within a short time. Under the caption, "Why a League," the following reason admirably sets forth the reason for starting the movement: To discover boys who wish to render patriotic service; to band them together in effective organization; to accomplish in organized effort what cannot be accomplished by individual effort; to help individual boys fit themselves to better service; to promote true patriotic ideals, and to bring boys in touch with patriotic leaders.

The membership will be divided into two classes—rookie and regular. To become a "rookie" a boy will fill out an application blank now ready for distribution later and then have a talk with Mr. Center. He will also have to pass a physical test, securing a mark of at least seventy out of a possible 100, and lastly sign a service pledge promising to "keep fit and do my bit and to create and extend high standards of Christian character."

Before he may become a "regular" he will have to pass with an average of at least 70 per cent. a test which will bring out both his physical and mental qualities. The last of these he must comply with will be the giving of an acceptable account of the life of Lincoln or Washington and also the principal points raised by President Wilson in his message to Congress asking that body to declare war on Germany.

Favors Change in Taxation Methods

Radical changes in the method of taxation for municipalities are advocated by Dennis P. Collins, comptroller of Elizabeth and member of the Union County Tax Board, and an agitation aimed at amendments for the tax laws may be inaugurated. The comptroller believes taxation should be based on the value of unimproved property and actual realty, rather than the penalizing of those who show initiative by developing their holdings by improvements.

In addition to this, the comptroller would have the clause providing for taxation on personalty repealed in its entirety, substituting a taxation on wealth, similar to that adopted by the Government.

The comptroller has been devoting a great deal of his time to a close study of taxing methods is this and other States and his scheme for an entire readjustment is the result.

The comptroller also favors the passage of a bill by the Legislature making it possible for property owners to make their tax payments in instalments, possibly semi-annually. In this way he believes the burden of payments would be lightened for corporations as well as individuals.

NAMED SUPERINTENDENT.

Herbert Stine, of the borough, has been appointed temporary assistant superintendent of the mosquito extermination work in Union county by the commission. This action was taken by the commission in view of the fact that Russell Gies, also of this city, and who has been superintendent for the past five years, has secured a commission as first lieutenant in the Sanitary Corps of the United States Army. Gies expects to be called any day and his place will be filled by Stine, who has been an inspector for several years.

Pond's File Plans for $75,000 Power House; Improvements $260,000

With the filing of plans at the office of Building Inspector Doane this week, it became known that the Niles-Bement-Pond Tool Co. has completed arrangements for the erection of a power house on South Second street at a cost of $75,000. The latest move of Plainfield's biggest factory to make still larger its local plant brings the total amount expended or to be spent on improvements up to $260,000 within the past year and a half.

The work of constructing the newest addition to the already huge plant will be started immediately. Harris & Richards, of the Philadelphia architects, who have drawn the plans for all the other additions, have completed the details for the building of the power house and the contract has been awarded to H. B. Baton, also of Philadelphia.

The power house, which will be of brick construction, is to be located at 929 South Second street. According to prints filed with Inspector Doane, which must be approved before a permit is granted, the building is to be one story high with basement and have dimensions of 107x89. It will be entirely fireproof and so constructed that it may be utilized as the most modern and up-to-date of power stations. When completed it will furnish power to every part of the entire plant for all purposes. The decision of the Pond concern to generate its own power instead of depending upon that furnished by private corporations is not unlike that idea adopted by other large concerns throughout the country and it has been said that at least one of the other large manufacturing plants in this vicinity is about ready to put the same plan into effect.

The rapid strides taken in growth by the Niles-Bement-Pond Co. during the past eighteen months has resulted in doubling the floor space of the plant and caused it to nearly triple in size any other Plainfield concern. According to unofficial rumors there are still additions to come so that in the end the entire plant may extend from the west side of the Grant avenue station of the C. R. R. of N. J. to Clinton avenue.

The first step toward increasing the facilities of the concern were taken in June of last year, when plans were filed with Building Inspector Doane for a two story brick addition to the main shop to cost $25,000. That was followed on March of this year by the filing of plans for another addition of the same type to cost the same amount. In June the prints for the third building, which is now in the course of erection at South Second street and Prescott place, were submitted to Inspector Doane. It will cost $135,000 and will be connected with the main structure by an underground tunnel across the street to be used to carry wires and steam pipes from one building to another. The cost of these three buildings, together with that of the one for which plans have just been filed, represents an outlay of something over a quarter million of dollars, thus bearing out the prediction made in an article in the Record of last May.

That the concern still has plenty of property on which to build can be seen when the extensive pieces of ground which have come into its possession in the recent past is taken into consideration. One of the most recent purchases is the Burke-Brown property, which has a frontage of about 200 feet and extends back to the Jersey Central tracks. A three-story building used as store and dwelling and the old family homestead, as well as several smaller dwellings, have all been either moved or demolished, leaving the entire property suitable for building purposes.

Business Quickened by "Fashion Week"

Commencing yesterday and continuing until next Wednesday, the merchants throughout the city are holding their annual "Fashion Week" displays. The idea was introduced for the first time last year and proved to be such a success that the Business men's Association, which is fostering the movement, decided to make it an annual event.

Special efforts are being made by the city's business men to display the new styles for the coming season and that the public appreciates the opportunity to become acquainted with them is evidenced by the large crowds that have filled the stores in the business section since yesterday morning. Not only are residents of the city taking advantage of the large displays, but people from the surrounding towns are flocking here as well.

In order to insure consideration to patrons and make the affair even more successful than last year, a committee from the Business Men's Association has charge of arrangements and is composed of A. E. Force, Henry Rosenbaum, Herbert Schuldenfrei and John Johnston.

JACK ROGERS LEAVING FOR NEW ORLEANS.

Jack Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Rogers, of Watchung avenue, took advantage of a few hours' furlough to bid farewell to his parents and friends in this city last night before leaving tomorrow for New Orleans. He is a member of the Naval Marine Hospital Corps and will sail with his contingent from New York. On arriving at New Orleans he will enter a hospital for practical training before assuming his regular duties on shipboard.

Mr. Rogers completed a course in pharmacy at Columbia University last June, passing all examinations in a most creditable manner. His visit to Plainfield last night was a hurried one and will be the last he will have for a long time.

LEWIS CARMAN DUNN.

Lewis Carman Dunn, one of the oldest and best known residents of this vicinity, died at his home on Maple avenue, South Plainfield Wednesday night. He was eighty-eight years old and had always lived near here. He is survived by a wife and one brother. The funeral will be held at the residence this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in charge of Rev. W. P. Townsend, of South Plainfield. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Three of Stevenson Brothers in Service

Fred Stevenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stevenson, of West Seventh street, formerly a member of Troop D, is at his home in this city waiting for orders momentarily expected from the War Department to report at one of the numerous aviation camps for training. After securing his discharge from the local cavalry troop he became a member of the Officers' Reserve Corps, but a short time ago passed the examination for admittance to the Aviation Corps. He is now at the local plant of the Standard Aero Corporation becoming familiar with the making of airplanes.

Allen Stevenson, another son of Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson, left this week for Washington, D. C., where he has enrolled for a course in the Army and Navy School in that city. Because he is only seventeen, young Stevenson will have to wait a year before he can gain admittance to West Point. During the past summer he was a member of the High School boys' training camp at Princeton and gained the rank of sergeant-majojr before the camp broke up a few weeks ago. He formerly attended Plainfield High School, where he was a member of the football team.

Still another of the Stevenson boys has entered the service, Ned Stevenson being at present in training at Fort Meyer. He has chosen the artillery arm of service and only this week was commended by his officers for excellent work. Lawrence Stevenson, the fourth and youngest of the brothers, was unable to enlist because of his age and has returned to Andover, where he is a student.

JAMES P. CONWAY WEDS MISS NELLIE WARD.

James P. Conway, of East Second street, one of the most popular patrolmen on the local police force, and Miss Nellie Ward, daughter of the late Thomas Ward, of New Brunswick, were married in St. Peter's Cathedral, New Brunswick, Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dean Quinn in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Following a reception Mr. and Mrs. Conway left for a trip to Albany and other parts of eNw York State. On returning they will make their home in this city.

FATHER CARRICK IMPROVED.

The condition of Rev. Father Charles Carrick, who has been critically ill at Muhlenberg Hospital, was reported today to be slightly improved. The patient rallied slightly Wednesday following a blood-transfusnon performed by Dr. Lindeman, of New York, the fluid being furnished by Police Captain John J. Flynn. The crisis of Father Carrick maintaining his present strength another transfusnon may take place next week.

Expect Changes in Co. K Officers

Old Dame Rumor has been in her element around Company K's street at Camp Donnally, Trenton, all this week but in place of the usual gossip about when the start South will be made the boys are interested in reports of changes in the officers' personnel. The re-organization plan along French lines will make changes imperative but just what they will be is only conjecture.

Under the new system the five infantry regiments will be modeled into two regiments with about 3,000 men in each. That will mean three colonels will lose their commands, but as Colonel Reading is senior commanding officer in the State he will undoubtedly command one of the new units. His position as head of the Second Regiment will be taken by Lieutenant Colonel Martin and that will cause advances all the way down the line. Captain Charles Peterson, of Company K, will be elevated. He is understood, as major of the First Battalion, composed of three Elizabeth and the local company. It is said that under the new order of things there will be two captains to a company and that both First Lieutenant Philips and Battalion Adjutant Littell will fill those berths. Lieutenant Conklin, continues rumor, will be first lieutenant and Top Sergeant Apgar will be given a commission as second lieutenant.

Just when the change will come no one knows but official announcement is expected shortly. Company K has its largest personnel of a unit in the regiment and will likely be the first to reach the 250 mark. It is expected that conscripts will fill out the companies to war strength if enlistments do not.

Plainfield Tax Rate Takes Jump to $2.08

Figures made public this week by the Union County Board for the Equalization of Taxes make it known that Plainfield's tax rate for this year is to be 2.08, a jump of seventeen points over that of last year. Although the increase in this city was rather large, every municipality in the county experienced some sort of raise and a glance over the table of rates shows that only five places have a rate lower than $2 on $100.

The increase in Plainfield is partly due to local causes and partly to the burden caused by the Edge Road System. The increase of $27,515 for the maintenance of the local schools is the only noticeable change in the city budget, but the saddling of $32,683 upon local taxpayers to help pay for the roads about the State in the Edge System, no part of which touches the city, has caused the jump.

The rate in the county, because of little slashing of the budget by the Board of Freeholders, dropped three points this year over last and is now 2.34. The State tax rate has been announced as .25, one point less than last year.

Inspector Healy Hurt At Aeroplane Factory

Thomas J. Healy, chief inspector for the Standard Aero Corporation, met with an accident at No. 2 shop, Monday, that resulted in a painful injury to the head, and almost cost him his life. He was in the act of passing through a narrow space on the way to his office at the further end of the room when the recoiling arm of a big punching press struck him squarely on the left side of the head.

Mr. Healy fell to the floor in an unconscious condition but assistance was quickly rendered by men who witnessed the accident. He was given first aid at the shop, after which he was taken to the office of Dr. Albert Pittis. The physician found it necessary to take several stitches in a deep gash caused by the swinging arm. The doctor stated that a difference of a few inches in the location of the blow would have resulted fatally.

Although suffering considerably from pain and shock, Mr. Healy was able to return to his work Tuesday.

ROBERT JAMISON AT ANNISTON.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Jamison, of 1231 Arlington avenue, have received work from their son, Robert Jamison, to the effect that he has arrived safely at Anniston, Ala., and is now enjoying the routine of the big camp. The young man is attached to the Quartermaster's Department.

MT. ST. MARY'S OPENS.

Mt. St. Mary's College opened last week for its tenth year. The event was marked by increased enrollments in the college as well as the high school and academic courses and the students come from practically every part of the country as well as from this city.

Big Pageant Witnessed by Thousands

With between 300 and 400 people representing fraternal organizations, industries and various nationalities in the city, "The Democracy of Labor," a pageant, was presented at the Horse Show grounds, on Randolph road, last night before a gathering of people numbering into the thousands. The affair was the outcome of a wish of a number of prominent Plainfielders who wished to have the resources and possibilities of the city shown by means of a huge demonstration. The generous support and contributions of residents were features that made the event, unique in Plainfield history, possible.

The opening of the pageant, which was planned by Mrs. Maxwell Perkins, depicted "Labor" striking a huge rock until it broke, thus allowing "Civilization" to escape. "Civilization," during the remainder of the pageant, guided the spirit of a man through the ages down to the present day. From thence on there were a series of tableaux to show the evolution of democracy. The first was a picturization of King Richard, of England, freeing the serfs and this was followed by a scene commemorating the Gettysburg memorial, with Lincoln making his historic address to the white and colored people gathered about him. The third tableau was representative of the present-day and showed the "Gifts of Plainfield" bestowed. In this the Spicer plant and other large concerns entered floats and the aeroplane workers and others took part.

The Home Defense League gave an exhibition drill and a number of young women gave a series of classic dances entitled "The Dance of the Grain" and "The Dance of the Minerals." One of the features of the evening was a parade of industrial floats, various organizations, the Defense League and others.

It is estimated that between 3,000 and 4,000 people witnessed the pageant, the grounds being utterly filled to overflowing. The hundreds of automobiles parked about caused a jamb that was only saved from confusion by the police work of the Defense League.

Miss Ruth Dauncey Granted a Divorce

Vice Chancellor Stevens, in the Court of Chancery, has filed an opinion awarding a divorce to Mrs. Ruth H. Dauncey of this city. The suit was started by her husband Frederick H. Dauncey, charging that she deserted him in August, 13, at Roselle. Mrs. Dauncey retained Robert Newton Crane, who filed an answer and a cross-petition charging that the husband had deserted the wife. The evidence in the case disclosed that the parties had lived happily together for about nine years and that in 1914 the husband's father and mother came to Roselle and made their home with the Daunceys, while they were building a house of their own. As soon as the old folks arrived, the husband's mother immediately took charge of the household. After the mother-in-laws' house was finished, the testimony shows that every morning at 5 o'clock she would go to the window and blow a fish horn until her sonespoused his wife and said, "All right, mother, I am up." Mrs. Dauncey, the defendant, objected to this, but to no avail. After that the husband hired an apartment in Elizabeth and told his wife that was where she was to live. The Vice Chancellor decided that the husband had no intention to make his home in the apartment at Elizabeth and that from all the evidence in the case, it was the husband and not the wife who had the deserting mind.

Assemblyman Charles L. Morgan appeared for Mr. Dauncey.

LOCAL FIREMEN AT ATLANTIC CITY CONVENTION.

The annual convention of the State Firemen's Relief Association began at Atlantic City this morning and will continue tomorrow. Among the important matters of business to be discussed will be a proposition for the association to pay for all members who are conscripted and may possibly go to France.

The delegates to the convention from this city are Chief A. G. Jennings, Vincent W. Nash, Jens Claasen, and Wesley Dunn. From North Plainfield the delegates are Chief William McCullough, Charles Stahl, Claude Hann and Albert Fritz, the last named acting as alternative for Harry Schuck.

The yeary meeting of the Fire Chiefs' Association will be held in connection with the convention tomorrow. Former Chief T. O. Doane, of this city, will be among those present. Many firemen from both the city and borough are at Atlantic City during the convention.

Borough Men Go to Camp Sunday

The Draft Board, sitting at Somerville, has notified twenty-three North Plainfielders to report at the Court House at that place tomorrow afternoon, there to be quartered until they start for Wrightstown on Sunday morning on the 9:48 train. There will be eighty-four men in all going from the district. Those who leave from the borough include the following:

Elmer L. Terry, Guiseppe Consentino, George Sonpus, William D. Hogan, Alfred M. Korff, Marville M. Boylan, Harry P. Hanson, Arthur Brady, Elmer Coddington, Hugo Ehber, Elmer Gayle, Giovon Millotto, Frederick Pasch, David L. Bennet, John F. McDonough, Judd Jackson, Edward Kline, William Voorhees, Armin Hoos, William Smith, Sebastiano Greco, Nicola Fritianna and Joseph Carey.

Wise Ones Assert Cose Has Big Lead In Sheriff's Race

Plainfielders who make it a practice to keep their eyes on things politica] at all times are open in their assertions that Councilman John H. Cose has secured a big lead on his opponents in the Union county shrievalty nomination race. For the past three weeks he has been conducting a vigorous campaign in every district and has gradually been lining up the "regulars" in his support. The Rahway Republicans have endorsed him unanimously and in Westfield, Summit and Springfield he has been gaining in popularity every day.

There are those who believe that Mr. Cose's splendid run of three years ago will have much to do with influencing voters in his behalf at the coming primaries. In 1914 with five other contestants for the sheriff's nomination, he lost out to the present incumbent, George C. Otto, by approximately 500 votes. His nearest competitor came about 400 behind him. Mr. Cose carried more municipalities than Sheriff Otto did and late on primary night before the absolute returns were on hand, the Plainfielder was declared to be the winner. He ran ahead in every district in Plainfield and was given a flattering vote at Elizabeth, where the Republicans are generally in the minority.

John H. Cose
